The man who travels has not as pleasant a time as a good many of us who stay at home seem to imagine. He suffers from indigestion because he hasn't the time to masticate his food properly. The glare of the sunlight as it flickers through the car window, while the train is rushing along, is very bad on the eyes, particularly when the stomach is out of order. The traveling passenger agent of a Western railroad writes: "I think that Ripans Tabules have helped my eyes, for while I have had considerable trouble with them for the past five years, since using the Tabules they feel wonderfully better. Your medicine is certainly a blessing, and I can't recommend it too highly."

THE NEWEST TRIMMING.

Appliqued Figures of Velvet Appear in Smart French Gowns.

Persian and oriental trimmings are just now much in vogue, and with their dainty fresh colors they enliven many a somber garment.

All sorts of appliqued patterns in velvet are seen on the handsomer imported garments and dresses. Beautiful effects are gained on gray broadcloth skirts by banding them with panne of slightly darker shade. Plaid trimmings done in this way serve as headings for the ample flounces which must finish the bottom of every smart skirt. A pretty and simple decoration for a walking skirt consists of three bands of stitched velvet, held at intervals by short, pointed straps of the goods, which are apparently buttoned down with silver buttons.

In today's picture we have an automobile coat of deep red cloth lined with satin of the same shade. There is a wide collar composed of an insetting of yellow lace and two stitched bias folds. These folds reappear at the bottom of the garment, which is cut rounding in front. The coat fastens down the front with pointed straps fastened with gun metal buttons. The sleeves are very full and are gathered into a tight fitting cuff of lace.

The hat worn with this is of black panne trimmed with a single long black ostrich feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE LATEST SLEEVES.

Styles Which Are Suitable Both For Day and Evening.

The new ruffled sleeve lends itself admirably to the more dressy gowns. It is seen at its best in an elbow sleeve. The fullness is held down in tucks to the bend of the arm, and from there it falls gracefully in two, three or four ruffles. When the long sleeve is desired, this elbow length is combined with a long, tight fitting undersleeve of lace.

The Louis Quinze sleeve is another novelty. It is made of brocade or velvet, terminating in a wide flare cuff, which is deeply slashed and lined with a very wide frill of lace which falls well over the knuckles.

A pretty Spanish sleeve which is suitable for street gowns is cut in the bishop shape, with a big puff below the elbow, which is gathered into a small, narrow cuff. This cuff is cut open from the elbow down, and it fastens part way with tiny loops and jeweled buttons.

A striking sleeve for an evening gown begins several inches below the bare shoulder, and it is composed of two twists of chiffon and a wide band of jeweled net, the whole ending at the elbow with a huge rosette of the chiffon.

The illustration shows a house jacket of old rose panne, trimmed with wide bands of Persian embroidery. The undersleeves, neck ruffle and soft front are of silk mull. The neck and sleeve ruffles are ornamented with a row of hemstitching. The soft front is held in by a sash of white crepe de chine with fringed ends. JUDIC CHOLLET.

On the Sacred Mountain itself vast storehouses were dug in the rock, and here the grain was teemed in great yellow heaps, and each generation of those that were set over it took a pride in adding to the accumulation.

In modern days it had been the custom among the younger and more forward of the priests to scoff at this ancient provision, and to hold that a treasure of gold or weapons or jewels would have more value and no loss of dignity; and more than once it had been a close thing lest these innovators should not be outvoted. But as it was, the old constitution had happily been preserved, and now in these years of trial the clan reaped the benefit. And so with these granaries and a series of great tanks and cisterns which held the rainfall, there was no chance of Phorenice reducing our stronghold by mere close investment, even though she sat down stubbornly before it for a score of years.

But it was the paucity of men for the defense which oppressed me most. As I took my way about the head of the mountain, inspecting all points, the emptiness of the place smote me like a succession of blows. The groves, once so trim, were now shaggy and unpruned. Wind had whirled the leaves in upon the temple floors, and they lay there unswept. The college of youths held no more than a musty smell to bear witness that men had once been grown there. The homely palaces of the higher priests, at one time so ardently sought after, lay many of them empty, because not even one candidate came forward now to canvass for election.

Evil thoughts surged up within me as I saw these things, that were direct promptings from the nether gods. "There must be something wanting," these tempters whispered, "in a religion from which so many of its priests fled at the first pinch of persecution."

I did what I could to thrust these waverings resolutely behind me; but they refused to be altogether ousted from my brain; and so I made a compromise with myself: First, I would with the help that might be given me, destroy this wanton Phorenice, and regain the kingdom which had been given me to my own proper rule; and afterwards I would call a council of the seven and council of the three, and consider without prejudice if there was any matter in which our ancient ritual could be amended to suit the modern requirements. But this should not be done till Phorenice was dead and I was firmly planted in her room. I would not be a party, even to myself, to any plan which smacked at all of surrender.

And there as I walked through the desolate groves and beside the cold altars, the high gods were pleased to show their approval of my scheme, and to give me opportunity to bind myself to it with a solemn oath and vow. At that moment, from his distant resting place in the east, our Lord the Sun leaped up to begin another day. For long enough, from where I stood below the crest of the mountain, he himself would be invisible. But the great light of his glory spread far into the sky, and against it the Ark of the Mysteries loomed in black outline from the highest crag where it rested, lonely and terrible.

For anyone unauthorized to go nearer than a thousand paces to this storehouse of the highest mysteries meant instant death. On that day when I was initiated as one of the seven I had been permitted to go near and once press my lips against its ample curves; and the rank of my degree gave me the privilege to repeat that salute once on each day when a new year was born. But what lay inside its great interior, and how it was entered, that was hidden from the seven, even as it was from the other priests and the common people in the city below. Only those who had been raised to the sublime elevation of the three had a knowledge of the dreadful powers which were stored within it.

I went down on my knees where I was, and Zaemon knelt beside me, and together we recited the prayers which had been said by the priests from the beginning of time, giving thanks to our great lord that he has come to brighten another day. And then, with my eyes fixed on the black outline of the Ark of Mysteries I vowed that, come what might, I at least would be true servant of the high gods to my life's end, and that my whole strength should be spent in restoring their worship and glory.

CHAPTER XV.

NAIS THE REGAINED.

Now from where we stood together, just below the crest of the Sacred Mountain, we could see down into the city, which lay spread out below us like a map. The harbor and the great estuary gleamed at its farther side, and the fringe of hills beyond smoked and fumed in their accustomed fashion; the great stone circle of our Lord the Sun stood up grim and bare in the middle of the city, and nearer in reared up the great mass of the royal pyramid, the gold on its sides catching new gold from the sun. There, too, in the square before the pyramid stood the throne of granite, dwarfed by the distance to the size of a mole's hill, in which these nine years my love had lain sleeping.

Old Zaemon followed my gaze "Aye," he said, with a sigh, "I know where your chief interest is. Deucalion when he landed here new from Yucatan was a strong man. The king whom we have chosen—and who is the best we have to choose—has his weakness."

"It can be turned into additional strength. Give me Nais here, living and warm to fight for, and I am a stronger man by far than the cold viceroy and soldier that you speak about."

"I have passed my word to that already, and you shall have her, but at the cost of damaging somewhat this new kingdom of yours. Maybe, too, at the same time we shall rid you of this Phorenice and her brood. But I do not think it likely. She is too wily, and, once we begin our play, she is likely to guess whence it comes and how it will end, and so will make an escape before harm can reach her. The high gods, who have sent all these trials for our refinement, have seen fit to give her some knowledge of how these earth tremors may be set a-moving."

"I have seen her juggle with them. But may I hear your scheme?"

"It will be shown you in good time enough. But for the present I would bid you sleep, and take your woman (that is my daughter) when she is set free, and bring her here as best you can. And for that you will need all a strong man's strength." He stepped back and looked me up and down. "There are not many folk that would take you for the tidy, clean-chinned Deucalion now, my brother. Your appearance will be a fine armor for you down yonder in the city tonight when we wake it with our earth-shaking terror. As you stand now, you are hairy enough and shaggy enough and naked enough and dirty enough for some wild savage new landed out of Europe. Have a care that no fine citizen down yonder takes a fancy to your thews and seizes upon you as his servant."

"I somewhat pity him in his household if he does."

Old Zaemon laughed. "Why, come to think of it, so do I."

But quickly he got grave again. Laughter and Zaemon were very rare playmates. "Well, get you to bed, my king, and leave me to go into the Ark of Mysteries and prepare there with another of the three the things that must de done. It is no light business to handle the tremendous powers which we must put into movement this night. And there is danger for us as there is for you. So if by chance we do not meet again till we stand up yonder behind the stars, giving account to the gods, fare you well, Deucalion."

BRAKEMAN BURNED IN WRECK OF OIL CARS

passed. By 2:30, the west bound trains were beginning to run on the one track. The two east bound tracks were so warped by the heat that they had to be relaid this morning for several hundred yards. They will be ready for use this afternoon.

The trolley cars of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company were stopped by the lines of hose and passengers had to be transferred. The schedule was generally upset, but many of the passengers of the stalled west-bound trains managed to reach Plainfield and Westfield by trolley. The cars also brought many to see the fire. Thousands of people surrounded the place, which was as bright as day. The illumination extended for over a mile in each direction.

On account of the intense heat, it was impossible to get near Engine No. 356, beneath which was the ruins of the caboose in which the rear end brakeman had been sitting. When the flames had been stayed enough to permit a search, a handful of bones and a charred trunk were found beneath the front of the locomotive. It was all that was left of what is supposed to be the body of James Biker, of Somerville, The remains, about ten pounds in all, were taken to Cole's undertaking parlors in Plainfield. They will be held until Claims Agent J. K. Large confirms the man's identity.

A peculiar incident of the conflagration was the recovery by the fireman of Engine No. 356, of $180 in bills which passed through the flames. The money was in a leather wallet and had been placed in a vest hanging behind the cab door. When the engine had been cooled off by a stream of water, the owner climbed in the cab and found a piece of the vest about six inches square. Strange to relate the wallet was in this piece while only one corner was burned off. The money was slightly damaged but not enough to prevent its being redeemed.

During the work of extinguishing the flames, many firemen and helpers received severe burns. These were dressed by Dr. Albert Pittis, of Plainfield, who spent nearly the entire night on the scene. One of the most severely injured was Thomas Conway, of East Jersey street, Elizabeth, who was struck by a falling pole. Beside being burned he was badly bruised. Dr. Pittis attended him after which he was taken home.

It was learned this afternoon that the dead man was Joseph A. Riquer, of Bayonne. He was twenty-two years old and unmarried.

Hall last evening to the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73 The programme consisted of recitations by Miss Florence Perrine, Miss Try Mattox, W. R. Mattox, soprano solos by Miss Jennie Smith and songs by W. C Smith. Wm. Perrine also gave a number of phonographic relections. After the entertainment refreshments were served.

Thrown From Trolley Car.

T. M. North, of Westervelt avenue, head draughtsman at the Aluminum Press Works, was injured this forenoon while alighting from a car on Richmond street. He was thrown to the street and cut about the head and ear. Charles Warnock found the unconscious man and took him to the Hotel Kensington, where Dr. Zeglio attended him.

Class Social.

The class of '03 of the Plainfield High School held a class social last evening in the assembly room of the Franklin building. The evening was spent in playing progressive games, in which Miss Edna Long and Norman Hill were awarded first prizes. Following the games refreshments were served and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

Given in Y. M. C. A. by Rock Concert Company.

The concert given last evening in Y. M. C. A. Hall by the Rock Concert Company, for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church, was largely attended and a great success in every way. The entertainment was unique in many respects, for it was the first time that the people in this city have heard music produced from rocks.

The company consisted of William Till and his daughters, Miss Mildred Till and Miss Esther Till. They played on rocks, Belgian glasses, swinging harps, chimes, while the Misses Till gave recitations and contralo and soprano solos.

It is believed that the Endeavor Society will realize about $50 as profit from the concert.

TO CONSIDER PUBLIC BATHS.

Subject Will Come up at Annual Meeting of Organized Aid Association.

The annual meeting of the Organized Aid Association will be held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, Thursday evening, October 17, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of electing the officers of the association for the ensuing year and transacting such further business as may properly come before the meeting.

Special attention will be directed to the consideration of the question of erecting and maintaining a public bath in the city. Frank Tucker, of the Association for the Improvement of the Condition of the Poor, of New York, will be present and talk on the subject of public baths. A full attendance of members and all interested is desired.

COLLECTED WOOD

Contractors Objected to Children's Work And One Parent Arrested.

Jacob Steinberg, of South Second street, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, on complaint of the foreman of the Flint Construction Company, which is building the additions at the Pond Tool Works.

The company has been greatly annoyed by children roaming about among workmen and pilfering blocks of wood. Steinberg's children appear to have been especially troublesome and the foreman decided to have him warned by the Court. He promised that his children would remain away from the works.

Both Were to Blame.

The case of John Scott, accused by Mrs. Ella Smith with insulting her while of a Scotch Plains trolley car last Saturday evening, was tried before City Judge Runyon this morning. The statements of plaintiff and defendant were each corroborated by a witness, but the only purpose it served was to show that both parties had been equally to blame. The case was dismissed.

—C. M. Phelps, Forestdale, Vt., says his child was completely cured of a bad case of eczema by the use of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of all counterfeits. It instantly relieves piles. L. W. Randolph.

SENATOR REED SCORED FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP

Increased His Lead For That Trophy at Park Golf Club Saturday Afternoon.

SERRELL TIED FOR THIRD.

WEEKLY COMPETITION AT BOTH LOCAL GOLF CLUBS.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards Won Day's Competition at Hillside—Little Interest Shown at Latter Club —The Day's Scores.

Golf competitions were played at the local courses of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. There wasn't much interest at the Hillside Club but the closeness of the contest at the other club was noticeable. The day was a delightful one for the sport and both courses were in the best of condition.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

Now that the season is drawing to a close, the contest for the President's Cup, at the links of the Park Golf Club is attracting more than usual interest. As a rest of Saturday afternoon's play, State Senator Charles A. Reed strengthened his grasp on the cup while Arthur H. Serrell assumed an important place in the race. Lesley W. Hallock also became a possibility.

While there was no really brilliant playing, the cards showed fair scores. J. H. Simpson, Charles Dupee and Arthur H. Serrell made the best scores. L. W. Hallock won first honors, second going to Serrell and third to Senator Reed. Senator Reed still leads with ten points while H. D. Hibbard is second with eight and George T. Rogers and A. H. Serrell are tied for third place with seven each.

The scores better than 100 were as follows:

	G.	H.	N.
L. W. Hallock	106	21	85
Arthur H. Serrell	101	15	86
Charles A. Reed	110	23	87

The standing for the cup is now as follows:

HILLSIDE TENNIS AND GOLF CLUB.

There was a decided drop in the interest in golf on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course last Saturday, as compared with a week ago, when the club entertained the members of the Park Golf Club.

There was not a single entry in the weekly competition for the Mellick cup. This is no doubt due to the fact that Miss vanHerwerden has such a lead in the contest that others are discouraged. It is now reasonably safe that she will win the trophy. She has played almost every Saturday during the season until recently and thus gained her advanced position.

The only event of the day was the play for the Golf Committee cup. While there was a large entry list there were only six who turned in their scores, the smallest showing of any Saturday but one during the season. The exception was the Saturday when it rained unusually hard. Rev. Dr. W. R Richards won first honors with a net score of 82. This is his first win for the trophy, and coming so late in the season he will probably not get a position among the leaders.

The scores for the trophy are as follows:

	G.	H.	N.
Dr. W. R Richards	96	14	82
Robert Abbott	88	5	83
W. L Glenney	84	0	84
Dudley H. Barrows	96	12	84
Howard Wright	85	0	85

SPOKE ON EARLY CLOSING.

REV. C. E. HERRING PREACHED SECOND OF SERIES OF SERMONS.

While he Said no One Could Dictate to Employers Yet he Hoped The Movement Would Succeed.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at the regular service, last evening, made a short address on the subject of the early closing of places of business. The talk was one of a series being given in succession by the ministers of Plainfield, whose aid has been enlisted by the clerks of the city.

Before commencing his remarks on the topic, Rev. Mr. Herring read the letter addressed to him on the matter. It set forth briefly the object of the organization and the benefits to be obtained, particularly with reference to the early closing movement. The clergyman stated that it was not his purpose to dictate to the employer as to what he should do in the conduct of his business, for that is his own chosen right and is bound to be respected.

"The employer," said he, "plans just what he thinks necessary for the success of his business and understands the subject far better than others. The employe is bound to respect the actions of the employer."

"I must say," he continued, "that I was glad to get back to Plainfield from Paris, where the stores, saloons and cafes are open all the time and where there is no respect for Sunday. The Frenchmen, it is said, are deteriorating. It does seem to me that ten hours is long enough for any man to work. I should be glad to see some arrangement made between employer and employer, whereby this question may be solved."

Rev. Mr. Herring made reference to the task undertaken by him sometime ago to induce the druggists to close their places of business for such a period Sundays as would permit their clerks to attend church, and he also stated why his effort had failed. In this particular movement, which is agitating the clerks, he said it rested largely on the poor man as to what degree of success would attend it, for the rich man generally does his purchasing in the day time. He hoped that the poor man would see fit to so regulate matters that he would not abridge the happiness of his fellow man.

BORN STORY TELLER.

Description of Personality of the Famous Animal Artist and Student.

Ernest Seton-Thompson, the celebrated animal artist and student of the day, who is coming here to lecture at the Casino on Tuesday afternoon and evening of next week, looks like a man who has lived much out of doors and shaken himself free of restraints and conventionalities. Yet he is perfectly at home on the platform and speaks with ease and a natural straightforwardness and simplicity that is good to hear. Tall, gaunt, large framed, with a shock of jet black hair and a complexion as dark as a Spaniard, one understands after seeing him why his printed portraits look so black. Yet he is not so black as he is painted.

He is a born story teller and carries his audience along with him in breathless interest, oblivious of time. His stereopticon pictures add much to the effectiveness of his talk and delight the children. But the most unique feature is the lecturer's imitation of animal cries and calls to their little ones. They are quite indescribable, and give one an eerie sensation of wildness and remoteness from civilization.

BID FORMAL FAREWELL TO RETIRING PASTOR.

Reception to Rev. Dr. A. E. Main by Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

PRESENTED HIM WITH GIFT.

MEMBERS OF THE CONGREGATION SAID GOOD-BYE TO HIM.

Reception Held Saturday Evening — Given a Purse Containing $200 in Gold — Presentation Speech by O. S. Rogers.

For the last time as pastor and people, the congregation of the Seventh-Day Baptist church gathered in its beautiful edifice Saturday evening for the purpose of formally bidding farewell to Rev. Dr. A. E. Main. It was with many mutual regrets that the leave taking was found necessary but the evidences of esteem shown Dr. Main convinced him that he enters his new field in Alfred University with the hearty good will and best wishes of all.

The congregation assembled early in the evening, but beyond personally meeting Dr. Main and expressing regrets, those in attendance busied themselves in social conversation. At 9 o'clock O. S. Rogers arose and summoning Dr. Main to the front, addressed him on behalf of the congregation. He spoke of the work he had done in the church, the Sabbath-school and societies, his work among them in times of sickness and bereavement, and the numerous acts of helpfulness performed during his pastorate of five years. At the close he extended to the retiring pastor as a token of appreciation from his flock, a purse containing twenty gold eagles, $200.

Dr. Main responded in appropriate words, thanking the donors for their expression of good will and the treatment accorded him during his entire pastorate. It was with many regrets, he said, that he was to leave them, but while he would not be in their midst, his thoughts would be of them and his prayers for their welfare.

As he concluded the women in attendance assumed charge and provided refreshments. During their disposal Dr. Main went about and for the last time bade all good bye.

The committee in charge during the evening consisted of Mrs. William C. Hubbard, Mrs. J. G. Miller, Mrs. C. H. Dunham, Mrs. F. H. Smith and Miss Ida F. Randolph. Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. J. Everett Kimball, Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Dr. Martha Stillman and the Misses Ernestine Smith, Luella Clawson and Mary T. Green.

BULKLEY DEFEATED.

T. M. Day, Jr., Won Championship Round in Tennis Tournament at Hillside Club Saturday.

The final round and championship play at tennis were completed Saturday afternoon on the courts of Councilman George P. Mellick near the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. The result caused no little surprised, for it was generally believed that Kenneth Bulkley would retain the honors for another season.

In the final round T. M. Day, Jr., played A. D. Beers and defeated him—6 4, 6-2. This brought Mr. Day and Mr. Bulkley together for the championship round, when the former defeated his opponent three straight sets. The holder of the trophy did not play up to his usual standard, whild his opponent put up a strong game. However, this will make future play more interesting and makes the final result more of an uncertainty.

TROLLEY MEN ELECT.

Union Trolley Employes Benefit Association Held Election Last Week.

At the regular meeting of the Union Trolley Employes Benefit Association held Friday evening, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, John Mowen; vice-president, Samuel Ayers; financial secretary, Charles Hepner; recording secretary, W. F. Robinson; treasurer, Mark Hipp. The various reports of the officials showed the organization to be in a flourishing condition. Other business transacted was the admission of three new members.

FIGHTS EXPECTED IN TWO WARD PRIMARIES

Contests Among Republicans Will Be Chiefly Over Nominations For Council.

FACTIONAL FIGHT IN FIRST.

SECOND WARD WILL SEE ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT VAN HERWERDEN.

Leslie Daniel, From Third Ward, and Robert L. Lee, From Fourth, Will Probably Be Nominated For Councilman.

The Republicans will hold their combined county and city primaries this evening in the usual meeting places. The polls will be open from 5 to 9 o'clock. Judging from the rumors about the street today contests are probable in the First and Second wards. In the Third and Fourth wards all promises to be plain sailing.

Over in the First ward, the factional troubles, which have furnished no end of excitement in the past, are likely to blaze up again. Councilman William Gloak will be a candidate for renomination and the name of Dr. Marc L. Clawson will be used by the opposition faction for the same place. There is also likely to be a contest over the membership of the county and city committees.

In the Second ward mysterious stories are going the rounds about what is to happen there. The friends of Councilman Jan vanHerwerden are understood to favor his renomination and will work to that end. There may be a contest over the nomination. There is a place on the city committee to be filled on account of the resignation of Councilman J. B. Dumont and there are several who may try for the position.

Leslie Daniel is understood to be the unanimous choice of the Third ward leaders for the place in the Common Council from that ward. He is from the second district and succeeds C. B. Clifton.

Robert L. Lee will be renominated as Councilman by the Fourth ward. No contest is expected. A delegation will be elected to the county convention which will inaugurate the boom of William Newcorn for the Assembly to succeed Charles S. Foote.

MILD SENSATION FOR SCOTCH PLAINS CHURCH

Financial Situation is a Serious One—Pastor Shott Has a Call to Kentucky.

DOESN'T EXPECT TO ACCEPT

MEMBERS HAVE BEEN FALLING OFF IN THEIR CONTRIBUTIONS.

Rev. Mr. Shott Was Asked to Call Attention of Congregation to the Fact—Depended Too Much on Their Endowment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, October 14—Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, caused a mild sensation in his church Sunday morning when he announced from his pulpit that Sunday next his pulpit would be occupied by Rev. Mr. Clark, of the Baptist Publication Society, and that he himself would occupy the pulpit of a former pastorate in Kentucky, where he had been asked to consider a call.

He said, "I have not committed myself to those who make the call, but have promised to preach to them Sunday next. While the probabilities are I will refuse the call, still I do not know what influences may be brought to bear upon me as I wish to be candid with you. But be as it may, I do not wish it understood that the present question of finances, which I am about to preach upon, and which you will discuss at a parish meeting immediately at the close of this service, has anything to do with this announcement.

"I have been asked to bring the matter of finances before you so that you may know the real condition of the church. You have depended upon your endowment to such an extent that you have neglected giving of your own to the Lord. We have been considered a wealthy church and up to within the near past, have met all obligations, but let me tell you now there is a deficiency and the only way it can be met is by increased contributions. Do you know there are 160 members of this old church, and out of this number only eighty are giving by the envelope system a stipulated sum each week? These eighty contributions range from $1 down to 3 cents.

"Averaging this congregation with others I have been pastor of, you are the best dressed and wealthiest, but you have gotten out of the way of giving. There is no drain upon the church funds. You have no call upon your poor fund. But if this old church is to hold her head above water, you will have to double up some way in your contributions. It would be a pathetic sight indeed if the Lord was the auditor of our books this year.

"I am not discouraged over the outlook, but I am satisfied that the time has come when we must look this matter squarely in the face and devise some way to increase our revenue by personal contribution and not depend upon that with which we have been endowed."

At the close of the service, Dr. Westcott, as president of the board of trustees, took the chair, and an open discussion of the question was had and the financial condition of the church was given by the treasurer. It was decided to make a canvass of the church membership and congregation and make a personal appeal to those interested for larger contributions. The report showed the estimated income was about $1,000 per year, while the estimated expenses were $2,000.

Rev. Mr. Shott, when interviewed by a Press reporter about the call extended him, said "I do not expect to go back to my church of earlier days but felt as though in promising to be with them next Sunday and preach from their pulpit, I ought to be candid with my own people and tell them."

Mr. Shott has been pastor of the church nearly two years. During that time he has put up an aggressive fight against the granting of licenses in town. Through his effort, the Citizens League was organized and funds provided to procure evidence against Sunday selling and present the matter to court. In this the league was partly successful and several fines were paid for violation of the law, but in the end the licenses were all granted. The public has been looking forward to another tussle again in the spring when the annual applications are to be made.

TEACHERS MET.

Somerset County Instructors Gathered in North Plainfield Saturday and Discussed Interesting Topics.

What was pronounced to be the largest attended and most interesting meeting yet held by the Somerset County Teachers' Association, took place in the Somerset Street School building Saturday afternoon. Superintendent Wightman, the president of the organization, presiding.

The programme contained five interesting discourses. Miss Lizzie Southworth had prepared a paper on "The Kindergarten Idea in Beginning Number," and this was read by Miss Mary Hart. It was illustrated by pupils in the kindergarten. Superintendent Krebs, of Somerville, made an address entitled "Teaching Pupils How to Study." "Short Roads in Arithemetic" was discussed and illustrated by Miss Alberta Waterbury. Twenty-five pupils assisted Miss Laura Sydenham, whose topic was "Songs and Songs." Miss Mabel Hare talked on "Busy Work That Pays," and her paper was also illustrated.

At 1 o'clock, the ninety teachers who attended the affair, gathered in the Charles W. McCutchen Manual Training School building, where luncheon was served, under the direction of Miss Bessie Taylor, the instructor in cooking, who had prepared the repast.

EPREACHED ON CHINA.

Rev. Mr. Pitcher Told Congregation at Trinity Reformed Church of the Work.

Rev. P. W. Pitcher, of China, occupied the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning, and gave an interesting talk concerning the missionary work being done in that country. He pictured the needs and urged greater effort on the part of the church in carrying the Gospel to those in China who know not of Christ. He related many things of interest about the Chinese, and reported encouragement in the progress that is being made in that country by earnest and faithful missionaries. Mr. Pitcher did not, as is the usual custom, ask for funds for the work, preferring to let the church give through its regular channels for mission work.

To Install Deacons.

The newly-elected deacons of Trinity Reformed church will be installed Sunday, October 27.

REWARD OFFERED FOR KILLER OF FLICKERS.

President of Game Commission Declares it Illegal to Kill Those Birds.

OFFERS PERSONAL REWARD.

SOME SAY THAT LAW GIVES THE RIGHT IN CERTAIN MONTHS.

While Many Now Fear to Hunt High-Holders, There Are Still Many Who Shoot Them Openly in This Neighborhood.

The question of the legality of shooting high-holders, or "flickers," which has been a matter for discussion among local sportsmen and others for some time past, has again been brought into prominence through a declaration made by Howard P. Frothingham, president and treasurer of the State Fish and Game Commissioners.

In a letter to The Daily Press, Mr. Frothingham states that the law in reference to shooting high-holders has been passed upon by the legal members of the commissioners and it cannot be misconstrued. It is illegal, he says, at all times of the year to shoot these birds and in his opinion the man who would do so is a scoundrel.

Referring to an article which appeared in The Daily Press October 7, stating that, provided it was illegal, the law was being openly violated in this vicinity, Mr. Frothingham declares he will personally give a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of any such persons. On that date The Press spoke of a sportsman who was seen in the streets with a number of the birds, and the commissioner alludes to him in particular.

Several responsible persons were interviewed in regard to the matter Saturday and all were unanimous in declaring that the fish and game commissioners have no authority to make any such ruling. In the New Jersey laws of 1901, chapter 120, section 4, entitled "An act for the protection of certain kinds of birds, game and fish, to regulate their methods of capture and provide open and closed seasons for such capture and protection," it expressly states that it is unlawful to shoot or have in possession high-holders or "flickers" except during the months of September and October. This is just what the local sportsmen maintain, and for that reason the shooting of the birds continues.

A prominent lawyer when spoken to today stated that the commissioners had established a precedent in passing upon the law in the manner which they did and their agreement goes for naught. In the Supreme court alone, he said, is the power vested to reverse the statutes enacted by the legislative bodies of the State.

While these conflicting statements have been the means of stopping the shooting of the birds, to a certain extent, there are many sportsmen in this vicinity who declare they will not desist until the law is reversed by the Supreme court. For the benefit of Mr. Frothingham and others who take an interest in the protection of game, it may be said that almost daily "flickers" are shot in this section during the present month. The hunters infest the sides of the Watchung mountains and they make no attempt to conceal the fact that they are in search of the birds.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Lewis A. Thompson and Senator Charles A. Reed have shaken hands across the bloody chasm. The inspiring spectacle was witnessed by all the delegates in the Somerset county Republican convention and caused a sensation. If this public profession is carried out in private, there will be no rainbows for Democrats to chase in Somerset county this fall.—Newark News.

The Republicans of Union county, who will hold their convention next week, have not fully determined upon their candidates for the Assembly. The present members — Ellis B. Meeker, of Elizabeth; Charles S. Foote, of Plainfield, and Chester M. Smith, of Westfield—have each served two terms, and some doubt was expressed at Elizabeth yesterday of their renomination, although the prevailing impression seemed to be that the old ticket would be a good one. The friends of Mr. Meeker expressed the determination to push his candidacy in the convention. — New York Tribune.

A Union county Republican expressed an opinion yesterday which will be indorsed by most Republicans who are in touch with the present political situation in the State. This opinion was tersely put in these words: "One thing ought constantly to be impressed upon the Republicans of New Jersey, and that is we've got the people, but we've got to get the votes." This remark out to be conclusively impressive when here and there a Republican reluctantly admits it to be his belief that Mayor Seymour is several thousand votes stronger than Elvin W. Crane was three years ago.—New York Tribune.

NEWS FROM NOME.

A Severe Storm—A Reign of Terror. Rich Gold Nuggets.

FORT TOWNSHEND, Wash., Oct. 14.—According to advices received here yesterday by the steamer John S. Kimball, Nome was again visited by a severe storm which commenced on the night of Sept. 26 and continued for three days, with increasing fury. As a result every lighter that was anchored off Nome is ashore, and the government tug Captain Warden is on the beach. While the storm was almost as severe as the memorable storm of last year the most serious damage will result from the delay in getting lighters afloat, so that they can be used in discharging the large number of steamers due at Nome in time for the vessels to get out before navigation shall close.

The only loss of life as a result of the storm thus far reported occurred while the storm was abating. The schooner Annie Dering sailed in, and Captain George Stevens of the schooner Prosper, which was wrecked at Cape Lisburne on Aug. 26, and a man named Tracy Robertson attempted to go ashore in a small boat. The boat capsized, and both men were drowned.

Reports by the same steamer state that a reign of terror prevails at Nome. Holdups and robberies are of nightly occurrence. Men are being sandbagged and robbed in broad daylight when caught in lonely places. Sluice-box robberies are frequent, and several mines have been robbed of from $500 to $2,000. Business houses have been entered, and even women walking on the streets are made victims. On Sept. 29 two masked men entered the store of Mrs. S. M. Hovey and at the point of a pistol forced her to give up $500.

The Discovery claim on Anvil creek has again distinguished itself. On Sept. 14 $1,552 in nuggets was picked up, and on the 29th it yielded others valued at $1,729.

Nome will have winter communication with the outside world by means of a stage line. Norman R. Smith, who is at the head of the stage company, recently arrived at Nome, bringing with him fifty horses and a large number of dogs. He proposes during the winter to run stages from Nome to Illiauma bay, a distance of 800 miles, carrying passengers, mail and express. Along the route there will be thirty-five relay stations. Illiauma bay can be reached by steamers during the entire winter.

The Kimball brought down 350 passengers and $300,000 in treasure.

World's Wheat Crop Large.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The department of agriculture announces that the three most important estimates of the world's wheat crop of 1901 so far made agree that the crop is larger than that of either of the two preceding years. The department withholds its opinion as to the degree in which the world's crop has been approximated in any of these estimates until a considerably larger number of official returns is available. The official Hungarian estimate says the crop exceeds last year's by 209,881,000 bushels of sixty pounds, or by 212,430,000 Winchester bushels. According to Berbohm, the excess over last year's crop is 200,2000,000 bushels of sixty pounds, and according to the Bulletin des Halles the excess is 113,777,000 Winchester bushels. The principal increase is credited to the United States, Canada and India, though various other countries are credited with larger crops than they had in 1900.

Riot In Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Another riot occurred yesterday in connection with the street car strike, but again, fortunately, there was no very serious trouble. A big crowd assembled at the lower end of the South Side line during the afternoon and began piling obstructions on the track. As the cars came along and halted they were greeted with a fusillade of stones. A passenger, Mrs. Samuel Jones, and an Italian trackman employed by the company were cut by flying glass. The arrival of a squad of police put the mob to flight. Out of regard for the Sabbath the company made no further attempt to operate the cars. The Lafayette street line, on which the riot occurred Saturday, was also closed.

Arrest of a Turk Reveals a Plot.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Le Francais publishes a dispatch from Susa, Tunis, announcing that a Turkish officer was recently arrested there on a charge of swindling and that an investigation disclosed the fact that he had received instructions from the Ottoman minister of war to organize a rising of the Arabs in south Algeria in the event of the rupture of diplomatic relations between France and Turkey resulting in a declaration of war. It was conclusively proved that his presence there was due to these instructions. According to the same advices, the incriminated officer is only one of several who were intrusted with the same mission.

Anarchists at Rio Janeiro.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—The Lisbon correspondent of La Patrie says a telegram has been received at the Portuguese capital from Rio Janeiro asserting that two Italians were arrested Friday evening last in the corridor of the presidential palace by an officer of the guard. Both were armed with revolvers and daggers. In Rio Janeiro it is believed that they are anarchists and intended to assassinate President Campos Salles.

Russia Says "Must" to the Turk.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 14.—M. Zinovieff, Russian embassador to Turkey, had an audience of the sultan Friday. The conversation dealt chiefly with the deplorable situation in the Mush district and the persecutions and murders of Armenians. The embassador insisted that Turkey should punish the guilty parties.

CROWE HEARD FROM

Pat Offers Terms on Which He Will Surrender.

"A FUGITIVE FROM INJUSTICE."

Man Suspected of the Cudahy Kidnaping Writes a Long Letter to Chief Donahue of Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 14.—Chief of Police John J. Donahue has received a letter from Pat Crowe naming the terms on which he will surrender. The letter came in care of an Omaha newspaper, in which it is published, and covers fifteen closely written pages of manuscript. The postmark is illegible, but the letter was mailed at 8 o'clock in the morning and reached this city at 8 o'clock in the evening of the same day, indicating that it had not traveled a long distance. In the letter Crowe agrees to give himself up at once and stand trial for the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy provided he shall not be locked up until a jury shall adjudge him guilty. He says he is unable to furnish bond in excess of $500 and demands that bail be fixed in that sum.

Chief Donahue, when asked his opinion of the genuineness of the letter, expressed himself as quite satisfied that it came from Crowe. Donahue has known Crowe for several years and is accustomed to his manner, handwriting and style of speech. The chief also received a letter from Crowe's uncle at Manchester, Ia., submitting similar terms for Crowe's surrender, which lead the police to believe that they are dealing with the right man.

Crowe's letter to Chief Donahue begins:

"Nearly a year has passed by since I was accused of the Cudahy kidnaping. A large reward was offered, and plenty of time has been given for the police and detectives to have made me a prisoner. So far they have failed to do it.

"Now I wish to make a short statement to you and the public."

Crowe then takes the detective agencies to task, defying them to attempt his arrest, and continues:

"Now, Mr. Donahue, let me tell you all I want is justice, a fair trial by twelve men, citizens of Douglass county, Neb.—not by Herod or any of his kind. Their god is gold, and with that power they rule the world.

"Donahue, all I ask is a square deal. Grant my request and I will give myself up.

"Mr. Cudahy has known me for thirteen years. He now believes me guilty. Nevertheless I think he will give me a fair trial, as all he wants is the public to know the truth."

He then expresses confidence that the county attorney and sheriff will give him a fair trial and says he has known Governor Savage ever since he was a barefooted boy on a farm in Iowa and says the governor has identified him at the banks in South Omaha when Crowe was in business there. The letter expresses regret that he has fallen into ill repute and then lays down the conditions of his surrender as follows:

"Now, Mr. Donahue, I will give myself up to you if you will promise me upon your word of honor that I will not be locked up until the jury says guilty. And if the jury says that I will take my punishment like a man, without a murmur.

"I can give a bond for $500, and that is all. If the court will not accept that, I am a fugitive from injustice.

"Your answer to this must bear the signatures of Edward Cudahy, Governor Savage, Sheriff John Power, Attorney Shields, Chief J. J. Donahue and the judge that fixes that bond.

The letter then states that the chief would not know him, that he weighs 200 pounds and is looking fine. He says he has been in South America and Africa, fighting with the Boers, and expresses his disgust with Great Britain and his sympathy for the Boers. He closes the main part of his letter by saying he regrets that Mr. Cudahy should suspect him of kidnaping the boy and hoping soon to receive a reply from the chief, which he directs should be made through a local paper.

This part is signed "Pat Crowe," but the signature is partly erased and four pages of postscript added, in which Crowe says if his offer is not accepted he will return to a foreign country, from which he probably will never return. He then recites a few reminiscences, discusses the Boer war and its causes and signs the postcript with the name "Pat Crowe."

Chief Donahue said he would request the city and Mr. Cudahy to withdraw the rewards which have been offered for Crowe's arrest and conviction, with the provision that Crowe surrender himself. He said if Crowe shall give himself up he will be given all the advantage the law provides and will be offered time and every facility for securing such witnesses as his attorneys may deem necessary.

Another Football Fatality.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Edwin Longenecker, aged twenty-one years, quarter back on the football team of the Brown Preparatory school, this city, is dead in a hospital as a result of injuries received in a game last Tuesday. Longenecker, who was preparing to enter Cornell university, was heavily thrown and fractured his spinal column. He became paralyzed, and an operation was performed on him last Friday. He took a relapse and died at midnight.

OVER THE GREAT SEA

Frenchman Attempts Balloon Trip From Toulon to Algeria.

MANY DISCOURAGEMENTS OVERCOME

The Trip Undertaken With a View of Establishing Aerial Communication Between the Two Countries In Time of War.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Considerable interest is manifested in the attempt of the Comte de la Vaulx, the aeronaut who left Les Sablettes, near Toulon, Saturday night on a balloon voyage across the Mediterranean with a view of testing the possibility of using balloons between France, Corsica and Algeria in time of war.

The success of the experiment has been frequently endangered of late by hitches in the arrangements. Comte de la Vaulx has received semiofficial support in the shape of subscriptions from the ministers of marine and war. The former had promised a cruiser as a convoy and also lent the inflating apparatus. A fortnight ago, however, M. de Lanessan decided that the season was not propitious for the experiment and withdrew the cruiser and the apparatus.

Comte de la Vaulx with difficulty replaced the apparatus. Then a portion of the balloon shed collapsed in a gale and tore the balloon. This damage was repaired, but a few days ago another accident delayed his departure.

Finally the aeronaut's luck changed. Weather and wind improved, and at the last moment M. de Lanessan revoked his decision and ordered the French second class cruiser Du Chayla to convoy the balloon, which is also convoyed by a private yacht.

The aeronaut is accompanied by two other aeronauts and a naval lieutenant. He expects to reach Algeria Wednesday night or Thursday morning. He took with him seventy-five carrier pigeons to be released in three batches daily. The balloon, which is decorated with the tricolor, carries accumulators for electric signal lamps and an electric pump to draw up sea water for ballast whenever necessary by tubes immersed in the sea.

Comte de la Vaulx by a system of floats intends to keep about forty feet above the water.

The Balloon Sighted.

MARSEILLES, Oct. 14.—A steamer which has arrived here reports having sighted the balloon of Comte de la Vaulx yesterday about 12:30 p. m. The balloon was about fifty miles from Marseilles and shaping its course for Algeria. The car was about sixty feet above the sea. Comte de la Vaulx signaled that all was well.

This Week at the Fair.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 14.—During the present week the Pan-American exposition will afford music lovers a rich treat. Clarence Eddy of New York city, W. E. Fairlough of Toronto and Harry Rome Shelley of New York will preside at the organ recitals, and in addition to the organ music the Innes band of Chicago and Victor Herbert, with his Pittsburg orchestra, will give daily concerts in the Temple of Music. Special days at the exposition will be numerous. Tomorrow the Merchants' association of New York city will be here. Wednesday will be doubly celebrated by New Jersey in the morning and by Detroit in the afternoon. Governor Foster M. Voorhees, the members of his staff and distinguished citizens of New Jersey will arrive in Buffalo tomorrow evening. The climax of all exposition days will come on Saturday, Buffalo day, which is expected to eclipse all previous special days.

Descendant of Franklin Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Mrs. E. D. Gillespie, a great-granddaughter of Benjamin Franklin and one of the city's most prominent women, is dead at her home here, aged eighty years. Her father, William John Duane, was secretary of the treasury under President Jackson and was summarily removed by the president for refusal to comply with his order to remove the public funds from the Bank of the United States. Mrs. Gillespie was always prominent in Philadelphia society and was a leading spirit in the organization of the Colonial Dames and other Revolutionary associations of women. She was also deeply interested in charity. Last spring she unveiled a tablet to the memory of Franklin in the Hall of Fame of the University of New York.

Omnibus Capsized.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Oct. 14.—An omnibus owned by Spencer Trask of New York city rolled down an embankment at Yaddo, his country seat. The omnibus contained nine persons. Mrs. Margaret McElrone was seriously injured, and five others were painfully bruised.

Fire In Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.—A fire which occurred in the notion house of John A. Horner & Co., 254 West Baltimore street, caused a loss of $70,000, fully covered by insurance. The damage was almost entirely confined to the stock. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Their Last Official Act.

A RESERVOIR BURSTS.

Property Loss Heavy at East Liverpool, O.—No Fatalities.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 14.—A large reservoir, containing 10,000,000 gallons of water, burst yesterday and caused great damage. No lives were lost, but a score of people had narrow escapes. The money loss will reach probably $150,000.

The reservoir, which is owned by the city and which was only completed a few days ago, was filled in the morning for the first time. It was taxed to its utmost capacity when the break occurred. A gang of laborers were laying pipes in a ditch near the wall which gave way, and they miraculously escaped death. The basin is located 500 feet above the pumping station on the highest hill in the city. A number of houses are located on the hillside between the reservoir and the city proper.

When the wall gave way, the water shot down the incline with a mighty roar, and the noise gave warning to the occupants of the endangered houses, who rushed to a place of safety in time to save themselves. A party of children were playing in a road directly in the pathway of the torrent and, though caught by a portion of the rushing water, were rescued before they were drowned.

Dozens of large trees were torn from their roots and carried down the hillside with lightning rapidity, being jammed with terrific force against the walls of the Harker Pottery company plant. The main building, with several smaller structures, was badly wrecked. Two large kilns and sheds were dashed to pieces and $25,000 worth of ware ruined. The tracks of the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad were covered with thousands of tons of debris, and traffic is blocked.

The street car line running parallel with the railroad suffered severely, and traffic on a half mile of the track has been abandoned. The pumping station was in the direct pathway of the flood and filled with wreckage, which so damaged the engines that they cannot be used. Several houses were moved from their foundations, outbuildings carried away and a number of freight cars on a side track overturned.

THE CASE OF MISS STONE.

Conflicting Dispatches—A Hope of Release Held Out.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Reuter Telegram company has received the following dispatch from Constantinople, dated Oct. 13:

"There have been no further developments in the case of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the abducted American missionary.

"It is reported that Spencer Eddy, secretary of the United States legation in Constantinople, received today a dispatch from Washington advising him that a sum of money which should suffice for the ransom would be forthcoming."

The text of Reuter's advices is ambiguous.

The Daily Telegraph has the following dispatch from Sofia:

"United States Consul-General Dickinson has received no instructions to pay the ransom. He is afraid a dangerous precedent would be created by payment. As he is now fully convinced that the brigands were merely instruments, acting under the instigation of late members of the Macedonian committee, he has made strong representations to the Bulgarian government, asking the arrest of these instigators. Should this be done, he says, Miss Stone would doubtless be released on payment of a moderate indemnity and assurance of freedom for her captors. Some Macedonians have already been arrested here."

Miss Stone's Ransom Forwarded.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 14.—Thus far there have been no fresh developments in the case of Miss Helen Stone, the abducted American missionary. Spencer Eddy, secretary of the United States legation at Constantinople, has received a notification from Washington that the funds for ransom have been forwarded.

Austrian Archduchess to Wed.

VIENNA, Oct. 14.—The consent of Emperor Francis Joseph having been obtained, announcement is made of the betrothal of Archduchess Elizabeth, daughter of the late Crown Prince Rudolf, to Prince Otto Windisch-Graetz. His majesty, whose permission was only secured after much persuasion, will formally announce the engagement today at a family dinner at Schoenbrunn. Prince Otto is a lieutenant of uhlans. He belongs to an ancient but poor family, and, while the marriage will not be regarded as morganatic, the archduchess will certainly wed beneath her. Their acquaintance was made at a court ball two years ago. It is quite a love match. The archduchess, who has refused to marry any but the man of her own choice, is beautiful and eighteen years of age. Prince Otto is ten years older.

Bank Burglars Frightened Away.

NORWALK, O., Oct. 14.—Burglars made an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Monroeville National bank. The inner safe was blown open, but the noise aroused the inhabitants, and the burglars were forced to flee without having secured any booty. Six men were in the gang, and they escaped in rigs stolen from a livery stable. The horses were deserted at Chicago Junction, where it is supposed the fugitives boarded a train.

Four Trainmen Killed.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Oct. 14.—Two miles east of Mackey's Station an eastbound cattle train and a westbound freight collided while going thirty miles an hour. Both engines were demolished, twenty or more cars were reduced to kindling wood, and four trainmen were killed.

CHURCH AS MEDIATOR.

Episcopalians May Offer to Settle Labor Troubles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—An important resolution to be presented to the general convention of the Episcopal church will be one drawn up by the committee on the state of the church relative to the disagreements between employers and employees. After a brief preamble stating that it is the divine mission of the church to be a mediator the resolution continues:

"Resolved, the house of bishops concurring, That a joint commission of both houses to consist of three bishops, three presbyters and three laymen be appointed, the bishops in such manner as the house of bishops shall determine and the other members by the president of this house, as a standing commission upon the relations of capital and labor whose duty it shall be:

"First.—To study carefully the aims and purposes of the labor organiations of our country.

"Second.—In particular to investigate the cause of industrial disturbances as may arise.

"Third.—To hold themselves in readiness to act as arbitrators should their services be desired between men and their employers, with a view to bringing about mutual conciliation and harmony in the spirit of the Prince of Peace.

"Resolved, That the said commission shall make a report of its proceedings to the general convention.

"Resolved, That it is desirable that the above named commission should be named by reappointment every three years."

A CLEW TO THE ROBBERS.

Passing of a Bank Note May Lead to Arrests.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—Through a $10 note of the National Bank of Helena, with forged signature, just discovered in this city it is believed that one of the boldest train robberies in recent years, that of the Great Northern express on July 3 last, will be traced to its perpetrators.

The train was held up near Wagner, Mon., by three masked men, and $40,000 in unsigned bond bills of the National Bank of Helena were stolen, together with $43,000 in specie and drafts.

The Curry outlaws, a desperate band, led by "Kid" Curry, are said to have been the robbers. They escaped safely with their booty.

It is believed that the men are in this city from the fact that the $10 note was put in circulation here.

It had the forged signatures of the bank president and cashier, neither of which signatures was right.

The stolen notes were of $10 and $20 denomination, numbered from Y984,349 to Y935,144. The exact amount is as yet unknown. The bills were to be issued by the National Bank of Helena, Mon.

WHOLESALE HOUSEBREAKERS.

Parties Arrested In Boston Confess to Many Crimes.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Three men and a young woman are locked up in the Tombs with nearly fifty charges of breaking and entering hanging over the heads of the men and that of disposing of stolen property over the young woman. She is the wife of one of the men.

Not since the days of the famous Barrett and Chaffee cases of burglary has such a display of stolen property been exhibited. It is estimated that the amount recovered will reach $5,000 and that the amount stolen in all is between $8,000 and $10,000.

The persons under arrest, with the exception of the woman, have confessed.

All United States subtreasuries, as well as other government offices and banks, have been notified to look out for the stolen money.

California Town Destroyed.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 14.—The most destructive fire in the history of Los Galos occurred here yesterday morning. The entire business section of the town was wiped out. The area covered by the fire is estimated at about four acres. The property loss is estimated from $10,000 to $150,000. A dozen business blocks, several manufactories, a livery stable, a church and many dwellings were burned. The fire department was powerless to cope with the flames, which stopped only when practically all the fuel at hand was exhausted. A number of men were injured, but none seriously.

The Next Papal Consistory.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—In well informed Catholic circles here it is believed that the next consistory of the Catholic church at Rome will be held in February, when Pope Leo XIII. attains the twenty-fifth year of his pontificate. While there have been no definite advices to this effect, it is thought likely that this assembly will open the jubilee to signalize the closing of the quarter century of Pope Leo's regime and that he will take advantage of it to deliver an allocution, taking a strong position on the question of assassination among other things.

Troops Keep Order at Kabul.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—"A large Afghan force has been assembled around Kabul and is maintaining order," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Simla. "Habib Ullah Khan has appointed a special guard for each European in Kabul, directing that the guards shall answer with their lives for the safety of their charges. The Indian government has postponed the usual move to Calcutta, and Lord Curzon has definitely postponed his projected tour."

MALVAR IS LOCATED

Insurgent Leader Said to Be In Bulacan Province.

MINDORO INSURRECTION WIPED OUT

Police Force at Banan Disarmed and the Chief Under Arrest—The Execution of Major Braganza Ordered.

MANILA, Oct. 14.—The military authorities have received word that General Miguel Malvar, the insurgent leader, is believed to have left the province of Batangas, Luzon, and to be planning an operation in the province of Bulacan, where insurgent conscription has been progressing recently. The country is mountainous and well adapted to guerrilla warfare.

Captain Pitcher has practically stamped out insurrection in the island of Mindoro.

The police force at Banan, province of Batangas, has been disarmed, and the chief of police and several others have been placed under arrest on a charge of belonging to an insurgent society and using their offices to obtain information for the insurgents.

Major Braganza, the insurgent officer who ordered the execution of 103 Spanish prisoners and personally superintended the carrying out of the order, has been sentenced to be hanged.

There is intense feeling among the natives in San Fernando, province of Pampanga, over the killing of a native by a soldier. Strong patrols are out in both San Fernando and Bacolor to prevent a hostile demonstration.

There is considerable criticism here of the recent statements of Congressman Edgar Weeks of Michigan regarding Filipino character and possibilities. Members of the commission refer to his remarks as "too sweeping" and as "based upon too short an experience."

The native press unstintingly condemns the conclusions of Mr. Weeks as "unjust and viciously false."

Royalty Sees Niagara.

NIAGARA, Ont., Oct. 14.—The Duke and Duchess of York passed a quiet Sunday at the Queen's Royal hotel. They attended a special church service held at the Queen's Royal hotel, over which the Rev. Canon Dalton, chaplain with the royal suit, presided. After this service was concluded the duke and duchess, accompanied by several members of the royal suit, were driven to the pier, where they went aboard the steamer Corona and proceeded to Queenstown. At this point the royal party boarded a special electric car of the Niagara Falls Park and River railway handsomely fitted up, and they were taken up past the whirlpool rapids to Niagara falls. The duke wore a black derby hat and gray tweed suit and seemed keenly interested in the splendid scenery along the line of route.

Canadian Pacific Steamer Ashore.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 14.—In a dense fog the Canadian Pacific steamer Hating, from Skaguay to Vancouver, went ashore at Tucker bay, Jarvis island, and is now hard and fast upon the rocks. The place is a small rocky islet lying to the northeast of Lasquette island, at the entrance to Sabine strait, forty-nine miles north of Vancouver. When the steamer went ashore, Captain Gosse was on watch. The fog at the time was so dense that it was impossible to see ten feet in any direction. The Hating had on board 170 passengers, of whom 130 were first class and forty second class. There was no panic, and the passengers were soon made aware that no danger was to be apprehended. A steamer has been dispatched to the rescue.

Church Celebrates Bicentenary.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 14.—The First Parish Unitarian church of this place observed the two hundredth anniversary of its organization and ordination of its first pastor, Rev. John Swift, yesterday. At the principal service in the afternoon Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., of Boston and Hon. George Frisbie Hoar of Worcester spoke upon the relation of the church to the state. Rev. Horatio Stebbins of California also gave a historical address.

Honors to Virchow.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The celebration in honor of the eightieth birthday of Professor Virchow came to an end with a reception following the banquet in the lobby of the lower house of the Prussian diet. The octogenarian savant declared that he was not fatigued. Among the last addresses presented was one from the Chicago Medical society. The affair will never be forgotten by those who participated. It was a unique sight and deeply impressive.

Milwaukee Editor Dead.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 14.—Lansing Warren, editor and publisher of the Milwaukee Sentinel, is dead from an attack of typhoid fever. Mr. Warren was taken ill about three weeks ago, having contracted a cold in the east while on a business trip. Lansing Warren had been actively engaged in newspaper work for more than twenty years and previous to his connection with The Sentinel was business manager of the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Fire In Dubois, Pa.

DUBOIS, Pa., Oct. 14.—Fire last night at Reynoldsville, Jefferson county, burned over a block and a half of the business section, gutting fourteen business places, including the Hotel McConnell, one of the town's largest hotels, and four dwelling houses. The loss is estimated at $60,000, on which there is insurance of only $17,000.

Chose the Right Men.

The Republican primaries in this city will be held this evening when delegates to the county and city conventions and members of the county and city committees will be elected and nominations for ward Councilmen made. Under the new rules of the Republican city executive committee, the Republican voters, who attend these primaries, have the right to vote for whom they please regardless as to whether they have been named before or not.

With the exception of an occasional victory for several local candidates running on a Citizens' ticket, the Republicans have elected their choice with much regularity. With a normal majority of nearly 800 in the city alone, it is not surprising that such a thing should come to pass. The Democrats have, at times, put up a plucky fight and considerably reduced those figures, but 800 is too big a lead to overcome without almost a landslide. As there is no apparent likelihood of a landslide, as far as the municipal candidates are concerned, it is therefore quite likely that part or all of the candidates for ward Councilmen, chosen tonight, will be elected to the Common Council in the November election.

Under these circumstances, it behooves every Republican in the city to attend the primaries this evening and see that proper men are chosen to stand for the place. National or State politics should not cut any figure in the local campaign. The chief object in getting men to run for these offices should be to get those men who will look after the interests of the city unselfishly and conscientiously. There are good men who are ready and willing to give of their time and talents with no other object than to see that the city is properly governed. These are the men who should be nominated tonight.

The place to begin the fight for good government is in the primaries. Therefore, let every good citizen turn out this evening and use his right to cast a ballot for the proper man. Now that the former fashion of limiting the balloting to those names which have been sent to the ward clerk in advance has been abolished, there is no possible reason for not voting for a proper man.

John H. VanWinkle, Jr., one of the rising young lawyers of the community, defeated a veteran in political combats for the Democratic county committee at the North Plainfield primaries Friday evening. He is now without doubt the youngest member of that organization, but has already shown himself possessed of unusual ability and wisdom. He has already taken an active part in several campaigns and may be considered one of the most valuable of the rising generation for the Somerset Democracy.

The value of the City High School as a preparatory school for the colleges is shown very strongly by the number of pupils entering college from the school this fall. There are nineteen that have gone to college from the High School this fall, and they are distributed among eleven different colleges. Four went to Princeton, three to Rutgers, two to Barnard, and one each to Mount Holyoke, Vassar, Central University, of Iowa, Swarthmore, New York University, Wellesley and Smith. In quite a number of cases the pupils entered college with advanced standing.

For the second time within a year the New Jersey Central Railroad has had a serious disaster on its lines owing to the transportation of oil in tank cars. Thankful to say, however, that traffic is being steadily reduced. Direct pipe lines now carry the bulk of the crude oil to the refineries at the seaboard from the oil regions of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Every possible precaution is taken to prevent such accidents but, as long as the tank cars run, they are still within the bounds of possibility.

There seems to be something in the atmosphere of Somerset county which is conducive to factional disturbances among the politicians. The Democrats of North Plainfield furnished no end of excitement Friday evening when they battled at the primaries of the borough. At one time Assessor Elston M. French and David J. Carney were strong political allies, but the course of events has changed the situation and now unusual bitterness seems to prevail.

The Philadelphia Record relates that the busiest dental establishment in New York is that which is regularly advertised in the leading newspapers, and the advertisement of which is occasionally enlarged to a full page of the New York Herald. The price of such a page is large, but it is evident that the advertisement pays or it would not be repeated.

New York papers have commented on the fact that at the close of the Somerset county convention, Senator Charles A. Reed and Former Chancery Clerk L. A. Thompson escorted the nominees to the platform and shook hands. If current report is to be trusted, however, that did not mean that the factional fight in Somerset county is over for ever.

The people of Somerville are rejoicing over the fact that the New Jersey Central Railroad is to greatly improve its depot arrangements at that town. The work is now partially completed and will certainly be of much advantage to the county seat.

Some of Edward M. Shepard's utterances regarding Tammany Hall and his present position as Tammany candidate for mayor of New York are rather difficult for the ordinary mortal to understand.

There is every prospect that Thursday will be quite an important day in North Plainfield. The parade of the borough firemen promises to be one of unusually impressive dimentions.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The means resorted to by friends to advertise wedding trips are sometimes very laughable. As an instance of a novel idea of announcing the presence of a bride and groom, the scheme of some young men out in Newark, O., is worth relating. The young fellows in question procured several thousand handbills or dodgers and scattered them throughout the train which the newly-wedded pair had boarded.

This is how the dodger read:

Attention!
Farmers and Citizens
Veni, Vidi, Vici
E. Pluribus Unum
Look! Look! Look!
Watch for the appearance of
THE BRIDE AND GROOM
They will accompany you as far as
New York.

WORKED LIKE A CHARM.

Crusty Old Bachelor Uncle Gives Niece Advice That Brings on Trouble.

After she had been married six months, says the Detroit Free Press, she went to her old bachelor uncle, who believes that a matrimonial alliance is a voluntary acceptance of slavery.

"Suffering from the conjugal yoke, hey?" he replied to her presentation of afflictions.

"No, uncle, from the conjugal joke," for she would not humor his prejudices.

"Same thing," with a hardening voice, "but I require details before giving advice."

"Well, he is a practical joker of the worst sort. He delights to slip salt into my tea, wake me out of a sound sleep by playing burglar; send anonymous letters threatening to burn the house down; tell me that he has failed and that the poorhouse stares us in the face; swears that the house is haunted; anything to scare me and give him a laugh."

"Of course. Marriage makes a brute of a man and a fool of a woman. But don't you be a soft little silly. Go right back at him with his own weapons. Mix glue with his shaving soap. Dust the inside of his underclothing with red pepper. Put sandpaper in his shoes. Change his best hat for one two sizes larger. Pretend to fall in love with some other fellow. Keep him in hot water day and night. I guess that will hold him."

She acted on this advice. The husband thrashed the uncle. The wife holds that he did just right, and now there is a prospect that they will live happily ever after.

NIGHT EATING MAKES FAT.

Physicians Are Now Advising Bedtime Luncheons for Emaciated People.

It was formerly thought that food taken at bedtime created indigestion and bad dreams. While undoubtedly rich and hearty food is inappropriate at the time chosen for repose, a light, nourishing repast at night often conduces to sound sleep by drawing the blood away from the brain.

Physicians are now advising a bedtime lunch for weak, nervous and emaciated people. The long hours of sleep consume about one-third of our existence. Although the demand made upon the system is naturally much less than during the waking hours, there is a wasting away of tissues consequent upon the suspension of nutriment for many hours. The body feeds upon itself, for food taken at dinner is digested at bedtime. Often one is restless and wakeful at night because the stomach is empty.

Says a well-known physician: "Man is the only creature I know of who does not deem it proper to sleep on a good meal. The infant instinctively cries to be fed at night, showing that food is necessary during that time as well as through the day, and that left too long without it causes it discomfort, which it makes known by crying."

If you crave it, eat a light, easily digested lunch at bedtime. And the long hours of sleep will work out for you a problem in addition, instead of subtraction, of adipose tissue.

LAWFUL ENTERPRISE.

Sly Dodge of a Corporation Agent for Getting in the Lowest Bid on Contract Work.

Apropos of the methods employed in the franchise grab in Pennsylvania, Sidney W. Curtis, a New York broker, told a story recently, according to the New York Times, of a scheme worked in one of the western cities in the early '80's for the purpose of giving the contracts for the building of city waterworks to a favored concern. All the bids had to be submitted before 12 o'clock noon, when the city comptroller's office was closed and the representatives of the various bidders were locked out.

A little alley led to a rear window of the office, and here appeared the agent of the company that was to get the contract by hook or by crook. He had his bids all made out except the figures. When the bids had been opened and the lowest bid had been found he received a signal and filled out his bid a few cents below that of the lowest bidder. Then he handed his bid through the window to the clerk, who duly opened it and awarded him the contract. Then the doors were opened and the waiting representatives were informed of the result.

MILLIONS OF BANANAS.

Three Vessel Loads of the Fruit Make Work Lively in Philadelphia.

Scarcity of domestic grown fruits caused another record in the importation of bananas to be broken, when three vessels, all laden with the tempting fruit of the West Indies, lately came up the Delaware, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

One of the three was the Russian steamboat Urania, with 16,300 bunches of bananas stowed away in her hold, and the others were the Norwegian steamships Spero and Leon, the former carrying 12,000 bunches and the latter with 14,000 bunches, a grand total for the three ships of 42,300 bunches. Averaged at 60 bananas to each bunch, this means that 2,538,000 bananas were unloaded altogether, or nearly two for each resident of Philadelphia.

So great was the inward rush of the fruit that one of the ships, the Spero, was unable to find dock room, and her cargo was brought to shore in lighters, while the Spero lay at anchor in the middle of the Delaware off pier 5. This is one of the rarest of happenings in this port, and the proceedings were watched with interest by a big crowd of spectators. The unprecedented demand for men to unload the bananas, work which the importers find it pays to do with especial quickness while the big consumption of the fruit is on, naturally sent longshoremen's wages skyward, and the pockets of many of them were jingling with coin at the end of the day.

CYCLIST'S BULL-FIGHT.

Queer Novelties Lately Witnessed by the Populace in a Mexican Ring.

An appreciative crowd of nearly 5,000 people saw a commendable exhibition in the Romita bull ring by a representative cuadrilla of Mexico City cyclists one afternoon recently. The affair was well carried out and applause was generous during the afternoon, reports the Mexican Herald. The five bulls killed were from the haciendas of Atenco, the property of Senor Barbabosa.

The features of the day were the placing of the banderillos from a bicycle by Jose Basurto, and "a Don Tancredo en bicicio" by Alberto Elgues. The former placed the sticks in the neck of the second bull with skill and daring; the latter coolly sat on his wheel, which was propped to stand upright in the center of the ring, while the bull, luckily, paid no attention to him. He was applauded.

The first bull found Manuel G. Sanchez prepared to do him to the death, but Manuel's preparatory course had obviously been incomplete. He failed, even though using some strokes never known before, to kill the bull, and the beast was finally lassoed.

Jose Cosio braved the second bull, and dispatched him neatly with an estocada de pulmon. The other bulls were tackled and killed in alternate order by the two matadores.

AROUND THE WORLD.

A Trip That Has Never Been Made Despite All Claims to the Contrary.

No one has yet really made a journey round the world, says a reliable authority. The course usually followed is approximately about 20,000 miles in length. The shortest time for this distance is that made by George Grimith, an Englishman, who accomplished the distance in 64½ days, as an ordinary passenger, via Suez and Hong-Kong.

The only way to make a real trip around the world would be at the equator, where the circumference is 24,855 miles, nearly 5,000 miles longer than the usual route.

Some years ago an Italian offered to accomplish this task in three years, provided the necessary funds were found; but nothing came of it. It is extremely doubtful whether such a feat is within the realms of possibility, as the man rash enough to undertake it would have to spend months in the pestilential basin of the Amazon, hew his way for hundreds of miles through the terrible Congo forest and cross the great twin islands of Sumatra and Borneo, in a latitude where fever of the deadliest description is everywhere prevalent.

A PARCHED MOUTH.

An Infallible Sign That Will Betray an Anxious or Worried Condition.

It is not alone the hot weather or hard work that makes your mouth dry; anxiety, serious trouble generally, will parch your mouth and throat more quickly and effectively than anything else.

There are persons who will not betray in the least degree, by their looks and general demeanor, that they are worried. Many criminals, for instance, appear as cool as cucumbers, although they are inwardly much perturbed; but to an attentive observer the state of their minds is made clear by the parched mouth.

You may take it for granted that a person who is a prey to deep anxiety will show signs of difficulty in speaking; that is because his mouth and throat are dried; and you will see that he rolls his tongue about in order to moisten it. He must be a very cool individual who can prevent that sign of anxiety.

On the Mississippi.

On the Mississippi between St. Louis and Minneapolis, 60 sawmills are in operation, and 179 steam crafts of various kinds navigate this stretch of river.

Can Animals Cry?

Lady Burton says she has seen horses in the Syrian desert cry from thirst, a mule cry from the pain of an injured foot, and camels shed tears in streams. A cow, sold by its mistress who had tended it from birth, wept bitterly. A young soko ape used to cry from vexation if Livingstone didn't nurse it in his arms when it asked him to. Wounded apes have died crying, and apes have wept over their young ones slain by hunters. A chimpanzee trained to carry water jugs broke one, and fell a-crying, which proved sorrow, though it wouldn't mend the jug. Rats, discovering a young one drowned, have been moved to tears of grief. A giraffe which a huntsman's rifle had injured began to cry. Sea lions weep for the loss of their young. Gordon Cumming observed tears trickling from the eyes of a dying elephant. And even an orang-outang, when deprived of its mango, was so vexed that it took to crying. There can be little doubt, therefore that animals do weep from grief, or pain, or annoyance.—Cassell's Little Folks.

A Historic Punch-Bowl.

Quite possibly the most revered piece of silver plate in the United States navy is the massive 18-pound silver punchbowl of the battleship Indiana, which bears the honorable scars of an historic battle. During that famous blockade and naval battle before Santiago de Cuba this rich piece of tablework was struck by a fragment of a mortar-shell fired from the Socapa battery, and which burst in the wardroom passage of the battleship. A five-pound bit of the shell struck the bowl on one of the stoutest parts of the body, just where the seal of the state of Indiana forms the central portion of a beautiful decoration. The seal is still there, but not as the artist designed it, for it now forms a part of a large, irregular indentation, which in the estimation of the officers and men of the battleship enhances the value of the bowl a thousand times over.—Waldon Fawcett, in Woman's Home Companion.

She Wanted to Know.

They sat on the portico of the Rush street house.

"Annie, dear," he said, "do you love me?"

She looked down at the tall, handsome youth who spoke to her with such pleading in his tones.

"You say you are soon to become the junior partner of the firm, George?"

"Yes, my own."

"And that you have $50,000 in the bank?"

"Yes, darling."

"And that you will inherit at least $500,000 from your mother?"

"Yes, pet."

"Then, George, I love you. I am yours." She fell into his outstretched arms.—Chicago Tribune.

In China.

In China liquids are sold by weight and grain by measure. John buys soup by the pound and cloth by the foot. A Chinaman never puts his name outside of his shop, but paints instead a motto, or a list of his goods, on his vertical sign board. Some reassuring remark is frequently added, such as "One word hall," "A child two feet high would not be cheated." Every single article has to be bargained for, and it is usual for the customer to take his own measure and scales with him.—Albany Argus.

Migg—No. What was it?

I try to give Ripans Tabules their just dues, but can not say sufficient in regard to myself. I am a storekeeper, aged forty-six years. Dyspepsia was the chief trouble I took the Tabules for. I can not say how long I suffered with it, but I can say I no longer need be afraid of what I eat. From night until early morning I have walked the floor and could not sleep I had been trying various remedies with but little success, until about six months ago I started to take Ripans Tabules. They have cured me. At first I took them very sparingly, being naturally afraid of them, but I kinder noticed a change and I took three each day until now I only take one a day or one whenever I feel bad. They were brought to my notice by a gentleman who was taking them for a disordered and bad stomach such as vomiting, headaches and bad breath. He has been positively cured.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

JEWELED LACE.

It Is One of the Fads of the Season.

Jeweled lace is one of the fads of the season, and a favorite piece of fancy work this winter will consist in jeweling fine lace collars and fans. Handsome collarettes are shown decorated with seed pearls of all sizes, and transparent stocks of heavy lace are incrusted with small rhinestones and emeralds. These lace dog collars promise to be the smart thing with decollete gowns. Jeweled lace bows will also be very elegant when used as decorations on black panne hats. In fact, long, narrow loosely shirred bows of black chantilly jeweled with rhinestone will take the place of the omnipresent black Gainsborough plume on the more dressy hats.

Black and white boas of liberty silk with hemstitched handkerchief ends are the latest thing.

A smart tailor made is the one here shown, which is of black broadcloth.

BLACK BROADCLOTH GOWN.

The back is cut princess, and the dress opens on the left shoulder and a little to the left of the front, where the jacket is jauntily fastened by means of three handsome buttons. The underblouse is of tucked white crepe de chine, with a big rosette at the neck of white tulle. The narrow belt is of black panne, and the waist and sleeves are trimmed with chevronlike ornamentations made of narrow black velvet ribbons and tiny silver buttons.

The hat is of black panne faced with white chiffon and trimmed with a handsome mull and black lace scarf.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

Dainty Novelties In Blouses and Collars.

The winter hats promise to be larger, and a great many of them will follow the prevailing Gainsborough shape.

A great many blouses are being made of English embroidery. This comes in open patterns and is made over pale colored taffeta. The sleeves are usually very finely tucked and are of the bishop tendency, gathered into a band of the embroidery. Black velvet ribbon run through bands of the embroidery is very pretty for the collars and cuffs.

A great many indoor dresses are being made collarless. On an outdoor garment a new fad consists in having an outer collar of fur and an inner one of lace. The question of catching cold is not considered by the woman of fashion, and therefore many of the collar bands of street dresses will be made of sheer lace, without lining.

A dainty waist of pale yellow chiffon can be made by following out the illustration. The material is accordion plaited and inserted with perpendicular bands of wide Persian ribbon in the pastel colorings. This ribbon is in turn outlined with narrow black velvet ribbon. The sleeves reach half way between the elbow and the wrist, and they are banded with two bracelets of the Persian ribbon. The neck is cut V shape and is finished with a soft fichu of the chiffon.

I slept that day as a soldier sleeps, taking full rest out of the hours, and letting no harassing thought disturb me. It is only the weak who permit their sleep to be broken on these occasions. And when the dark was well set, I roused and fetched those who should attend to the rope. Our Lady the Moon did not shine at that turn of the month, and the air was full of a great blackness. So I was out of sight all the while they lowered me.

I reached the tumbled rocks that lay at the deep foot of the cliff, and then commenced to use a nice caution, because Phorenice's soldiers squatted uneasily round their camp-fires, as though they had forebodings of the coming evil. I had no mind to further stir their wakefulness. So I crept swiftly along in the darkest of the shadows, and at last came to the spot where that passage ends which before I had used to get beneath the walls of the city.

The lamp was in place, and I made my way along the windings swiftly. The air, so it seemed to me, was even more noxious with vapors than it had been when I was down there before, and I judged that Zaemon had already begun to stir those internal activities that were shortly to convulse the city. But again I had difficulty in finding an exit, and this, not because there were people moving about at the places where I had to come out, but because the set of the masonry was entirely changed. In olden time the Priests' clan oversaw all the architects' plans, and ruled out anything likely to clash with their secret passages and chambers. But in this modern day the priests were of small account, and had no say in this matter, and the architects often through sheer blundering sealed up and made useless many of these outlets and hiding-places.

As it was, then, I had to get out of the network of tunnels and galleries where I could, and not where I would, and in the event found myself at the farther side of the city, almost up to where the outer wall joins down to the harbor. I came out without being seen, careful even in this moment of extremity to preserve the ordinances, and closed all traces of exit behind me. The earth seemed to spring beneath my feet like the deck of a ship in smooth water; and though there was no actual movement as yet to disturb the people—and indeed these slept on in their houses and shelters without alarm—I could feel myself that the solid deadness of the ground was gone, and that any moment it might break out into devastating waves of movement.

Gods! Should I be too late to see the untombing of my love? Would she be laid there bare to the public gaze when presently the people swarmed out into the open spaces through fear at what the great earthtremor might cause to fall? I could see, in fancy, their rude, cruel hands thrust upon her as she lay there helpless, and my inwards dried up at the thought.

I ran madly down and down the narrow winding streets with the one thought of coming to the square which lay in front of the royal pyramid before these things came to pass. With exquisite cruelty I had been forced with my own hands to place her alive in her burying-place beneath the granite throne, and if thews and speed could do it, I would not miss my reward of taking her forth again with the same strong hands.

And so in time I came to the great square, and was there none too soon. The place was filling with people who flocked away from the narrow streets, and it was full of darkness and noise and dust and sickness. Beneath us the ground rippled in undulations like a sea, which with terrifying slowness grew more and more intense.

Ever and again a house crashed down unseen in the gloom and added to the tumult. But the great pyramid had been planned by its old builders to stand rude shocks. Its stones were dovetailed into one another with a marvelous cleverness, and were further clamped and joined by ponderous tongues of metal. It was a boast that one-half the foundations could be dug from beneath it, and still the pyramid would stand four-square under heaven, more enduring than the hills.

Flickering torches showed that its great stone doors lay open, and ever and again I saw some frightened inmate scurry out and then be lost to sight in the gloom. But with the royal pyramid and its ultimate fate I had little concern; I did not even care then whether Phorenice was trapped, or whether she came out sound and fit for further mischief. I crouched by the granite throne which stood in the middle of that splendid square, and heard its stones grate together like the ends of a broken bone as it rocked to the earth-waves.

In that night of dust and darkness it was hard to see the outline of one's own hand, but I think that the gods in some requital for the love which had ached so long within me, gave me especial power of sight. As I watched, I saw the great carved rock which formed the capstone of the throne move slightly, and then move again, and then again; a tiny jerk for each earth-pulse, but still there was an appreciable shifting; and, moreover, the stone moved always to one side.

There was method in Zaemon's desperate work, and this in my blind panic of love and haste I had overlooked. So I went up the steps of the throne on the side from which the great capstone was moving, and clung there afire with expectation.

More and more violent did the earthswing grow, though the gradations of its increase could not be perceived, and the din of falling houses and the shrieks and cries of hurt and frightened people went louder up into the night. Thicker grew the dust that filled the air, till one coughed and strangled in the breathing, and more black did the night become as the dust rose and blotted the rare stars from sight. I clung to an angle of the granite throne, crouching on the uppermost step but one below the capstone, and could scarcely keep my place against the violence of the earthtremors.

But still the huge capstone that was carved with the snake and the outstretched hand held my love fast locked in her living tomb, and I could have bit the cold granite at the impotence which barred me from her. The people who kept thronging into the square were mad with terror, but their very numbers made my case more desperate every moment. "Phorenice, goddess, aid us now!" some cried, and when the prayer did not bring them instant relief, they fell to yammering out the old confessions of the faith which they had learned in childhood, turning in this hour of their dreadful need to those old gods which, through so many dishonorable years, they had spurned and deserted. It was a curious criticism on the balance of their real religion, if one had cared to make it.

Still heavier grew the surging of the earth, and the pavement of the great square gaped and upheaved, and the people who thronged it screamed still more shrilly as their feet were crushed by the grinding blocks. And now too the great pyramid itself was commencing to split and gape and topple. The roofs of its splendid chambers gave way, and the ponderous masonry above shuttered down and filled them. In part, too, one could see the destruction now, and not guess at it merely from the fearful hearings of the darkness. Thunders had begun to roar through the black night above and add their bellowings to this devil's orchestration of uproar, and vivid lightning splashes lit the flying dust-clouds.

It was perhaps natural that she should be there, but it came as a shock when a flare of the lightning showed me Phorenice safe out in the square, and indeed standing not far from myself.

She had taken her place in the middle of a great flagstone, and stood there swaying her supple body to the shocks. Her face was calm, and its loveliness was untouched by the years. From time to time she brushed away the dust as it settled on the short red hair which curled about her neck. There was no trace of fear written upon her face. There was some weariness, some contempt, and I think a tinge of amusement. Yes, it took more than the crumbling of her royal pyramid to impress Phorenice with the infinite powers of those she warred against.

Gods! how the sight of her cool indifference maddened me then. I had it in me to have strangled her with my hands if she had come within my reach. But as it was she stood in her place, swaying easily to the earth-waves as a sailor sways on a ship's deck, and beside her, crouched on the same great flagstone and overcome with nausea, was Ylga, that again was raised to be her fan-girl. It came to my mind that Ylga was twin sister to Nais, and that I owed her for an ancient kindness, but I had leisure to do nothing for her then, and indeed it was little enough I could have done. With each shock the great capstone of the throne to which I clung jarred farther and farther from its bed-place, and my love was coming nearer to me. It was she who claimed all my service then.

Farther and farther the great stone that made the top of the throne slid out from its bed, but its slowness of movement maddened me. A life's education left me in that moment, and I had no trace of stately patience left. In my puny fury I thrust at the great block with my shoulder and head, and clawed at it with my hands till the muscles rose on me in great ropes and knots, and the high gods must have laughed at my helplessness as they looked. All was being ordered by the Three, who were their trusted servants in their good time. The work of the gods may be done slowly, but it is done exceeding sure.

But at last when all the people of the city were numb with terror and incapable of further emotion (save only for Phorenice, who still had nerve enough to show no concern), what had been threatened came to pass. The capstone of the throne slid out till it reached the balance, and the next shock threw it with a roar and clatter to the ground. And then a strange tremor seized me.

ARIZONA BOY SHERIFF.

Fourteen-Year-Old Lad Who Has Made Several Wonderful Arrests.

There is a true, old-fashioned dime novel boy living out in Arizona. He makes the most wonderful arrests, and is known all aronnd that locality as the youngest officer of the peace in the United States. He lives at Congress, and is Richard Boscha, the 14-year-old son of Deputy Sheriff Boscha, who has been deputy sheriff of Yavapal county, Ariz., for 20 years, and is a very fearless and worthy officer, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Richard is a small boy for his age, but he inherits the fearlessness of his father. He has deep black hair and eyes and his face is most intelligent. Not long ago he came to Phoenix, bringing with him the 16-year-old son of a county officer who had fallen so deeply in love with the "Coontown 400" that he had run away with the organization. When the young peace officer was asked whether the young man was glad to go back home, he smiled and said:

"No; he did not want to come, but there was no way out of it for him."

Young Mr. Boscha's abilities as an officer of the peace first came into notice about a year ago by the arrest of a Mexican for whom the officers had been looking for a long time. He and another Mexican had fought a duel because of their mutual love of a pretty Mexican girl, and the duel was intended to be deadly. One of the duelists was wounded and the other left the country. Officers hunted everywhere for him, but he could not be found.

Some months afterward Richard Boscha, then only 13 years of age, found the duelist and at the point of a gun took him into camp.

MINISTER WU TO THE WOMEN.

The Famous Chinese Official's Response to a Toast for "The Ladies."

The wise and facetious Minister Wu Ting-Fang made his appearance in a new role the other evening at a large gathering where both ladies and gentlemen were present, where he was the most conspicuous guest. He was asked to say a few words to the ladies, in response to a toast to them. He said: "When I see so many finely built women confronting me, and I am called upon to be the 'gallant' of the moment, what can I say but that I wish for that moment only I were not a Chinaman—I should like to be an American as I stand here, so that each one of you would appear as beautiful to me as you actually must be when seen through your countrymen's eyes. Alas! the slight difference in the formation of my orbs cannot do justice to the impression you make upon me, individually and jointly and severally. But there are some well-nourished figures and forms amongst you that really appear to be as fine as the best that my own fertile country has produced. And your intelligence and souls, I am told, which are hidden under your intricate fashionable apparel, are more beautiful even than your forms. May you all feel the depth and sincerity of my admiration, and may your youthful looks and honorable years always walk hand in hand."

SOME GOOD SIGNS.

Teeth, Ears and Thumbs Furnish an Index to the Character of People.

Teeth that are long and not narrow denote large, liberal views, strong passions, and heroic virtues. If they are long and narrow, a weak character is denoted. Long noses are cautious and prudent; short ones impulsive; and tip-tilted ones hopeful, impulsive and joyous. Deep-colored eyes, with well-arched lids, both upper and lower, show a truthful and affectionate nature. An eyebrow slightly curling at the outer edge indicates a jealous nature.

If the apex of the ear lies close to the head the owner possesses a refined nature. But if the top starts away from the head at a well-defined angle that person has an uneven disposition, and is not to be relied upon.

If a girl's thumb lies flat or droops a little, marital submission to the master mind is indicated. If the thumb has a tendency to stand at right angles to the hand, the damsel owning it is headstrong.

A strong character has a strong, erect thumb. Fingers which bend backward mean powerful determination. If they are round, strength, both physical and mental, is indicated.

Doesn't Mind Snake Bites.

Antonio Adabio, foreman of a gang of Italian track hands on the New York Central railroad, has not the slightest fear of rattlesnakes. Last fall Adabio stepped on a snake, which sunk its fangs into the calf of his leg. The leg did not swell a particle. One morning lately, while at work at Jersey Shore Adabio's men came upon a den of snakes, and all retreated with the exception of the charmed foreman, who managed to kill 11 of the reptiles. Blood flowed from the slight wounds on Adabio's legs, but he refused to accept medical aid and was working as usual next day.

Nothing to Guard.

A sentry is still pacing up and down a certain portion of the Cherbourg (France) docks. Some time ago an old iron-clad, La Galisoniere, was used as a target for the melinite projectiles, and, after the experiments, was brought to the dock for inspection. Orders were given that a sentry should be stationed there to keep the public out of the ship. After the inspection the ship was taken away, but, as the orders for the sentry were not countermanded, the post is still kept up.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Fred VanAuken resigned the captaincy of the Plainfield High School football team, Friday, and Robert Meeker, Jr., was chosen to fill the position.

On account of the Hoboken team being unable to get together in time to visit Plainfield, there was no game on the Plainfield Association Football Club's grounds, Saturday afternoon. The local team used the afternoon in practicing. Next Saturday afternoon, the strong Garwood team will be the Plainfield's club opponents. The game will be played on the Clinton avenue grounds.

At the beginning of the season the outlook for a good team at Leal's School was anything but bright and some difficulty was found in getting sufficient material for the eleven. After a great amount of work all the places were filled and systematic coaching begun. Charles Dupee and R. A. McGee, former Yale men, have lent valuable assistance in rounding the team into form and there is a fairly good aggregation, though most of the material is light and raw.

Manager Brakeley, of the Plainfield High School football team, has not as yet completed his schedule for the season There are a number of open dates. Wednesday the eleven will play that of the Leal's School and on the following Saturday it will buck up against the Rutgers College Preparatory team. Both of these games will be played in this city. Saturday, November 2, a game will be played with the Port Richmond High School team in this city, and a return game will take place the following Saturday.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Clinton Avenue team and the Cuban Giants commenced a baseball game on the former's grounds, Saturday afternoon, but owing to darkness did not finish. The game was called in the seventh inning with the score 10 to 4 in favor of Clinton avenue. For the first half the contest was very close and both sides played well. Clouds obscured the setting sun and made it impossible to see the ball, and for the last three innings both teams did more fooling than anything else. It will probably be the last time either team will appear on the diamond this season.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The Leal's School Athletic Association has perfected an organization. The officers selected are: President, D. A. McGee; secretary, William J. Schoonmaker; treasurer, E. C. Hall. The auxiliary officers chosen are: Manager of the football team, Ralph B. Schoonmaker; assistant manager of the football team, F. Martin, and manager of the hockey team, Ralph B. Schoonmaker.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Col. John F. Wilson, of "Tunlaw," has purchased a handsome team of grey thoroughbreds.

Wants to Tell How It Happened.

The too promiscuous handling of a two-days-old infant at the home of Michael Gleason, of East Fourth street, last evening, is said to have led to Thomas Coffey, the mother's brother, being thrown out of doors and later arrested. In the city court this morning he asked for time to produce witnesses and the case was laid over until Saturday afternoon.

ONE OF HOPE'S FIRST FRIENDS

GEO. FIRSTBROOK PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME YESTERDAY.

Spent His Active Career in the West—On His Retirement He Came to Plainfield.

George Firstbrook, one of the West End's most widely-known residents, died at his home on Liberty street early yesterday morning after a comparatively brief illness. Although he had not been in the best of health for many years, he was able to be about as usual until Thursday, when he was forced to take to his bed. Since then he passed through a number of hemorrhages, which left him in a weakened condition. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Firstbrook was born in Cornwall, England, in 1843, but came to this country when a young man. He settled in the far west where he was actively engaged in mining for many years. Much of his time was spent in Colorado and California where he amassed considerable property. Impaired health forced him to retire from active business. Disposing of his mining interests in 1884, he came east. With the exception of a brief period at Port Oram, Morris county, he has since resided in Plainfield, living a retired life. When Hope chapel was opened, he was one of its first members and has always been identified with its interests.

He leaves a widow and eight children, all of whom live at home. The latter are George E., Fred H., Bertram O., William, Walter, Clinton and Howard Firstbrook and Miss Mabel Firstbrook.

The funeral services will be held from Hope chapel, at 2:30. Interment will be in the Methodist cemetery.

SPECIAL EXERCISES.

Rally Day Observed at Sunday-school of First M. E. Church.

The pupils of the First M. E. Sunday-school at yesterday afternoon's session held rally-day exercises. The programme, as rendered under the supervision of Superintendent James R Joy, was as follows: Singing and responsive reading by school; violin solo, Miss White, of Elmira, N. Y.; responsive reading, "History of the Sunday-school;" reading, "The Old-fashioned Sunday-school." Miss Belle Smith; reading, "The Twentieth Century Sunday-school," Harold Fenno; address by superintendent; roll call by Secretary James A. Stafford.

Improving Somerset Street.

Street Commissioner Gavett has a force of men at work re-macadamizing Somerset street, from West Front street to Green brook. The work on the thoroughfare in the borough has been completed and it is intended to finish the work on the city side before Thursday, when the firemen's parade takes place.

A Domestic Scrap.

George Potter and his wife Dora, who were arrested for fighting in French's alley Saturday evening, paid $9 in fines this morning in the City Court for being drunk and disorderly, although the husband claimed the right to beat his wife. The husband's fine was double that of his wife's.

Taken To Oil City.

The remains of Joseph A. Riquer, who was burned to death in the fire at Cranford, Friday evening, were sent to his former home, Oil City, today.

ALIS SWAMPED SOMERVILLE

ONE-SIDED GAME OF FOOTBALL PLAYED AT FINDERNE.

Superior Team Play Made It Easy For Plainfield to Win by Score of 31 to 0.

Superior team work enabled the eleven of the Alis A. A., of this city, to administer an overwhelming defeat to the team from Company M, of Somerville, on the grounds of the Somerset County Country Club at Finderne, Saturday afternoon. The Plainfield boys won by a score of 31 to 0.

While the Somerville line was the heavier of the two, the work of the Plainfield backs and ends completely outclassed that of their opponents. The visitors gained at will around the ends, the militia boys finding the interference almost impregnable. Somerville made a few gains through the tackles.

The line-up was as follows:

ALIS A. A.		COMPANY M.
Catheart	right end	Case
Beard, Waring	right tackle	Stryker, Thomas
Giddis	right guard	Mehlenbeck
Minford	centre	Naylor
Egan, Davis	left guard	Layton Davis.
M. Smith	left end	Garrison
Phillips.
Radford	quarterback	Barcalow Bergen
Woolston	right halfback	Weill
T. Smith	fullback	Hoffman

Score—Alis A. A., 31; Company M, 0. Touchdowns—Cuming, (2), Woolston, Radford. Schoonmaker. Goals from touchdowns—Phillips. Referee—Roger Erickson, of Plainfield. Umpire—Andrew Mack of Somerville. Time of game—15 and 20 minute halves.

DEATH OF BENJAMIN GUTTMAN

Passed Away After a Career of Forty Years in Plainfield.

After an illness of but a few days, Benjamin Guttman passed away at his apartments in the Elkwood building, West Second street, this morning. Death was due to a complication of troubles and his advanced age.

Mr. Guttman was eighty years and had been a merchant in this city for nearly half that time. He was in the clothing business in town until a short time ago when failing health compelled him to retire.

He is survived by a widow and three sons, Nathan, the well-known musician, who formerly lived here, but now resides at Woodbridge, Herman and Samuel, of New York.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

WILL PROBABLY PREVAIL AT DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

Convention Convened at Somerville This Morning—North Plainfield Delegates.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 14.—Despite the constant downpour of rain there was a fair representation at the Democratic convention of Somerset county, which was called to order at 10 o'clock. The younger element was particularly in evidence.

Joshua Doughty, Jr., of Bridgewater township, acted as temporary chairman, and George N. Corle, of Neshanic, was chosen temporary secretary. The convention got down to business by electing W. W. Schully chairman and making the temporary secretary permanent. It is probable that the shrievalty nomination will go to J. L. Anderson, of Somerville, the present deputy sheriff.

The delegates from North Plainfield are: First district, John T. Case and Andrew Love, Sr.; second district, L. C. Kline and F. N. Ward. Those from the township are W. N. Demler and F. Bartell. The boroughites on the various committees are: Rules F. N. Ward; resolutions, L. C. Kline; organization, W. N. Demler; credentials, Andrew Love, Sr. The representation on the county committee includes the following: J. H. VanWinkle, Jr., Walter Linbarger and W. N. Demler.

KEAN FACTION WAS DEFEATED IN ATTEMPT TO CAPTURE MEMBERS OF COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Exciting Contests Developed at Two of the Local Republican Primaries Held in the Different Wards Last Evening.

NOMINATIONS WERE MADE FOR WARD COUNCILMEN

MACMURRAY FACTION MAINTAINED ITS HOLD AT A HOT FIRST WARD PRIMARY.

Attempt To Turn Down City Judge Runyon and John E. Keeley in the Second Ward Met With Failure—Gloak, VanHerwerden, Daniel and Lee Chosen For Council

An attempt was made by the Kean faction of the Union county Republicans to strengthen its grip on the county committee by capturing the members of the committee from this city. In the First and Second wards the fight was made without success. In both cases the old members were returned to the committee after an exciting contest.

It was the occasion of the combined county and city primaries of the local Republicans. No nominations were required in advance and, as a result, both fights were sprung with but a few hours warning. There were to be chosen delegates to the county and city conventions, members of the county and city committees and candidates for ward Councilmen, justices of the peace and constables.

In the First ward, the two factions, which have existed there for some time, met to fight for councilman and control of the committees. City Clerk J. T. MacMurray's friends were victorious and renominated Councilman William Gloak over Dr. Marc L. Clawson The primary was a very large one.

In the Second ward, the fight was chiefly confined to the control of the committees and an attempt to oust City Judge W. N. Runyon and John E. Keely from active participation in ward affairs. Their entire ticket won out after a rather exciting time. In the other wards all was quiet.

The men chosen for ward Councilmen to run on the Republican ticket this fall, were as follows: First ward, William Gloak: Second ward, Jas van Herwerden; Third ward, Leslie Daniel; Fourth ward, Robert L. Lee.

FIRST WARD.

As was expected there was a spirited contest last evening at the First ward primary, when the old forces came together. There were two tickets, one the "regular" Republican ticket, which was backed by the "powers that be," and the "Republican Primary Ticket," championed by the faction which is at present out of power. It was also an attempt on the part of the Kean faction to completely control the county committee. The "regulars" were successful, however, and they won out with a good majority.

There was a very large turn out of voters and during the early hours there was much difficulty in voting fast enough. It was finally decided to lay aside the enrollment book and allow everyone to vote, whether they were enrolled or not. This was decided as necessary as it took up too much time to take the names of everyone.

A little disturbance was occasioned at 6:30 o'clock, when Frank Vermeule approached the ballot box. He was not enrolled, and he insisted on voting. He was persistent and would not permit anyone else to vote until he had done so. It was at this point that the enrollment book was put aside and no further accounting was kept.

Of course, there was much rejoicing on the part of the "regulars" over their victory. The extent of the fight could be determined by the number of split tickets. There were 211 "regular" tickets voted, of which 190 were straights. Out of this number W. L. Gloak, nominee for Council, received 191. Every man on the ticket, except Charles S. Smink, delegate to city convention, was scratched. There were 106 straight opposition tickets cast and Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, candidate for Council, received 126. This was due to the fact that Mr. Gloak was cut twenty tickets in favor of Dr. Clawson. In all there were 317 tickets voted, and Mr. Gloak received the greatest number of cuts.

At 8 o'clock Councilman J. F. Buckle, as clerk of the First ward organization, called the meeting to order. H. C. VanEmburgh was chosen chairman, Andrew J. Stiglitz secretary. The chairman appointed G. Thorn as judge, D. S. Dunavan as inspector and Andrew J. Stiglitz as teller. The secretary read the call, after which Mr. MacMurray moved that the officers elected sign the credentials after the votes were counted, also that the delegates be empowered to fill their own vacancies. The meeting then adjourned.

Below will be found the successful ticket:

Delegates to county convention, U. B. Crane, J. E. Flannery, A. Stryker, H. S. Taylor, L. L. Croom, R. I. Tolles, Harry Carey, Wm. Ulmer, L. S. Pocock, P. McAfee, W. H. Thorn; delegates to city convention, A. G. Remsen, A. Seals, Wm. Douglass, W. E. Dunn, F. W. Dunn, Caspar Stadele, A. W. Corbin, C. S. Smink, I. B. Hill, Fred Denckiau; for councilman, W. L. Gloak; for county committee, J. F. Buckle, David C. Smalley; for city committee, O L. Jenkins, H. C. Adams, J. F. Buckle; for justice of the peace, Charles Giese; for constable, John Gjetleson.

The defeated ticket was made up as follows:

For delegates to county convention, Henry Willoughby, W. A. Woodruff, I. L. McVoy, William Schloss, J. H. Tier, Jr., H. R. Thorn, H. C. Corse, William Douglass, Morgan Turton, J. L. Anthony, M. W. Beekman; for members of county committee, J. B. Coward, W. R. Codington; for delegates to city convention, H. H. Cory, F. F. Beekman, R. F. R. Huntsman, William Jones, H. H. Coward, John Rowland, H. M. Case, J. L. Edsall, Dr. Pocock, Benjamin J. LaVere; for member of Council, Dr. Marc. L. Clawson; for members of city executive committee, H. H. Cory, I. L. McVoy, H. C. Corse; for justice of the peace, Joel D. Fields; for constable, John Gjetleson.

SECOND WARD.

There was the expected fight at the Second ward primary, held at the Bryant School last evening. The contest turned out to be over the membership of the county and city committees instead of over the nomination for ward Councilman. An attempt was made to defeat City Judge Wm. N. Runyon and John E. Keely and prevent their return to the county committee. The opposition undoubtedly had its origin among the Kean forces at Elizabeth, who wanted complete control of the county committee. It was prepared by several Second and Third ward Republicans and sprung at the last moment. Its expected strength failed to materialize, however, and the ticket bearing the names of Runyon and Keely was vic-

DRUM CORPS' FAIR OPENS.

FIRST NIGHT WAS MARKED BY VERY AUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

Independent Fife and Drum Corps Is Holding a Six-Day Fair in Washington Hall.

With a very good crowd in attendance and under auspicious circumstances the six-night fair of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps began in Washington Hall last evening. Everyone present had a thoroughly enjoyable time and the chances are the corps will make the affair a decided success. The members have left nothing undone which will add to the pleasure of their patrons and have provided a number of excellent features.

While dancing will be the chief attraction each night, others will be provided almost as entertaining. Last evening the Black Diamond Quartette was present and delighted the audience with the latest popular ballads and coon songs. They were encored several times.

In the stationary attractions, the baby rack caught the fancy of the young men and this part of the affair was well patronized. It is in charge of William C. Force and Frank Manchester. A full line of confectionery is sold at the candy booth under the supervision of Mrs. Frank Manchester, while fancy articles are on sale at the fancy booth in charge of Miss Florence Carver, Miss Mabel Smith and Miss Laura Conklin.

A second fancy booth, where donated articles are displayed, is attended by Mrs. J. H. Adams, Mrs. T. Overbaugh, Miss Carrie Weaver and Miss Laura Miller. The refreshment end is looked after by Frank Marsh, S. C. Terry and D. V. Force.

Special attractions have been provided for each evening and Thursday night has been set aside for the firemen. All visiting firemen will be made especially welcome. Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra will be in attendance and dancing will be continued all night. A number of contests have also been started, which will be announced at the close of the week. Interest centers in the contests for a sewing machine and stove.

The general committee, in charge of the fair, consists of J. V. Beekman, H. G. Adams, J. H. Adams, Frank Manchester, Frank Carver, Frank Marsh, D. V. Force, M. H. Brokaw, William Kreitling, Raymond Carver and Thomas Henderson.

PLAINFIELD'S FREEHOLDERS.

Capt. Hubbard Will be Returned—W. A. Westphal Has Not Announced Himself as Yet.

The terms of William A. Westphal and J. Frank Hubbard, as Freeholders of Union county, expire this fall and there has been some discussion as to the probable Republican nominees, which will be placed before the people.

In all likelihood Mr. Hubbard will receive an unanimous renomination as he has filled the office acceptably for a long term of years. There is some talk, however, of selecting a candidate other than Mr. Westphal. The latter has not announced himself as yet and it is understood that everything will depend on the action he takes.

PARTITION PROCEEDINGS.

Argument Heard in Dunn Against Blackford And Others.

Councilor Magie, at Trenton, this morning, heard argument in the partition proceedings in the case of Cornelia G. Dunn against Ann Janett Blackford and others. VanWinkle & Son, represents the complainant, while Codington & Swackhamer appear for the defendant, Ann Blackford, and Reed & Coddington are counsel for Alphretta D. Suidam, another defendant.

Taught Lesson For Teacher.

The weekly meeting of the teachers of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school was held Saturday evening at the home of Theodore I. Runyon, of West Fourth street. Rev. G. M. Cregar, of Grant avenue. For some days past Mr. Stoughton has been touring over the country making an inspection of some of the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

FRANKKLIN MURPHY WENT TO SOMERSET.

Spoke at Mass Meetings in Somerville and Bound Brook Last Evening.

SENATOR REED ALSO TALKED

DECLARED THAT SOMERSET COUNTY WOULD GIVE 600 MAJORITY.

Reception Held at TenEyck House in the Afternoon, When All Had a Chance to Meet Mr. Murphy —Mass Meetings at Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 15—Franklin Murphy, the Republican nominee for governor, spent yesterday afternoon and part of the evening at this place, in the interests of his campaign. State Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, followed by one hundred party workers, met the candidate at the railroad station and escorted him to the TenEyck House, where a reception was held during the whole afternoon.

State Senator Reed informed the nominee that in his opinion Somerset county would go Republican by 600 majority. The Democrats, said he, are active and aggressive, and had not nominated such men as S. S. Childs for Assembly and Calvin D. McMurtry for sheriff, without intending to wage a hard fight to capture the county. For this reason, he said, 600 would be a conservative estimate for the majority.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, declared in the presence of the nominee that politically the county is in good shape viewed from a Republican standpoint. He says that he does not believe that S. S. Childs will make a better run than he did when nominated before.

The Republican county executive committee conferred with the district leaders during the afternoon and the situation was sized up. Subsequently they called upon the candidate in a body and extended congratulations coupled with promises of hearty support.

At the mass-meeting in the evening Senator Reed presided. The speakers were Franklin Murphy, Congressman Fowler and Senator John Kean. A meeting was held at Bound Brook later in the evening. Among the speakers were Senator Thomas N. McCarter, Senator John Kean and the nominee for governor.

TAUGHT BY MAIL.

Workings of the International Correspondence Schools Explained and Illustrated to an Audience.

W. L. Holbert, district representative of the International Correspondence Schools at Scranton, arranged an "educational treat" in the parlors of the Park Avenue Hotel last evening. The purpose was to gather together a number who would be interested in educational matters as are taught by the Scranton schools, and was original with Mr. Holbert.

The introductions were by Rev. E. M. Bodman, who cited briefly the wonderful advance in educational facilities and the great work being accomplished by the Scranton schools.

An address on "Technical Education," was given by William L. Loeser, superintendent of the Scranton schools. He reviewed the plan of education and told of the many advantages offered today. Then followed the introduction of modern languages, French, Spanish and German, on the phonograph. This was given by Madison C. Durand, of Scranton, assisted by George Durr, of New York. This method of teaching languages was clearly explained.

It was stated that the schools now have 400,000 students, of which there are 300 in Plainfield. G. F. Hodgson, now district superintendent, opened the work in this city, and was succeeded last June by Mr. Holbert. His territory extends from Westfield to Flemington.

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY.

OFFICIALS OF JERSEY CENTRAL INVESTIGATING CAUSE OF WRECK

Body of Victim Taken to Home in Oil City, Pa.—His Sister Made Arrangements Yesterday.

The officials of the New Jersey Central Railroad are now busily engaged in the task of fixing the responsibility for the wreck, which occurred at Cranford Friday evening. Nothing definite can be learned as to the progress of their investigations, but it is known that one employe is charged with criminal negligence. The entire crews of the two trains have been most closely questioned by the officials, who have been in consultation with them. The stories told by the train dispatchers have also been scrutinized by the officials. Whether arrests will follow is not known.

The body of Joseph A. Riquer, of Jersey City, who was burned to death in the fire subsequent to the wreck, was sent to his home in Oil City, as stated in yesterday's Daily Press. The body was not identified until late Saturday afternoon, for none of the employes of the road appeared to know him. He had only been in the employ of the railroad company for four months. For one year past he lived with his sister, Mrs. L. Megan, at Greenville. By trade the dead man was an electrical engineer, and gave it up for railroading much against his family's wishes.

Mrs. Megan visited this city yesterday morning and made arrangements with Undertaker George Cole for the shipment of the body, which arrived at Oil City yesterday afternoon. The parents of Riquer still live in that city.

'WAS TOO BIG.

Sam Sing, Chinese Laundryman, Made a Little Mistake in Figures.

One of the poll tax bills which have been sent out during the past week by Tax Collector Smith, has been the innocent cause of one of Plainfield's Chinese residents leaving town. The receiver was Sam Sing, the East Front street laundryman. He misinterpreted the $1 00 bill for $100.

Believing discretion was the better part of valor, he quietly hied himself to New York to avoid payment. The well-meaning assistant, who he left in charge, frankly admits that Sam intends returning when the coast is clear.

SAYS HE MADE NO FIGHT.

Elston M. French Says That He Had No Preference in Candidates.

Elston M. French, who is recognized as one of the Democratic leaders in the borough, states that he made no fight at the Democratic primaries Friday evening to capture the county committeemanship in his own district. Between the two candidates, Lewis M. Bird and Walter Linbarger, he declares he had no preference, and that the selection of Linbarger was agreeable to him.

Demurrer Sustained.

In the United States Circuit Court a demurrer, filed by the defendant in the suit brought by Harry B. Taub against Herzig & Kapp, has been sustained. Taub sued the firm for breach of a contract made by Herzig and Taub individually. W. S. Angleman represents the defendants, while G. W. B. Moy is counsel for the plaintiff.

Told of the Late President.

Hon. H. K. Carroll, of Watervelt avenue, delivered his lecture on "McKinley, the Man," at the Monroe Avenue M. E church Sunday evening. He interestingly detailed the many good qualities possessed by the martyred President and told numerous anecdotes to illustrate his kindliness and humbleness.

Will Not Consider Nomination.

Floyd T. Woodhull, of the firm of Woodhull & Martin, has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for member of the Board of Education. Mr. Woodhull states, however, that he neither has time or inclination to accept the position and will not consider it.

Battalion Examinations.

Examinations will be held Thursday afternoon, October 24, for two vacant positions of corporal and one position as quartermaster-sergeant in the Plainfield High School battalion. Commandant J. D. McNabb will conduct the examinations.

Passed His Examination.

J. E. Lebeau, of Lee place, has been notified by the government, that he has successfully passed his examination for geodolic and coast surveying. He leaves soon for a cruise surveying in foreign waters.

Columbia Lodge Will Give Entertainment

At the meeting of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., Friday evening, arrangements will be made for a public entertainment to be given soon.

LAST OF DESPERATE GANG IS CAPTURED.

Harry Metler Arrested at Phillipsburg, N. J., Yesterday by Chief Kiely.

WAS IN DEMKO ROBBERY.

ONE OF GANG WHICH TERRORIZED UPPER PART OF JERSEY.

Leader in Jail at Easton For Shooting a Constable—"Long Island Blackey" Run to Earth at Flemington Confessed to Robbery.

Accused of being one of the three men who on August 5 bound, gagged and robbed Mrs. Mary Demko, of Dunellen avenue, of $176 and a silver watch, Harry Metler, of Easton, Pa., was arrested by Chief Kiely yesterday and brought to this city.

The man was enticed over to Phillipsburg in order to avoid a waste of time in extradition proceedings and captured before he had a chance to make any resistance. This morning he was arraigned before Justice Nash, but at the request of Chief Kiely he was remanded until Friday.

In the arrest of Metler, the round-up of one of the most desperate gang of criminals ever contended with by the New Jersey police, was completed. It was composed of Charles Grether, the leader and a man utterly without principle; Charles VanSchanck, alias "Long Island Blackey" and Metler, who is a nephew of Grether. The leader is now in jail at Easton awaiting removal to Monroe county, Pa., where he killed a constable who pursued him, and "Blackey" is languishing in the jail at Flemington awaiting trial for a murderous assault on a family in Hunterdon county.

The list of desperate deeds committed by the trio comprises every crime in the calendar with robbery and assault predominating. They confined their operations chiefly to the upper counties of this State and the eastern borders of Pennsylvania.

A partial list of the crimes which they have been connected with during the past year in addition to the Plainfield job, was the robbing of a house near the Edison Cement Works, in Morris county, of $173, six watches and six razors, the murderous assault on Sing Lee, a Washington laundryman, and the taking from him of $60 and clothing, the robbing of a house at Bloomsbury of $90 and clothing, the stealing of several gold watches from a house in Lee county, Pa., the murderous assault on the Levine family at Hampton Junction, where they expected to get a large amount of money but failed, and in their anger tore up a bank book and nearly killed the parents and a daughter, and lastly, the plundering of a house in Monroe county, Pa., near Delaware Water Gap, which led up to the murder of the constable by Grether.

A number of other crimes, planned but not carried out on account of the pursuit becoming too hot, was the robbing of the Bloomsbury bank at noon when only two clerks would be in the building, and the blowing up of the safe of the Valley Traction Company at Easton.

"Blackey" was the first to be captured, submitting to arrest in Hunterdon county after he had been chased through the woods for miles by a posse. Grether was with him but escaped. He was caught in the cellar of his sister's home at Easton last week.

Immediately after the robbery was committed in this city, the men went through a corn field near the Dunellen brick yard, then doubling on their tracks, went through Clinton avenue to Samptown where they caught a Lehigh Valley freight. They alighted at Aldene and crossing over to the New Jersey Central station purchased tickets and went to New York, where they spent the night. Chief Kiely was informed of this fact the same day and went to the city but could get no trace of them.

Since then he has been constantly in communication with Detective Johnson, of Easton, who is well acquainted with the gang and their methods. Mrs. Demko picked out Grether's picture from a dozen others. William Stiger, of Dunellen, who saw the trio go through the corn field, will be brought to this city today to identify Metler. Several other Dunellen residents who also saw the men will be asked to look at the prisoner. It will be for a matter of form, however, as "Blackey" has confessed to all of the deeds enumerated above and has told just what part Grether and Metler took in them.

M'MURTRY NOMINATED ON THIRD BALLOT

Candidates for Sheriff and Assemblyman Chosen at Democratic County Convention.

WAS HELD AT SOMERVILLE.

THE ONLY CONTEST WAS OVER THE SHRIEVALTY NOMINATION.

S. S. Childs Nominated for the Assembly —C. D. McMurtry Nominated After Two Unsuccessful Ballots.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 15—The Democratic county convention here yesterday was a very quiet affair. On reassembling, after the adjournment to give the committees a chance to do their work and the delegates to dine, the temporary organization, Joshua Doughty, Jr., chairman, and George S. Corle, secretary, was made permanent. North Plainfield's members of committees and delegates were published in yesterday afternoon's issue.

The committee on credentials reported no contested seats. The committee on rules reported that the same laws that had governed former conventions should prevail. The committee on resolutions offered a short report, lead by H. Codington, of Warren, and it was adopted.

The nomination of James M. Seymour was endorsed; Democratic effort was solicited and the support of the candidates of the convention was pledged.

Samuel S. Childs, of Bernards, was nominated by acclamation for member of assembly.

For sheriff, Bedminster nominated John L. Anderson, of Bridgewater. Bernards seconded it. Branchburg had no nominee. Bridgewater presented the names of C. D. McMurtry and Peter Eulick, both of that township. Hillsboruogh seconded Mr. Anderson. Montgomery named E. V. Cruser, its present Freeholder.

The first ballot resulted as follows: Anderson, 23; McMurtry, 20; Cruser, 11; Gulick, 9.

The second ballot showed the following result: McMurtry, 24; Anderson, 23; Cruser, 11; Gulick, 4.

The name of Mr. Gulick was then dropped, and the following was the result of the third and last ballot: McMurtry, 33; Anderson, 25; Cruser, 2. The nomination of Mr. McMurtry was made unanimous.

For coroners, Dr. F. C. Sutphen, of Bernards, and Dr. J. D. TenEyck, of Franklin, were unanimously nominated.

Hon. James J. Bergen was called on for a speech, and he responded with a forceful effort, in which he said the convention reminded him of the old-fashioned ones when the people who were nominated were elected. He thought the contests for the nominations in State and county this fall augured well for the Democratic party, which, he believed, would win all along the line.

The committee, N. Y. Dungan and Jacob Shurts, appointed to bring the nominees to the platform, here put in an appearance with their quarry. Each made a short address, thanking the convention for the honor conferred him.

Senator Keys, of the State Democratic committee, here introduced the famous "Farmer Orator," of Plainfield, James E. Martine, who made a ringing speech, in which he spoke in glowing terms of the men named and particularly of James M. Seymour, the nominee for governor.

Mr. Martine denounced the trusts as the enemy of the farmer and all that is good, bitterly attacked those people who were so low as to try to win Republican votes by saying that ticket should be voted because of the horrible fate of the late President McKinley. He said, that, while the awful deed was condemned by everyone loyal to his country, it should have no effect whatever in the coming campaign.

Mr. Anderson, the candidate for the nomination of sheriff, was here brought forward and asked for a speech. He stated that while he was not there to thank the convention for any particular nomination, he felt grateful to those that had given him their support, and hoped they would support the ticket with a right good will.

"You all know John Anderson," he said, "he is a Democrat 365 days in every year. Though I cannot give the time to support Mr. McMurtry that I would have used in behalf of the nominee for sheriff had I been named, yet I will do everything in my power to elect him."

CAN'T EVADE IT.

Positive Proof From Plainfield Can't Be Brushed Lightly Aside.

The reader is forced to acknowledge that convincing proof in his own city is pre-eminently ahead of endorsements from everywhere else in our Republic. Read this:

Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner avenue, says: "For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hip and loins so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted a cold it always settled in my back and at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store I took a few doses when I found they were helping me, and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return."

I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.

CUBAN ELECTION LAW.

Several Changes Made In the Original Draft.

HAVANA, Oct. 15.—Today Governor General Wood promulgated the election law. Several changes have been made in the draft that was adopted by the constitutional convention. The provision making it necessary for uninscribed Spaniards to secure from the secretary of state a document showing themselves eligible to vote has been stricken out, as it was considered in conflict with article 9 of the treaty of Paris as well as a discrimination against Spaniards desiring to become citizens. Now such Spaniards will register just as native born Cubans.

Instead of the constitutional convention taking charge of the elections a central board of scrutiny will receive and transmit to the governor general full reports as to all matters pertaining to the elections.

Upon receipt of the complete returns Feb. 24 the governor general will announce the date for the assembling of the Cuban congress, the proclamation of the president and vice president and the formal transfer of the government of the island to the government to be established.

The date of the elections has been changed from Dec. 31, 1901, to Feb. 24, 1902.

The presidential and senatorial electors will assemble in the capitals of the provinces to elect the president, vice president and senators.

MARK TWAIN TO BLAME.

Foreign Missionary Society's Shortage Laid at the Humorist's Door.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 15.—The annual convention of the Christian Foreign Missionary society opened yesterday in the Exposition auditorium, President McLean presiding. Sessions were held in the morning and afternoon, and the convention concluded its business last night. The attendance was unusually large, among the delegates being a number of missionaries in this country on vacations.

The principal address of the morning session was delivered by E. E. Farris, a missionary who has spent the last few years in the Kongo Free State.

Mr. Farris was very serious in his denunciation of the Belgian government, which administers affairs in the Kongo, claiming that the government is corrupt from top to bottom. He had seen natives shot for failing to turn in their per capita tax of rubber even when they lived in districts which produced none of that commodity. Furthermore, government officials did everything in their power unofficially to hinder the missionaries in their work.

The treasurer's report showed receipts during the last year amounting to $171,838, a decrease when compared with the collections of a year ago.

President McLean said Mark Twain was directly responsible for the falling off.

Nationalist Not Allowed to Speak.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—John O'Donnell, Nationalist, attempted to address his constituents in Kilmaine, county of Mayo, the scene of recent evictions. He was dragged off the platform five times by the police and finally, after a fierce struggle, was taken to the barracks. One hundred and fifty police were present at the meeting. The crowd hurled stones, and several persons were injured. John O'Donnell is a young tenant farmer and a protege of William O'Brien, M. P. He is secretary of the United Irish league and was first returned to the house of commons for South Mayo in February, 1900, succeeding Michael Davitt.

Alabama's Gun Not Badly Damaged.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—In regard to the report that one of the forward thirteen inch guns of the battleship Alabama had been disabled in the recent gun test off the Virginia capes, Rear Admiral O'Neil, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, said that the injury is not a serious one, that the gun will not have to be taken from the ship and that at present the bureau does not contemplate making any repairs on the gun at all, as its usefulness has not been impaired. Admiral O'Neil says that a shell exploded within the bore of the gun and scarred it somewhat, but did no serious injury.

Unique Distinction For Virchow.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—It appears that the gold medal for science conferred by Emperor William upon Professor Virchow in connection with the celebration of his eightieth birthday is possessed by no other member of the medical and law faculties of the University of Berlin and by only three members of the philosophical faculty, including Dr. Mommsen, the historian.

Henderson Gets Thirteen Years.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 15.—H. C. Henderson, who has been in jail at this place for a year and a half and who claims he assisted in the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy of Omaha, has been sent from Dallas to the state penitentiary. Henderson a year ago was convicted of swindling in several cases and now goes to serve a thirteen year sentence.

Johann Most Gets a Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Johann Most, the anarchist, who was arrested for having published an article in his paper, Die Freiheit, entitled, "Murder Against Murder," was sentenced to one year's imprisonment by Justice Hinsdale in the court of special sessions. Most was tried last week.

THE DEFENSE BEGUN.

Captain Cook Chief Witness Before Schley Court.

THE ENTIRE CAMPAIGN REVIEWED.

The Admiral Always Regarded as an Enthusiastically Brave and Patriotic Officer—Cuban Pilot Called.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—In the Schley court of inquiry yesterday Judge Advocate Lemly concluded presentation of testimony for the government, and the first of Admiral Schley's witnesses was introduced.

Captain Francis A. Cook, who commanded Admiral (then Commodore) Schley's flagship, the Brooklyn, during the Santiago campaign and who acted, though unofficially, in the capacity of chief of staff for the commodore, was on the witness stand the greater part of the day. He was followed by Lieutenant Commander William F. Fullam, who was senior watch officer on the New Orleans during the Spanish war, and former Lieutenant Joseph Beale, who, as an officer on the Harvard, translated the cipher dispatches between Commodore Schley and the navy department carried by that vessel. Among these dispatches was that sent by Commodore Schley May 28, expressing his regret at not being able to obey the orders of the department and explaining the reason why he could not do so. There are some verbal discrepancies between the original draft of this dispatch and the official print of it, and these Mr. Beale explained. Lieutenant Beale was the last of the government witnesses, although Captain Lemly explained that he would reserve the right to call others if reason should demand that he do so.

He had no sooner retired than the first witness for Admiral Schley was called. This proved to be the Cuban pilot Edwardo Nunez, who told Schley on May 26, 1898, that he did not believe the Spanish fleet under Cervera was in the harbor at Santiago.

Captain Cook's testimony was a review of the entire campaign after Cervera's fleet, beginning with the departure of the flying squadron from Key West on May 19 and concluding with the battle off Santiago July 3. He said that at first it had been believed by both Sampson and Schley that the Spanish fleet was in the harbor at Cienfuegos and that no information to the contrary had been conveyed to Commodore Schley until the arrival of Captain McCalla on May 24; that it was Commodore Schley's expectation to meet the Spaniards in the open sea, and his constant care was to have coal enough for such emergency. He gave particulars concerning the retrograde movement and explained the Brooklyn loop in connection with a graphic account of the engagement on July 3. Asked for an opinion as to Admiral Schley's bearing as a commanding officer, he said, "I always regarded him as an enthusiastically brave and patriotic officer."

Chile's Representative Arrives.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Senor Don Joaquin Walker Martinez, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the republic of Chile to the United States, who was recently appointed to succeed the late Senor Don Carlos M. Vicuna, who died at Buffalo, was a passenger on the steamship Orizaba, which arrived last evening from Colon. Senor Martinez is accompanied by his family and staff. When the steamer docked in this city this morning, the party proceeded direct to Washington and thence to Mexico, where Senor Martinez will represent his country at the pan-American congress.

A Bread Famine.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—A dispatch from Rome which the government censor would not pass and which had to be mailed to the frontier describes the strike of the bakers as a grave affair. The people of Florence and Milan are in need of bread. The government is supplying the master bakers with men from the public service, but their output is not at all adequate to the demand.

Miss Stone Still Alive.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—All that can be gained from the state department officials respecting the case of Miss Stone, the missionary who is held by brigands in Bulgaria, is that she is alive and that efforts are continuing for her release. The officials, while declining to indicate the nature of the measures they are pursuing to this end, still have hope of ultimate success.

Death From Christian Science.

CHELSEA, Mass., Oct. 15.—In a certificate of death filed at the board of health yesterday these words are used, "Disease, chief cause, typhoid fever; contributive cause, Christian Science." The death was that of James Herman Eustis, thirty-eight years of age, of Chelsea. Mrs. Eustis and her family are prominent Christian Scientists. Mr. Eustis was ill for weeks.

Lipton Goes to Chicago.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Sir Thomas Lipton left for Chicago yesterday afternoon on the Chicago limited over the Pennsylvania railroad. Before boarding his train Sir Thomas dined in the station restaurant with Chancellor Pitney of New Jersey and several friends. Sir Thomas said that he expects to return to this city on Saturday.

THE CANON ADOPTED

Church Takes Firm Stand on Marriage Question.

MARRIAGE OF DIVORCEES PROHIBITED

Dr. Huntington's Amendment In Favor of Innocent Party on Ground of Adultery Rejected by a Close Vote.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The house of deputies of the Episcopal Church of America, sitting as a committee of the whole, yesterday adopted the proposed canon prohibiting the remarriage of divorced persons for causes not arising previous to their former marriage. The canon was adopted as it came from the house of bishops. The vote stood 182 for to 158 against.

The amendment of Dr. Huntington of New York making an exception in the case of the innocent party of a divorce granted on the ground of adultery was rejected by a vote of 158 to 175.

The result of the vote in the committee of the whole was reported to the house of deputies, which will vote on the matter.

The result, however, may not be the same, for in that house the vote of thirty delegations is required to carry a measure, the divided delegations virtually counting among the nays. No time was set for a final vote by the house, but it presumably will be taken today.

Previous to this action in committee of the whole the house of deputies adopted the resolutions presented by Dr. McKim of Washington, providing for a standing joint commission of both houses to consider the relations of labor and capital. It is to consist of three bishops, three presbyters and three laymen and shall report its proceedings to each general convention.

The afternoon session of the house of deputies was held behind closed doors and was devoted entirely to consideration and voting on the five nominations for missionary bishops handed down from the house of bishops.

Run on a Buffalo Bank.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 15.—A run on the Fidelity Trust company, a state banking institution, began yesterday. A long line of anxious depositors reaching from the teller's window out into the street stood for hours waiting to withdraw their money from the bank. Extra paying tellers were installed, and their windows were kept open until 4 o'clock in order to pay as many checks as possible. Prominent bankers and business men say the rumor that caused the run is groundless and that only small depositors are withdrawing their accounts. Several large deposits were made during the day by business houses whose confidence in the stability of the bank is unshaken, and large sums of money were sent to the Fidelity company's offices by local banks. At the close of business President Forman stated that the withdrawals exceeded the deposits by only $50,000.

National Congregational Council.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 15.—Yesterday's session of the national council of Congregational churches was a busy one, and some able and interesting addresses were made. A message of condolence to Mrs. McKinley and a pledge of loyalty to President Roosevelt were adopted by a rising vote. A matter which is likely to occasion much discussion when it comes in regular form before the council was the resolution offered by the committee on councils and pastorate opposing a continuance of the system of installing pastors by sittings of councils. This matter is now in the hands of a special committee. The feature of the evening meeting was the presentation to the council by Rev. James Gibbon of London of an illuminated address from the church at Gainsborough, England, the birthplace of Congregationalism.

Anarchist Hangs Himself.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—"Romas, the leader of a notorious band of anarchists who have destroyed various public and other buildings during the last few months," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Cracow, "was arrested in Stanislavow, eastern Galicia, after a fierce struggle, in which he and a gendarme were wounded and a child was accidentally killed. Romas hanged himself in the guardhouse."

Most's Punishment Inadequate.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Times, commenting editorially upon the conviction of Johann Most, the anarchist, considers that the sentence is "entirely inadequate for such a gross outrage upon public feeling" and complains that in both Great Britain and the United States there is lacking a disposition to grasp the nettle firmly.

Miss Stone's Captors Turks.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Daily Express has received the following from Vienna: "Todaroff, the driver who accompanied Miss Stone when she was kidnaped, has arrived at Sofia. He says her captors are Turks. The Bulgarian police, who are not satisfied with his statements, are keeping him under surveillance."

Strike Riots In Seville, Spain.

SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 15.—A general strike has begun here, although the tobacco workers and some others have thus far declined to join. There has been some rioting, compelling the cafes and shops to close.

Von Waldersee Still Ill.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Count von Waldersee is still unable to travel, and the celebration that was to have occurred in his honor Oct. 17 at the Kaiserhof has again been postponed.

THE CZOLGOSZ ELECTROCUTION.

Many Anxious to Attend—Stories of Prisoner's Collapse Declared False.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Superintendent Cornelius V. Collins will send a request to Secretary of State Hay to designate an official representative from the government to be present at the electrocution of Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley. There will be but twenty-six witnesses in the chamber of death when the sentence of the law is executed. Warden Mead of Auburn prison has sent to Superintendent Collins the requests he has received for permission to attend the electrocution, over a thousand in all. The law will limit the number of witnesses, and the superintendent will decide who the witnesses will be.

It is stated at the state department of prisons that statements to the effect that Czolgosz is in a continuous state of collapse and that he breaks down and weeps every time anything is said to him concerning the electrocution are false. Superintendent Collins had a talk with the condemned man some days ago, and at that time he said he knew that he had to die. He expressed no fear as to the electrocution, but said that he would not care to go outside of the prison, for he believed that the people would kill him.

Since his confinement at Auburn prison several thousand letters have been received for him at the prison, as well as a large number of express packages containing flowers and fruit. Neither the letters nor the flowers nor the fruit has ever reached the condemned man.

It is stated, however, that it would be a matter of surprise if the names of senders of fruit and flowers were made public.

Mine Guards Attacked.

EARLINGTON, Ky., Oct. 15.—Men encamped near Providence, in Webster county, who recently moved from Madisonville, attacked the Providence mines yesterday. Many shots were exchanged. The men were driven off. No guards were wounded. The sheriff has gone to the camp with warrants. Manager Nesbit of the Providence company was fired upon. Sympathizers with the strikers visited the employees' houses and warned them that they must quit work. Unknown persons fired into the house of an employe and wounded two men. At night the men made another attack, and, it is thought, some of them were wounded.

Postoffice Fraud Cases.

HAVANA, Oct. 15.—The indictments in the postoffice fraud cases have been sent by the fiscal to the audiencia, but have not yet been made public. It is known, however, that the fiscal has asked that C. F. W. Neely, Estes G. Rathbone and W. H. Reeves, the indicted officials, be sentenced to imprisonment for terms ranging from twenty-four to twenty-six years. Each of the accused men is charged with from fifteen to eighteen offenses. The counsel for the defense have twenty days in which to file answers to the indictments.

Duke Warmly Received.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 15.—The Duke and Duchess of York yesterday covered a considerable distance of their eastward journey. Leaving Niagara-on-the-Lake in the morning, the royal train went westward as far as Hamilton, where several hours were spent. The train then rounded the western end of Lake Ontario and started on its long journey to the Atlantic coast. The royal party received a series of very hearty ovations.

Thirteen Miners Burned.

TUNNELTON, W. Va., Oct. 15.—By an explosion in a mine here thirteen miners were burned, five probably fatally. The accident was caused by a miner loading a hole with too much powder, causing the dust from the electric machines to ignite and explode. The men were terribly burned. The flesh hung in shreds from their faces and hands and exposed parts of the body. Eight others were painfully burned.

Electric Light For Famous Town.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Karpenesion, Greece, is to be lighted by electricity, and United States Consul McGinley, at Athens, in a report to the state department says that it is desired to obtain the electric plant from the United States. Karpenesion is the village Marcos Bozzaris was defending in 1823 when he fell in a midnight sortie of Greeks against the Turks.

A King to Visit Us.

ANTWERP, Holland, Oct. 15.—King Leopold II., having in view future extensions and improvements of the port of Antwerp, has expressed a desire to visit New York and examine the conditions there. He has asked the mayor of Antwerp to accompany him. The visit, it is said, is quite decided upon.

The Kaiser Returns to Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Emperor William has returned to Berlin after three weeks of hunting at Rominten and Hubertusstock.

CHINESE NOT DRINKERS.

They Are Rarely Seen in Saloons and Only the Loafers Smoke Opium.

"We are a temperate people," said a Chinaman of Race street, as he regarded one of his brothers coming out of a saloon with a kettle of beer, "and a sight like that is rarely to be seen here. Joe Kee has a white wife, you know. Maybe the beer is for her. Anyhow, not one Chinaman in this colony would take a drink if you should ask him to, and not one in a thousand would get drunk.

"Did you ever see a drunken Chinaman? Are there Chinese among your barroom loafers and hangers-on? But you will say with a sneer that we all smoke opium, and that an opium smoker, of course, will not drink because the pipe gives one an aversion to alcohol. It is true that the opium smoker can't drink, but it is not true that all Chinamen smoke. For no one can smoke and work, and it is only the loafers of Chinatown, the card sharps and confidence men, who hit the pipe.

"The true reason of Chinese temperance in this country," continued the Chinaman, according to the Philadelphia Record, "is one of economy. We can't afford to drink, to get drunk, to be arrested and to be fined, and therefore we don't do it. But the Chinese as a race would like to be just as intemperate as any other people, only they control themselves."

INCREASING CHURCH FUNDS.

Queer Method Suggested by an English Parson for Replenishing His Treasury.

Clergymen in charge of small and poor congregations frequently find themselves hampered by want of funds with which to carry on their work, but it is doubtful if even a frontier missionary, who is generally acknowledged to be the most hampered of American ministers, would adopt the method for increasing his resources which an English parson is reported to have pursued. This clergyman is in charge of a church at Millwall and is quoted as offering to give any West end church a thorough spring cleaning, the payment to go to his own church funds. In his letter announcing his offer the clergyman says, according to a paragraph in a Scottish journal: "With the practical experience I have acquired I can now beeswax and polish a floor, or varnish floors with anybody, and my wife is A1 at painting and decorating."

The wives of some American clergymen, particularly in frontier stations, could and do tell tales of hardship and trial, but it is safe to assume that no matter how low the church treasury might be they would hardly be expected to aid in its replenishing by hiring out to do church cleaning, even if it were simply "painting and decorating," and not the regular scrub work.

HELEN GOULD'S PENNY BANK.

The Wealthy New York Woman Saves Coppers for Babies' Fresh-Air Fund.

Standing in almost the center of Helen Gould's white dressing table in her boudoir and seeming oddly out of place among the silver-topped toilet pieces a young lady friend of hers saw one of those little iron penny savings banks, such as the children of the less wealthy commonly have, says the New York Times.

"Why do you disfigure your dresser in that fashion?" asked the friend. Miss Gould looked at her questioner with a mild expression of reproach. "That," said she, "is for my babies. It's just one of those ordinary little fresh-air fund boxes. I have pennies sometimes to save, and why shouldn't my babies profit by them?"

"You dear thing!" said the girl, who, as soon as she got home, impetuously had a five-dollar bill changed into pennies, which she forwarded to Miss Gould with the following note:

"Dear Miss Gould: Here are 500 pennies. Pray fill the box and spare your dresser."

She hasn't yet been reproved for her impertinence. Probably Miss Gould was able to find some reason for excusing and forgiving it.

HUMOR OF A BARBER.

It Expresses Itself in the Characteristic Decorations of His Customers' Shaving Mugs.

The proprietor of a downtown barber shop located on Broad street is something of a humorist, in his own peculiar way. On entering the shop one is confronted by shelves of mugs belonging to the regular patrons, and the designs on these are decisively odd.

There are no names or initials to indicate the respective owners, which apparent omission is a part of the proprietor's little game. Instead there is on each a design illustrative of the profession, business or occupation of the patron. One man who frequents the shop is a dentist, and his cup is embellished with a set of false teeth as a means of identification. Another is an editor, and the design on his cup represents a paste pot and shears. A box of cigars on another indicates that its owner is a tobacconist, says the Philadelphia Record, while a downtown lawyer's cup bears a lyre. There are about 50 cups thus decorated.

CASTRO IS FOR PEACE

Venezuela's President Says the Matter Rests With Colombia.

CARACAS GOVERNMENT IS WAITING

Downfall of Conservative Rule In Colombia an End to Be Desired. The United States May Be Asked to Mediate.

LA GUAYRA, Venezuela, Oct. 15.—General Sipriano Castro, president of Venezuela, has given out the following statement regarding the Venezuelan Colombian situation:

"I earnestly desire peace between Venezuela and Colombia, but I consider that, by reason of the Venezuelan memorandum and our requests, communicated diplomatically through Dr. Rico, Colombian minister to Venezuela, for an explanation of the invasion of Tachira in July by Colombian troops, Venezuela has taken the first step toward a peaceful settlement.

"It would be against the national dignity and honor of Venezuela to take another step in this direction until an explanatory answer had been received. The invasion of Tachira was the first openly aggressive act in this trouble. It was the act of Colombia, and therefore she should today follow up our initiative toward a peaceful settlement.

"While awaiting Colombia's answer we most decidedly cannot, directly or indirectly, approach Colombia again in a conciliatory manner. In the meantime we shall continue to guard our frontier against invasion. If Colombia does not answer, difficulties will doubtless arise. With two lines of armed men face to face on the frontier, this is to be expected.

"I sympathize with the Colombian Liberals who are revolting against the Conservative government of Colombia. Gladly would I see the downfall of that priest ridden, incompetent government, which so long as it continues in power will, I believe, try to cause me trouble and will constitute a standing menace to the internal tranquillity of Venezuela.

"The Conservative government of Colombia has other opponents, notably Ecuador and Nicaragua, both of which states would be glad to witness its downfall and the end of the Conservatives.

"As for the present incipient revolution in Venezuela, I shall crush it so severely that there will never be another in this country. Every spasmodic uprising has thus far been rapidly and effectively suppressed. Already I have imprisoned many Nationalists, and I shall continue to imprison them. Within two months the movement against me will be crushed."

On the best authority our correspondent is enabled to reiterate the statement that the government of Venezuela is still opposed to an attack upon Colombia, preferring to remain upon the defensive and to maintain the status quo. Venezuela wants peace, but peace on terms that would conserve the dignity and honor of the country.

Direct or indirect peace proposals from Colombia—which Venezuela, notwithstanding the occurrences of last month on the Guajira peninsula, insists upon considering the sole aggressor—would be welcomed by the Caracas cabinet. The feeling is growing in Caracas, especially in official circles, that the mediation of a third party will eventually be required and that the United States government is logically the best qualified to act.

A Twenty Round Draw.

BUFFALO, Oct. 15.—"Kid" Broad and Dave Sullivan fought a twenty round draw in the arena of the International Athletic club at Fort Erie last night. It was their fifth encounter in the ring, and, though opening slowly, it finished as fast as could be desired. The general verdict was that Broad and Sullivan will do better for a little rest between their bouts of the future.

Why It Was.

The story is told that Hamilton F. Kean, brother of the United States Senator and chairman of the Republican Union county committee, paid a friendly visit to the Plainfield leaders Saturday afternoon. He came up to talk over the situation. Among other things that he accomplished was to furnish material for two hot contests at the Republican ward primaries last evening.

There was very little effort made to disguise the fact, last evening, that an attempt was being made to wrest the control of the Plainfield end of the county committee from the men who have been in power there in the past. In the First ward, there were two factions all ready to do battle if the excuse was furnished. The excuse came. In addition to the county committee, an entire ticket was prepared including a Councilman. The MacMurray forces managed to retain control of the ward affairs.

Over in the Second, a campaign was quietly inaugurated by some of Mr. Kean's friends, assisted by some of the Third ward leaders. It planned to oust City Judge William N. Runyon and John E. Keely from the county committee. It, too, had a complete ticket. The name of John E. Keely was largely made the issue. Runyon and Keely went back to the county committee and all their ticket was elected by a comfortable majority.

If Mr. Kean thought that he would increase his strength in Plainfield, he failed, and the result of it all is that some of the Republicans are emphatically sore over the general complication of affairs which incidentally appeared in the fight.

Pastor Shott, of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, had two important announcements for his congregation Sunday morning. One was to the effect that he had a call to a Kentucky pastorate and the other that the church contributions had fallen so far behind that the expenses were nearly double the receipts. He was careful to impress his hearers, however, that the two subjects had nothing to do with each other. He expects to return to Scotch Plains and believes that the congregation will wake up to a realization of the situation and contribute more liberally hereafter. The trouble seems to have been that the members depended too much on the church endowment to carry it through.

It is only when the time arrives for parting that a full realization comes of the deep feeling of love and friendship which exists. The congregation of the Seventh-day Baptist church showed in practical form the high respect it felt for its retiring pastor, Rev. Dr. A. E. Main. During the years that they have worked together, ties have sprung up and knitted that are hard to sever now. Dr. Main will certainly enter upon his new field of labor with the heartiest and best wishes of a host of friends in Plainfield.

The Philadelphia Record tells that a shoe manufacturer whose product is known from one end of the country to the other, and who has been interviewed for the St. Louis Republic, affirms as the result of his experience that "the main thing in the line of success is to keep yourself and your goods constantly before the public; and this is best done by newspaper advertising."

The borough firemen's parade will take place in two days. Elaborate preparations have been made for the entertainment of the guests and there is every prospect that the borough will have quite a time of it. Incidentally Plainfield will get its share of reflected glory.

While the Republicans' choice for governor is flying about the State in the attempt to win votes, the Democratic candidate is preparing to spread his wings and do likewise. According to schedule, Plainfield will have a visit from them both.

Assessor Elston M. French, of North Plainfield, says there was no fight at the borough primaries. We do not deny the truth of his statement, but we would really like to know what he calls it.

Franklin Murphy talked to the good folk of Somerset county last evening. Just how much they were impressed cannot be told until the ballots are counted.

A school paper is soon to appear at one of the local private schools. The boys are quite enthusiastic over the work of playing editors.

The Republicans managed to scare up more more than the usual interest at their city primaries last night.

TEA TABLE TALK

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

When the late Samuel S. Moore, of the borough, was in the Civil War in Co. I, Third N. J. Vols., he carried with him a small Bible, which bore his name. The Bible was lost on the battlefield at Spottsylvania and was found by D. S. Crane, of Co. D, 7th Michigan Infantry. In some way Cornelius J. Ackerman, of Clinton avenue, came into possession of the Bible and he will return the book to the widow of Mr. Moore. The Bible is in a good state of preservation and is now considered valuable.

MAKES YEARLY EXCURSIONS.

Ernest Seton-Thompson Visits His Old Friends During His Lecture Tour.

Ernest Seton-Thompson, who is to lecture at the Casino next Tuesday afternoon and evening, and who was recalled from his cabin in the woods of Manitoba to undertake the work of animal illustration for the "Century Dictionary," and is now touring the country as a lecturer, still lives much out of doors.

He makes yearly expeditions into the wildernesses, which are not wildernesses to him, because his animal friends are there. He also has a big eighty-acre tract of land in Connecticut, where the wild animals roam about in a sort of animal heaven, and where not even the sound of a gun is permitted. It is here Mr. Seton-Thompson proposes to settle down some day, and live and die with his friends. He will have with him a wife, who, although now "a woman tenderfoot," already shows signs of becoming as fearless a camera hunter as her husband.

It has been said that Mr. Seton-Thompson received the suggestion to write his animal stories from Kipling. This is not true. He had written most of them before he ever saw Kipling. When Kipling was in New York, however, he and Mr. Seton-Thompson were "swapping" stories one evening, when the latter told him about Wahb. Mr. Kipling asked him why he did not write it down. Mr. Seton-Thompson said he wanted to mature it and make a long story of it. Shortly after he sat down and telling it about as he had told it to Kipling, found he had more than 17,000 words.

Aggressive Work Begun.

The Union Colored Republican Club met last evening and enjoyed a smoker. James Babbitt and Simon Springs were elected to the campaign committee and R. Norwood and W. A. Kline were chosen speakers. Forty members were added to the roll and a meeting was set for tomorrow evening, when there will be good speaking.

KEAN FACTION WAS DEFEATED LAST NIGHT

torious by a vote of 81 to 33.

There was only one name presented for ward Councilman and that was of Councilman Jan vanHerwerden. Several other names had been mentioned but they failed to develop any strength at the primary. Stephen A. Ginna was on both tickets as delegate to the county convention. J. Hervey Doane was on both tickets as a delegate to the city convention. None of the delegations were pledged to support anyone, so it became merely a choice of the men.

The chief fight was on the county committee while special efforts were also made to defeat John E Keely for both city and county committees. William N. Runyon ran well ahead of his ticket for the county committee while Keely was a vote behind.

Much interest was shown in the primary and both sides were well represented by workers. The evening passed off quietly, however, without anything but the most amicable relations. The total vote cast was 114, the highest since three years ago when Councilman George P. Mellick defeated Thomas A. Cuming for ward Councilman in the hottest fight the Second ward ever had.

The business meeting of the primary was called to order at 8 o'clock by City Judge William N. Runyon as a member of the county committee. He was made chairman. Charles B. Morse was chosen secretary. The delegations were empowered to fill any vacancies in their ranks while the ward members of the city committee were empowered to fill any vacancies on the ward ticket. The election officers at the primary were: Judge, J. Hervey Doane; inspector, Charles B. Morse; clerk, W. P. Spangenberg.

The total vote was as follows:

For ward Councilman, Jan vanHerwerden, 114. For justice of the peace, Vincent W. Nash, 84. For constable, William R. Mattox, 83. For twelve delegates to the county convention, Stephen A. Ginna, 110; Joseph E. Morse, 89; George P. Mellick, 83; Fred M. Letson, 82; Marion S. Ackerman, 81; Thomas Hanna, 81; Horace Hand, 81; Robert Guttridge, 81; Edward E. Pray, 81; Charles Ulrich, 81; John E. Keely, 80; Charles H. Hand, 80; Edward B. Clark, 34; A. L. C. Marsh, 34; F. O. Herring, 33; Malcom MacKenzie, 33; A. B. Beers, 33; T. A. Minford, 33; J. P. Murray, 32; H. J. Runyon, 32; W. H. Drayton, 32; Fred W. Goddard, 28; Charles B. Morse, 27. For two members of the county committee, William N. Runyon, 86; John E. Keely, 80; M. S. Ackerman, 33; Jan vanHerwerden, 28. For eight delegates to the city convention, J. Hervey Doane, 114; B. vanD. Hedges, 85; W. L. C. Glenney, 83; John E. Keely, 81; Armstrong Mulford, 81; Fred Vieweg, 81; Jos. O'Keefe, 81; Charles C. Davis, 81; Dr. W. H. Murray, 33; Daniel Ginna, 33; M. S. Ackerman, 33; Alfred Streuli, 33; G. H. Goddard, 32; J. W. Reinhart, 31; Francis Frost, 30; Fred M. Letson, 1. For theree members of city committee, J. Hervey Doane, 82; John E. Keely, 81; Charles S. Foote, 80; George P. Mellick, 34; Evarts Tracy, 34; J. P. Murray, 30; William N. Runyon, 1.

THIRD WARD.

Harmony of the pronounced sort reigned at the Third ward primary. When the ballots were counted it was found that fifty-one Republicans had voted and there were fifty-one straight tickets, with the exception that the name of W. T. Kirk, a candidate for committeeman, was scratched once.

Roger F. Murray was the chairman of the primary and William C. Kinney acted as secretary. The other officers were: Judge, John H. Cose; inspector, Theodore Larew; clerk, Albert I. Lettell. The ante-room door was guarded by former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, who stood watch to see that none but true blue Republicans got a sight of the ballot box.

This was the ticket, which received no opposition: For member of Common Council, Leslie M. Daniel; delegates to city convention, Alexander Gilbert, W. B. Wadsworth, J. Evarts Tracy, J. M. Whiton, George A. Chapman, William M. Stillman, O. T. Waring, F. W. Wells and Emil Woltman; members of city committee, Ernest R. Ackerman, J. E. Kimball and Robert Rushmore; for justice of the peace, John Neagle; for constable, Amos Moffett; delegates to county convention, W. C. Kinney, R. R. Waring, M. R. Lantz, L. W. Serrell, John Cose, F. Whitely, Eugene Moore, J. W. DeGraff, Clarence Woodcock, W. Mayhew, Fred S. Green and W. C. Moore; county committee, W. T. Kirk and Robert Rushmore.

FOURTH WARD.

All was quiet and peaceful at the Fourth ward primary and the slated ticket went through without any opposition. The poll was the lightest in some time, a total of but 153 votes being cast.

The meeting was called to order by William Newcorn. Edward Ryder was made chairman and Frank D. Randolph, secretary. The only business transacted was the empowering of the city committee to fill all vacancies.

The ticket as elected was as follows: Delegates to the city convention, James Stewart, Frank H. Smith, Daniel Galbraith, Clarence Murphy, Joseph Noonan, Frank Randolph, Robert L. Lee, Robert Craig, John Owens, James Scott, Joseph Clark, R. H. Humphreys, Edward Mosher, John King, Edmund Brown and Noble Briggs; for county committee, William Newcorn, Frank H. Smith, Andrew McCardell; delegates to city convention, Harry Runyon, William Abbott, George Leighs, William Craig, Frank March, James Morrison, Otto Wolfgang, William A. Westphal, LeGrand Fulton, Jacob Kriney, William Newcorn, Alexander Muir, John Conroy, Thomas Henderson and John Taylor; for city committee, James Stewart, William A. Westphal and William Newcorn; for councilman, Robert L. Lee; for justice of the peace, Abram Angleman; for constable, Peter V. Weaver.

Live Stock Shows ...AT THE... PAN-AMERICAN

WHEN Superintendent Converse promised a better series of live stock shows at the Pan-American Exposition than was ever before attempted, the statement was accepted as an ordinary pleasant and pardonable exaggeration.

The complete success of the dog and the swine shows, however, proved to be the first steps toward redeeming his promise.

The cattle show was an agreeable surprise to every stockman who saw it and at once established a new standard of excellence that will not be equaled for years to come and possibly never surpassed as regards quality.

The sheep show, now fully under way and lasting to Oct. 25, is in every way a worthy successor to the dog, the swine and the cattle shows. The best flocks in the United States and Canada are represented, together with their recent additions of imported stock, consisting of about twenty fine animals now shown in this country for the first time.

The sheep show, taken as a whole, is one of the most complete ever brought together. Every important breed has a strong representation, while every breed known has an exhibit of some kind. The Island Black Face, of which there are but three or four flocks in the United States, are well represented, and they are creating a great deal of interest among the exhibitors and visitors.

All classes in the middle wools are particularly strong, among which are noted prizewinners from the east, west, north, south and Canada. The strongest representation of all is from the Merinos. Vermont, the home of the Merino, where the only distinctive American breed of sheep originated, is represented by many of her best breeders. This fact deserves more than a passing notice, as our domestic animals of American origin are not numerous. We have borrowed almost everything of this nature from other countries. The only other exception is possibly the American trotting horse.

LIVE STOCK BUILDINGS, PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

Angora Goats.

In connection with the sheep show is an exhibit of 240 Angora goats. These interesting animals fill one of the live stock pavilions. The growing of Angora goats is a comparatively new business in this country, and very little is known about it in the east. Their adaptability to rough, rocky pasture lands, where they graze and grow contentedly, has brought them prominently into consideration where such lands have proved useless or nearly so.

Wool Exhibit.

As another feature of the sheep show Superintendent Converse has arranged an exhibition of wool. This is international in scope, having fleeces from the different states, Canada and several South American countries. Argentina alone contributes more than 200 sample fleeces. Chile, Costa Rica, Bolivia, Salvador and other Central and South American countries are also represented. Such an international wool exhibit was never before attempted. It cannot fail to produce lasting benefits that will be shared by growers of sheep, manufacturers of woolen goods and through them the general public.

Shearing Machinery.

Still another accessory to the sheep industry is elaborately illustrated. In one of the stock buildings a platform was erected about three feet above the floor, upon which is installed the latest and best shearing and clipping machinery. Some of the machines are operated by electricity, while others are worked by hand. To show to Exposition visitors their practical working, twenty sheep are brought from the East Buffalo stockyards every morning. One machine is set in motion each half hour during the day, and one of the men in charge removes a fleece with it. One of the operators claims a speed of one and one-half minutes to a fleece.

Range Sheep.

In a pen outside of the regular sheep exhibit is a carload of range sheep direct from the Canadian northwest. These are sent as an advertisement of the rich pasture lands and an illustration of what may be produced there without additional feed and without artificial shelter.

The Pan-American Horse Show.

Dame Fashion may have withdrawn her smile of approval and the different styles of autos turn their backs in derision, but the horse still holds favor with the great majority of mankind. The horse show at the Exposition which holds the boards for two weeks, from Oct. 7 to Oct. 19, will be no exception. Five hundred horses are coming which are carefully selected to faithfully represent the best of every breed found in the United States and Canada.

Vermont is again courting prominence by sending a fine lot of Morgan horses, a breed that should receive more attention than it does.

Draft horses, especially the Clydesdale and Percheron breeds, are well represented. These are principally from Canada and the western states.

German coach horses attract a great deal of attention. One large importation of these horses will be brought direct to the Exposition.

French-Canadian horses from Quebec are entered more as a special feature of the horse show. They are little known in the United States, but their style and endurance will commend them as superior coach horses and those that will command favor in any market.

Instead of enumerating the different breeds it is only necessary to select any kind of horse wanted, with the assurance that it will be on exhibition. The finest stables on the continent are contributing to the show with sufficient enthusiasm to insure the finest representation possible. The judging takes place in the Stadium on the 9th and 10th of October, when this immense structure will be none too large to accommodate those who will want to see this crowning climax to such an elaborate series of live stock shows.

Poultry and Pet Stock.

From Oct. 21 to the close of the fair the stock pavilions will be once more filled with life, though in a very different form. Poultry of high degree from all parts of the United States and many places in Canada will fraternize without regard to politics or tariffs. As near neighbors the poultry will have mice, rabbits, cats, cavies, prairie dogs, squirrels, ferrets, rats and Belgian hares, besides a great assortment of pigeons, owls, magpies and a great many cage birds.

Eight thousand animals and birds are being gathered together to form this complete cosmopolitan assemblage of birds and animals.

The Pan-American Exposition is proving a great success. While the enterprise suffered for a few days from the national tragedy, the crowds that have put off going until the fall are rushing to Buffalo in great numbers now.

President Roosevelt said of the Pan-American Exposition, "It is well worth the while of every man, woman and child in the country to visit the Pan-American Exposition."

More than 5,000,000 people have visited the Pan-American Exposition. As Secretary of Agriculture Wilson said on Sept. 11, after a visit, "No one can afford to keep away."

Thomas A. Edison said of the Pan-American Exposition after viewing the illumination, "This is the apotheosis of the incandescent light."

Poultrymen from all over the United States will be meeting at Buffalo and the Pan-American Exposition the last three weeks of October.

The stock shows at the Pan-American Exposition have been most popular. The sheep show began Sept. 23 and lasts until Oct. 25.

Innes' band, one of the best in the country, will give concerts free to all Pan-American Exposition visitors from Oct. 7 to 20.

Was Dying By Inches

The following is a pretty strong assertion from a Philadelphia, Pa., resident, but being backed up by so many others of a like nature it can be easily believed: "I gradually lost my appetite, flesh, vitality, ambition. TEA GOWNS.

Many of Them Are Copies of Historical Costumes.

House gowns and tea gowns vie with each other in richness and beauty. They are, for the most part, built on historical lines, principally on the empire idea. Charming Watteau gowns of floral silk have long, sweeping trains and soft fichus of mull. Panne gowns in all the evening shades are made with the short empire waist and the skirt trimmed with beautiful embroidery.

Cashmere makes very dainty house gowns for those who have to consider the cost of materials. Wool veiling in white and pale blue is made up over white glace silk with a very good effect. These house gowns should be made over a tight lining and fitted very carefully.

An original house dress is made of raspberry cashmere trimmed with rushings of black chiffon. The front gore is trimmed with these ruchings placed horizontally. On the waist there is a corselet effect of them, which is headed by a V shaped yoke of all over lace over white mousseline and a double collar of the white mousseline edged with the black ruchings and terminating in front with a fall of yellow lace. The sleeves are made bishop, edged with a ruching of the chiffon and having white mousseline undersleeves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SABLE THE LEADING FUR.

Fichu Shaped Collars May Take the Place of Boas.

Sable boleros with lace collars will be the height of fashion this winter. For those who cannot afford this expensive fur there are attractive models made up in mink, otter and fox. Golden otter can be made up into a very handsome garment. A model recently exhibited was in the shape of a bolero, showing a waistcoat of brown embroidery and lace. The collar, which was of the high storm shape, disclosed a stock and jabot of old lace. The coat was fastened at the waist line by a belt of brown kid. With this was worn a skirt of brown cloth bordered with three graduated bands of otter. The hat which was intended to go with this costume was of brown felt trimmed with two large pale pink pompons.

As regards boas, fox and sable will be the leading furs. Fichu shaped collars are very smart, and they fasten at the left side of the waist with an antique buckle.

A very rich garment for cold weather is shown in our illustration. It is made of coffee colored broadcloth with cream satin. The broad collar, lapels and cuffs are of the sable, and the undersleeves are of lace. The front of the coat is laid in three folds, which are stitched down to the knees and are then allowed to flare. The large buttons are of the fur.

The dressy hat which goes with this is of coffee colored panne trimmed with two pale blue ostrich feathers and two large jeweled buttons.

After all the scheming and effort, what I had so ardently prayed for had come about; but yet my inwards sank at the thought of mounting on the stone where I had mounted before, and taking my dear from the hollow where my hands had laid her. I knew Phorenice's vengefulness, and had a high value for her cleverness. Had she left Nais to lie in peace, or had she stolen her away to suffer indignities elsewhere? Or had she ended her sleep with death, and (as a grisly jest) left the corpse for my finding? I could not tell; I dared not guess. Never during a whole hard-fighting life have my emotions been so wrenched as they were at that moment. And, for excuse, it must be owned that love for Nais had sapped my hardihood over a matter in which she was so privately concerned.

It began to come to my mind, however, that the infernal uproar of the earth-tremor was beginning to slacken somewhat, as though Zaemon knew he had done the work that he had promised, and was minded to give the wretched city a breathing space. So I took my fortitude in hand and clambered up on to the flat of the stone. The lightning flashes had ceased, and all was darkness again and stifling dust, but at any moment the sky might be lit once more, and if I were seen in that place, shaggy and changed though I might be, Phorenice, if she were standing near, would not be slow to guess my name and errand.

So changed was I for the moment that I will finely confess that the idea of a fight was loathsome to me then. I wanted to have my business done and get gone from the place.

With hands that shook I fumbled over the face of the stone and found the clamps and bars of metal still in position where I had clenched them, and then reverently I let my fingers pass between these, and felt the curves of my love's body in its rest beneath. An exultation began to whirl within me. I did not know if she had been touched since I last left her; I did not know if the drug would have its due effect, and let her be wakened to warmth and sight again; but, dead or alive, I had her there, and she was mine, mine, mine, and I could have yelled aloud in my joy at her possession.

Still the earth shook beneath us, and masonry roared and crashed into ruin. I had to cling to my place with one hand while I unhasped the clamps of metal that made the top of her prison with the other. But at last I swung the upper half of them clear, and those which pinned down her feet I let remain. I stooped and drew her soft body up on to the flat of the stone beside me, and pressed my lips a hundred times to the face I could not see.

Some mad thought took me, I believe, that the mere fierceness and heat of my kisses would bring her back again to life and wakefulness. Indeed, I will own plainly that I did but sorry credit to my training in calmness that night. But she lay in my arms cold and nerveless as a corpse, and by degrees my sober wits returned to me.

This was no place for either of us. Let the earth's tremors cease (as was plainly threatened), let daylight come, and let a few of these nerveless people round recover from their panic, and all the great cost that had been expended might be counted as waste. We should be seen, and it would not be long before some one put a name to Nais; and then it would be an easy matter to guess at Deucalion under the beard and the shaggy hair and the browned nakedness of the savage who attended on her. Tell of fright? By the gods! I was scared as the veriest trembler who blundered among the dust-clouds that night when the thought came to me.

It was hard to find a direction; it was hard to walk in that inky darkness over the ground that was tossed and tumbled like a frozen sea; and as the earth still quaked and heaved, it was hard also to keep a footing. But if I did fall myself a score of times my dear burden got no bruise, and presently I got to the skirts of the square and found a street I knew. The most venomous part of the shaking was done, and no more buildings fell, but enough lay sprawled over the roadway to make walking into a climb, and the sweat rolled from me as I labored along my way.

There was no difficulty about passing the gate. There was no gate. There was no wall. The gods had driven their plow through it, and it lay flat, and proud Atlantis stood as defenseless as the open country. Though I knew the cause of this ruin, though in fact I had myself in some measure incited it, I was almost sad at the ruthlessness with which it had been carried out. The royal pyramid might go, houses and palaces might be leveled, and for these I cared little enough; but when I saw those stately ramparts also filched away, there the soldier in me woke, and I grieved at this humbling of the mighty city that once had been my only mistress.

But this was only a passing regret, a mere touch of the fighting-man's pride. I had a different love now, that had wrapped herself round me far dearer and more tightly, and my duty

Was towards her first and foremost.

WE TOOK THE GIRL AND LAID HER ON A BED IN ONE OF THE HOUSES.

The night would soon be past, and then dangers would increase. None had interfered with us so far, though many had jostled us as I clambered over the ruins; but this forbearance could not be reckoned upon for long. The earth-tremors had almost died away, and after the panic and the storm, then comes the time for the spoiling.

All men who were poor would try to seize what lay nearest to their hands, and those of higher station, and any soldiers who could be collected and still remained true to command, would ruthlessly stop and strip any man they saw making off with plunder. I had no mind to clash with these guardians of law and property, and so I fled on swiftly through the night with my burden, using the unfrequented ways, and crying to the few folk who did meet me that the woman had the plague, and would they lend me the shelter of their house, as ours had fallen. And so in time we came to the place where the rope dangled from the precipice, and after Nais had been drawn up to the safety of the Sacred Mountain, I put my leg in the loop of the rope and followed her.

Now came what was the keenest anxiety of all. We took the girl and laid her on a bed in one of the houses, and there in the lit room for the first time I saw her clearly. Her beauty was drawn and pale. Her eyes were closed, but so thin and transparent had grown the lids that one could almost see the brown of the pupils beneath them. Her hair had grown to inordinate thickness and length, and lay as a cushion behind and beside her head.

There was no flicker of breath; there was none of that pulsing of the body which denotes life; but still she had not the appearance of ordinary death. The Nais I had placed nine long years before to rest in the hollow of the stone was a fine grown woman, full-bosomed and well-boned. The Nais that remained for me was half her weight. The old Nais it would have puzzled me to carry for an hour; this was no burden to impede a grown man.

In other ways too she had altered. The nails of her fingers had grown to such a great length that they were twisted in spirals, and the fingers themselves and her hands were so waxy and transparent that the bony core upon which they were built showed itself beneath the flesh in plain dull outline. Her clay-cold lips were so white that one sighed to remember the full beauty of their carmine. Her shoulders and neck had lost their comely curves, and made bony hollows now in which the dust of entombment lodged black and thickly.

Reverently I set about preparing those things which if all went well would restore her. I heated water and filled a bath, and tinctured it heavily with those essences of the life of beasts which the priests extract and store against times of urgent need and sickness. I laid her chin-deep in this bath, and sat beside it to watch, maintaining that bath at a constant blood heat.

An hour I watched; two hours I watched; three hours—and yet she showed no flicker of life. The heat of her body given her by the bath was the same as the heat of my own. But in the feel of her skin when I stroked it with my hand there was something lacking still. Only when our Lord the Sun rose for his day did I break off my watching, while I said the necessary prayer which is prescribed, and quickly returned again to the gloom of the house.

It is hard to take note of small changes which occur with infinite slowness when one is all the while on the tense watch, and, high-strung though my senses were, I think there must have been some indication of returning life shown before I was keen enough to notice it. For of a sudden, as I gazed, I saw a faint rippling on the surface of the water of the bath. Gods! would it come back again to my love at last—this life, this wakefulness? The ripple died out as it had come, and I stooped my head nearer to the bath to try if I could see some faint heaving of her bosom, some small twitching of the limbs. No, she lay there still without even a flutter of movement. But as I watched, surely it seemed to my aching eyes that some tinge was beginning to warm that blank whiteness of skin?

How I filled myself with that sight. The color was returning to her again beyond a doubt. Once more the dried blood was becoming fluid and beginning again to course in its old channels. Her hair floated out in the liquid of the bath like some brown tangle of the ocean weed, and ever and again it twitched and eddied to some impulse which in itself was too small for the eye to see.

MORE THAN HIS SHARE.

Young Frenchman with 24 Fingers and Toes Is Attracting the Attention of Scientists.

Men with one extra finger or toe may sometimes be seen, but very rarely does one hear of or see a person with 24 fingers and toes. Consequently a servant of Marquis de Balincourt who is thus equipped is at present exciting much interest among European scientists.

He is a young man and on each hand he has six well developed fingers, while on each foot he has an equal number of well developed toes. It is not known whether he inherited this anomaly, but the assumption is that he did. His supernumerary members are of no special use to him, but he is never allowed to forget that he possesses them, as his comrades, for an obvious reason, have nicknamed him "Twenty-four."

Dr. Capitan, a well-known ethnologist, writing on this subject, says: "There are two forms of this singular phenomenon, the true and the hybrid. In the true form, as seen in the case of the marquis' servant, the supernumerary fingers and toes are complete additional members, the fingers being usually placed beside the thumbs and the toes beside the great toes. In the hybrid form, on the other hand, the additional fingers and toes are merely a result of the division which has taken place in the regular members.

"The thumb is the part usually affected, and it may be divided at the first joint, though the division generally starts at the base. All the other fingers may be divided in a similar manner; indeed, as many as 15 fingers have been found on one hand. Atavism is evidently the cause, but one would have to travel very far back in order to discover the origin of such fingers and toes."

Chicago Bankers Urge Senator Cullom's Son-in-Law for Comptroller of the Currency.

A current political story is that William Barret Ridgely, of Chicago, may succeed Charles G. Dawes as comptroller of the currency. Shortly after Maj. McKinley was elected to the presidency the first time he appointed Mr. Ridgely postmaster at Springfield. Mr. Ridgely resigned in 1899 to become secretary of the Republic Iron and Steel company, with headquarters in Chicago. Since that time he has been a resident of Chicago. Mr. Ridgely was born and reared in Springfield, where the Ridgely family, one of the wealthiest and most prominent in the Illinois capital, has been engaged in the banking business for three generations. After being graduated from the Rensselaer Polytechnic institute in 1879, he entered the coal and iron business in Springfield, becoming the practical head of the Springfield Iron company. He also was for a time vice president of the Ridgely national bank. In Chicago his winter home is at the Virginia hotel and his summer residence at Highland Park.

The fact that Senator Cullom, Mr. Ridgely's father-in-law, has recently returned from a visit to the president at Canton gives additional significance to the Ridgely boom.

It is not always because a cigar is badly made that the wrapper culs up and works off. It is often because a right-handed man is smoking a left-handed cigar. A "left-handed cigar" is one rolled by the maker's left hand, for all cigar makers must be ambidextrous. A piece of tobacco for the wrapper is cut on the bias and is rolled from left to right on the filler. The other piece, for reasons of economy, is then used, and must be rolled the opposite way by the operator's other hand. Hence a smoker who holds his cigar in his right hand sometimes twisting it about rubs the wrapper the wrong way and loosens it.

GOLF.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team is scheduled to play a match with Harbor Hill on the course of the latter next Saturday afternoon.

In addition to the weekly competitions there will be the finals for the Fisk handicap cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course next Saturday.

During the past two weeks there has been no play for the Mellick cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. The fact that Miss vanHerwerden has over twice as many points as her nearest competitor, Miss Daisy Eisberg, assures for her the trophy that has been contested for during the season. The golf committee has at various times corrected the standing for the cup as the occasion required. Below will be the correct standing up to to October 1:

	Points.
Miss vanHerwerden	30½
Miss Daisy Eisberg	12½
Miss Maud VanBoskerck	11
Miss Margaret Goddard	7½
Miss Margaret Tracy	6
Miss Adelaide Ball	5½
Miss May Holly	5
Miss Mary Whiton	3
Miss Edith Tracy	3
Miss Marjorie Fleming	2

DEBATED CUBAN QUESTION.

Interesting Meeting of Y. M. C. A. Literary Society Was Held Last Evening.

The Literary Society of the Y. M. C. A. met last evening in the parlors at the rooms of the association. H. R. Linbarger, N. D. Drake and R. G. Jeffrey were admitted to membership.

The first twenty minutes were devoted to parliamentary practice, after which there was a debate on the subject: Resolved, That it is to be the best advantage of the Cubans that they have complete independence. J. Henry Crane, Carl E. Drange and N. D. Drake supported the affirmative side, while E. K. Hartley, Charles M. Dolliver and H. R. Linbarger supported the negative side. The debate was a heated one, and owing to the lateness of the hour no decision was reached.

The next meeting of the society will be held Saturday evening, October 26.

Too Many Friends.

Charles Paine, of Fanwood, was found by Patrolman Watson last evening in Exchange alley sleeping off the effects of a jag. In the city court this morning Paine told City Judge Runyon that it was the first time he had been drunk in a year and that it was due to his having too many friends to treat when he came to town. He was released with a suspended sentence.

The members of Marconnier chapel are to be congratulated upon their successful efforts in securing M. Seymour Purdy, divinity student from the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick to assist in the work of the chapel for a year. Mr. Purdy will take charge next Sunday for the first.

That the members at the chapel are zealous workers is shown by the fact that next Sunday a new piano will be at the chapel for use at the various services. A sufficient amount of money has been raised to buy the instrument and there is much rejoicing in consequence.

QUESTION OF FARE.

Hackman Said 'Twas Not Paid; Passenger Said It Was.

Joseph Block started from a North Plainfield saloon in John Kennedy's hack at 1 o'clock, this morning, to go to his home on New street. The destination of the ride, however, was the police station, where the hackman took Block for refusing to pay the fare and for using abusive language.

Block said he paid the fare; Kennedy said he didn't. The argument waxed warm before City Judge Runyon this morning and they differed so much he he laid the case over until tomorrow when both parties will have witnesses present.

Decorating Has Begun.

Early this morning the residents along Somerset street and other thoroughfares in the borough commenced to decorate their homes in anticipation of the firemen's parade which will be held Thursday morning. Warren Engine house and Saengerbund Hall will be adorned this afternoon.

Church Entertainment.

Arrangements are being made for an entertainment to be given in the Park Avenue Baptist church in the near future.

Where He Failed.

The young man drew himself up to his full height.

"I have," he cried, "an unsullied character, an ardent heart, a versatile mind and strenuous biceps."

The young girl yawned and seemed interested. He was quick to push his advantage.

"I am the possessor of a town and country house, a yacht, a stable of thoroughbreds and a box at the opera."

She hesitated, and a slight blush betrayed that she was listening.

"I have got," he continued, with a certain fierceness, "30 servants, 40 pairs of trousers, 50 ancestors, three automobiles, six prize bull pups and an army commission."

Ah! she had found her tongue at last.

"And how many golf medals?" she asped.

The young man shuddered.

He felt that he had lost. He had played heavily and high, but she was above his limit.—London Tit-Bits.

Bid Them Good Bye.

Mrs. George W. Rockfellow, her son, George Rockfellow and his daughter, of Park avenue, who are to make their home at Cardinal, Va., where Mr. Rockfellow has been for some time past, left this morning for that place. A delegation of friends gathered at the North Avenue station at the time of their departure to say good-bye and wish the party renewed health and success.

King's Daughters Met.

The Brightside Circle of the King's Daughters met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Powlison, on Somerset street, last evening, and the first fall meeting was held. ALL IS NOW READY TO RECEIVE THE VISITING VOLUNTEER FIRE FIGHTERS ON THE MORROW.

Full Details of Plans for Big Parade of the North Plainfield Fire Department Tomorrow.

FULLY TWO THOUSAND VISITORS ARE EXPECTED.

ELABORATE ENTERTAINMENT HAS BEEN PLANNED FOR THE GUESTS OF BOROUGH COMPANIES.

The Fire Alarm Will Sound at 11 o'Clock as a Signal for the Parade to Start—The Formation—The Line of March—Many Decorations in City and Borough—Other Details.

The volunteer fire fighters in this section of the State will enjoy themselves tomorrow in the manner peculiar to this organization of men. A parade is the feature of the affair which will be given by the North Plainfield fire department, although there promises to be the usual amount of incidentals in the way of refreshments, a dance and several other things of minor importance. All told there will be at least 2,000 visiting firemen in the borough and it will be a great time for the residents as well as the guests from out of town.

Already the principal streets in the borough give evidence that there is something of more than ordinary importance about to take place. Many of the larger buildings and residences in general have assumed holiday attire. Bunting in all the colors of the rainbow and others as well are displayed in various forms and shapes.

Warren Engine House is probably the most lavishly decorated. The general design is attractive, and much is added to it by the large painting which stands high above the building. This picture represents a typical fire engine speeding to a fire, which is depicted in the distance. The title of the work is "The Last Alarm." Charles Stahl, of Philadelphia, a brother of Chief J. J. Stahl, of the North Plainfield fire department, is the artist, and he has turned out a clever and realistic piece of work.

Saengerbund Hall, immediately across the street, from the engine house, is also elaborately adorned. The guests of the Warren boys will be dined here. Farther down the thoroughfare, the Borough Council chamber and Powers' drug store are well decorated, while, up at the farther end of Somerset street, the Manhattan Hotel shows off to advantage. At this resort the West End Hose Company will entertain its guests at dinner. Scattered throughout the borough are many other handsomely decorated buildings, one of which is the Somerset street school building.

From the present outlook the day promises to be all that can be desired so far as weather is concerned. The forecast is clear and colder and that's just what is wanted. A cool day, bands of music, plenty of decorations and a big crowd will make a happy combination. All final arrangements have been made for the affair and now all that is needed is the appearance of the visitors.

Last evening the joint parade committee representing the Warren and West End Companies met and talked over the matter. It was estimated that there would be a thousand firemen as the guests of Warren and 500 more as the friends of the West End Company. This number together with the 500 guests invited as individuals will bring the total number of the guests up to 2 000

Some of the steamers and trucks to be exhibited in the parade will arrive this evening, but the majority of them will be brought along in the morning. The first company scheduled to arrive tomorrow is the famous Red Jacket Company, No. 4, of Elizabeth, which will come in a special train, arriving here at 9:30 o'clock. From then on for a full hour the other trains and trolley cars will bring the guests. The trucks and steamers will be unloaded at the frieght house and the companies will be met there by delegations from the borough fire department.

As fast as the fire laddies arrive they will be served with light refreshments for it will be well along in the afternoon before they will have their dinners. The refreshment room of the Warren Engine Company is located in the old Simonson feed store room just below the engine house, while the West End's refreshment place is at the same hotel where that company will serve the dinners, that is at the Manhattan. At 9:30 o'clock the West End boys will raise a flag at their headquarters.

At 11 o'clock sharp the borough fire alarm will be sounded and this will be the signal for the parade to start. Headed by a platoon of twelve of Plainfield's "finest," in command of Sergeant Frederickson, the long column will march out Somerset street towards the mountain. The formation of the parade is as follows:

When the parade reaches the corner of Westervelt and Watchung avenues the carriages containing the guests will leave the line and pass around by Watchung and Jackson avenues, where the guests will review the parade at the corner of Westervelt and Jackson avenues.

The entire route of the parade covers exactly seven and one-eighth miles, and it is estimated that it will be 3 o'clock in the afternoon before the parade is ended. FUNERAL OF GEO. FIRSTBROOK HELD AT HOPE CHAPEL.

Impressive Service Held at Chapel Yesterday Afternoon—Three Clergymen Assisted.

In the pretty Hope Memorial chapel, with which he had been closely identified from the time of its dedication, funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of George Firstbrook, who died at his home on Liberty street, Sunday. The edifice was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends. The service was one of the most impressive ever conducted within its walls.

Three pastors took part, all of whom knew the departed and had worked with him in the interests of the congregation. They were Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church, Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Brooklyn, former pastor of Hope Memorial chapel, and Rev. L. R. Howard, the present incumbent. The latter read appropriate scripture, prayer was offered by Dr. Richards, while Mr. Newell spoke of Mr. Firstbrook as he had known him during his ten years' pastorate in this city. He referred in many ways to his sterling worth, upright Christian character and steadfast loyalty to his adopted church. Following Mr. Newell's remarks, "There's Not a Friend," was sweetly sung by Judge William N. Runyon and Elmer E. Runyon.

Following the obsequies the remains were interred in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery. Those who acted as pallbearers were Randolph Marsh, Fred Wharton, David Gordon, H. D. Thompson, Fred Harris and Donald McInnis, all of the men's Bible class in Hope chapel, of which Mr. Firstbrook was a member for thirteen years.

RECTOR RESIGNS.

Rev. S. P. Simpson Has Given Up His Place at St. Stephen's Church.

After thirteen years of loving, faithful service, Rev. S. P. Simpson has resigned as rector of St. Stephen's parish, Netherwood, his resignation to take effect October 27, and November 1 he will have to join his family, who are permanently located in New York city.

His resignation was accepted by his wardens and vestrymen with regret and he will always have the kindest and most affectionate regard of those with whom he had been associated so long, and to whom he has always been a faithful friends.

The little mission has become a parish, and until lately the Sunday school was the largest of the three parishes. The altar guild, and sewing guild, and junior guild are firmly established and able to assist others who are weak and need help. Mr. Simpson will carry away with him the love of his people and their warmest wish for all prosperity in the new work he may take up.

Somerville, October 16—Irving McMurtry, aged fifteen, an employe at Adair & Cain's flour and feed mill at Raritan, met with a horrible accident last night, which resulted in his death a few hours later.

His coat tail caught in the shafting and he was whirled around with lightning speed, finally being hurled to the floor with such force that his arms were both broken, one in two places; and he was also badly injured internally.

The youth was put in care of Dr. J. P. Hecht, of this place, and everything done for his relief, but he passed away shortly after. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMurtry and left one brother.

THREE FREIGHT TRAINS JAMMED UP TOGETHER

Peculiar Accident Occurred On Jersey Central Near Fanwood Yesterday Afternoon.

FREIGHT CARS BUCKLED UP.

ONE TRACK STILL BLOCKED BY WRECK OF BIG LOCOMOTIVE.

No One Was Seriously Injured But Several Trainmen Had Narrow Escapes—Caused by Air Brakes on First Train Working Suddenly.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, Oct. 16—One of the most peculiar wrecks, which has ever occurred on the New Jersey Central, happened in the Fanwood cut, just below the station, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Four engines and three trains were concerned in it and of these two engines were partially wrecked, two cabooses were completely demolished, and eight freight cars and two large gondolas were either wrecked or overturned. Two flagmen had very narrow escapes, but fortunately all of the crews escaped injury. The two west bound tracks were blocked and traffic was not resumed over them until just before midnight.

There is a heavy grade in the cut, running from the Fanwood station to the Graceland bridge. In order to get over the hill, it is customary for the crews to couple trains together and assist each other. Last week a pusher engine was placed in service to help heavy freight and coal trains from Dunellen to Graceland, and this locomotive was one of the four in the wreck. The three trains passed through Plainfield in close succession and on reaching Fanwood joined together with the pusher in the rear.

The first train was a solid freight pulled by engine No. 486, one of the newest on the road, in charge of Engineer Simmonds, of Easton. The second was a mixed freight with engine No. 451 and Engineer Edward Purcell and Fireman Oscar Forrner, both of Phillipsburg. The last train was also a mixed coal and freight pulled by engine No 450 and Engineer Dugan, of Mauch Chunk, while the pusher was in charge of Engineer Fred Wilcox and Conductor Frank Bowlby, of Dunellen.

The long string was proceeding through the cut at about three miles an hour when an air hose on the first train burst, setting the emergency brake on every car and bringing them to a standstill. Before Simmonds could warn the following three engines they kept on shoving with most disastrous results.

Big freight cars and cabooses were crushed like eggshells, some were overturned and landed bottom side up in a ditch, while scores were jammed tightly together with broken bunkers. Engine No. 451 had the front stove in and was thrown endways across the track. The third engine was also badly damaged and partially derailed. The first engine and the pusher escaped injury.

Charles Berkheimer, the rear flagman of the first train, was seated in the caboose when he saw the front end commence to rise. He ran to the forward door, but before he could get out it rose high in the air without the trucks and was deposited on the top of a freight car, resting on its end. The front end was thirty feet in the air and Berkheimer clung on until the excitement was over. He then clambered down.

In the second caboose was Joseph Achenbach, of Phillipsburg, the rear flagman, who also had a narrow escape. The caboose was crushed against the forward car and as he jumped into a ditch at the side of the track, engine No. 450 poked its pilot through the caboose and demolished the floor and trucks. The top and sides were lifted up and when the crush was over, they rested over the engine's boiler completely hiding the cab. Engineer Purcell and Fireman Forner, of No. 451, escaped by running backward and jumping nearly fifteen feet into the ditch.

Among the cars demolished was one belonging to the Armour Company, loaded with hams and several filled barrels of cement. Two of the latter telescoped each other so that at first glance it appeared to be one car. Nearly every car of the second train was buckled and will have to be repaired.

The steam wrecker and four section crews were summoned and worked until mlunight clearing away the debris and replacing the tracks. A great deal of time was consumed in getting engine No. 451 in place as it is one of the large camel-back type and taxed the lifting power of the steam crane.

Sunday concerts have been resumed at all of Manager Proctor's theatres and vaudeville is given continuously after 2 p. m. on that day. There is no lack of interest in Sandow who is the feature at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre. The drama will be "The Baby Chase" a lively comedy well played. There will be a curtain raiser called "All's Fair in Love" and plenty of vaudeville to interlard between the acts. Mlle. Pilar Morin, as Cho Cho San in "Mme. Butterfly" continues her personal success and the surpassing beauties of the production by David Belasco of John Luther Long's little Japanese tragedy is still the talk of New York. The Fifty-eighth Street has the little play as its magnet for next week and the curtain raiser will be "Her Last Rehearsal." The Fifth Avenue has "Nancy & Co." as its attraction. "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" is the comedy bill at the Twenty-third Street Theatre.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Driver George Fiering and members of No. 3 Hose Company are quite proud of the run made by the company's little team to Cranford, Friday night, as indeed they might be. Word to proceed to the scene of the conflagration was received from Chief Doane at 11 o'clock. A short time later the company left the house and exactly at 11:43 the pipemen were connecting a hose at Cranford. During the entire distance of seven and a half miles the team was kept on a steady trot and on reaching its destination was in perfect condition. When it is considered that in addition to the wagon, seven men were hauled, the record is remarkable.

LOVING CUP FOR LIPTON.

A Royal Welcome to Sir Thomas in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—At the Chicago Athletic club last evening a banquet was given in honor of Sir Thomas Lipton, and he was also made the recipient of a massive silver loving cup presented by his friends in Chicago.

For an hour prior to the commencement of the banquet Sir Thomas held a reception in the parlors of the clubhouse and exchanged greetings with hundreds of men prominent in business and professional circles who called to pay their respects to the owner of the Shamrock. The rooms were hung with flags of the international signal code and many American and British emblems intertwined. Over the head of the guest of the evening as he stood exchanging good wishes with the long line of men who called to meet him was hung an enormous yellow flag in the center of which was a huge green shamrock. The reception was over at 7 o'clock, and the banquet commenced a few minutes after that hour. The decorations of the banquet hall were of a strictly nautical design intwined with smilax, laurel and evergreens. A model of Shamrock II. complete, with all sails set, was placed in front of Sir Thomas.

When the time for the making of addresses had arrived, the president, J. K. Armsby, made a brief speech of welcome and then in the name of the club presented the loving cup to Sir Thomas. The presentation was made the occasion of a great demonstration by the guests, they rising to their feet and cheering Sir Thomas again and again.

Sir Thomas replied in a brief speech of thanks for the honors that had been shown him in Chicago and alluded feelingly to the many kind messages he had received from all parts of the country since he arrived for the yacht races.

Sir Thomas will remain in the city for the balance of this week, and many other entertainments will be given in his honor, chief among which will be banquets by the Columbia Yacht club and by the Bankers' club.

DUKE OF ALBA DEAD.

Noted Spanish Grandee Came to America to See Yacht Races.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Duke de Alba, one of the highest grandees of Spain, is dead in this city from influenza.

The duke came to this city Sept. 21 to witness the international yacht races as the guest of Sir Thomas Lipton. On the day of the last race he contracted a severe cold, which developed into a case of influenza. His condition improved greatly during the past few days, and up to within a few moments of his death he was entertaining a party of friends. Shortly after the party had left the duke complained to his valet of severe pains in the region of his heart. He was assisted to his couch and medical aid hastily summoned, but before the physicians had arrived the duke expired.

The Duke of Alba, or Alva, as it is sometimes spelled, was fifty-three years old. In social and titular rank he was the leader of Spanish society. He was fourteen times a count, nine times a grandee of the first class and twelve times a marquis. His estate was the most extensive private property in Spain, and his palace at Madrid for many years had been the center of social gayety. Much of his time had been spent, however, in London. The duke was well known in this country, where he had been a frequent visitor. He was a spectator of the America's cup races in 1893 and spent the season of 1894 at Newport.

MAY LOSE A COLONY.

Newfoundland Feels Hurt at British Inattention.

OFFICIALS IGNORED BY CHAMBERLAIN

No Answer From Imperial Government to Dispatches Sent Many Months Ago—A Crisis Now Seems Imminent.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—According to dispatches published today by The Daily Mail, a crisis is imminent in Newfoundland unless the British government pays more attention to the demands of the colony than has hitherto been the case.

A long special from St. John's says: "Since Mr. Bond, the Newfoundland premier, left England last April he has not received a single word from the imperial government regarding a settlement of the French shore question, nor has Mr. Chamberlain ever answered the dispatch from the Newfoundland government sent five months ago urging the imperial authorities to persuade Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion premier, to agree to a ratification of the Bond-Blaine convention."

The dispatch gives details of the recent Bond-Laurier conference and asserts that the Dominion premier based his refusal to agree to ratification on the ground that the joint high commission had discussed the matter and that, all being well, the commission would discuss it again.

In an editorial taking the government severely to task The Daily Mail says:

"Assuredly this is not the way in which to treat a loyal colony. It is not business, and it is not courtesy. Can it be that the absentminded methods of our war office have affected the great department of state which Mr. Chamberlain has hitherto controlled so well?

"The colony has been exasperated in the past by the disdainful carelessness with which its interests have been treated by the predecessors of Mr. Chamberlain, and its temper is likely to be strained if it should believe that, after so many sacrifices, it is being neglected. In such a frame of mind a conflict with the French on the Newfoundland treaty shore could be only too probable, with consequences that can scarcely be foreseen."

Britons Should Imitate Us.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Lord Rosebery, speaking yesterday at Birmingham on the necessity of Great Britain being better equipped in political and commercial education, dwelt upon the "dangers of British complacency." He urged his countrymen to imitate the United States and referred to "the restless enterprise of the Americans, their devouring anxiety to improve existing machinery and methods and the apparent impossibility of accumulating any fortune, however gigantic, which shall satisfy or be sufficient to allow of leisure and repose. A disdain of finality and an anxiety for improving on the best seems almost a disease in America, but in Great Britain we can afford to catch the complaint, at any rate in a mitigated form, and give in exchange some of our own self complacency."

The Big Dock En Route.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—The immense floating drydock built by the Maryland Steel company for the United States government has started on its journey to Algiers, La. It is expected the trip will occupy about a month. The dock is being towed by the steamship Orion, three cables, each 1,200 feet long, being used. The dock, said to be the largest of its kind in the world, is 525 feet long and 125 feet wide. Its sides rise about fifty feet above the surface of the water. Over 13,000,000 pounds of steel were used in its construction. It cost $810,000.

The Havana Indictments.

HAVANA, Oct. 16.—The indictments in the Havana postoffice fraud cases sent by the fiscal to the audiencia implicate Estes G. Rathbone jointly with C. F. W. Neely and W. H. Reeves in defrauding the government, his complicity being based on the contention that he permitted—and therefore consented to and tacitly authorized—the fraudulent transactions. The whole amount of the steal on all counts in the indictments is estimated at $150,000.

A Challenge From Belfast.

BELFAST, Ireland, Oct. 16.—A challenge for a series of races for America's cup, it is expected, will be cabled the New York Yacht club in a few days. From a reliable source it is learned that a syndicate of fourteen Belfast millionaires will issue the challenge through the local club. Plans are under way, and it is understood that the firm of Harlan & Wolff, which built the big transatlantic liner Oceanic, will build the new challenger.

Stage Life For a Trotter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Cresceus, the trotting champion, who broke the world's record at Toledo, O., Oct. 11, trotting the mile in 2:02¾, may shortly be seen on the vaudeville stage. B. F. Keith has offered George B. Ketcham, the owner of the horse, $1,500 a week for thirty weeks. Cresceus' turf engagements close at Los Angeles, Cal., on Dec. 12, and it is possible that he may never again be seen in a race.

"Buck" Wheeler Found Guilty.

BOONEVILLE, Ind., Oct. 16.—The jury in the case of "Buck" Wheeler, on trial here for murder, has rendered a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Wheeler beheaded his son-in-law, Elisha Burns, with an ax on the night of Sept. 7. Wheeler's arrest followed, and the prisoner was threatened with lynching. The militia was ordered out, and Wheeler was taken to Evansville for safe keeping.

IN FAVOR OF SCHLEY

Flag Lieutenant Sears Gives Account of Cuban Campaign.

THE MISSING BATTLE REPORT.

Court Refuses Admission of Commodore's Report of July 3 Sent to Secretary of Navy, but Never Received—Cook's Testimony.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Only one new witness was heard in detail by the Schley court of inquiry yesterday. This was Lieutenant Commander James H. Sears, who was Admiral Schley's flag lieutenant during the Spanish war. He gave a detailed account of the entire Cuban campaign, including the brief siege of Cienfuegos, the retrograde movement of the flying squadron in search of coal, the blockade of Santiago, the reconnoissance of the Santiago shore batteries and the bombardment of the Cristobal Colon on May 31 and the battle off Santiago July 3, when Cervera's fleet was destroyed. He placed the distance out of the blockading line at Cienfuegos at from one to four miles and at Santiago at from three to six miles. He expressed the opinion that in the battle of July 3 it had been the Viscaya's intention to ram the Brooklyn.

While Commander Sears was on the stand Captain Lemly asked his age, but the court, after quite a prolonged consultation in retirement, decided that the question was not admissible. It held, however, that the time of service could be inquired into.

Mr. Rayner sought to secure the introduction of a brief report of the battle of July 3 which Commodore Schley prepared for transmission to the secretary of the navy. It was stated that Commander Sears had taken this dispatch ashore to be cabled to the secretary, but that it never had reached that official. The dispatch was ruled out on the ground that as it was not received it was not an official communication. It was not read in the court room, but the following is a copy of it:

"Spanish squadron came out of Santiago harbor this morning, July 3, at 9:30 and were all captured or destroyed in a running fight to the westward of about three and one-half hours. Very few casualties in our fleet. Ellis, chief yeoman, killed and one man wounded on the Brooklyn. Reports from other ships not in yet. The commander in chief now superintending transfer of prisoners from the Cristobal Colon, which surrendered to the Brooklyn and Oregon at 1:15 p. m. About 1,000 prisoners in all, including Spanish admiral. Victory complete. Details later."

Captain Cook was recalled during the day and in response to a question by Captain Lemly made an additional statement concerning the retrograde movement of the flying squadron May 26 to May 28. He also said in answer to a question by the court that Commodore Schley during the battle of July 3 was "cool, brave and enthusiastic. I cannot imagine any conduct in battle more admirable."

Naval Forces Healthy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Surgeon General of the Navy Van Reypen in his annual report says that the large proportion of our naval force which has been employed in the waters in the Philippine Islands during the past fiscal year has been notably free from epidemic diseases and that, with the exception of Cavite fever, the diseases with which patients have been admitted to the Cavite hospital have been those that would have occurred in any southern climate. Admiral Van Reypen announces that his bureau proposes to change the location of the hospital at Cavite to Canacao at a cost of $50,000. Typhoid fever at Guam is said to have almost disappeared as a result of a better water supply, and the reports from Samoa, San Juan and Cuba indicate very little disease.

Cleveland Banks May Consolidate.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 16.—Five of the largest banks in this city contemplate consolidation as a means of economy. The banks are the Bankers' National, the Century National, the Cleveland National, the Metropolitan National and the American Exchange National. If the consolidation is effected, the business will be done by one set of clerks. It is not the intention to lump the combined capital of the five institutions, but to have one institution of $1,500,000 capital. But three banks enter the deal. The other banks will liquidate and will turn over $500,000 as their share of the capitalization and divide the remaining assets among the stockholders as dividends.

Indian Lands to Be Opened.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Oct. 16.—Deputy United States Marshal Petrie, who has returned from a trip to the Rosebud reservation, reports that Major McLaughlin has secured a sufficient number of signatures of the Rosebud Indians to ratify the agreement to throw open that part of Gregory county now lying in the reservation to settlement.

British Submarine Boat Experiments

LONDON, Oct. 16.—During the experiments with the first British submarine vessel the admiralty caused six men to be sealed up in the boat as she lay outside the water. The compressed air cylinders were set going, and after three hours the airtight hatch was opened, when it was found that the men had suffered but little discomfort.

MISS STONE'S CAPTURE.

Reliable and Direct News Regarding the Affair—Life Not In Danger.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Mr. T. T. V. Timayenis, a well known Boston business man and brother of the Greek consul here, who reached home yesterday from a trip through Turkey, was at Salonika at the time Miss Stone was captured. Mr. Timayenis observes:

"Miss Stone was captured by a band of Bulgarian and Turkish brigands under the noted bandit chief Yovanhoff, who is called the scourge of Bulgaria. Miss Stone was captured by these brigands in a territory which is watched by Turkish troops, and they will hold her until they can get away from Turkish territory. They are using her as a shield to protect themselves from the Turkish troops, and if the Ottoman empire will promise not to go after her they will let her go as soon as they get away from European Turkey." Mr. Timayenis says the brigands will not kill Miss Stone, as they want the ransom. The Turkish government has promised to pay it, and even if the United States pays it it will be paid back.

Hidden In a Cave.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 16.—The parents of Mme. Tsilka, the Bulgarian teacher who was captured by brigands with Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, have received another letter from their daughter urging the step already taken—namely, stopping the military pursuit—because the brigands threaten the prisoners with immediate death in the event of danger to themselves. The writer says that she and Miss Stone are hidden in a subterranean retreat and are treated courteously. She says also that the only means of securing their release is to pay the ransom demanded.

Bulgarians Thought to Be Responsible

LONDON, Oct. 16.—"The belief is growing here," says a dispatch to The Standard from Constantinople, "that the Bulgarian and not the Turkish government is responsible for the retention of Miss Stone, whose capture was committed with the connivance of Macedonian agitators, if not with that of the higher authorities. The attitude of the latter toward brigand bands is most suspicious and very different from what it was during the time of Stambuloff."

Russia Ready to Assist.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 16.—The Russian government has repeated its expression of a desire to assist the United States government by all practicable means in rescuing Miss Stone. The other powers are equally solicitous, but Russia is the best able to bring the necessary pressure to bear. Messrs. Baird and Haskell, the missionaries, have not yet succeeded in getting into touch with the brigands or opening negotiations.

Through the Thousand Islands.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Oct. 16.—The royal party has visited the Thousand Islands, sailing from Kingston. Their royal highnesses had a beautiful day for the trip and keenly enjoyed the outing. In the morning the royal train, which had remained in Belleville during the night, pulled out for Kingston. A hearty sendoff was given the royal party as the train started. Upon the arrival of the duke and duchess at Kingston they were enthusiastically received by a great crowd at the station. After the presentation their royal highnesses went to Queen's university, where the degree of LL. D. was conferred on the duke, and he laid the cornerstone of the new art building.

He assisted in making several Osage treaties with the government and was three times elected principal chief of his tribe.

Mr. Cleveland accepted and was sworn in at the university library.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

Court of Appeals Finds For Molineux.

THE JUDGES WERE UNANIMOUS.

Held That Trial Court Erred In Receiving Barnet's Declaration. Error on Handwriting Evidence Also.

ALBANY, Oct. 16.—Roland B. Molineux gets a new trial. The court of appeals has handed down a decision reversing the judgment of conviction of murder in the first degree against him and granting him a new trial. For months Molineux has been in Sing Sing prison awaiting death under sentence for the murder by poison of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams. This case was argued before the court of appeals at Buffalo on June 28, David B. Hill asking the court to confirm the lower court's conviction of Molineux, while John G. Milburn of Buffalo appeared for Molineux, arguing for a new trial.

All the members of the court favor granting Molineux a new trial, the opinion being written by Judge Werner and being about 25,000 words long.

The gist of the findings of the court as stated in the opinion follows:

"Every member of the court of appeals agrees for the reversal of the judgment of conviction of Molineux on the ground that the trial court erred in receiving in evidence the declarations of Barnet, made to Drs. Phillips and Douglass, that he had received Kutnow powders through the mail.

"All agree that since the amendment of section 2 of chapter 36 of the laws of 1880 by chapter 555 of the laws of 1888 genuine writings may be received in evidence as standards of comparison with a disputed writing, although such writing may not be the issue on trial, but simply a fact relevant and material to that issue; that the genuineness of such writings must be established to the satisfaction of the court by common law evidence, and when that is done handwriting experts may compare the disputed writings with the genuine writings and give their opinion thereon, but they cannot select and establish the standards of comparison and then compare them with the disputed writing.

"All writings proved to the satisfaction of the court by a preponderance of evidence in civil cases and beyond a reasonable doubt in criminal cases—first, by witnesses who saw the paper written or to whom it had been acknowledged; second, by witnesses familiar with the handwriting of the person charged to be the writer and who are able to testify from their familiarity to a belief respecting its genuineness; third, where the writing is shown to have been recognized and acquiesced in by the person supposed to have written it or adopted and acted upon by him in his business transactions or other concerns—may under the statute be compared with the disputed writing by witnesses, but the court should refuse to receive in evidence solely for the purpose of comparison any writing otherwise prejudicial to defendant."

The only subject about which the members of the court differ in their opinions relates to the testimony introduced tending to show that Molineux caused the death of Barnet by the same method as that used in taking the life of Mrs. Adams. Four of the members of the court, Judges O'Brien, Bartlett, Vann and Werner, agree that the evidence should not have been received, and the reason for it is stated in the opinions written by Judges O'Brien and Werner.

The other three judges, Chief Judge Parker, Gray and Haight, hold that that evidence is admissible in that the evidence in the Barnet case pointing toward Molineux tends to identify him as the person who killed Mrs. Adams while attempting to take the life of Cornish by means of that rare poison known as cyanide of mercury, the chief judge and Judge Gray writing opinions to that effect.

Molineux was placed on trial before Recorder John W. Goff in part 2 of the court of general sessions on Nov. 4, 1899. The trial lasted more than three months. The verdict of guilty was rendered on Feb. 14, 1900.

Two days later Molineux was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing in the week beginning March 26, 1900. He was taken to the death-house at Sing Sing prison that same day. A stay pending an appeal was procured by Molineux's counsel at once, and more than a year was spent in preparing the papers in the appeal.

Could Not Cross the Sea.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The cruiser Du Chayla, which watched the cruise of Count de la Vaulx across the Mediterranean, returned to Toulon with the balloon and passengers aboard. It was found at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon that it would be impossible to cross the Mediterranean, and the count was taken aboard. There was no accident. Off Port Vendres the wind changed and forced Count de la Voulx landward toward the Pyrenees.

Riot In Seville.

MADRID, Oct. 16.—There is a general strike on in Seville of all the workmen except those in the gas and electric works. The bakers are out, and there is a shortage of bread. The strikers have resorted to violence in order to close the workshops and have burned the octroi offices. The civil authorities are helpless and have handed the city over to the military officers. The situation is growing desperate.

Fortunate in Their Choice.

While there was a healthy contest for the nomination for sheriff, the Somerset county convention of the Democrats was entirely free from any factional disturbances. In that way it was in startling contrast to the previous gathering of the Republican cohorts in that county. There appeared to be the requisite amount of enthusiasm, however, and the convention passed into history as a successful affair.

With perfect fairness, it can be said that the Somerset county Democrats have been particularly fortunate in their choice of candidates this year. Samuel S. Childs, the candidate for Assembly, is too well known to require any introduction to the public. He has proved himself a man of sterling ability and sound judgment. He is very popular throughout his county. Whatever may be said as to his political opinions, there is no one who can question his integrity and honesty.

Calvin D. McMurtry, the nominee for sheriff, is an old resident of Somerville where he has earned the respect of his fellow citizens. He possesses much ability and is undoubtedly a very strong candidate for the place. He, too, is above reproach.

State Senator Charles A. Reed undoubtedly understood the strength of the Democratic ticket when he told Franklin Murphy that it was not going to be a walk-over in Somerset county. Some of the more enthusiastic Republicans predicted huge majorities, but the Senator figured it at 600. There has been, of late years, a regular Republican majority in Somerset. This will have to be overcome if the Democrats expect to win. It so happens, however, that the Republican forces are possessed of a strong organization, even if there is some factional feeling in their ranks, and they also have two candidates who are popular and of good reputation.

There is not going to be an easy thing for either side and the party which wins will have to put forward the most active campaign. It's anybody's fight, with the odds slightly in favor of the Republicans thanks to their normal majority.

Plainfield expects to have a candidate for the Assembly on the Democratic ticket this fall. There seems to be every reason to believe that the Democrats will nominate J. B. Guttridge, of Netherwood, for one of the places. There are not a great many Democrats in the Second ward, where Mr. Guttridge lives, but he has managed to win the respect and confidence of many in that ward who differ from him politically, and so the Democrats are counting that he will attract a large complimentary vote.

It is not an easy task to be chief of police and please everybody. Chief Kiely has done his best but still there have been some who were not satisfied. The Chief has now made a capture which reflects much credit upon him as a police officer and promises to be of substantial benefit to the community. He has run to earth the last of a gang of desperadoes who have terrorized the upper counties of this State and the borders of Pennsylvania.

A western manufacturer who spends $400,000 a year for newspaper advertising in this country recently placed business announcements in some of the English papers, relates the Philadelphia Record. As to the result he says: "We sold about 700 cases of goods in London within thirty days after our first newspaper advertisements were placed." Judicious advertising will always bring trade.

It is probable that there will be but little change in the personel of the Common Council if the Republicans are successful at the coming election. Three out of four of the ward Councilmen have been renominated. One out of the three Councilmen-at-large will probably be renominated.

After the people of Plainfield have thought it over long enough they will realize that the only immediate solution of the trouble with the water company will be the introduction of meters.

The county seat will have to be big enough tomorrow to care for both Republican and Democratic hosts. Both parties will hold their county conventions there tomorrow afternoon.

Those driveways leading to the new eastbound station of the Jersey Central Railroad are slowly but surely assuming the proper appearance.

It is no new thing to teach by mail, but the introduction of the phonograph into educational work is certainly a modern departure.

The latest reason given in the City Court for getting drunk was that the prisoner had too many friends whom he was compelled to treat.

Think of the feelings of the Chinese laundryman who thought his bill for poll tax was $100. No wonder he fled the town.

MANY ACCEPTANCES.

Large Crowd Expected for Annual Division Encampment of the Union Veterans' Union.

The Union Veterans' Union will meet this evening and arrangements will be made for the annual encampment of the New York and New Jersey Division of the organization, which will be held in this city, November 12 and 13. The acceptances from invited guests have been very encouraging and from present appearances the reunion will be one of the largest ever held.

It is understood that in making the selections for the high offices for the coming year the convention of the encampment will honor a Plainfielder The committee, having in charge the raising of a fund by popular subscription to defray the expenses of the encampment, has not gotten its work well under way as yet, but after this evening's meeting it is believed that the work will be pushed.

REFERRED TO A COMMISSIONER.

Testimony in Blimm Against Vail Will Be Taken Friday Morning.

In the case of Joseph Blimm against Charles C. Vail Judge Vail has issued a restraining order on a writ of discovery against the defendant and the Continental Insurance Company of New York. Judge Vail then referred the matter to W. S. Angleman as a Supreme Court commissioner. Friday, at 10 o'clock in the morning, has been set as the time when testimony will be taken in the case. The plaintiff is represented by J. P. D. Kirch, by V. W. Nash, Jr., counsel. Codington & Swackhamer represent the defendant. Lindabury, Depue & Faulks represent the Continental Insurance Company. The plaintiff claims that Mr. Vail owes him $117.50. The Continental Insurance Company was to have paid the defendant in the case $1,200 last Saturday, the amount due on a loss by fire, but the action of Judge Vail restrained the company from doing so.

A committee, consisting of John Henry, Silas Nailor and Frank Humpston, appointed to investigate the matter of raising the death benefits from $250 to $500 reported favorably. SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, Oct. 16.—Persistent rumors to the effect that Daniel Sofield, of Bonhamtown, had died Monday morning caused that belief to be spread here. Mr. Sofield had been picking chestnuts Monday morning and was found under a chestnut tree in an unconscious condition. He remained in this state for two hours and it required heroic measures to revive him. Rush of blood to the head and a weak heart are supposed to be the cause of Mr. Sofield's illness. Yesterday he seemed no worse for his experience and had resumed his occupation of gathering chestnuts. Mr. Sofield is well known here, having been a resident of South Plainfield nearly all his life. He moved to his present home two years ago.

GIVEN A DEED.

Valuable Gift for Miss Sarah Curry Matron of Day Nursery.

Miss Sarah Curry, the faithful and untiring "Little Mother" of the "The Little Missionary Day Nursery," of New York, who has also been in charge of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, is still busily engaged in her work. During the past season she cared for over 200 mothers and children at the fresh air camp, besides acting as mother for fifty-five babies during the summer.

Some five years ago was born in the heart of this "Little Mother," one chosen of God, to do a great work in New York city, the desire to open a day nursery where mothers could leave their children while they went out to earn an honest living. How to do it and where was a great problem, but this noble heart, not discouraged by obstacles that seemed too great to overcome, solved the question by going at it with what she had—$14—and opening what was to be called "The Little Missionary Day Nursery."

Sixteen babies were presented for admission the first day. This result was after waiting eighteen months, meeting with many discouragements from those who were looked to for help. After this great victory, the needs of larger quarters presenting themselves, this heart that had found access to the store-house of Him who has told us to ask largely that our joy may be full, asked her Heavenly Father to raise up friends to give her a building, that she might better carry on the work that was presenting itself in different phases.

A few days ago this part of the prayer was answered, after waiting five years. It was a sight never to be forgotten. In one of the largest lawyer's offices in New York, the office full of lawyers and business men, there stood a little woman, but not the least of the company, her face denoting that she was acquainted with Him who brings sunshine to the heart.

One of the lawyers, a warm friend of the work and a great admirer of the founder, said, "Miss Curry, it gives me great pleasure to present the deed for 93 East Eighth street, costing $29,000, to you for the care of the children. We have watched your devotion and consecration and feel proud to be identified with such a noble work and worker for humanity."

The work speaks for itself—45,000 children cared for, over 500 mothers under her watchful, loving care, 100 men looked after, a Helping Hand Society, a cooking school, a large men's meeting, an object lesson of what God can do.

A Curious Receipt.

Hanover's registrar discovered a very curious document the other day as he was looking through a bundle of papers that date back to the eighteenth century. The document is a receipt—probably the only one of its kind in existence—which was given to a Hanoverian captain by a canon of Duisbourg during the Seven Years' war.

"I, the undersigned," it reads, "hereby acknowledge that I have received 50 blows of a stick, which were inflicted upon me by a lieutenant of Capt. B——'s regiment as a punishment for the stupid and frivolous calumnies which I have uttered in regard to the regiment of chasseurs. For my imprudent words I now admit that I am profoundly sorry. I received my punishment lying on a heap of straw and held by two men, and I bear testimony to the fact that the officer struck me as vigorously as he could with a stick that was as thick as my finger.

"In proper form and with due gratitude I sign this receipt, and avow that all therein is true."—N. Y. Herald.

Athens a City of Sunlight.

The person who rides into Athens for the first time on a summer's day is fairly overwhelmed with the brightness of it. It is a city of sun, a city fairly blinding to eyes accustomed to the dull skies of London or New York. The sky is extraordinarily clear and as vividly transparent as the windows in a photographic studio. The square houses, of stone and stucco, are nearly all kalsomined to a dazzling whiteness. In the case of the few exceptions the whitewash has been tinted a delicate pink, cream color or blue, and they are all roofed, from the king's palace down to the meanest hovel, with red tiles. White and red—the colors of fire and heat.—Scribner's Magazine.

Ancient Boats in Ireland.

Seventeen fishing boats, one of which is said to have been built between 1740 and 1750, form the odd little fishing village of Carracross, on the west coast of Ireland. The only building in the place which is not constructed of an old boat is the priest's house, and this is built entirely of the driftwood which the gulf stream piles upon the rocky coast. There is not a tree of sufficient size to give building timber within eight miles of Carracross, and, though there is plenty of building stone, it is never used for anything except building fences around potato patches.—N. Y. Sun.

The Earth Measured.

After nearly 30 years of constant effort, and the expenditure of nearly $500,000, scientists have succeeded in accurately measuring the earth. They have learned that its diameter through the equator is 7,926 miles; its height from pole to pole 7,899 miles. The earth, therefore, is flattened at the poles, and while this fact has long been asserted, the actual measurement has removed the question from the domain of doubt.—Scientific American.

MARRIAGE QUESTION SETTLED.

Episcopal Church Rejects Proposed Canons With Regard to Divorcees.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The troublesome question of marriage and divorce has been set at rest for another three years by the action of the house of deputies of the triennial Episcopal convention in rejecting both of the proposed canons on the subject which were passed by the house of bishops. The greatest fight of the convention has been over section 4 of canon 36, virtually forbidding the remarriage of a divorced person by a priest of the church. This had passed the house of bishops and been adopted by a yea and nay vote in committee of the whole by the house of deputies.

When the committee rose and reported its work to the house, a decisive vote was taken, not only on the troublesome fourth section, but on the entire canon, which was rejected as a whole.

Canon 37, which provides for the disciplining of persons marrying again after being divorced, met with a similar fate.

The house of deputies passed an amendment to article 10 of the constitution permitting modified forms of worship which in spirit is similar to the famous Huntington amendment recently defeated. The amendment, though credited to Dr. McKim of Washington, was in reality presented to the convention of three years ago by Dr. Huntington.

The bishops have yet to act before the amendment can become part of the constitution.

Both houses appointed members of a standing committee on capital and labor which is to investigate the subject with a view to the peaceful settlement of disagreements between employers and workingmen and report to each general convention.

Pneumatic Tube Service Favored.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—A committee from the Philadelphia Commercial Exchange, which was appointed to convey to the president and to the postmaster general a strongly indorsed petition asking for the reinstatement of the pneumatic tube service at Philadelphia, called on President Roosevelt and delivered to him the petition, after which a conference was held with the postmaster general and a copy delivered to him. Postmaster General Smith told the delegation that he would recommend in his annual report the re-establishment of the pneumatic tube mail service in the cities where it formerly existed—viz, Philadelphia, New York and Boston—and its extension as far as practicable to other cities. The postmaster general will ask congress for $500,000 to cover this work this year.

Exports and Imports.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. — The monthly statement of the imports and exports of the United States for September issued by the bureau of statistics shows as follows: Merchandise imports, $67,300,405, of which $29,489,120 was free of duty; increase in total as compared with September, 1900, $7,731,805; merchandise exports, $106,895,274; decrease, $9,000,000; gold imports, $11,642,070; increase, $3,750,000; gold exports, $162,912; decrease, $644,000; silver imports, $2,469,820; decrease, $1,700,000; silver exports, $4,835,133; decrease, $900,000. As to merchandise the statement shows that during the last twelve months there was an excess of exports over imports of $640,568,965.

Earl Li Pleads For Manchuria.

PEKING, Oct. 16.—Twice within a week Li Hung Chang has visited M. Paul Lessar, Russian minister to China. Chinese officials assert that Earl Li has pressed for the recession of Manchuria, M. Lessar proposing that China should send a special envoy to St. Petersburg to arrange terms and Earl Li suggesting for the mission his greatest enemy, Chang Chih Tung. The story must be accepted with some reserve.

Peter Sterling Won at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 16.—Peter Sterling won the $10,000 Louisville prize without a touch of the whip and held his gait like a piece of superb machinery. The winner of last Tuesday's $16,000 Futurity passed under the wire first in each heat with a length to spare. Royal Coat led him to the stretch in the first heat and finished second, with Hawthorne third.

French Budget Shows a Deficit.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The French budget for 1902 as read to the budget committee of the chamber of deputies shows a deficit of 50,000,000 francs, of which 20,000,000 francs are due to sugar bounties. The committee adopted a proposal giving to the state a monopoly of petroleum refining.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

Mrs. William H. Cone, aged fifty-four years, whose address is Box 199, Litchfield, Conn., writes under date of April 26, 1898: I have always shrunk from having my name used publicly, but truth is truth and should be told every time. I had some heart difficulty, a torpid liver, dyspepsia and constipation and employed a great many different doctors and each one said he could help me but each one failed except for the time being. I suffered untold agonies for over twenty years. I would be feeling pretty well, perhaps, in the morning and in an hour would begin to feel dull and heavy and if I may so express myself as though being bound down with ropes or something from which I could not free myself. Do what I would, take anything I would, send for any physician I had a mind to, nothing seemed to help me. Sometimes for twenty-four or thirty-six hours I would be utterly prostrated and suffer, oh heavens, such agony; it was a living death. I could hardly tell which part of my body suffered the most, but of course the intense pain was in my head and stomach. How many times I have shut my eyes and wished I need never open them again and have envied the dead. These attacks came to be very frequent—sometimes every week for a while and every two or three weeks always. I accidentally saw an ad of Ripans Tabules in a New York paper and thought I would try them and did so. This was about three months ago. I never had anything help me as the Tabules did and now I can eat and enjoy my food. I do not mean to say the Tabules have cured me, for I fear nothing can ever do that, but I am much better, my sick spells are farther apart and I am much easier than I have been for years; in fact, I am so much better and so much encouraged that I thank God for Ripans Tabules and shall stick to them.

WANTED.—A case of bad health that Ripans Tabules will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the box. Ripans Tabules, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten (10) for five (5) cents will be mailed to any address by addressing, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce street, New York.

FOR WALKING AND SHOPPING

Up to Date Tailor Mades of Rough Gray Material.

Morning costumes of rough materials are dear to the heart of every well dressed woman. Grays are as popular as ever, and a novel way of trimming these rough gray goods consists in decorating them with straps of stitched white suede kid.

Old rose frieze will not be so popular as it was last year, but there are several shades of raspberry red and myrtle green which promise to be equally becoming and stylish.

These suits of rough material are usually made with a single breasted Eton or blouse having strapped seams. The skirt hangs better if it is cut with a wide gored flounce to give the fashionable flare. These gored flounces can be headed by smart effects in appliqued straps of the same or contrasting goods.

A walking costume of rough gray goods is the subject of today's illustration. The jacket is made in the popular blouse fashion, and it is trimmed with strappings of white suede and a collar of myrtle green velvet outlined by the white suede. The belt is of the same white kid heavily stitched. The skirt is cut with a wide bias flounce, which, together with the front seams, is outlined with strappings of the white suede. With this is worn a blouse of tucked white flannel and a tie of green taffeta spotted in white.

The hat is of white felt, heavily stitched and ornamented with a twist of green velvet and a gray wing.

LONG COATS.

Taffeta Still Fashionable, but Broadcloth More Serviceable.

Taffeta coats will still be worn this winter, but they make cold looking garments as well as perishable ones. They are sumptuously lined and heavily interlined. Many of them have deep cape effects or collars of very fine embroidery. The sleeves are all large, mostly of the bishop persuasion or else having a puff at the elbow, with a long, tight fitting cuff.

Velvet costumes will be prominent features at dressy afternoon receptions. They are either made in the blouse or the Louis Quinze fashion, with high Aiglon collars and vests of rich white and gold brocade. The velvet skirts are trimmed with bands of taffeta and satin.

The latest thing in a Parisian three-quarter length coat is shown in the cut. It is made of fine cafe au lait broadcloth lined with a flowered taffeta. The garment, which fastens invisibly down the front, is all laid in box plaits, which are stitched down after the manner of straps. At the bottom of the coat it is cut in an upward slant toward the back, and a full bias ruffle of the broadcloth is added to give the fashionable flare. The strapped effect on the sleeves likewise terminates at the elbow, where the sleeve is continued by means of a full puff of the broadcloth. The high collar is made of the straps so arranged as to produce a turn over effect.

She had slept for nine long years, and I knew that the wakening could be none of the suddenest. Indeed, it came by its own gradations and with infinite slowness, and I did not dare do more to hasten it. Further drugs might very well stop eternally what those which had been used already had begun. So I sat motionless where I was, and watched the color come back, and the waxenness go, and even the fullness of her curves in some small measure return. And when growing strength gave her power to endure them, and she was racked with those pains which are inevitable to being borne back again in this fashion to life, I, too, felt the reflex of her agony, and writhed in loving sympathy.

Still further, too, was I wrung by a torment of doubt as to whether life or these rackings would in the end be conqueror. After each paroxysm the color ebbed back from her again, and for awhile she would lie motionless. But strength and power seemed gradually to grow, and at last these prevailed, and drove death and sleep beneath them. Her eyelids struggled with their fastenings. Her lips parted, and her bosom heaved. With shivering gasps her breath began to pant between her reddening lips. At first it rattled dryly in her throat, but soon it softened and became more regular. And then with a last effort her eyes, her glorious, loving eyes, slowly opened.

I leaned over and called her softly by name.

Her eyes met mine, and a glow arose from their depths that gave me the greatest joy I have met in all the world.

"Deucalion, my love," she whispered. "Oh, my dear, so you have come for me. How I have dreamed of you! How I have been racked! But it was worth it all for this!"

CHAPTER XVI.

STORM OF THE SACRED MOUNTAIN.

It was Nais herself who sent me to attend to my sterner duties. The din of the attack came to us in the house where I was tending her, and she asked its meaning. As pithily as might be, for she was in no condition for tedious listening, I gave her the history of her nine years' sleep.

The color flushed more to her face. "My lord is the properest man in all the world to be king," she whispered.

She closed her eyes then, lying back among the cushions where I had placed her, and dropped off into healthy sleep, with the smiles still playing upon her lips. I put the coverlet over her, and kissed her lightly, holding back my beard lest it should sweep her cheek. And then I went out of the chamber.

That beard had grown vastly disagreeable to me these last hours, and I then went into a room in the house, and found instruments, and shaved it down to the bare chin. A change of robe also I found there, and took it instead of my squalid rags. If a man is in truth a king, he owes these things to the dignity of his office.

But, if the din of the fighting was any guide, mine was a narrowing kingdom. Every hour it seemed to grow fiercer and more near, and it was clear that some of the gates in the passage up the cleft in the cliff, impregnable though all men had thought them, had yielded to the vehemence of Phorenice's attack. And, indeed, it was scarcely to be marveled at. With all her genius spurred on to fury by the blow that had been struck at her by wrecking so fair a part of the city, the empress would be no light adversary even for a strong place to resist, and the Sacred Mountain was no longer strong.

Defenses of stone, cunningly planned and mightily built, it still possessed, but these will not fight alone. They need men to line them, and, moreover, abundance of men. For always in a storm of this kind some desperate fellows will spit at death and get to hand grips, or slingers and archers slip in their shot, or the throwing-fire gets home, or (as here) some new-fangled machine like Phorenice's fire tubes make one in a thousand of their wavering darts find the life; and so, though the general attacking loses his hundreds, the defenders also are not without their dead.

The slaughter, as it turned out, had been prodigious. As fast as the stormers came up, the priests who held the lowest gate remaining to us rained down great rocks upon them till the narrow alley of the stair was paved with their writhing dead. But Phorenice stood on a spur of the rock below them urging on the charges, and with an insane valor company after company marched up to hurl themselves hopelessly against the defenses. They had no machines to batter the massive gates, and their attack was as pathetically useless as that of a child who hammers against a wall with an orange; and meanwhile the terrible stones from above mowed them down remorselessly.

Company after company of the troops marched into this terrible death trap, and not a man of all of them ever came back. Nor was it Phorenice's policy that they should do so. In her lust for this final conquest, she was minded to pour out troops till she had filled up the passes with the slain, so that at last she might march on to a level fight over the bridge of their poor bodies. It was no part of Phorenice's mood ever to count the cost. She set down the object which was to be gained, and it was her policy that the people of Atlantis were there to gain it for her.

Two gates then had she carried in this dreadful fashion, slaughtering those priests that stood behind them who had not been already shot down. And here I came down from above to take my share in the fight. There was no trumpet to announce my coming, no herald to proclaim my quality, but the priests as a sheer custom picked up "Deucalion!" as a battle cry; and some shouted that, with a king to lead, there would be no further ground lost.

It was clear that the name carried to the other side and bore weight with it. A company of poor, doomed wretches who were hurrying up stopped in their charge. The word "Deucalion!" was bandied round and handed back down the line. I thought, with some grim satisfaction, that here was evidence I was not completely forgotten in the land.

There came shouts to them from behind to carry on their advance; but they did not budge; and presently a glittering officer panted up, and commenced to strike right and left among them with his sword. From where I stood on the high rampart above the gate I could see him plainly and recognized him at once.

"It matters not what they use for their battle cry," he was shouting. "You have the orders of your divine empress, and that is enough. You should be proud to die for her wish, you cowards. And if you do not obey, you will die afterwards under the instruments of the tormentors, very painfully. As for Deucalion, he is dead any time these nine years."

"There it seems you lie, my Lord Tatho!" I shouted down to him.

He started and looked up at me.

"So you are there in real truth, then? Well, old comrade, I am sorry. But it is too late to make a composition now. You are on the side of these mangy priests, and the empress has made an ediot that they are to be rooted out, and I am her most obedient servant."

"You used to be skillful of fence," I said, and indeed there was little enough to choose between us. "If it please you to stop this pitiful killing, make yourself the champion of your side, and I will stand for mine, and we will fight out this quarrel in some fair place, and bind our parties to abide by the result."

"It would be a grand fight between us two, old friend, and it goes hard with me to balk you of it. But I cannot pleasure you. I am general here under Phorenice, and she has given me the strongest orders not to peril myself. And besides, though you are a great man, Deucalion, you are not chief. You are not even one of the three."

"I am king."

Tatho laughed. "Few but yourself would say so, my lord."

HAS A HARMLESS AUTOMOBILE

A Washington Man Has One That Turns on Its Back When It Runs Away.

B. H. Warner, of Washington, made rather a peculiar and what might have been a most disastrous visit to a big sewer now in course of construction in the capital city. He recently purchased a locomobile to aid him in investigating different sections of his district.

One morning, says the Star, he went out to pay his respects to Andrew Gleeson, an old friend of his, who is constructing the big sewer referred to. He was accompanied by his son. They soon reached the banks of the James Creek canal. As the road was very narrow and said to be impassable a little farther on, Mr. Warner endeavored to effect a backward motion on the part of the horseless carriage, and in so doing caught his sleeve in the wrong valve, and in an instant the vehicle flew like an eagle over the big wall bordering the James Creek canal and plunged the two occupants into the air, both making somersaults. Mr. Warner came down in a channel just large enough to hold him, which had recently been dug through the mud to carry off surface water. The locomobile turned a complete somersault and knocked the dashboard, side bars and top rigging into a thousand pieces.

The whole incident occupied only a few seconds, and when Mr. Warner recovered from his surprise he found himself under the locomobile, which was turned bottom upward, with the engine still in motion and the wheels revolving at a rapid rate, while his son, who had landed on his feet, was surveying the situation with solicitude.

MUSICAL SNAILS.

Strange Discovery of a French Naturalist Who Claims Much for the Mollusks.

A German scientist recently pointed out that snails were able to draw immense weights, and now a French naturalist claims that there are few, if any, animals which have a higher appreciation of music than snails, says the New York Herald.

This naturalist is M. S. Jourdain, and his views on the subject are expressed at length in a paper which he has addressed to the French Biological society.

Place some snails on a pane of glass, he says, and you will find that, as they move over it, they will make musical sounds similar to those which a person can produce by wetting his finger and then rubbing it around a glass tumbler. Complete airs, he points out, have been played on tumblers in this way, and he expresses the opinion that quite as good results can be obtained by using snails instead of fingers.

It is a curious fact that at least half a dozen scientists are now carefully studying snails. The reason, according to one of them, is because these little animals are extraordinarily sympathetic and intelligent. Indeed, so highly gifted are they supposed to be that a writer did not hesitate to ascribe to them a few months ago the honor of being "the precursors of the wireless telegraph system."

NEW HAT FROM PORTO RICO.

Summer Headgear Made of Grass and Is Light and Cool But Won't Stand Wetting.

One of the things our new island possessions have brought us is a new kind of summer hat. It comes from Porto Rico and is made of woven grass, says the New York Sun.

The color is a bright tan, the shape of the Fedora, and the cost is small. The hat has not become very popular yet, but a few are seen in New York streets and many more in the suburbs.

In its simplest form the hat has a wide band of the same material and the same color wound around the crown, but some of the bands are dyed red and blue, and the hats ornamented with these are very gay indeed. A variation from the usual form is a sombrero shape with an extra wide brim.

The advantages of the hats are lightness and coolness. The slightest breeze penetrates the woven grass. The principal disadvantage is that if once wet they shrink, and to counteract this as far as possible each hat contains a strong leather sweatband.

Conditions of Speed on Railroads.

Railroading has already been a prolific source of profit to the inventor, but before speeds materially higher than those now used can be generally adopted he must be called upon to again improve the railroad in its every member, says Everybody's Magazine. The rail joint must either be abolished altogether, making the lines continuous by welded joints, as is done in the best street railway practice, or a mechanical joint better than any yet made must be invented. But more important than all will be methods of preventing collisions while dispatching trains at short intervals. Since electricity will be the motive power, it is possible that this may be so applied as to make it impossible for two trains to be run into each other even by intent.

The Smallest Mason.

The smallest Free Mason in the world is Casper H. Weis, of Philadelphia, who has taken the degree of master mason. Brother Weis, who is 24 years old, was born in Morschingen, Bezirk, Rhineland, is a watchmaker by trade, and stands 3 feet 11 inches in his stockings. He belongs to Richard Vaux lodge, No. 384.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

Chief interest in women golfing circles, now that the national championship is over, centers in the inter-city team match between the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association and the Women's Golf League, of Philadelphia. Mrs. W. Fellowes Morgan is arranging for the match, and it will probably be played over the links of the Morris County Golf Club Friday, November 1. This will be the second annual match for the trophy offered by Clement A. Griscom, father of last year's woman champion. Last year at Philadelphia the metropolitan players won by a score of 39 to 21, and every effort will now be made to gain a second leg on the trophy. Miss Genevieve Hecker, the metropolitan and national champion, will head the team, and it is quite likely that Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of this city, will be numbered among the members of the team which will include all of the most prominent women golfers in the metropolitan district. Miss Gorham or Miss Frances G. Griscom will head the Philadelphia team.

AID WANTED.

Strong and Townsend Bushmore, has issued a circular-letter calling on the people of Plainfield to contribute toward the expense of the association. The yearly expenses average between $600 and $700, and anyone desiring to help this worthy organization can send their contributions to Boardman Wright, 516 West Eighth street, or the committee.

Seton-Thompson's Animal Lectures.

For the special convenience of women, teachers and all who attend school, Ernest Seton-Thompson has consented to give his afternoon lecture at the Casino Tuesday at 4 o'clock on which occasion his subject will be "Wild Animals I Have Known." In the evening, the subject will be, "Wild Animals at Home." Mr. Seton-Thompson's studies of wild animals, which have made his name almost a household word, have carried him on this continent from the Canadian Northwest to New York and Virginia in the East and to New Mexico in the West. His line of investigation is original and his results unique. His lectures take in scenes and incidents in various parts of the territory mentioned, introducing many of the animal characters of which he has written. They are illustrated with stereopticon views mainly from photographs and sketches made by the lecturer. Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at Armstrong's drug store, tomorrow morning per advertisement.

Getting Rich Fast.

A well dressed man, claiming to be Harry Everett, of New York, and who declared that he was a graduate of an Ohio college, was given his preference between serving forty days or paying a fine of $10, in the City Court this morning. The man was arrested for peddling small chunks of Ivory soap so prepared as to pass off as a patent grease eradicator. He was getting wealthy fast until the police came.

MISS SHREVE STILL LEADS.

WEEKLY COMPETITION FOR THE HOOLEY CUP PLAYED YESTERDAY.

Miss Elsberg And Miss Brokaw Divided First Honors in Yesterday's Play—The Standing.

Only two weeks more remain of the play for the Hooley cup at the Park Golf Club. After yesterday's competition for that trophy, Miss May Shreve still remains in the lead while Miss Daisy Elsberg has developed into a very close second. The honors yesterday were divided between Miss Elsberg and Miss Elsie Brokaw. Miss May Shreve took the single point awarded to third place.

The course was decidedly slow and some of the greens uneven. Nevertheless the scores, as a rule, were an improvement over any yet turned in in that competition. Miss Elsberg's 59 was very creditable, while Miss Howell's 61 was by no means bad, considering the condition of the course. Miss Howell's 53 of the week before was, however, the best gross score yet made in the event.

The scores of last week have not yet been published. They were as follows:

	G.	H.	N.
Miss Saidee Mae Howell...	53	5	48
Miss Daisy Elsberg.....	60	8	52
Miss May Shreve.....	76	23	53
Miss Harriet Shreve.....	78	23	55
Miss Elsie Brokaw.....100		40	60
Miss Katherine Bocap.....105		40	65

There were eight entries for the event yesterday and all turned in cards. The scores were:

	G.	H.	N.
Miss Daisy Elsberg.....	59	6	53
Miss Elsie Brokaw.....	93	40	53
Miss May Shreve.....	72	16	56
Miss Katherine Bocap...	98	40	58
Miss Annie L. Jennings..	93	35	58
Miss Saidee Mae Howell.	61	0	61
Miss Harriet Shreve.....	88	23	65
Miss Mabel VanDeventer	102	33	69

The standing for the cup is now as follows:

Miss May Shreve.....	18
Miss Daisy Elsberg.....	17
Miss Harriet Shreve.....	14½
Miss Laura Long.....	13
Miss Saidee Mae Howell.....	11
Miss Mary Wells.....	6
Miss Mabel VanDeventer.....	5
Miss Elsie Brokaw.....	4½
Miss Jennings.....	1

Mines of Wax.

In several parts of the world a resinous substance called ozocerite, and bearing considerable resemblance to beeswax, is found, usually in connection with rock salt and coal. There are deposits in Austria, Russia, Roumania, Egypt, Algeria, Canada and Mexico, but, says our consul at Trieste, Mr. Hossfeld, ozocerite has, so far, not been discovered in sufficient quantities to pay for mining anywhere except in the district of Boryslav, in Austrian Galicia, and on an island on the west coast of the Caspian sea. In mining this mineral wax, shafts are sunk until a bed, or "nest," of ozocerite is struck. Then connecting galleries are driven. There is considerable danger, and many lives have been lost in consequence of the sudden forcing up of the soft wax into the shafts by the enormous pressure to which it is subjected. It is used largely for manufacturing ceresin, which is employed, together with beeswax, for making wax candles, as well as in the manufacture of phonographic cylinders, and for many similar purposes.—Youth's Companion.

Queer Plants from Congo.

New species of plants from the Congo are rapidly becoming popular in Europe. Among them not one is more admired than the calamus, which is a species of palm that grows in the Ogoue region. It is notable for the fact that in a wild state it remains a low shrub for several years, then suddenly develops, and, attaching itself to a tree near it, climbs quickly to its summit. Its wood is in much demand in the Congo, long, straight canes, which are used for various purposes, being fashioned from it. Another popular palm tree is the podococcus acaulis hua, which grows in the lower Congo region on the banks of the Fernan-Vaz. It is a dwarf and quite rare. Its leaves are soft, and while the tree is young they remain unbroken, but as soon as the tree reaches its full height fissures appear in them. One tree was grown from seed in France and is now attracting so much attention that several more seeds have been ordered from the Congo.

Substitution in Medicines.

In a recent case of death from poisoning, the druggist who gave the wrong medicine offered as an excuse that he had merely substituted one article for another on the supposition that it was of equal strength and much cheaper. The prescriber, in testifying on the trial, stated that the practice was a very dangerous and very frequent one, and was apparently past remedy. While the latter may, or may not, be the case, it is quite certain that with many who claim to be reputable and competent pharmacists the practice of substitution is very common. The number of protests made from time to time in medical journals have reference to only a very small percentage of offenders, inasmuch as the larger number of such do not happen to be discovered.—Medical Record.

Dog-Catching Diplomacy.

Parson Twine, the Chesterfieldian sanitary officer and a dog catcher of Atchison, recently called at a house and asked the woman who appeared if she kept a dog.

"No, I don't," responded the woman; "look for yourself."

"Madam," said Parson Twine, "what sort of an administration would this be if the dog tax collector doubted the word of a lady?"

The woman looked at him helplessly for a moment and then softly said: "I—I—I have one little dog which I will pay on if you say so."—Kansas City Journal.

The King's Precautions.

Among the works which are taking place at Windsor castle is the pulling up of all the floors—which have not been touched since the beginning of the last reign; some not for a century. They are to be completely relaid on modern principles and are to be rendered fireproof. Since the burning of Sandringham the king has always had a great dread of fire and he is taking advantage of the present opportunity of rendering the castle more secure against the devouring element.—Tattler.

BRAVE DISPLAY OF VOLUNTEER FIRE FIGHTERS PARADES THROUGH THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Companies From All Over the State are Guests Today of the North Plainfield Fire Department.

THOUSANDS OF STRANGERS IN TOWN TODAY.

THE STREETS ARE BRIGHT WITH THE MULTI-COLORED DECORATIONS OF FLAGS AND BUNTING.

Complete Roster of Companies in Line—Apparatus Arrived at Freight House by Rail Early This Morning—Light Repast Served Previous to the Parade by Warren and West End Companies.

It is a great day and it was a great parade.

The volunteer firemen of this section of New Jersey practically own North Plainfield and have a good-sized mortgage on this city today. The fact is that they are monopolizing public attention.

The fire laddies of the North Plainfield department were up bright and early this morning and before 7 o'clock there were signs of activity in the vicinity of the two fire company headquarters. When they went to bed last night about the last thing the boroughites thought of was what would be the probable condition of the weather today. While the early morning hours were clear and pleasant, rain clouds came out of the west and occasional showers followed each other at intervals.

By train, trolley and carriage came the guests to the number of several thousand. Young and old, rich and poor, all mingled together. Up and down Somerset street they strolled, viewing the decorations, which were still gay despite the wet. In fact, the borough was in holiday attire and its neighbor on this side of the brook gave many evidences as well of a gala occasion. Bunting, flags and appropriate pictures adorned the fronts of public buildings and private residences, especially on Somerset street. Although the parade committee had believed that all preparations were completed, yet it appeared that there was lots of work to occupy its attention and the members were scurrying about attending to details which had been overlooked.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock when the visiting firemen commenced to congregate in front of the various headquarters prepared for them. Many of the companies had shipped their trucks and engines by rail and it was necessary for them to unload the vehicles from the flat cars at the freight station. At that place delegations from the borough department were waiting and as soon as everything was in readiness the companies in turn were escorted through the city to the places assigned to them in the borough. The brass bands and the varied uniforms were the occasion of outbursts of applause from small crowds who had friends in the ranks of the marchers. Some few of the visitors came by trolley. The Princeton delegation came by train as far as Bound Brook and from there they travelled by trolley.

Over at the West End headquarters there was a flag raising at an early hour. The fire laddies had recently erected a large pole and high up on this was unfurled a handsome American banner. As soon as this was done the company boys departed for the Manhattan Hotel, where they met their guests. The first thing in order was to see that every visitor was served with a light repast in order that he might better endure the fatigue of marching over that long route covering seven lineal miles. Further down the thoroughfare the Warren engine laddies saw that their friends were supplied with a liberal share of refreshments. The lunchroom was located in the store formerly occupied by Simonson & Co., almost opposite Saengerbund Hall.

Just as soon as the visitors had satisfied the appetites they were escorted to the positions assigned to them on the side streets, commencing at Craig place, to await the signal to start. There was the usual amount of jollifications and many pranks were played by the visitors as they stood on these thoroughfares before the order to march was given.

It was noon before the big fire alarm was sounded as a signal to march. Many of the companies were delayed in arriving here and it was long after 11 o'clock, the appointed time for starting, when all the delegations had reported at the several headquarters.

The West End as well as the Warren boys paid every possible attention to their guests, while Mayor Smalley and the delegation of prominent citizens, including the Council, looked after the men of prominence from other places. Somerset street, long before noon, was packed with people. Fakirs with badges, baloons, toys and all sorts of articles lined the thoroughfare and did a good business.

When the platoon of Plainfield police in charge of Sergeant C. Frederickson swung into line the order was given and in turn company after company took the positions assigned to them, while the twelve bands and two fife and drum corps made music that could be heard at far distant points in the borough. Up Somerset street they marched in perfect order, receiving the plaudits of the crowds, the guests in the landaus not being forgotten.

By the time the fire-fighters had reached the reviewing stand at the corner of Westervelt and Jackson avenues, the Mayor and his party had already arrived at the reviewing stand. At this point every band played a martial air and the fire laddies doffed their hats. There was no small amount of cheering and enthusiasm in general. On they passed along the route scheduled.

The Washington Engine Company had its finely groomed men and handsome new engine, a nickle-plated "LaFrance" steamer, driven by Wm. M. Hill. Another nobby turnout was that made by the Red Jacket Engine Company, of Elizabeth, which appeared in brand new uniforms.

North Plainfield itself had no reason to be ashamed of its showing. The West End Hose Company with its fine new hose wagon caught the eye of the crowd everywhere, while Warren Engine Company, under the command of Captain W. C. Smith, drilled to perfection, captured the applause along the line. The steamers, hose carriages, and bands all came in for their share of attention.

The formation of the parade was as follows:

FIRST DIVISION.

Platoon of Plainfield police, commanded by Sergeant Frederickson.

Platoon of borough marshals, commanded by Chief Marshal Wm. Campbell.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Former Judge W. A. Coddington, Mayor C. B. Holmes, of Rahway, and Mr. Bootham, of New York.

Joseph Fitzs, T. I. Honeyman, J. F. Vandervere, John Allgair and R. H. Layton, of Somerville.

Borough Councilmen Charles A. Lee, James P Northrop, S. S Swackhamer, Robert Clark, Jr., Harrison Coddington, Collector George F.

WELCOME TO THE FIREMEN.

On behalf of the citizens of this municipality I desire to extend a hearty welcome to the visiting fire companies and other guests, who have honored us by their presence today. I am quite sure that the public will show all possible courtesies and do everything that may tend to increase the enjoyment of this visit. Hoping that the affair given under the auspices of our fire department may prove to be successful in every respect and that all who are its guests may be favorably impressed both with the occasion and the municipality, I again bid the fire fighters a sincere welcome.

N. B. SMALLEY,
Mayor of North Plainfield.

WERE WEDDED QUIETLY; THEN CAME RECEPTION.

Marriage of Miss Emma Frances Buckle and William Walter Coriell Last Evening.

RECEPTION AT BRIDE'S HOME

HOUSE WAS VERY PRETTILY DECORATED IN GREEN AND PINK.

Ceremony Was a Quiet One, But Was Followed By a Reception to the Friends—Bridal Party—Couple Will Reside in Plainfield

In the home of the bride's parents on Westervelt avenue, the marriage of Miss Emma Frances Buckle, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. James F. Buckle, and William Walter Coriell took place last evening at 7 o'clock. Only the immediate families and a few relatives and friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony.

The house was tastefully decorated with palms and potted plants, the intended color effect being green and pink. Chrysanthemums were largely in evidence in the profusion of flowers that adorned the various rooms. The hallway was banked on one side with large palms and ferns and back of these were the musicians, P. Ludwig Conde, violinist, and an accompanist.

The dining room was decorated in pink. Roses of this color were enmassed upon the table and from the chandeliers hung strands of smilax. In the parlor, palms, smilax, ferns and chrysanthemums made up the elaborate decorations. At one end of the room was a bower of palms and it was there that the ceremony took place.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary E. Buckle, as maid-of-honor. There were no bridemaids. With the groom as best man was Herbert G. Johnson. When the appointed time for the ceremony arrived the bride and groom stood before the officiating clergymen, Rev. A. C. Nickerson and Rev. Charles Herring, and the nuptial service was performed according to the usage of the Unitarian church.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine trimed with Irish lace. Her veil was of tulle, which was caught up by orange blossoms. The bouquet was of bridal roses with a shower effect composed of lilies of the valley. The maid-of-honor wore a gown of blue liberty silk, trimmed with Irish lace, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

From 8 until 10 o'clock a wedding reception was held and the house was crowded by a concourse of friends who offered their congratulations. All were bidden to the wedding supper which was served by seven young women clad in white batiste and wearing pink roses in their hair. They were Miss Madeline Smart, of New York; Miss Bertha Thorn, Miss Margaret Coriell, Miss Juna Tolles, Miss Inez Marie Tolles and Miss Clara Buckle, all of Plainfield. Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Coriell left for their bridal trip and on their return in a fortnight they will take up their residence at 1021 LaGrande avenue.

Among the guests present were friends from New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and elsewhere. The presents received by the bride were quite elaborate. A mass of fine cutlery, handsomely wrought silver, cut glass in many designs, bric-a-brac, Haviland and Dresden china, furniture and Favrile glass made up the varied assortment. A large and well carved china closet which was filled with specimens of cut glass was conspicuous among the gifts.

WEDDED UNDER TWO FLAGS.

QUIET MARRIAGE OF MISS CATHERINE H. McCLURE TO W. E. BOLTON.

Groom Comes From Montreal, Canada—Ceremony Performed at Bride's Home.

A very quiet but pretty home wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Miss Catherine Hamilton McClure, youngest daughter of Counsellor and Mrs. William K. McClure, of 108 Crescent avenue, was married to William Ernest Bolton, of Montreal, Can. Invitations to the affair were limited to the relatives and very intimate friends of the family, comprising a company of fifty guests.

The house decorations were simple, yet beautiful and unique. In an alcove, just off the main hallway, there was an arrangement of palms, ferns and roses, and it was here that the ceremony was performed by Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector of Grace P. E. church. At the entrance to and just over the stairway there were suspended in graceful lines two flags, one an American and the other English.

The bride's gown was that worn by her mother when she was married. It was of white corded silk and trimmed with lace and chiffon. She wore a veil, fastened at the hair with lilies-of-the-valley, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only attendant was James Hervey Ackerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, who acted as a page. He was dressed in a white sailor suit. The best man was the bride's twin brother, William Leathen McClure.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was given the bride and groom and a wedding supper was served. Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bolton left the city on a trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Canada, after which they will go to Montreal, where the will reside.

An extensive collection of costly and useful gifts were received by the bride and groom, showing the high esteem in which they are held. Some of the gifts were received in this city, while many were sent to Montreal. When the couple left Plainfield last evening they were given a royal sent off by the guests who attended the wedding.

ONE SIDED CONTEST BETWEEN SCHOOL TEAMS

Leal's School Boys Defeated Plainfield High School Eleven 42 to 0.

OPENING GAME OF SEASON.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS OUTWEIGHED BUT PLAYED PLUCKY GAME.

Leal's School Players Showed Results of Good Coaching—Their Goal Never in Danger—Played on Hope Chapel Gridiron.

In a one-sided contest the Leal's School football aggregation defeated the Plainfield High School eleven on the Hope chapel gridiron yesterday afternoon by a score of 42 to 0. Not once during either half was the Leal goal in danger. There was a fair sized crowd witnessing the game and notwithstanding the unevenness of the contest there was more or less enthusiasm.

During the first half the pigskin was continuously in the possession of the winning team, but in the second half the High School boys took a brace and occasionally got hold of the leather. Although the losing team was made up of much lighter material and gave evidence of being as yet raw to the game, its members put up a plucky fight, which was favorably commented upon by the onlookers.

The Leal's boys showed that they had been well coached and their work was systematic to a degree, though at times they were susceptible to fumbling, which was an absent quantity with the High School boys. Long runs on the part of the winning team were the feature and the final touchdown made by a long run by W. J. Schoonmaker was a fitting climax to the Leal's play.

In the first half Donald McGee, Ralph B. Schoonmaker, Ray Biglow and Gordon Abbott each scored a touchdown and Ralph Schoonmaker kicked a goal. Donald McGee made two tohcndowns and Ralph and William Schoonmaker each nailed one in the second half and McGee kicked a goal, making the final score of 42 to 0. At goal kicking the Leal's boys are particularly weak. In the second half Davis, of the High School team, was injured and Vincent B. Miner was substituted at left tackle. F. Bogers was put in at right tackle for Whiteside and Robert was placed at left tackle for C. Perkins in the Leal's line-up.

The line up follows:

M. Perkins	right end	Munroe
White-ide	right tackle	Tweedy
Biglow	right guard	Bridge an
Minford	centre	VanFelt
Martin	left guard	Moore
C. Perkins	left tackle	Davis, Miner
Hall	left end	McVoy
W. J. Schoonmaker	quarter	Vanaiken
Abbott	right half	Meeker
R. B. Schoonmaker	left half	Bulkeley
McGee	full	Cahoone

Umpire, Lindley Best; referee, A Willis West; touchdowns, McGee (3), R. B. Schoonmaker (2), W. Schoonmaker, Biglow Abbott; goals from touchdowns, R. Schoonmaker, McGee.

BOTH UNION COUNTY CONVENTIONS WILL BE HELD AT ELIZABETH THIS AFTERNOON.

Republicans and Democrats of This County Will Choose Three Candidates for Members of the Assembly.

WHO ARE SPOKEN OF FOR THESE THREE PLACES.

CONTEST OVER ELIZABETH'S CHOICE FOR ASSEMBLY.

Fred'k Miller and Ellis R. Meeker Both Want Republican Nomination—William Newcorn Will be Named.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, October 17—There is the prospect of a contest at the Republican county convention this afternoon, when nominations will be made for the three places in the Assembly and the coroners. It is generally conceded that Wm. Newcorn, of Plainfield, and George W. Hall, of Cranford, will be nominated. The Elizabeth man is a question.

Assemblyman Ellis R. Meeker is making a hard fight to retain his seat. His chief rival for the place is Frederick Miller, of Elizabeport, who has a very strong following. While the friends of Miller claim that they have a majority, the Meeker delegates are going to carry the contest into the convention.

The Republicans have already begun to gether here for the convention which will be called to order at 3 o'clock in the Lyceum Theatre. Hamilton F. Kean, chairman of the county committee, will call the convention to order. Surrogate George Parrott, of Elizabeth, will probably be the temporary chairman. The temporary organization will then be made permanent. No contests over delegations are expected.

The general drift of gossip here is to the effect that Miller will be a very weak candidate for whom the Republicans will have to apologize if he is nominated but that the Singer employes at the "Port" have demanded him and that the leaders have conceded to the demand. The friends of Assemblyman Meeker are using strong arguments to win delegates.

A caucus of the Plainfield delegates will be held shortly before the convention convenes. There will probably be a split on Miller and Meeker. Westfield is expected to give a complimentary vote to Assemblyman Chester M. Smith, but the Cranford candidate, Mr. Hall, is expected have no difficulty in defeating him.

Early in the day it was evident that the delegates from the Fourth ward, of Plainfield, would support Fred Miller for member of Assembly, while there was sure to be a split among the delegates from the other three wards on this particular candidate.

City Judge William N. Bunyon was chairman of the conference, and it was decided that he should be accorded the honor of placing in nomination William Newcorn for member of Assembly.

DEMOCRATS ARE TO GATHER AT ZOUAVE HALL.

William E. Tuttle, of Rahway, and Charles Sulzer Are Both Probabilities—Guttridge Will Not Run.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, October 17.—John Crowell, of Rahway, the chairman of the Union county Democratic committee, will call the party's county convention to order in Zouave Hall, in this city, promptly at 3 o'clock this afternoon. This morning found many leaders in conference in the Young Men's Democratic Club room discussing the situation generally.

As to who will be the officers of the convention has not been decided upon as yet. The county committee met last evening but arrived at no decision in this respect. Little will be done before the convention is called to order. The large crowds are harmonious.

Among the booms launched for assembly are those of Charles Sulzer, of this city and William E. Tuttle, of Westfield. Both are considered good men. Sulzer is a brother of the Congressman, is president of the Democratic club in this city, secretary of the county committee and is considered a rising young politician. Tuttle is a prosperous lumber merchant.

The platform will be short and concise. It will not exceed 150 words and in substance will endorse the attitude of Mayor Seymour in the campaign, arraign the Republican State administration, and pledge fealty and aid to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

James E Guttridge, of Plainfield, who has been mentioned as a candidate for assembly nomination, positively declines to run.

CANDIDATES BUSY.

Franklin Murphy and James M. Seymour Are Actively Campaigning Through the State.

It was an active day yesterday for the gubernatorial candidates of both parties. The time was spent handshaking and speech-making and both candidates report that they have made many converts.

Franklin Murphy, the Republican candidate for governor, started at Hackettstown and included Washington, Oxford Furnace, Belvidere and Phillipsburg in his day's trip. At the latter place a big rally was held in the evening. Much enthusiasm was shown.

The counties of Hunterdon, Mercer and Burlington were visited by James M. Seymour, the Democratic candidate. The evening meeting was at Riverside, but a number of stops were made through the day and the candidate and his party was kept on the jump.

While Mayor Seymour, according to the itinerary issued by the Democratic State committee, is booked to speak in Plainfield and Somerville tomorrow evening, he will not appear in this city until later in the campaign. At that time a mass meeting will be held in Washington Hall.

LODGED IN JAIL.

Leitch Confessed His Guilt and Then Skipped Out, to Be Finally Captured.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, October 17—Edward Leitch, who has held a confidential position with the Ideal Cash Register Company, was committed to the county jail at New Brunswick yesterday, charged with embezzlement and forgery. He admits stealing $200 in small amounts. He left Bound Brook some time ago, leaving behind a written confession. He was located at Kingston, where he had relatives.

Lantern Slide Entertainment.

The Plainfield Camera Club is arranging to give a series of lantern slide entertainments during the winter. Some of the members have added a number of fine pictures to the club's selection and these will be shown.

Elected to Office.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.
WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY.

After having it carefully analysed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Astamalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler,
Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS.' MEDICINE CO.,
Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful.
Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., February 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.
Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 32 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit. Home address, 235 Rivington street,

HEAVY GAMBLING IN NOME.

Biggest Faro Games in the World Are Being Played There at the Present Time.

Dawson in its palmiest days never saw any higher bets made on one turn of the card than have been witnessed in two plays in Nome lately, says the San Francisco Call. The first play came up at the Dexter, when "Bull Con" Jack and Gus Seiffert attempted to put Wyatt Earp and Charlie Hoxie out of business in a few turns. "Bull Con" made several stiff bets, and with his usual luck won, and the dealer did not cut him down until he attempted to bet $1,000. It was lucky for the dealer, as Jack won his $500 bet, and for some time that was the usual stack on a single card.

There was another stiff play in the Northern, when four gamblers pooled together in order to win out enough to stake themselves to a bank roll. They started in with $50 bets, which is the usual limit in the Northern, and then commenced to double, winning every bet until they had $1,050 in checks out. Then they stacked them all up on the ace and asked the dealer to turn for the bunch, but before doing so the dealer asked Proprietor James Murphy if he would "stand for it."

"Let the boys put on as much as they want, and if the ceiling is too low we'll tear it off," said Murphy.

With that the dealer wet his finger and slipped on a card. It was a great big bullet, and four disgusted sports walked out of the house.

BRAIN WORKERS EAT APPLES.

Story of One Who Makes a Late Supper Off Half a Dozen with Plenty of Cider.

The declaration is made by an investigator that he has discovered a food that is peculiarly adapted to the needs of the literary man. This man asserts that apples, and raw apples at that, are the best diet on which to feed genius. He tells of the penchant of his father, a man of letters, who lived to the age of nearly 90, for apple pudding, which he ate almost daily, and raw apples, which he ate morning, noon and night. He adds:

"It is surprising how many persons fancy that raw apples are indigestible, and only endurable in the early morning. Doubtless the old adage that fruit is gold in the morning and lead at night is to some extent answerable for this, to my thinking, erroneous impression. I find that after working late at night, say till twelve or one o'clock in the morning, one gets hungry, and that then five or six apples or more, according to their size, with a draught of good cider, constitutes a most agreeable and wholesome supper, and one that conduces to a sound and refreshing night's rest. But apples, to be really beneficial, should be eaten as children eat them, rind and all, and in sufficient quantities to be satisfying. The man who, first paring off the skin and with it the best part of the flesh, dallies with the residue of an apple after dinner is no true apple lover."

TO PROVE HIS BRAVERY.

Big Man with Weak Heart Takes Home Drawn Tooth to Show How Nervy He Is.

A dentist congratulated a young woman on the pluck with which she had undergone an operation in dental surgery, says the Pluta Record, and added:

"But women always have more fortitude than men when it comes to the treatment of the teeth. There's Mrs. Blank, for instance, a thin, pale, nervous creature. I pulled four of her back teeth the other day, and she didn't make the smallest whimper, but her husband came to me a little later and he, a six-foot Hercules of a man, howled like a Comanche while I pulled a molar for him, and after the job was over he fainted dead away. When he came to he said:

"'Give me the tooth, doctor.'

"'Why?' said I.

"'To take home to my wife, to prove to her that I had it pulled. She said I wasn't brave enough.'

"I had thrown the tooth in a box with a lot of others, and, of course, I couldn't identify it, but I picked out one that might have been it, and the man put it in his vest pocket and went home."

RELICS OF ANCIENT MINERS.

Interesting Discovery in a Long-Abandoned Scottish Mine Near Edinburgh.

Archaeologists are much interested in a discovery just made in the Fife coal pit near Edinburgh. During operations by the Wemyss Coal company at an old disused pit at the Blair burn, in order to prevent flooding, the overmen discovered a large number of miners' tools such as were used some 300 years ago. The shovels are all made of wood, some of them being as good as the day they were made; the picks and mells are iron, the pinches are wood with iron points. One of the operators stated that there are huge blocks of coal lying about all cut out with the pick, so large as to puzzle the present day collier how the old miners accomplished the task of cutting them out; the pick handles are of great thickness, approaching almost to the thickness of props used for supporting the roof at the present time. There is a tradition that the old mine was flooded, causing the death of many of the miners, and the conditions of the mine and the fact of so many tools lying about the seams point to the truth of the story.

REPORT ON HAWAII.

Acting Governor Cooper In Washington With His Annual Statement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Henry E. Cooper, territorial secretary of Hawaii, had a conference with Secretary Hitchcock and submitted his annual report as acting governor of Hawaii. The report makes a number of important recommendations. A feature is its treatment of the labor question. Mr. Cooper reports that there is urgent need for laborers from outside the territory. He shows that during the last fiscal year between 4,000 and 5,000 Japanese laborers left Hawaii, while only about 500 such laborers entered the territory.

Approximately the same proportion of entries and departures holds good with respect to Chinese and other labor, making the bringing in of labor from outside necessary. Legislation having this end in view is recommended.

The report urges an investigation into the question of timber entries in Hawaii and recommends the establishment of a system for forestry preservation. Better statistics regarding imports and exports and similar matters are urged. The gradual destruction of the fisheries is pointed out and a recommendation made for remedial legislation.

A Fight With Negro Gamblers.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Oct. 17.—At a house near Bond's turpentine camp in this county Sheriff Perry and a number of deputized officers closed in on more than a score of negro gamblers at 2 o'clock in the morning. Knowing the desperate character of the men, the posse was well armed. When the officers stepped in the door with drawn guns, the light was instantly extinguished, and the negroes opened a fusillade with their pistols. The riot continued for several minutes. When the smoke cleared, Deputy Hayden was found to have been wounded in the arm. One negro was on the floor dead and another wounded in the yard. Thirteen were arrested, and seven escaped.

Colombia Insurgents Again Worsted.

COLON, Colombia, Oct. 17.—The situation on the isthmus of Panama is unchanged. News has been received here that the government forces defeated the insurgents recently at Panoneme, killing a large number. Panoneme is now in the hands of the government. The government loss in the engagement was forty killed and wounded, among the latter being Colonel Navia. By a recent decree all import duties in this department were doubled, ad valorem duties now being 20 per cent. All liquor duties have also been doubled.

A Short Stay In Newfoundland.

The royal yacht Ophir will arrive Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 24, but the duke will not land until 11 o'clock the next morning, when the functions will be hurried through. The state banquet will be given in the evening, and the Ophir will sail for England Friday morning.

The grand total in all schools, elementary, secondary and higher, public and private, for the year ended July 1, 1900, was 17,020,710 pupils, an increase of 282,348 over the previous year.

Officer on Schley's Flagship Praises the Admiral.

COURAGEOUS IN BATTLE OF JULY 3

Attention of Court For an Entire Day Given Up to Testimony of Men Who Fought on the Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The officers of Admiral Schley's flagship, the Brooklyn, occupied the attention of the Schley court of inquiry for the entire day. The proceedings began with the recall of Captain Cook and Lieutenant Commander Sears, both of whom made material additions to their former testimony, and they were followed in succession by Commander N. E. Mason, who was the executive officer of the Brooklyn; Lieutenant Edward McCauley, Jr., who was signal officer, and Lieutenant Charles Webster, who had charge of the forward gun deck battery of the Brooklyn during the battle off Santiago and was a watch officer on board that ship.

Captain Cook's new testimony related to the uncoupling of the Brooklyn's engines and to the voyage of the flying squadron from Cienfuegos to Santiago, explaining in some detail the cause of the slow progress made on that occasion.

Commander Sears spoke again of the conversation reported as having taken place between himself and officers of the Massachusetts in the wardroom of that vessel on May 31, in which he was alleged to have said that it had been difficult to get Commodore Schley up to the point of undertaking the bombardment of the Colon, and he again denied that he had said anything reflecting upon his superior officer.

Commander Mason and Lieutenants McCauley and Webster all gave accounts of the engagement of July 3. Mr. McCauley recited in detail the signals made in connection with that historical event at the instance of Commodore Schley. When asked if Commodore Schley had said anything during the battle for the encouragement of the men, this witness replied that he several times had said, "Give 'em hell bullies!" All these witnesses testified that the conduct of the commodore when under fire was cool and courageous.

Kilpatrick Monument Unveiled.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The monument erected in the West Point cemetery to the memory of the late Major General Judson Kilpatrick was unveiled yesterday afternoon with imposing ceremonies. Colonel A. L. Mills was grand marshal, and Major Hamilton of the First New York mounted rifles was master of ceremonies. There was an immense throng of people in attendance, including five or six G. A. R. posts. Orations eulogistic of the deceased soldier were delivered by Congressman Tompkins of Nyack, Major General James H. Wilson and Colonel Frank Cole, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of the state of New Jersey. Colonel Cole was delegated to represent the governor of New Jersey.

Automobile Mail Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—A contract for automobile mail service in Minneapolis, Minn., an experiment which may result in the extension of such service generally, has been made by the postoffice department. It gives the Republic Motor Vehicle company $17,313 for carrying the mails between the postoffice, postal stations and substations and collections from some of the letter boxes in the business section of the city from Jan. 1, 1902, to June 30, 1903.

Planning a Faster Yacht.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from Glasgow confirms the statement to the effect that Denny Bros. have been making experiments in their model tank on a design for a new challenger for the America's cup which will be faster than Shamrock II. The Dennys have made calculations since the conclusion of the experiments which they believe will result in the building of a better boat than the last challenger.

To Seek South Pole.

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Oct. 17.—Professor Otto Nordenskjold's south pole vessel, Antarctic, has sailed on an antarctic expedition with the ultimate object of reaching the south pole. All the members of the expedition were on board with the exception of Lieutenant Duse, who will join the vessel at Falmouth. The Antarctic was warmly cheered by thousands who assembled to bid her farewell.

Cannibals Dined on Spaniards.

MADRID, Oct. 17.—Advices received here from Rio Muni, a Spanish possession on the west coast of Africa, say that some cannibals who recently captured seven Spanish marines have eaten the prisoners. Every effort was made to rescue the men when first taken captive, but the savages eluded the pursuers. The government will try to track the cannibals and punish them.

Announcement Was Premature.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—In response to an inquiry as to the report that he was the chairman of a syndicate of fourteen organized to challenge for the America's cup John Erskine of Belfast says: "The report was prematurely published and without my authority. I regret that I cannot afford further information just now."

Fatal Accident at a Concert.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—A terrible accident occurred in the Palmengarten, Leipsic, during a concert. A piece of the ceiling fell, killing a young woman outright and severely injuring several other persons.

OUTLOOK IN CHINA.

Special Commissioner Rockhill Speaks Hopefully.

HE BRINGS HOME THE PROTOCOL.

In an Interview at Victoria, B. C., Mr. Rockhill Describes the Conditions Prevailing Since the Chinese Assumed Full Control.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 17.—Commissioner Rockhill arrived by the Royal Mail steamship Empress of Japan, en route from Peking to Washington to hand a copy of the protocol signed between China and the allies on Sept. 7 to President Roosevelt. Commissioner Rockhill was accompanied by Mrs. Rockhill and Hubbard Taylor Smith, his secretary.

In an interview given on board the Empress of Japan the commissioner stated that now the protocol had been signed things would rapidly resume their normal state in China. He hoped there would be no further outbreaks in the Chinese empire; but, he said, China was the land of surprises, and none could say what was likely to occur there. The insurrections reported in Kansu, Manchuria, and in other districts of late he believed to be nothing more than local disturbances, rioting by malcontents, which occurrences have been unduly magnified into insurrections by the press of the far east. There were no serious disturbances prevailing when he left.

Peking was taken over by the Chinese soon after the protocol was signed, and the withdrawal of the troops of the allies began without delay, and on the 17th of September, after a year and two days' absence, the Chinese troops, 300 in number, entered Peking. The Americans, however, retained the south gate of Peking, and the Japanese held the east gate. No other troops were left in Peking other than the legation guards and the small detachments at Shanhaikwan, Tientsin and other points on the Shanhaikwan-Peking railway.

The turning over of the Chinese capital to Prince Ching was carried out with much ceremony, there being a brilliant spectacle when the keys of the palace were handed to the prince at the south gate on Sept. 17. The American and Japanese troops were drawn up at the south gate with the picturesque locales, and a brilliant gathering of Chinese dignitaries attended Prince Ching. It was on Sept. 22 that the withdrawal of the foreign troops took place, and then the expeditionary forces evacuated all the points along the route to Shanhaikwan, leaving only the small detachments to guard the stations of the railway. This line from Peking to the coast is controlled by the British. The Russians complained some time ago of the station at Tientsin being in their concessions, and the friction at one time assumed a serious stage, but since then there had been no collisions between the British and other forces.

The country is being taken over by the commercial interests since the protocol was signed, and a commission has been appointed to conduct commercial negotiations with China as provided by the provisions of the protocol. This commission will revise the treaties of commerce and arrange all matters in connection with the opening of the ports to trade. As a result of the work of this commission, Commissioner Rockhill says, better things may soon be looked for in China.

Commissioner Rockhill says that he expects to hear shortly of the return of the Chinese court to Peking. When he left China, he was informed that the emperor and empress and retinue would reach Peking by Oct. 6. While in Japan he heard that they had postponed their return, but he heard on the best authority that there was nothing in the report published that the court did not intend to return to Peking.

Regarding the floods in Manchuria and the overflowing of the Yellow river, Commissioner Rockhill said he had not heard any details of those occurrences. He could not give details of the disastrous famine reported from Shansi. There were many starving in that district, in which is located Hsianfu, where the Chinese court has been residing. The accounts sent to the United States of millions starving and of human flesh having been sold as food are much exaggerated, says the commissioner. The famine is nothing like as serious as those of 1878 and 1879.

Commissioner Rockhill says that Li Hung Chang is declining fast, and the news of his death would not come as a surprise. While retaining all his mental vigor, Li Hung Chang is weakening physically. His digestive organs are worn out, and as Li Hung Chang retains the appetite of a youth he has most severe attacks of indigestion accompanied by high fevers. His death would be a heavy loss to China.

Bookkeeper Confesses.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 17.—David M. Wolf, bookkeeper of the First National bank of Tyrone, Pa., has confessed to the embezzlement of $12,000 of the bank's funds. The cashier of the bank discovered irregularities in Wolf's books while the latter was away on his vacation amounting to the sum named. He is bonded for $10,000 by a surety company of New York. The bank's officials have taken no action against him. Wolf is about thirty-one years of age.

Fatal Student Riots.

VIENNA, Oct. 17.—The Neues Abendblatt reports that there has been rioting in Kicheneff, Bessarabia, where 1,000 students attacked and wrecked the house of the governor, the headquarters of the police and the office of the Official Gazette. Many encounters took place between the students and the police, and eleven persons were killed and thirty-six others injured.

TYPHOON IN LUZON.

Worst Storm In Ten Years Plays Havoc There.

MANILA, Oct. 17.—The worst typhoon in ten years has been raging for the past few days. Its center has been about sixty miles from Manila. Eight miles of railroad have been destroyed, and half of north and central Luzon has been submerged. A majority of the telegraph lines have been damaged, and government and other vessels have suffered. Twenty persons have been killed in Manila bay. The town of Baler has been demolished.

The Philippine commission has adopted a law by which customs officers are required to exact an oath of allegiance from all persons arriving here who are suspected of having aided or abetted the insurgents and also a similar oath from all others coming here who have in any way aided or are trying to aid the rebels. This will upset the plans of Sixto Lopez, who has been in the United States and Europe in the interest of the rebels and who is expected here any day from Hongkong.

The commander of the American troops who were sent to Samar after the massacre of the officers and men of Company C of the Ninth infantry reports that the most active operations have been carried on. No large bands of insurgents were found, however.

Excluded From Second Class Rates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Assistant Postmaster General Madden has issued orders providing for the first exclusion of publications from the second class mail privileges under the recent amendments to the regulations governing second class matter. This first list of publications is sweeping and embraces a number of well known serial issues. The order, which has been communicated to all postmasters, authorizes Postmaster Van Cott at New York city to cancel the certificates of entry to the second class of mail matter of the publications named, which are held not to come within the requirements of amended section 276 of the postal laws and regulations for acceptance as second class matter.

French Liner's Fast Trip.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The new French liner La Savoie, bound from New York to Havre, was reported by cable passing Lizard head, on the southwestern coast of England, at 7:50 o'clock last evening. She is making a fast trip, and it is estimated that she will cut down her fastest time, 6 days 13 hours 2 minutes, which is the record between New York and Havre, by about an hour and a half. The vessel cleared the Sandy Hook bar at about 12:09 p. m. Oct. 10, and her time to Lizard head is therefore about 6 days 2 hours 41 minutes. The distance from Lizard head to Havre is generally covered in about eight hours and fifty minutes.

Railroad Company to Sell Bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—It is announced at the offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad company that negotiations have about been concluded by the Pennsylvania company for the sale of $20,000,000 3½ per cent collateral trust debenture bonds to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Speyer & Co. of New York. The officials say the proceeds will be used for corporate purposes, but it is understood in financial circles that the money is to be used for the payment of the stock of the Pennsylvania Steel and Cambria Steel companies, which the Pennsylvania Railroad company recently acquired.

Bread Riots In Russia.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—"The Lemberg papers report bread riots at Taraskova, eastern Russia," says the Vienna correspondent of The Daily Mail. "In Samara the starving peasants stormed the municipal buildings and the residences of wealthy persons, setting some on fire. Troops were summoned, and fourteen peasants were killed. Similar riots in which several persons were killed occurred at Anderweska, where two landowners had been murdered, and also at Pestrawka and elsewhere in the same district."

Workmen Prematurely Buried.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 17.—A special from Walworth, Wis., says that eight workmen on a gravel train near here were buried under gravel yesterday by one of the cars overturning. The injuries to some of the men may prove fatal. The accident occurred on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad near Tioga. The men were dug out as soon as possible and brought here for medical treatment.

Fierce Fight Over Copper.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The battle which is waging over Amalgamated Copper, with a desire of a Standard Oil clique, it is charged, to destroy Thomas W. Lawson, the Boston speculator, as its motive, was again furiously waged in Wall street yesterday. The stock closed with a loss of two points. Standard Oil brokers rushed into the stock market and sold the stock for whatever it would bring.

Large Sale of Zinc Lands.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 17.—U. B. Kellogg, George H. Wellington and Harry L. Bryan of this city have closed a contract with an English syndicate for the purchase of 60,000 acres of zinc lands located near Joplin, Mo. The price is $350,000, a certified check for one-half that sum being received yesterday. The land is rich in zinc, lead and coal.

Postoffice Quietly Robbed.

MOODUS, Conn., Oct. 17.—Burglars cracked a safe in the postoffice here some time after midnight and departed unseen and unheard by any of the residents with $4,000 worth of stamps and $120 in cash from the money order drawer and the postal funds. No mail in the office was disturbed.

CAN'T EVADE IT.

Positive Proof From Plainfield Can't Be Brushed Lightly Aside.

The reader is forced to acknowledge that convincing proof in his own city is pre-eminently ahead of endorsements from everywhere else in our Republic. Read this:

Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner avenue, says: "For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hip and loins so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted a cold it always settled in my back and at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store I took a few doses when I found they were helping me, and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Three Killed and Building Wrecked at Bangor, Me.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 17.—A terrific explosion, probably of gasoline, in the second floor kitchen of Nathaniel Ladd's restaurant on Harlow street brought almost immediate death to Miss Haney, whose apartments adjoined, and Mrs. Mary F. Carrigan, the second cook, and fatal burns to John Barry, a waiter. The explosion wrecked two floors, and falling debris caused minor injuries to a number of people.

In the kitchen at the time were several restaurant employees, who got out safely. Mrs. Carrigan, however, rushed for the upper staircase, but was unable to reach it and was enveloped in flames. John Barry rushed after her but, meeting the fire, he had to jump from the window, having been badly burned. He died at the hospital. Miss Haney, who was in her rooms, evidently was buried under debris and then burned to death in a minute or two. The property losses were about $5,000 with insurance of half that sum.

Farewell Banquet to Towne.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 17.—Eight hundred men of all shades of political opinion attended a farewell banquet tendered by Duluth citizens to Charles A. Towne at the armory last night while fully 500 ladies were present in the galleries to hear the speeches by William J. Bryan, Mr. Towne and others. The affair was nonpartisan and carried out the intention of the promoters to make it a testimonial to Mr. Towne's personal popularity among his friends and neighbors. Scores of prominent Democrats, however, were present from all parts of the state to add their tribute and listen to the eloquence of their brilliant leaders.

It's Pat's Turn Now.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 17.—Chief of Police Donahue says the next move on the board is up to Pat Crowe in the case in which the alleged kidnaper has attracted so much attention. Practically all the conditions laid down for his surrender have been complied with, and the chief says he expects Crowe to put in an appearance before the last day of the month. The county attorney has agreed to recommend to the court a bond of $500 if Crowe shall give himself up voluntarily, and as this is as near as the condition can be met Chief Donahue says he has done all he can and is now waiting for the result.

A Case of Jersey Justice.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 17.—The jury in the case of Charles Brown, who was placed on trial here Tuesday for the murder of Washington Hunter, a farmer of Riverside, last January, yesterday rendered a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Brown is the second of the quartet implicated in the killing of Mr. Hunter to be convicted, one of his companions, John Young, having recently been found guilty. Otto Kellar turned state's evidence and is awaiting sentence. Charles Miller has not yet been arrested. Brown and Young will be sentenced next Monday.

Four Miners Killed.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 17.—A fall of roof coal caused the death of four men in the Klondike mine of the Delaware and Hudson company at Archbald. They are Patrick Nealon, assistant mine foreman; John Healey, miner; John Kearney, miner, and Matthew Drugher, driver. A car had run down a plane in the mine, jumped the track and knocked out a number of props. The three men, in charge of Foreman Nealon, were replacing the props, when a great slab of rock fell, killing the four instantly.

Indians Want Improvements.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 17.—A delegation of Indians from the Omaha reservation has made a request that Senator Millard have $100,000 of the $500,000 to their credit in the treasury, to be expended on buildings and improvements on the reservation. When the senator told them it could be done only by an act of congress, they requested that the matter be laid before that body.

Extensive Skin Grafting.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—Sixty square inches of cuticle were removed from the body of Mathilda Mitchell at the general hospital and grafted upon her brother's body. The boy was injured in a railway accident, and the skin grafting operation was necessary to save his life. The operation is one of the most extensive ever performed.

ESTIMATES FOR NAVY

Secretary Long Calls For Increased Appropriations.

ALMOST A HUNDRED MILLION NEEDED

It Is Explained That Addition of Battleships Means Increased Cost For Maintenance—Improvements at the New York Navy Yard.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The estimates for the navy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, have been made public at the navy department. The total amount is $98,910,984 against $77,924,535 appropriated for the current year. The chief increases are $2,600,000 for construction, $2,000,000 for armor and $129,355 in the appropriation for yards and docks.

Secretary Long, in speaking of the estimates, said that they were made with a due regard for the needs of the navy and intimated that they had the approval of the administration. He spoke of the increased cost of the navy and said that the building of a battleship costing $5,000,000 was not the end of its expense, as its maintenance was very costly.

These estimates, he said, did not cover any recommendations for increase of the navy over that already authorized, but it is more than likely that the secretary will recommend three new battleships and two armored cruisers and a number of small gunboats.

Among the new items of importance in the estimates are the following:

New battery for the Newark, $175,000; new batteries for the Albany and New Orleans, $200,000; reserve guns for ships of the navy, $500,000; floating drydock at Portsmouth, N. H., $500,000, making the total for that yard $1,644,575, and a total of $1,127,700 for new works at the Charlestown navy yard, which includes a plant for housing and storing torpedo vessels and new buildings.

The estimate for new improvements at the New York navy yard aggregate $3,110,000, which includes $2,000,000 for the purchase of land and $200,000 for barracks for enlisted men.

The new estimated items for the Norfolk yard aggregate $1,208,500, which includes $350,000 for the purchase of land.

The estimates for the naval station at San Juan, Porto Rico, are $2,618,000 and include $1,000,000 for a masonry drydock, $500,000 for the purchase of land, $250,000 for dredging and $200,000 for the extension of coaling facilities. An estimate of $650,000 is made for a plant for housing and storing torpedo vessels at Pensacola, Fla.

An estimate of $108,800 is made for the naval station at Tutuila, Samoa. An estimate of $381,000 is submitted for the Cavite naval station, which includes $200,000 for a refrigerating plant. Estimates are made for a complete naval station at Olongapo, Philippine Islands, amounting to $1,443,000.

Episcopal Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—Considerable routine business was transacted at yesterday's sessions of the triennial Episcopal convention. A new missionary bishop was elected, and in the house of deputies there was an animated debate on the proposition to change the name of the church. This question did not come up as a direct issue, but on a motion to concur with the house of bishops in creating a joint commission, to which the subject should be referred. There was much division of sentiment in regard to the matter. A proposal to refuse to consider the question in any form was strongly supported, but this, it was argued, would fail to show proper respect to the house of bishops. Finally the reference of the subject to a joint committee was agreed upon. No further action will be taken until the meeting of the general convention in 1904.

The Cottage City's Accident.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 17.—The steamer Dolphin has arrived from Lynn canal with news of an accident to the steamship Cottage City Monday morning just before entering Charlotte sound on her downward trip. The Dolphin brought 211 passengers and treasure amounting to nearly $750,000. The Cottage City was disabled by the breaking of her thrust shaft. The sea was quite smooth at the time, and, while the vessel was adrift for twelve hours, there was at no time any great danger. She probably will arrive here today in tow of the Dirigo.

The Leper Settlements of Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—There are now 909 lepers and 164 clean persons at the Molokai leper settlements in Hawaii, according to a report just received from Chief Quarantine Officer Cofer, in charge of the marine hospital service in Hawaii. All these are housed, fed, clothed and governed for $80,000 a year. The report praises the hopeful and cheerful way in which these poor people resign themselves to their fate and points out that such contentment can thrive only on a comfortable mode of life and good treatment.

A Cloud Shooting Congress.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The state department has been informed by United States Consul Lyons, at Covert, France, under date of Aug. 28, that a congress to consider the subject of shooting at clouds to prevent hailstorms will be held in that city on Nov. 15, 16 and 17 next. Everything pertaining to protection against hail and frost will be considered at this congress. Representatives will be present from all parts of Europe, and an earnest invitation is extended to Americans.

What They See.

Plainfield and North Plainfield have today opened their doors to thousands of strangers who have gathered in honor of the parade of the North Plainfield fire department. While it is the borough which has planned and is now carrying out this undertaking, the people of the city have co-operated in every way possible to make it the present success it is. While different organizations are in control on either side of the brook, the spirit of Greater Plainfield prevails.

Besides the two thousand volunteer firemen, who are today guests of the two borough companies, there are thousands of other visitors here to witness the parade and the accompanying display. It is the largest event of that nature which has been given in this vicinity for many a year and the people have flocked from miles around to see. The city and borough are thronged with these crowds of sightseers.

And all these visitors have found something to see beside the parade itself. Here are two communities which cannot be excelled for beauty and other advantages by any in the State. Up-to-date stores, magnificent residences, surrounded by well-kept lawns, well-lighted streets in the best of condition, all these things cannot fail to impress the visitor. And then the brilliant autumn foliage on the countless shade trees, which border the streets throughout the city and borough, forms a fit setting for New Jersey's most attractive city of homes. The imaginary line which serves to separate city from borough is not there for the visitor's eye. It is one great community, Greater Plainfield, all pleasing to the eye and all attractive to the lover of homes.

In all this display the departments of Plainfield and North Plainfield make a showing of which the citizens may well boast. The visitors from other places have come surprised at the departments which are to be found here. It is a fact of which the people of Plainfield may well be proud.

The accident, which occurred on the New Jersey Central Railroad, Tuesday afternoon, was one of the most peculiar on record. It was one which, under the existing conditions, could not be prevented. A pipe on the first of a series of three freight trains broke and the air brakes were instantly set. The other two trains, which were assisting in getting the first up the heavy grade at Fanwood, kept on. The inevitable result was that the combined length of the trains was shortened considerably. The only wonder is that no one was seriously injured.

There are many in Plainfield who will greatly regret to see the departure of Rev. S. P. Simpson from his pastorate at St. Stephen's church. During the last thirteen years he has labored quietly but faithfully and won for himself the highest love and esteem of the members of that parish. Those years of labor have told and a well-earned rest is now needed. He now leaves with the satisfying sense that his work has not been in vain and that his labors have been appreciated.

Although it has not been the custom for the Plainfield fire department to participate in any parades since it was reorganized on a paid basis, the precedent has been broken on this occasion and the "call" members of the Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, of the Plainfield department, turned out this morning for the big firemen's parade in the borough.

It looks as if the ticket for the Assembly to be nominated at the Republican county convention at Elizabeth this afternoon would be William Newcorn, of Plainfield; Frederick Miller, of Elizabeth, and George W. Hall, of Cranford.

There is a time for everything. The day is not far distant when the people of Plainfield will unite in a demand for the installation of water meters. It is the only fair way.

The Plainfield police put a stop to the operations of a clever swindler who was rapidly making a small fortune in his quiet way.

The local Democrats managed to hold their primaries without stirring up any exciting strife.

It is a right royal welcome which has been prepared for the firemen today.

TO MEET SEYMOUR.

Democratic Reception and Mass Meeting at Somerville Tomorrow—Candidates Expected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 17.—The Democratic clans of "Old Somerset" are preparing for a great mass-meeting, which will be held in Germania Hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Arrangements have been made to entertain Hon. James M. Seymour, the candidate for governor, who will hold a reception at The Somerset during the afternoon.

Hon. James E. Martine, the famous "Farmer Orator" of Plainfield, and other prominent Democratic speakers are expected. The county candidates, Samuel S. Childs, C. D. McMurtry and Drs. J. D. TenEyck and F. C. Sutphen, are also billed for speeches.

The Somerset Cornet Band has been hired, and there can be no doubt but that it will be an enthusiastic meeting.

Y. M. C. A. Educational Classes.

The enrollments for the various educational classes at the Y. M. C. A. have about been completed and the sessions are now beginning. The class in stenography taught by Prof. William G. Gamble will hold its first meeting this evening; the first session of the German class will be held tomorrow, and the class in English, taught by Noble C. King, will meet Monday.

Johanna Back Again.

After remaining away for several months, Johanna Haley was again a visitor at this morning's session of the city court. She was found yesterday suffering from the style of paralysis caused by imbibing too much liquid refreshment. City Judge Runyon suspended sentence on Johanna on condition that she return to Westfield where she has been working.

Talking For Democracy.

James E. Martine, of Cedar Brook farm, who, as usual, is on the stump making eloquent speeches in support of the Democratic nominee, addressed the Passaic county Democratic convention at Paterson, Tuesday, on the issues of the campaign. Mr. Martine received the customary ovation which generally greets his appearance.

Well Known Veterans.

Major Jonathan DeCamp, who died at Roseland, Essex county, last Monday, was a widely-known Civil War veteran. He and M. C. Dobbins, of this city, organized Company D, Twenty-sixth New Jersey Volunteers, which was mustered into service at Camp Frelinghuysen, Newark, at the outbreak of the War.

New Delivery Wagon.

Hillier & Company, the West Front street laundry firm, has just added a handsome delivery wagon to its service. The vehicle is painted royal blue and makes a very attractive appearance. The firm is now making a specialty of fine laundry work and is making more improvements to its plant every day.

More Successful Than First.

The second night of the Ladies' Aid Society Fair at the German Reformed church proved to be more successful than Monday evening. Arrangements has been made for the singing section of the Gesang and Turn Verein to furnish vocal music Friday evening.

Gave a Euchre Party.

Mrs. Arthur T. Gallup, of West Front street, entertained a number of friends at her home yesterday afternoon at a euchre party. The company forms a club which meets from time to time at the home of the various members.

Stocking Social.

The Ladies Aid Society, of Hope chapel, will give a stocking social in the chapel tomorrow evening. A pleasing programme has been arranged and at the close, refreshments will be served.

LORD CHARLES BERESFORD.

British Admiral Will Resign His Post to Turn Critic of the Salisbury Government.

Lord Charles Beresford, who, it is said, is about to resign his post as commander of the Mediterranean station of the British navy in order that he may have a free hand to criticise the government's naval and military administration, is perhaps the ablest sailor in Great Britain without any exception. His record in that line is something remarkable for a born peer. Lord Charles, although the marquis of Waterford and the fourth possessor of that high title, has been in the navy since he was 13 and has worked his way up by sheer merit. He has received the gold medal of the Royal Humane society and the Liverpool Shipwreck and Humane society for having on three occasions jumped overboard to save lives at sea. On one of these his pockets were filled with cartridges. He distinguished himself at the bombardment of Alexandria in 1882, July 11, when he was in command of the gunboat Condor. He ran his vessel right under the guns of the fort and engaged them. He likewise assisted the ironclad Temeraire off the shore, where it had struck. Later he helped the khedive to get away and commanded the American and British marines who policed the town after the bombardment. In 1898 and 1899 Lord Charles Beresford made a tour of the east in the interest of the world-trade in China, and on his return passed through the United Sattes, where he was given many flattering receptions in the principal cities en route. He belongs to the oldest and best Norman nobility of England.

member of other military organizations.

He has never held public office and was never a candidate till two years ago, when he was defeated for the gubernatorial nomination by John R. McLean. He has been especially popular among workingmen, and is an honorary member of the Columbus trades and labor assembly. For years he was the next door neighbor of the late Senator Allen G. Thurman and was his close counselor. His father formerly represented the Columbus district in congress and his grandfather was one of the earliest settlers of that city.

One of the most provoking things that can happen to the housewife is to find at meal time that the milk has soured. But that is nothing to the suffering of the children who depend largely on milk for food.

A New Hampshire housekeeper was troubled for several years with biliousness, which often developed into even more serious symptoms. She consulted local physicians, but found their prescriptions gave her little relief. Her son, who had learned the value of Ripans Tabules through the advice of a friend, naturally recommended his favorite remedy to his mother and gave her three bottles of the Tabules. To her great surprise they helped her very much and having continued using them, she now finds, for the first time in five years, she is actually well.

WANTED:—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. The family bottle, 72 tabules, for 60 cents, may be had by forwarding to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

DRESS TRIMMINGS.

They Are Fewer In Number, but More Striking.

Dress trimmings are fewer in number and more striking than they have been this summer. Often a skirt is only trimmed with two immensely wide bands of lace, and to give the fullness required around the bottom a gored ruffle is joined on invisibly under the second band of lace. The same effect can be carried out in stitched shapings of the cloth. It is rumored that heavier silks and brocades are to be used this winter, but they will be lightened by chiffon ruffles and incrustations of beautifully fine lace.

Sleeves are steadily growing larger, although leaders of fashion declare that women will never return to the huge puff. One of the newest imported gowns shows sleeves of accordion plaited chiffon held in at equal intervals by two wide bands of Persian embroidery. With the increases in the size of sleeves, hats are becoming larger and skirts measure more around the bottom.

In today's picture we have a pretty bathrobe of pale blue woollen stuff. It is made with a slightly draped front and a fichu effect, composed of a stitched white cape and edged by two bias ruffles. These ruffles are edged with an appliqued design in narrow Persian braid, which terminates in a big rosette of the braid and long tasseled ends. The sleeves are made in the bishop style, with turnover cuffs made after the fashion of the collar.

ACCORDION PLAITED GOWNS

The Evils of the Straight Front Corset.

Accordion plaited gowns are the fashion with the smart set. These dainty little dresses are made of woolen batiste or crepe de chine, and they are embellished by boleros and deep yokes of yellow lace. Often the sleeves are made of the transparent lace, and there is a sash belt of it also.

The straight front corset is responsible for many evils, so say the doctors, and especially do they condemn the fashion of wearing stocking supporters from the front of the corset. Women are beginning to find out, to their cost, that these elastic supporters are constantly drawing them forward and that as a result they are losing their erect carriage and straight backs.

A handsome gown for dinner wear is of gray silk veiling over white taffeta. The waist has a bolero made of very wide bands of yellow insertion, through which a scarf of black chiffon is run. This scarf forms a rosette near the left shoulder, with accordion plaited ends. The long sleeves terminate with a puff of the lace, through which the chiffon is again passed. The skirt is made very long and trailing. It is laid in fine tucks at the waist line, and the accordion plaited flounce is headed by the same wide yellow insertion, through which another black chiffon scarf is passed, terminating high up on the right side of the skirt in a huge rosette and long, plaited ends.

"Few, truly, but what they are they are powerful. I was given the name for the first time yesterday, and as a first blow in the campaign there was some mischief done in the city. I was there myself, and saw how you took it."

"You were in Atlantis!"

"I went for Nais. She is on the mountain now, and to-morrow will be my queen. Tatho, as a priest to a priest, let me solemnly bring to your memory the infinite power you bite against on this Sacred Mountain. Your teaching has warned you of the weapons that are stored in the Ark of the Mysteries. If you persist in this attack, at the best you can merely lose; at the worst you can bring about a wreck over which even the high gods will shudder as they order it."

"You cannot scare us back now by words," said Tatho, doggedly. "And as for magic, it will be met by magic. Phorenice has found by her own cleverness as many powers as were ever stored up in the Ark of the Mysteries."

"Yet she looked on helplessly enough last night, when her royal pyramid was trundled into a rubbish heap. Zaemon had prophesied that this should be so, and for a witness, why, I myself stood closer to her than we two stand now, and saw her."

"I will own you took her by surprise somewhat there. I do not understand these matters myself; I was never more than one of the seven in the old days; and now, quite rightly, Phorenice keeps the knowledge of her magic to herself; but it seems time is needed when one magic is to be met by another."

"Well," I said, "I know little about the business either. I leave these matters now to those who are higher above me in the priesthood. Indeed, having a liking for Nais, it seems I am debarred from ever being given understanding about the highest of the high mysteries. So I content myself with being a soldier, and when the appointed day comes, I shall fall and kiss my mother the earth for the last time. You, so I am told, have ambition for longer life."

He nodded. "Phorenice has found the Great Secret, and I am to be the first that will share it with her. We shall be as gods upon the earth, seeing that death will be powerless to touch us. And the twin sons she has borne me will be made immortal also."

"Phorenice is headstrong. No, my lord, there is no need to shake your head and try to deny it. I have had some sequaintance with her. But the order has been made, and her immortality will be snatched from from her very rudely. Now mark solemnly my words. I, Deucalion, have been appointed king of Atlantis by the high council of the priests who are the mouthpiece of the most high gods, and if I do not have my reign, then there will be no Atlantis left to carry either king or empress. You know me, Tatho, for a man that never lies."

He nodded.

"Then save yourself before it is too late. You shall have again your viceroyalty in Yucatan."

"But, man, there is no Yucatan. A great horde of little hairy creatures, that were something less than human and something more than beasts, swept down upon our cities and ate them out. Oh, you may sneer if you choose. Others sneered when I came home, till the empress stopped them. But you know what a train of driver-ants is that you meet with in the forests? You may light fires across their path, and they will march into them in their blind bravery, and put them out with their bodies, and those that are left will march on in an unbroken column, and devour all that stands in their path. I tell you, my lord, those little hairy creatures were like ants—aye, for numbers and wooden bravery, as well as for appetite. As a result, today there is no Yucatan."

"You shall have Egypt, then."

He burst at me hotly. "I would not take seven Egypts and ten Yucatans. My lord, you think more poorly of me than is kind when you ask me to become a traitor. In your place would you throw your Nais away if the doing it would save you from a danger?"

"That is different."

"In no degree. You have a kindness for her. I have all that and more for Phorenice, who is, besides, my wife and the mother of my children. If I have qualms—and I freely confess I know you are desperate men up there, and have dreadful powers at your command—my shiverings are for them and not for myself. But I think, my lord, this parley is leading to nothing, and though these common soldiers here will understand little enough of our talk, they may be picking up a word here and there, and I do not wish them to go on to their death (as you will see them do shortly) and carry evil reports about me to whatever gods they chance to come before."

He saluted me with his sword and drew back, and once more the missiles began to fly, and the doomed wretches who had been halting beside the steep rock walls of the pass began once more to press hopelessly forward. They had scaling-ladders certainly, but they had no chance of getting these planted. They could do naught but fill the narrow way with their bodies, and to that end they had been sent, and to that end they humbly died. Our priests with crow and lever wrenched from their lodging-places the great rocks which had been made ready, and sent them crashing down, so that once more screams filled the pass, and the horrid butchery was renewed.

But ever and again some arrow, or some slingstone, or some fire-tube's dart would find its way up from below and through the defenses, and there we would be with a man the less to carry on the fight. It was well enough for Phorenice to be lavish with her troops; indeed, if she wished for success, there were no two ways for it; and when those she had levied were killed, she could readily press others into the service, seeing that she had the whole broad face of the country under her rule. But with us it was different. A man down on our side was a man whose arm would bitterly be missed, and one which could in no possible way be replaced.

I made calculation of the chances, and saw clearly that if we continued the fight on the present plan, they would storm the gates one after another as they came to them, and that by the time the uppermost gate was reached there would be no priest alive to defend it. And so, not disdaining to fashion myself on Phorenice's newer plan, which held that a general should at times in preference plot coldly from a place of some safety, and not lead the thick of the fighting, I left those who stood to the gate with some rough soldier's words of cheer, and withdrew again up the narrow stair of the pass.

WISE WHITE HOUSE EMPLOYE.

Does Quite a Profitable Business in Disposing of Kittens of the Official Cat.

Evidences of prosperity exhibited by one of the colored employes of the white house, best known as George, have made him the envy of his associates. He recently appeared in a new suit of "store clothes."

When they saw him bring a little kitten into the white house the other day, says a correspondent of the Toledo Blade, and subsequently hand the little pet over to a fashionably attired lady who was riding in a trap the secret came out.

Not long since the official white house cat gave birth to 12 kittens—an even dozen and no more. The old cat and her family were in George's keeping. When the event became known in official and social circles there was a great demand for kittens born beneath the roof of the executive mansion.

Learning that George was their keeper, society girls sought him out and each wanted the prettiest one in the lot. Each was promised the "prettiest" one. When a dozen customers had been supplied the demand was as great as ever.

As some of the kittens had brought as high as five dollars each, George could not think of retiring from the cat business. He went among his friends in South Washington and discovered other kittens. They were just as pretty as the white house ones and passed readily for the genuine article. When a customer was to be supplied George would take one of the South Washington born kittens to the white house and from there deliver it to the fair one. It may never be known how many kittens are being tenderly cared for about the city and pointed to as having been born in the white house. Nor will it ever be known just how much revenue the cat industry forced upon the colored employe yielded him.

MUST DO THEIR WORK WELL.

Incompetent Dentists Are Liable to Damages for Their Bungling Work.

The courts are taking cognizance of the competency or incompetency of professional men. A short time ago a New York tribunal held that a physician was liable for unskillful or negligent treatment of a patient and now the court of appeals of that state has rendered a decision holding a corporation liable for unskillful dental work. This corporation, according to the complaint, represented that it carried on the practice of dentistry in connection with its other departments. The plaintiff, a woman, having undergone treatment, sued for alleged resultant injury and received a verdict.

Apparently the defense of the corporation was that the dental business was not, in fact, carried on by it, but was owned by the dentist. But the court held that the company, having held itself out as carrying on a dental department, and the plaintiff having been ignorant of the fact that the company was not the real owner of the dental department, the corporation was estopped from making such a denial. For, under the circumstances, the court said that the plaintiff had a right to rely not only on the presumption that the company would employ a skillful dentist as its servant, but also on the fact that if that servant, the dentist, whether skillful or not, was guilty of any malpractice, she had a responsible party to answer therefor in damages.

GOT TOO FOND OF WINE.

So This Southern Gentleman Destroyed One of the Finest Vineyards in the South.

A gentleman who lives on the north side of the county, at the foot of the Peaks of Otter, recently destroyed what was one of the finest vineyards in the county, says the Bedford (Va.) Democrat. The vineyard was composed of about 1,000 healthy bearing vines of different varieties of fine grapes. For several years past, being unable to market the fruit at a profit, the owner has been turning his grape crop into wine, making sometimes as much as 1,000 gallons of fine wine in a season. Having a great quantity of wine and being endowed with that hospitality characteristic of old Bedford, he dealt it out very freely to his family and neighbors. The habit of imbibing grew on him, on his family, and on his neighbors, until, as he expressed it, "the thing got to be a nuisance," and the only way to get rid of what seemed to him to threaten the vitals of his family and the entire neighborhood was to get rid of his vineyard, so he went to work and destroyed the finest vineyard in the county.

Veritable Lions in a Salon.

At the Comtesse de Greffelhu's reception at Paris, when the music and singing had ended, two young lions entered the saloon dragging a car decked with lilies and roses. It is a remarkable fact that they frightened nobody, but called forth the guests' unanimous applause. They were brought recently to France by Prince d'Arenburg, who was participating in the Paris-Berlin race and did not witness their triumph.

The Value of Shocked Nerves.

According to a legal decision in the Vienna courts "shock to the nerves" constitutes a serious accident, writes a Vienna correspondent. A passenger on a local line claimed damages, which were awarded him, for a shock to his nerves, caused by the conductor shouting out to the passengers to jump off the car as he feared a collision.

CITY DECORATIONS.

Some of the Best to Be Seen on the City Streets This Morning.

Not to be outdone by their competitors over the brook, the Plainfield merchants have been vieing with each other in draping their places of business with appropriate bunting. The result has been a most pleasing one. Nearly every large building on the prominent streets has been transformed into holiday attire with flags, bunting, shields and welcoming signs to the visiting firemen.

Some of the most prettily decorated are the Hotel Kensington, Hotel Plainfield, I. H. Boehm, Crosby & Hill, Woodhull & Martin, Hotel Imperial, J. W. VanSickle, C. E. Hepburn, James R. Blair, Eugene Laine, Hotel Waldorf, Vail & Gardner, B. F. Fowler, J. A. Blatz, W. W. Warnock, John Wirth, L. W. Randolph, H. M. Sherwin and Putnam & DeGraw.

Work Commenced.

Work has been commenced on the manufacture of the two-color press at the plant of the Aluminum Press Company, and it is expected that the full force of employes will be at work by the last of this week. There may be some difficulty in getting men as several of the old men have left the city to accept positions elsewhere.

Talented Humorist.

"Von Boyle," the talented humorist will appear at an entertainment to be given in the Park Avenue Baptist church, Thursday evening, October 22. In addition to this feature, a series of novel and interesting pictures will be given, including the last speech of President McKinley.

Transferred to Buffalo.

W. L. Loeser, of this city, who is associated with the International Correspondence Schools at Scranton, has been transferred to Buffalo, where he will hold the position of supervisor for the schools in that part of New York State.

Period of Mourning Over.

The time of mourning over the death of President McKinley having elapsed the drapings about the city are being removed. The flags have also been taken down.

Democratic City Convention.

The Democratic city convention will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Justice Moffett's office on Central avenue, corner of West Second street.

ORGANIZED CHARITY IN PLAINFIELD REVIEWED.

Annual Meeting of the Charity Organized Aid Association Held Last Evening.

ADDRESS ON PUBLIC BATHS.

H. M. MAXSON SUCCEEDS REV. C. KENNEDY NEWELL AS PRESIDENT.

Chief Feature of the Meeting Was a Talk By Frank Tucker, of New York, on Important Question of a Public Bath.

The annual meeting of the Charity Organized Aid Association was held last evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, with a good attendance. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, as president, called the meeting to order.

The report of the treasurer, Boardman Wright, showed a balance on hand December 13, 1900, of $374.41. The receipts during the year were $822.16, which includes $35 from three churches, $50 from charity dramatics, and the various amounts from the class subscribers. The expenses were $560 and there is a balance of cash on hand of $321.56.

In connection with this report the report of the finance committee, presented by E. H. Ladd, Jr., chairman, that while there is a balance on hand and no outstanding bills, the figures of cash receipts are between $50 and $60 less than formerly.

In the absence of Mrs. Tiffany, Howard O. Tracy read her report as chairman of the co-operation committee, showing that out of twenty-three churches and twelve societies represented only sixteen churches and nine societies are contributing and co-operating. Mr. Tracy also read the report of Miss Florence Tweedy, chairman of the employment committee. This report showed that many persons had secured employment. Rev. A. C. Nickerson, as chairman of the district committee, presented an interesting report showing that men, women and children are securing relief as needed through the regular channels.

Miss Van Boskerck, as agent for the society, gave a report of the number of applicants for relief and work. There were 531 applications for information and investigation, and the agent made 850 calls. Six children were taken from improper surroundings and placed in good homes. She mentioned public baths, manual training schools, a park and a day nursery, as some of the things needed in this city.

A committee, consisting of E. H. Ladd, Jr., and Howard O. Tracy, was appointed a committee to consider the names of officers for the ensuing year. They reported the following names of persons, who were elected: President, H. M. Maxson; vice-presidents, Charles W McCutchen, John Doul Miller, Mrs. J. K. Myers; secretary, William S. Tyler; treasurer, Boardman Wright.

Mr. Newell, in retiring as president, made a few pleasant remarks, after which he introduced the new president. At the suggestion of Mr. Miller a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Newell.

Much interest was centered in the address of the evening by Frank Tucker, a special agent of the association for the improvement of the poor in New York, who gave a talk on public baths. He spoke of the public baths in New York especially. He advocated the employment of a first-class architect and the best material. It should be strictly sanitary, with divisions of white marble. For the floors he favored hard white tile. He laid much stress on the fact of having the right kind of administration. He believed the bath should be a social centre by making a reading room of the waiting room. He said that he favored the plan of charging something for the baths as he had found that people as a rule do not like to be looked upon as charity objects.

After the talk, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards offered a motion that the question of public baths be referred to the executive committee and that a report be made at a future meeting.

Engaged as City Missionaries.

The Plainfield Ministers' Association has engaged Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor as city missionaries. They will work under the direction of the association and in harmony with the various churches.

Eighteen at Hospital.

There are at present eighteen patients at Muhlenberg Hospital and all are improving.

THE ENDING OF AN EVENTFUL DAY FOR THE NORTH PLAINFIELD FIRE LADDIES.

How the Many Invited Guests Were Cared For After the Parade Was Over Until They Left For Home.

DINNER WAS SERVED TO OVER FIFTEEN HUNDRED.

BOTH WEST END AND WARREN COMPANIES PROVED TO BE GENEROUS HOSTS.

Open House at the Manhattan Hotel and a Grand Ball at Saengerbund Were the Evening's Attractions—Some of the Best Decorations Along the Line of March.

The laurels are due the fire department men of North Plainfield. They set out to hold an affair which would furnish enjoyment to themselves and their visitors and at the same time reflect credit on the department and add history to the borough. The West End Hose Company and the Warren Engine Company strove to entertain the several thousand guests in the municipality and it seemed that nothing more could be done by them to increase the enjoyment which was afforded to the visitors.

The parade was witnessed by thousands of people who came from every quarter of northern New Jersey. The sidewalks along the route were crowded with people, most of whom demonstrated their approval by continued outburst of applause. The particularly attractive part was the fine drilling of the companies. Warren caught the public eye in this respect, while the laddies from Washington, Elizabeth and elsewhere came in for a good share of attention.

Another good thing was the music. Ben LaVere was in his element for he knew the crowd "was with him." Drake's Zouave, the Raritan Military, Schwartz's of Rahway, the Stroudsburg (Pa.) City and other bands made a good impression along the route.

As to who was in the line and full particulars of the entire parade, enough was said in yesterday's Daily Press, which by the way furnished the people with all the news of the march a full hour before the paraders broke ranks. It was 3 o'clock when the parade was over.

Immediately after the breaking of ranks at the conclusion of the long line of march Warren Engine Company escorted its guests to Saengerbund Hall, while the West End members performed a similar duty for the companies in their care, taking them to the Manhattan Hotel. At each place an immense spread had been prepared which disappeared rapidly before the voracious appetites whetted by the three hours of steady marching.

At Saengerbund Hall seats were made ready for 800 diners and these were filled within a few moments after the doors were opened. The repast provided by William W. Warnock was an excellent one. The menu included roast beef, ham, chicken and potato salads, pork and beans, corned beef, pickles, tea biscuits, fruit, cake and coffee.

There were still 200 waiting for seats when the first diners were seated and on this account no speeches were made by the prominent guests present, everybody settling down to the task of doing justice to the viands. There were just a few short of 1,000 fed by Warren.

At the Manhattan Hotel, there was ample room at the beginning for the 500 guests of West End Hose Company, and considerable time was devoted to impromptu addresses. Mine Host Gracely had outdone himself in spreading the festive board. Among the good things provided were turkey, chicken and potato salad, roast and corned beef, ham, mixed pickles, sandwiches, celery, coffee and cigars.

Foreman Lawrence Peterson acted as toastmaster, and called upon the various guests present for speeches. These were given by Mayor Carpenter and Chief Dunn, of Boonton, ex-Mayor Powers, of Boonton, Mayor Wilcox, of Summit, and James E. Martine, the silver-tongued orator of Cedar Brook Farm, who, as usual, made a rousing address.

In behalf of the members of the West End Company, he welcomed the visitors, and extended them an invitation to visit the borough and city at their leisure after the repast. Combining both, he said, there was no prettier city in the State, while its fire department was the handsomest and most thoroughly equipped. On this day, especially, it was at its best; and, with its beautiful trimmings and marching men, it was a time for sight-seeing.

"While I am not a fireman myself," said Mr. Martine, "I am greatly indebted to this organization of men for the retaining of my home. When threatened with destruction by fire it was they who saved it and I have always been grateful for their self-sacrifice in my behalf. But it is not only my property which they seek to save, but everyone's. They are constantly on the alert, but a fireman, no matter where he be located, could not be half so efficient were it not for the society which he is permitted to enjoy, such as that of today. It aids him in his profession by diverting his mind from the more dangerous duties of saving life and property."

Mr. Martine then spoke of the excellency of the American fire fighters and their superiority over those in other and older countries. He referred to the achievements of the Kansas City department at the Paris Exposition when they captured the prizes for the international exhibition, defeating the crack companies from England and France. He was especially proud of this feat, he said, inasmuch as he predicted it when speaking in Kansas City several months before, and also that a Plainfielder, Auguste Saltzman, was delegate there and assisted in the winning.

In conclusion Mr. Martine complimented the local company and their guests on their orderly bearing during the entire day. In all his experience, he said, he had never seen so large a crowd acquit itself in a more befitting manner.

Following Mr. Martine's speech others were made by several of the guests after which all adjourned to Saengerbund Hall. The out-of-town fire laddies roamed about the city, taking in the sights.

Warren kept open house as did also the departments on the city side of the brook where visitors were made welcome and shown about by the members of the paid department. Many of the companies remained together and amused the crowd until late in the evening. One of the fife and drum corps from Elizabeth, discarded their instruments and visiting a local store, purchased toy flutes and tiny drums with which they paraded about the streets. Another good natured crowd of fifers gathered a number of little darkies together and while some played lively jigs, others would start a dancing contest and distribute pennies among the winners. The fun was witnessed by large crowds.

As evening came on the jollifications seemed to increase. The borough streets were filled with people from out of town. There was no lack of courteous treatment accorded the guests by the men of Warren Engine Company and the West End Hose Company. The hospitality shown was of the kind that made the visitors feel like coming again. The West End boys retained the Manhattan Hotel as their headquarters until after midnight. There they entertained all who put in an appearance. The dining room was open to any one that felt hungry in the least. Detachments of West End laddies escorted their visitors to the various places of interest in both city and borough.

A ball was a feature of the evening on the Warren Engine Company programme. It was held in Saengerbund Hall and proved to be a success in every respect. At 8 o'clock the first of the dancers entered the hall. An hour later the room presented a gay scene. Ben LaVere's orchestra occupied the stage and the programme of waltz music was exceptionally good. As the night bore on the number of people increased largely. Down in the basement where the refreshments were served the jam of people made the service slow but all were attended to as quickly as possible. It was 1 o'clock this morning when the orchestra struck up the closing selection and not until then did the happy throng show a disposition to disperse.

A remarkable feature of the evening hours was the fact that, despite the large crowds on the thoroughfares, there were very few persons objectionably noisy. Not one disturbance of any moment marred the pleasantness of the night hours. There was lots of fun making and good natured shouting, but the great majority of the visitors were men of a superior order and no rowdyism would be tolerated by them.

Everywhere there was a conspicuous display of bright colored bunting, flags and emblems. As a tribute to the borough many residents and business places adorned their buildings. There appeared to be a very little on the cheap order, a large majority spending money and time in properly adorning their places. A noticable fact was that, although two years ago the residences in the western section of North Plainfield, known as Washington Park, failed to decorate their homes, this year there was considerable display.

Passing up Somerset street, the visitor was attracted by the elaborate designs which graced French's carriage emporium, Keller's store, Smith's shop, the Borough Council chamber, John P. Powers' drug store, the Phineas M. French residence, the homes of Dr. P. J. Zaglio and Dr. Albert Pittis, the Crescent Hotel, Emory's store, Saengerbund Hall, Warren Engine house, which had a splendid painting, life-size, of a steamer company responding to an alarm, the stores of J. J. Stahl, J. K. Arnold, W. L. Smalley, Jr., Charles W. Tallman, the shop of L. Rosenstiehl, the Somerset street public school house, the Somerset Hotel, as well as the Manhattan Hotel and Currin's store.

On Grandview avenue the house of Alonzo Brokaw attracted favorable attention. At the second story was a figure of a fireman, represented as about to enter through a window. A fire bell in a conspicuous spot was rung continuously. J. J. Stahl had placed a dummy firemen on his residence, the figure was arranged in the act of blowing a trumpet.

The homes of L. B. Bodine and George H. Fairchild on the same thoroughfare were also prettily decorated. F. M. Lunger, Horace Martin, Robert Fountain and W. F. Williams had neat decorations on their homes on Jackson avenue. A capital design was that arranged by Frank Schuck on the front of his home on Vine street. Two ladders and hooks were crossed, with lines of hose run up the rounds and in the middle was a bell, which was sounded frequently. Another noticable decoration was William Krauese's.

The Carney Brothers, Andrew and John, on Lincoln place, erected a pair of arches, entirely of tin pipe. In the middle at the top was a dummy fireman. The idea was a good one and was cleverly executed. Borough Recorder Thomas Dowd did not fail to elaborately adorn his home on Duer street.

James Lewis, of Grove street; Chas. W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue; Mayor N. B Smalley, of Mercer avenue; B. A. Hegeman, of Seymore avenue; State Senator Charles A. Reed and B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Myrtle avenue; George F Brown, of Grove street; Dr. H. J. Buchanan and Geo. Stewart, of Duer street; W. L. Smalley, Sr., of Craig place; Mark Lees and Frank Kesselring, of Chatham street; J. K Arnold and C H. Stahl, of Manning avenue; Dr. J. H. Cooley, of Westervelt avenue, and L. B. Wocliston, of Fairview avenue, all had neat decorations on their residences.

In the city there were numerous decorations of attractive designs. A list of the more elaborate ones was contained in yesterday's Daily Press.

Will be Operated On.

Albert Hoebius, the Liberty street barber, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday for the purpose of having an operation performed on his throat.

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS COMPLETE THEIR TICKETS FOR UNION COUNTY.

County Conventions of Both Parties Were Held at the County Seat in Elizabeth Yesterday Afternoon.

THREE NAMED FOR ASSEMBLY AND A CORONER.

DEMOCRATS HAD A LITTLE SURPRISE IN STORE.

Chas. L. Moffett, Chas. Sulzer and Geo. H. Vanderveer Were Named for Assembly by Democrats.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 18—A large attendance, plenty of enthusiasm, and considerable harmony were the three characteristics of the Democratic convention of Union county, yesterday afternoon, which nominated a ticket, composed of the younger blood in the party, for the coming election. Charles L. Moffett, a young lawyer of Plainfield; Charles A. Sulzer, of Elizabeth, a brother of Congressman William Sulzer, of New York, and George H. Vanderveer, of Rahway, were selected as assembly candidates and Thomas F. Walsh, of Rahway, was selected as the party's choice for coroner.

The convention was called to order shortly before 4 o'clock, in the Zouave Hall, by the chairman and W. E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, was selected as permanent chairman. James J. Manning was chosen secretary. In taking the chair, Mr. Tuttle referred to the fact that the Union county Democracy and the Democracy of the State at large is without factional strife. Andrew Nolan, of Plainfield, was named by the chair as a member of the committee on credentials.

The platform presented by the committee appointed was adopted with considerable applause. Among other matters it ratifies the State platform; pledges hearty support to the gubernatorial nominee; condemns the fee system; arraigns the present State administration as one guided by extreme partisan interests; attacks the action of the Republican legislature in abolishing the spring elections, and condemns the extravagance of the Republican administration.

The convention proceeded to nominate candidates for the Assembly. Sulzer was named by Edward Nugent, of Elizabeth; Vanderveer by Josephus Shann, of Rahway, and Moffett by Walter Hetfield, of Plainfield. All were elected by acclamation.

Dr. Walsh was nominated by acclamation as the choice for coroner.

As soon as the ticket was named, a committee appointed by the chair escorted the nominees present to the platform. Mr. Sulzer was first introduced. He delivered a ringing address, in which he claimed that the party in power is on the defensive, and the attacks on it will result with telling effect on election day. He declared that the administration had made bad and partisan laws, and that some of them have been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. In its recklessness, said he, the Republicans have overlooked the fact that the State has a constitution and a Supreme Court. He promised, if elected, to aid in the passage of only such acts as would be for the benefit of the whole people. Mr. Vanderveer also made a few remarks, mostly of a witty nature. Both speakers were liberally applauded.

Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., of Plainfield, was appointed one of a committee of three to fill vacancies.

Invitations to Be Issued Soon.

Members of the Retail Clerks' Association will soon issue invitations to a dance to be given soon in the Camera Club rooms.

Rally Service.

The Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a rally service this evening and all are cordially invited.

—Neuman Brothers will place on sale tomorrow another consignment of choice table and canning apples including northern spies, Baldwins and snows.

THE EXPECTED HAPPENED AMONG REPUBLICANS.

The Republican Nominees Were William Newcorn, William F. Hall and Frederick Miller.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 18—It was not until the balloting began at the county convention that the friends of Assemblyman Ellis B. Meeker, of this city, would admit themselves beaten in the attempt to secure his renomination at the hands of the Union county Republicans. Then it was seen that the combination of Frederick Miller, of Elizabeth, William Newcorn, of Plainfield, and William F. Hall, of Cranford, was the winning one and the rest of the delegates tumbled over each other trying to catch up with the band wagon.

It was not until 3:25 o'clock that Hamilton F. Kean, chairman of the county committee, stepped to the front of the stage and called the convention to order. He introduced Surrogate Geo. F. Parrott as the temporary chairman who made a short speech.

On a motion made by Andrew McCardell, Chairman Parrott appointed as secretaries J. T. MacMurray, of Plainfield, Charles E. Reed, of Rahway and Smiley Tucker, of Elizabeth. Wm. N. Runyon, of Plainfield, brought up the appointment of committees and the chairman was instructed to appoint them. He did so, the Plainfield delegates thus honored being W. T. Kirk, rules; Clarence L. Murphy, credentials; Marion S. Ackerman, resolutions.

A recess of fifteen minutes was taken to allow the committees to get in their work, and then the convention reassembled. After the temporary organization had been made permanent, Secretary MacMurray read the call. The committee on credentials had no contests to report, and the committee on rules presented the rules of the last convention, with a few minor modifications.

George P. Matthews, of Elizabeth, chairman of the committee on resolutions, read the resolutions prepared. There was the usual reference to the late President, an endorsement of national and state government, and praise for Franklin Murphy, candidate for governor.

Chairman Parrott put aside the regular course of proceedings to call attention to the project of the young Republicans of Elizabeth to form a McKinley Club, with membership open to all Union county.

Mr. Matthews had a resoludon of sympathy for Gen. Sewell. City Judge Wm. N. Runyon, of Plainfield, sprang to his feet and called for three cheers for Gen. Sewell, which were given with a will.

Next came the call of wards for nominations of three members of the Assembly. John D. Barr, of the First ward, of Elizabeth, presented the name of Frederick Miller.

The chairman of the Second ward delegation had seconded the nomination of Mr. Miller when Daniel Fallon, another delegate from that ward, upset the programme planned out by the leaders. In a burning speech he made a vigorous plea in behalf of Ellis B. Meeker. It was received with wild applause by the friends of the Assemblyman.

In a neat little speech City Judge Runyon, as chairman of the entire Plainfield delegation, presented the name of Wm. Newcorn, referring to him as one of the most loyal and earnest workers in Plainfield. Geo. Williamson, of Union, presented the name of Wm. F. Hall, of Cranford. The name of Assemblyman Chester M.

FOUR FELL VICTIMS TO POLICE DRAGNET.

Aftermath of the Firemen's Celebration as Found in the City Court This Morning.

ALL DRANK TOO DEEPLY.

ELIZABETH HOTEL-KEEPER HAD AN ENCOUNTER WITH A HACKMAN.

One Man Courted Death by Sleeping on the Railroad Tracks—Another Man Fell Through a Big Show Window.

Out of all the participants in the firemen's informal jubilee held about the city streets last evening, but four fell into the meshes of the police dragnet. Of these but one was a visiting firemen, while the others were not members of any company, but simply taking part in the general jollification.

William Lowerie, an Elizabeth hotel-keeper, was the out-of-town man. In the course of a dispute with Hackman Con Guinee, the Jehu struck him across the face with a whip. The visitor then went in search of a policeman, and, in making a complaint to Patrolman Lunger, bet that official $1,000 to $1, that he couldn't arrest him. Lunger didn't take the bet, but took Lowerie. In court this morning, City Judge Runyon let him go, with a suspended sentence.

George Gardner, an old offender, was found on Park avenue, at midnight, hopelessly drunk. He went to jail for twenty days, instead of paying $5.

Wm. Perrine, of Manson place, was inviting death by laying on the Watchung avenue railroad bridge at 2 o'clock this morning, completely paralyzed. He didn't have $3 and went to Elizabeth for ten days.

Frank Schuck looked through the bottom of glasses all day yesterday and last evening fell through the window of a local drug store. He will be tried this evening. The glass he shattered was worth $14.

The cases of Wm. Callahan, Thomas Burns and Frank Miller, hackmen, will be heard Saturday morning.

TO INSPECT OTHER SCHOOLS.

Teachers in Borough Public Schools Will Visit Other Cities.

A number of the teachers of the North Plainfield schools will commence the regular inspection tours next week. The idea is to visit other schools and learn desirable facts in connection with methods in vogue. Monday Miss Gertrude Snodgrass will visit Vassar and Tuesday she will inspect the Poughkeepsie High School.

Miss Myrtle Montague will visit the commercial department of the Asbury Park and Long Branch High Schools Thursday and Friday. Miss Elizabeth Kiernan will also be at these schools on the same days. Robert Sander has planned to spend Monday and Tuesday at the Pratt Institute, in Brooklyn, and also the East Orange, the Orange and the Montclair High Schools.

Fell While Parading.

William Krewson, of Manning avenue, while marching in the firemen's parade yesterday fell unconscious on Liberty street near Front street. He was speedily driven to his home in a hose wagon, Dr. J. H. Buchanan accompanied him. On the way home he was taken with convulsions. This morning Mr. Krewson is reported to be improving.

Old Resident of Somerset Dead.

Peter Q. Merrill, father of Mrs. John Whitenack, of this city, and one of the best known residents of Somerset county, died at his home in East Millstone, Tuesday, following a long illness. He was seventy-nine years of age and had lived near East Millstone all his life. He was a member of the Reformed church at that place.

Funeral of Alfred Underhill.

The funeral services of Alfred Underhill, of Watchung, were held yesterday forenoon at the Friends' meeting house on Watchung avenue. Remarks were made by Mr. Haynes, of New York, and W. W. Williams, of this city. The interment took place in the Friends' cemetery in Prospect Park, Brooklyn.

REPUBLICANS COMPLETE THEIR COUNTY TICKET.

Smith, of Westfield, was placed before the convention by James O Clark, of that township. Fanwood township presented the name of Geo. Ball, of that township.

When the call for the vote began, it looked at first as if Meeker might have some show. Then Plainfield's fifty votes and Rahway's twenty votes were thrown for Miller and that settled it. Even with them, however, Meeker could not have won. Before the secretaries could count the vote, all the delegations changed their votes for the winning candidates and, on a motion by City Judge Runyon, of Plainfield, the secretary cast a ballot for Newcorn, Hall and Miller.

After Dr. Horace R. Livingood, of Elizabeth, had been nominated for coroner, the candidates appeared before the convention and made brief speeches.

A Longer Stay.

It was expected that Rev. T. L Murphy, who has been acting rector of the American Church in Paris, would return home this month. He has changed his plans as the parishioners want him to remain longer. He will probably reach home about December 1.

* * * * * *

It was only last week that an armed truce was patched up in the Reed-Thompson feud, which has threatened to annihilate the Republican party in Somerset. At the primaries Newton B. Smalley elected delegates to give him the nomination for sheriff. There was such a strong opposition to him, however, that he retired in the interest of harmony, and Thomas Douglass, a Bernardsville farmer, was named as a compromise. Yesterday Smalley was asked what the opposition to him had been.

"Some people thought I was getting too ambitious," he explained. "They argued that I was Mayor of North Plainfield, and that was honor enough for any man."—Newark News.

TEA TABLE TALK

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

William Perrin, a carrier for The Daily Press, secured an excellent picture Tuesday evening of the new hose wagon recently built for the West End Hose Company by W. J. Conroy. It was taken with a 4x5 camera which young Perrin won in a competition conducted by The Daily Press.

A few days ago a member of the Audubon Society walked into one of Plainfield's large stores and informed the proprietor that unless he removed several sea gulls from his show window he would enter a complaint and have him fined $25 for each bird displayed. It is needless to say the proprietor complied with the request quickly. It appears that it is against the law to sell sea gulls for millinery trimming or other similar use.

Regarding the question of divorce which is being so widely discussed by the clergymen of the Episcopal church, Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector of Grace P. E. church, in a conversation a few days ago, quoted Rev. Charles Holland Kidder, a well-known divine, who spoke on the subject of divorce at a meeting held at Ocean Grove soon after President McKinley's death. Mr. Rodmen was present at the meeting. Mr. Kidder stated that during the past twenty years there had been granted 338,000 divorces in the United States, according to a report made to Congress. In Pierce, Washington State, 150 divorces were granted in thirteen months during 1892 1893. In New York last spring there were eighty divorces granted at one sitting of the court, an average of one case every seven minutes. Mr Rodman is very pronounced in his opinion against divorce and hopes that Congress will adopt some measure making divorce less easy to obtain.

THE TROLLEY FUND.

Over 800 Tickets Were Distributed By the Relief Association Last Summer.

Those who generously contributed in the summer to the trolley fund to give rides to the beneficiaries of the Relief Association, will be glad to know the results of the good work. It was truly a great success, and gave much enjoyment to many, who otherwise had little if any opportunity for change and recreation. The contributions in money for rides amounted to $39 for the purchase of more than 800 tickets.

Discrimination was used in the distribution of these tickets, so that they should be given where most needed. The fact was recognized that indiscriminate giving to those who could by effort procure the tickets would be harmful rather than beneficial, and subversive of the first principles of organized charities, viz. the fostering of independence and self help.

The recipients of the tickets were old people and little children, specially those who were sick, and mothers upon whom came the burden of the support of families. Also, the city nurse used the tickets for children on days when they were not taken to the baby camp.

A similar effort will be made next summer, to which it is hoped there will be an equally generous response.

ABOUT HIS TALK.

Some Things That Ernest Seton-Thompson Will Tell.

Mr. Seton-Thompson, the famous animal writer, who is to lecture at the Casino Tuesday afternoon and evening, gives to his hearers as to his readers a first-hand knowledge of wild animals, and more than his books, even with their inimitable illustrations can tell, for his reproductions of animal voices and bird calls are a distinctive feature of his talk. From his first word to his last the lecture is an appeal to the sympathetic human interest of his audience as opposed to the killing instinct of the race; he is a story teller and becomes a preceptor only to insist with the author of "Walden" that the hunter should leave his gun at home. The stories are very fitly illustrated by lantern-slide reproductions of the speaker's delightful drawings.

Water Main Burst.

The bursting of a water main on West Front street, between Liberty street and Elmwood place, has resulted in the drenching of that street with water. It is another case of electricity from the trolley affecting the main. The damage was not repaired yesterday, but a warning signal was placed at that point. All day long the water flowed freely through the street.

Light Wire Snapped.

An electric light wire at the corner of East Sixth and Sycamore streets was broken a few days ago and allowed to hang in a somewhat dangerous position. The electric light company has attended to the break.

W. C. T. U. Decorated.

The only decoration on Madison avenue in this city, yesterday, was at the W. C. T. U. rooms. The women decorated the front of the rooms attractively for the occasion.

THE OFFICIAL RECORD

Medical Attendants of the Late President Report.

THE CASE MINUTELY DESCRIBED.

Why the X Ray Was Not Used—No Trace of Bullet Found In Autopsy. The Heart of the Distinguished Patient Was Not Sound.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The full official report of the surgeons who attended the late President William McKinley in Buffalo, now made public, contains upward of 15,000 words and constitutes the official record of the case. The report is signed by Drs. P. H. Rixey, Matthew D. Mann, Herman Mynter, Roswell Park, Eugene Wasdin, Charles McBurney and Charles G. Stockton as members of the medical staff attending the late president. The report of the autopsy is signed by Dr. Harvey R. Gaylord, pathologist to the New York State Pathological laboratory, while the report on the bacteriological examination bears the signature of Dr. Herman G. Matzinger, bacteriologist to the New York State Pathological laboratory.

The most important feature of the report is the emphasis with which Dr. Matthew D. Mann, speaking for his colleagues, declares that there "never under like circumstances was a more harmonious and better agreed band of consultants," thus setting aside rumors of disagreement among the attending physicians and surgeons.

The report describes in detail the events immediately following the shooting, which are already familiar to the public. Then follows a description of the operation in all its technical minutiæ. The utmost care was used to prevent infection of the abdominal cavity and of the wound by the most approved modern methods of surgical cleanliness. The wounds in the stomach were sutured with silk, using double rows of stitches so arranged that the greatest possible security was given to the sutured spots. The application of these stitches was accompanied by great difficulties, especially the suturing of the opening in the posterior wall of the stomach. The chief trouble was the depth of the abdominal cavity, the lack of instruments to draw the edges of the wound apart during the sewing and the lack of good light. In his comments on the report of the operation Dr. Mann particularly emphasizes the disadvantages under which he labored when suturing the wounds in the stomach by the failing light of a September afternoon. Later on in the operation a movable electric light was used with advantage. Speaking of the search for the bullet during the operation, the report says:

"The operation on the stomach now being finished, Dr. Mann introduced his arm so as to palpate carefully all the deep structures behind the stomach. No trace of the bullet or of the further track of the bullet could be found. As the introduction of the hand in this way seemed to have a bad influence on the president's pulse prolonged search for further injury done by the bullet or for the bullet itself was desisted from. Further search might have caused the death of the patient upon the operating table. At the close of the operation the surgeons present unanimously assured Dr. Mann in answer to his questions that they were perfectly satisfied that everything that was possible had been done and that they had no further suggestions to make. It was also decided not to introduce any gauze or tubes into the abdomen for drainage, as this was not necessary, but the wound was not sewed up so tightly that no dainage could not take place naturally."

The report then continues in the history of the case after the operation. The progress of the illness is given day by day, and the bulletins as given out by the attending physicians are incorporated in the report.

On the fifth day, Sept. 10, took place the much discussed removal of the stitches from the wound in the abdominal wall. The report says: "In the evening the dressings were examined, and as there was considerable staining from the discharges it was thought best to remove four stitches and to separate the edges of the wound. A little slough was observed near the bullet track, covering a space nearly an inch wide, the thickness of the flaps. The suppuration seemed to extend down to the muscle." The remainder of the wound looked healthy, and it was thought that the infection was due to the bullet or to a piece of clothing which had been carried into the wound at the time of the shooting. The wound was then dressed, and on the following day the patient's condition was very much improved.

The findings at the autopsy as well as the developments of the case during the last days exclude all possibility of absolute injury to the stomach by premature giving of solid food, as was alleged at the time when unfavorable symptoms came on after a change to solid diet. On the fifth day the president sipped hot water, and on the sixth day he had beef juice, the first food taken by mouth since the operation. In the meantime nutritive enemas were continued, but were not well retained. At 8:30 in the morning of the seventh day he was allowed chicken broth, a very small piece of toast and a small cup of coffee. He did not care for the toast and ate scarcely any of it. The wound had in the meanwhile been doing very well and had been dressed daily after the removal of the stitches and the sloughing tissue.

The president seemed at his best, and a favorable result was now confidently predicted. There was no sign of blood poisoning or of inflammation of the peritoneum. The only alarming symptom was his rapid pulse, but as the president had naturally a rather rapid pulse and as it had been of fairly good quality right along the surgeons did not attribute very great importance to this sign. On the seventh day toward noon the pulse began to grow weaker and grew rapidly worse. Stimulants were given, and the food was discontinued, while castor oil and an enema of ox gall were given to move the bowels. At midnight there was some improvement in the pulse, after an injection of salt solution into the subcutaneous tissues. On the eighth day the condition of the president was described as very serious, as he did not respond to stimulation. Stimulants and injections of salt solution, coffee and broth were given, but without much effect. At 5 o'clock oxygen was given and continued for some hours. At 6:30 the president was restless; at 10 p. m. he lost consciousness and continued to sink until he died, at 2:15 a. m. on Sept. 14.

In speaking of the criticism that Roentgen rays should have been used to locate the bullet Dr. Mann says in his report: "We were often asked why, after the operation, we did not use the X ray to find the bullet. In the first place, there were at no time any signs that the bullet was doing harm. To have used the X ray simply to have satisfied our curiosity would not have been warrantable, as it would have greatly disturbed and annoyed the president and would have subjected him also to a certain risk."

Dr. Gaylord's report of the autopsy is lengthy and detailed. Nothing of importance was noticed about the wound on the chest caused by the first shot, except that the area of skin affected was found to be discolored, greenish yellow and mottled and that there was a hemorrhage into the fat under the skin beneath this area. The abdominal wound showed no evidences of necrosis or sloughing. No inflammation of the peritoneum was found. The wound in the front wall of the stomach was found "held intact by silk sutures," but the area of stomach wall around it was discolored, grayish green and easily torn. The area around the wound on the posterior wall of the stomach was also of a dull gray color, but the sutures held the wound intact. Behind the latter wound there was a spot of discoloration, which showed that the sloughing process had gone backward in the track of the bullet. The gangrenous cavity found behind the stomach involved the pancreas and the surrounding loose tissues, the bottom of the blind pocket being formed by the upper end of the left kidney, which was found to be lacerated at that point to the extent of about two centimeters.

The track of the bullet was then traced through gangrenous tissue in the fat behind the kidney to the muscles of the back wall of the abdomen. The direction of the bullet, however, could not be traced any farther. The search for the bullet was most thorough and painstaking, but in spite of all efforts it could not be found, and the autopsy had to be discontinued because the time allotted to it by the family of the late president had already been exceeded. Dr. Gaylord adds, "As we were satisfied that nothing could be gained by locating the bullet, which had set up no reaction, search for it was discontinued."

Examination of the heart muscle showed that it was affected with well marked fatty degeneration, and in some places the muscle fibers showed groups of dark brown granules, demonstrating a diseased condition of the cardiac muscle.

Dr. Gaylord believes that the repair to the stomach wounds had been effective and that the gangrene around these wounds does not seem to have been the result of any well defined cause. He attributes the gangrenous condition of the tissues solely to lowered vitality in the parts. The appearance of the gangrenous tissues shows that the gangrene took place shortly before death.

BROOKLYN'S MEN ON.

Eight Witnesses Are Heard In Schley's Behalf.

THE QUESTION OF STANDING SETTLED

Navy Department Assigned the Admiral to "Active Duty" at Inquiry Court While In Progress.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The presentation of Admiral Schley's side of the controversy was continued before the Schley court of inquiry yesterday, eight witnesses being examined. Of these five were ensigns, and the entire eight had served on board the Brooklyn with Admiral (then Commodore) Schley.

The first of the day's witnesses was Lieutenant Charles Webster, who had begun his testimony on Wednesday. He was followed by Lieutenant Commander T. D. Griffin, who had charge of the powder division on the Brooklyn during the fight off Santiago, and he was succeeded by Ensigns C. A. Abele, John Halligan, Jr., Ulysses S. Macy, James M. Hand and Ralph N. Marble.

The last witness of the day was Medical Director Paul Fitzsimmons, who was chief surgeon of the flying squadron. While Ensign Haligan was on the stand Mr. Rayner sought to bring out information as to the American ships in sight at the beginning of the battle of July 3, but Judge Advocate Lemly objected on the ground that the question was intended to show the absence of the New York, and the interrogatory was withdrawn. Ensign Marble stated that he had heard Captain Sigsbee tell Commodore Schley when he came aboard the Brooklyn on May 26 that the Spaniards were not at Santiago.

There has been some inquiry as to Admiral Schley's standing in the navy since he was placed on the retired list because of age, but it appears that all question on this point has been settled by the department having assigned the admiral to "active duty" at the court of inquiry while it is in progress. This action was taken to prevent any question as to the effect the admiral's retirement would have on the action of the court.

Treasure From Nome.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 18.—The steamship St. Paul has just arrived from Nome. The vessel had more than $1,500,000 in treasure, $245,000 of which was for Seattle and the remainder for San Francisco. The Garonne had not put in an appearance at Nome when the St. Paul left, Sept. 6, and anxiety was felt for her safety. The report was current that the steamer Centennial had gone on the beach near Teller. No lives were reported lost, and the vessel was said to be well on the beach, but resting easily on a bed of sand.

Trusts Do Not Thrive In Russia.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, in a dispatch recording the failure of all attempts to form iron and steel syndicates on the American plan, says: "The different firms found it impossible to agree upon terms. More than this, the glass syndicate, one of the oldest in Russia, has dissolved, and the price of glass has fallen 25 per cent in consequence. The only trust now existing is the sugar syndicate, which controls the industry and keeps prices twice as high as those in London."

Large Granite Contract.

MILFORD, Mass., Oct. 18.—The largest contract for building stone that ever came to Milford has been awarded to Daniel W. Darling of the Bay State Pink Granite company. It calls for the cutting of pink granite for the Hanover National bank building, which is to be erected at the corner of Pine and Nassau streets, New York city, and which is to be twenty-three stories high. The general contract involves millions of dollars, and the granite work alone will amount to more than $1,000,000.

Noted Manufacturer Dead.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Oct. 18.—William P. Hopkins of Catasauqua, general manager and principal stockholder of the Slatington rolling mill, is dead in his seventieth year. Mr. Hopkins made the first sheet of tin ever manufactured out of puddle steel, and he made at Catasauqua, where he was for a quarter of a century superintendent of the Catasauqua rolling mill, the first plate and sheet rolled in the Lehigh valley. Mr. Hopkins invented the water shield for cooling the front of furnaces.

Count Von Bulow Praised.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Count von Bulow has completed the first year of his chancellorship, the event eliciting extended press comment. Most of the papers do full justice to his achievements, pointing out particularly his success in the field of foreign policy. Even journals that are discontented place the blame chiefly upon the system rather than the man.

Preparing For Ito's Reception.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The secretary of the Japanese legation called at the White House to arrange for the reception by the president of Marquis Ito, who will arrive in Washington on Saturday. Marquis Ito will be at New Haven next Wednesday, when he will receive the degree of LL. D. from Yale college at the same time a similar degree is conferred upon the president.

Don Carlos May Be Expelled.

ROME, Oct. 18.—The frequent meetings of Carlist leaders at the residence of Don Carlos in Venice have led the govegnment, it is rumored, to determine to expel him from Italy, as his proceedings, if continued, would be likely to compromise the friendly relations between Italy and Spain.

Molineux Out of Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Rowland B. Molineux is back in the Tombs. He reached New York over the New York Central and Hudson River railroad at the Grand Central station at 4:57 o'clock last evening, entered a carriage and was driven to the prison. He was accompanied by his father, his counsel, George Gordon Battle, and Detective Sergeant McNaught. Molineux was shaved and dressed in a prison made suit before the hour for his departure. He then stepped on the scales, and it was found that he had lost just one pound since he had been in the prison.

Convicts to Be Set Free.

OSSINING, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Sixty-nine convicts will be liberated from Sing Sing within the next few days. An order for their release was signed by the members of the state board of parole, which has been in session at Sing Sing since Tuesday. The convicts are paroled under a new law which provides that prisoners who have conducted themselves well and have served one-third of their sentence may receive their liberty. No man sentenced to a term of more than five years is eligible to parole.

Cresceus Failed Again.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—Cresceus went against time at the local driving park yesterday afternoon to beat his own record of 2:02¼ and failed. The best he could do was the mile in 2:05½. There was a great crowd out to see the effort. The record which Cresceus holds was made on this track.

Buried Five Days.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—An almost miraculous rescue was effected yesterday at Grimma of a well digger who had been entombed since Saturday by the caving in of the soil. The rescuers had the greatest difficulty in digging through the sand, but the man was taken out alive.

The County Tickets.

The Union county campaign is now formally inaugurated. Within a few hundred yards of each other, yesterday afternoon, the Republicans and the Democrats selected the men for their respective county tickets. Only the holding of the city convention is now needed to complete the entire local tickets.

At the Republican county convention, the expected happened. William Newcorn, of Plainfield, William F. Hall, of Cranford, and Frederick Miller, of Elizabeth, were nominated for the assembly. Further down Broad street the choice of the Democratic convention was announced as Charles L. Moffett, of Plainfield, Charles A. Sulser, of Elizabeth, and George H. Vanderveer, of Rahway. The nomination of Mr. Moffett was in the nature of a surprise.

The two Plainfielders, who were named on opposite tickets, are both lawyers practicing in this city and well-known here. Mr. Newcorn has long been identified with the Republican party and has worked faithfully for its interests with no recognition heretofore. That the nomination was a deserving one was generally conceded. Mr. Moffett, while a staunch Democrat, has not taken such an active part in local politics. He is, however, a popular man with those who know him and this fact is expected to attract many to his standard.

Whichever of the Plainfielders is victorious in the battle of the ballots, the people of this city may rest contented with the knowledge that they will have a representative at the State capital who will work honestly for the interests of the people. Regarding the other candidates nominated The Daily Press will have more to say at a later date.

'Twas a great show which the firemen of North Plainfield prepared for the public of Plainfield and North Plainfield yesterday. Next to gallant soldier boys of the army in their attractive uniforms, there is nothing which so catches the eye as the firemen on parade. Then the martial music of the numerous brass bands and drum corps served to add to the general enthusiasm.

The detailed account of the firemen's parade which appeared in yesterday's Daily Press was remarkably accurate and complete. There was a big demand for copies of it by the out-of-town guests who desired to take them home as souvenirs of the occasion.

Every stranger who visited Plainfield and North Plainfield yesterday had something complimentary to say about city and borough. They recognized these two communities as ideal spots in this State of many beautiful suburban cities.

The local Democrats will pick out their city ticket at the city convention Monday evening. It will be the first time for several years that the Democrats have chosen their candidates in Plainfield before the Republican announce theirs.

Some people feared that the rain might interfere with the firemen's parade yesterday. Who ever heard of a fireman who was afraid of water.

FUNERAL OF MRS. PRICE.

Services Were Held From the House on Sherman Avenue Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Hannah Cooley Scudder, wife of Joseph Wilbur Price, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home on Sherman avenue, near Clinton avenue, and was largely attended. Rev. James Stout, of West Brighton, S. I., a nephew of the deceased, conducted the services.

During the services Charles L. Lewis sang "Abide With Me" and "The Homeland," very impressively. There was a large number of floral tributes received from New York city, Dobbs Ferry and this city. The interment took place in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Price was born at Scudder's Falls, near Trenton, and was a member of the well-known Scudder family. She had lived in this city about twenty-six years. She is survived by a husband, who is associated with the Spool Cotton Company, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. Alice S. Brown, Mrs. Anita Tovell and Mrs. E. Arthur Janke, all of this city.

TESTIMONY TAKEN.

But Absence of Material Witness Prevented Its Completion.

Testimony was to have been taken this morning by Supreme Court Commissioner W. S. Angleman, in the case of Joseph Blim against Charles C. Vail and the Continental Insurance Company, but an adjournment until next Monday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, was granted on the grounds that a material witness is away from this city. W. R. Coddington appeared for the defendants, and J. P. D. Kirch for the plaintiff.

It is likely that the plaintiff will apply to the court for an order for contempt, on the ground that the defendant, Charles C. Vail, failed to appear, after being served with papers.

OSTEOPATHS ORGANIZED.

Dr. Herring of This City, Was Elected to Executive Committee.

Representatives of the Osteopathic practitioners in New Jersey, met in Newark yesterday and organized a State society of osteopaths. Among those who attended was Dr. George DeWitt Herring, of this city. A constitution and by-laws was adopted and the following officers were elected: President, Dr. W. B. Movinger, of Trenton; vice-president, Dr. H. S. McIlheny, of Newark; Dr. G. F. Mason, of Montclair; secretary and treasurer and executive committee, Drs. Herring, McIlheny and Granberry, the latter of Orange.

Patriarch Supper.

A grand patriarch supper was given last evening by the Tribe of Abraham, of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, in T. A. B. Hall, and was very successful. The attendance was gratifying and a goodly sum was realized. Mrs. Mary Raper was in charge, assisted by Mrs. E. B. Maynard, Mrs. Kate Washington, Miss Mamie Carter and Miss Sarah Sathel.

An Attractive Window.

The east display window at Woodhull & Martin's contains the finest exhibition of women's and children's garments ever seen in this city. One of the chief attractions being a genuine Alaska seal jacket, lined with delicate cream brocade silk. A crowd of people surrounded the window all day yesterday admiring the beautiful display.

Reform Club Entertainment.

A good-sized audience was in attendance at the meeting held in Reform Hall last evening. There were a number of interesting addresses made by William C. Smith, Edward Smith and Benjamin Hand. By way of entertainment, phonograph selections were given under the supervision of Sylvanus Hoffman.

Good Music Tonight.

The firemen's events detracted interest last evening from the fair being conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church and the attendance was quite small. This evening the singing section of the Gesang and Turn Verein will be in attendance and some good vocal music is promised.

Apple Dumpling Social.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 20—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—A bad bargain.—Gen. xxv, 29-34.

The contrast between the children of the same parents is nowhere more aptly illustrated than in the twin sons of Isaac and Rebekah. They were different in physical appearance, in natural disposition, in earthly pursuits, in character, in the love they inspired in their parents and in their appreciation of the blessings belonging to the firstborn. It was the last difference which resulted in the treachery of Jacob and the undoing of Esau. Appreciating the birthright and its accompanying blessings, Jacob, though the younger son, determined to have it. Not appreciating these things, Esau became an easy prey to Jacob's unprincipled shrewdness. In an evil hour he sold his birthright for a mess of pottage! A bad bargain indeed. The birthright carried with it inestimable blessings. These Esau surrendered for a meal of pottage which he could have had in a little while for nothing. Yet how typical of thousands of the children of God who are selling their birthrights for the gilt and tinsel of the world.

Two factors controlled Esau in the bad bargain he made. 1. He did not appreciate the birthright and its blessings. He could not have done so, else he never would have parted with them so easily. How many do not appreciate the privilege of being the children of God and for this reason forfeit this relation to God? 2. Esau was dominated by his appetite. He lacked high purpose and stability of character. Quench his thirst, satisfy his hunger, and he asked nothing more. Thus far he was little more than an animal, and animalism is the leading characteristic of many modern Esaus. They are controlled by their appetites and passions and are bartering for them their best interests for time and eternity.

The result of Esau's bad bargain was disastrous. Even Esau learned to appreciate this fact. He repented of his act, but, alas, when it was too late! Bad bargains are usually repented of, but in most cases when it is too late to prevent the harm that has been done. The fate of Esau should be a warning to every Christian Endeavorer. As Jacob lay in wait for him to deceive him and rob him of what was more precious than life itself, so the adversary of the human soul would deceive us and for a worthless mess of pottage deprive us of the blessings that come to us as the children of God. Let us not be deceived; let us not bargain away for a trifle our priceless heritage; let us appreciate our relation to God as His children, control ourselves by the grace and power of God and more and more experience the joys and blessings of our heavenly birthright.

BIBLE READINGS.

Eccl. xii, 13, 14; Math. vi, 19, 20; xvi, 24-28; xxvi, 14-16, with xxvii, 1-5; Acts v, 1-11; Luke xvii, 32, 33; Heb. xii, 14-17; I John iii, 15-17; Rev. xxii, 12.

Comforting Thoughts.

Christian brother, is the way dark and rugged? Have you lost heart and hope because of the disappointments and sorrows that, like poisoned arrows, wound and distress you? Remember that He who gave His life for you trod every step of life's toilful road, and remember that He careth for you; that not an event occurs in your life without His knowledge; that there can come to you no sorrow that may not help to round and polish and perfect your character and more abundantly qualify you for citizenship in that city whose builder and maker is God, and where no earthly ill can ever come. Comfort yourself with such thoughts as these, but more especially covet the constant companionship of the Spirit that bringeth peace.—Central Christian Advocate.

Half Hearted.

Do we find ourselves half hearted in our work, lacking in the true spirit of service? Do our thoughts turn often to complaining that we must work and to thinking how we can escape with the least labor? Shall we seek relief in this philosophy or that? Shall we look to a change of outward conditions as the remedy? Rather let us go straight to the Lord Jesus Christ, who came into the world to bring the true love of service, and who is today and ever will be the only source of that love to men. Let us go to Him and receive of His spirit.—Rev. William L. Worcester in Helper.

Words Are Forces.

The words we so often carelessly use reflect a force in the mind that uses them. They are the messengers of the secret life of men to other men. Born of mental energy in one, they are mighty for good or evil in others. Guard well the door of your lips; weigh with care the words that are to poison or bless forever.—Philadelphia Methodist.

Creeping Up the Stairs.

In the softly falling twilight
Of a weary, weary day,
With a quiet step I entered
Where the children were at play.
I was brooding o'er some trouble
Which had me unawares,
When a little voice came ringing,
"Me is creepin up the stairs."

Step by step she bravely clambered
On her little hands and knees,
Keeping up a constant chattering
Like a magpie in the trees,
Till at last she reached the topmost,
When o'er all her world's affairs
She, delighted, stood a victor
After creeping up the stairs.

Fainting heart, behold an image
Of man's brief and struggling life,
Whose best prizes must be captured
With a noble, earnest strife.
Far above there is the glory
Which no sinfulness impairs,
With its rest and joy forever,
After creeping up life's stairs.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 20, "A Bad Bargain"—Text, Gen. xxv, 29-34.

"He sold his birthright unto Jacob. Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of lentils."

It was bad business all around—covetousness and craft on the part of Jacob; irreverence and anger on the part of Esau. Both parties to the transaction were wrong; both paid too dearly for what they got. Jacob got birthright and blessing, which should naturally have given him sheikship of the tribe and the larger share of his father's goods. These were of little value after he had got them, since he was a fugitive from home for long years of exile and worked hard for cattle and possessions, so that when he and Esau met in manhood he made a princely present to his brother and meekly took the place of younger brother. Hardship and fear had humbled him. His desire for God's presence and blessings was gratified, but not in any measure that we can discover did it depend on birthright, blessing or bargain with his brother.

Esau is called a profane person in the book of Hebrews. Perhaps the word irreverent more exactly expresses the trait of character most prominent in his part of this transaction and in the other incidents we have of his life. His life in the desert as a hunter was not of necessity less worthy than that of Jacob, who lived among the tents and sheep. But it followed as matter of course that he would have less regard for the affairs of the tribe and value too lightly the privileges and obligations that came with birthright.

He was hungry. Jacob's cooking only made his hunger greater. He asked for some of the food. Common courtesy demanded that Jacob give it, but there appears an utter lack of that quick sympathy and close companionship usually seen between brothers, especially twin brothers. What made Jacob think of birthright at that time? Had they discussed the matter before, and had it seemed cruel to Jacob that the difference in twin birth should make such a difference in family rights? Had Esau shown contempt for his superior position and disregard for its obligations? Did Jacob know that Esau put little or no value on such things? Did he not know all this well? And was there not also in his soul a deep reverence for godly things and a faith in the God of his fathers which made him prize headship in the family for the religious part of its duties more than for all else? The clew to all the story is seen in the differences in after life of the two men.

Jacob is faulty, but he is an earnest seeker after God. He does many things which look bad in the light of our later centuries, but he was ever a religious man and far in advance of his times.

Esau exhibits no marks of piety. He is hungry. He will sell his birthright for a mess of soup with as little care as he would swap a weapon or his game. He follows his appetite. Morality and piety are little in his line.

What are you getting in life? It is a bad thing to go through this world with an appetite only for its pottage and venison. There are altars, and sacrifice, and visions, and wrestlings, and vows and divine revealings. Be sure that in your bargaining you get some of these. But be sure also that you do not cheat your brother in trying to secure God's favor.

Christ the Head.

Until one sees the essential dependence of the race upon its divine head the full meaning of the incarnation cannot be grasped. Christ is the keystone in the arch of humanity. Without Him it is incomplete and cannot for any length of time bear the burden of its own weight, to say nothing of the service to which in the course of history the Master Builder may turn it. But in Christ the race becomes conscious of its power; its inherent strength passes from member to member, and the more it is pressed by the weight of life the closer it is joined in common duty, the compacter it becomes in lofty fellowship and the grander the development of its utilities for the purposes of God.—George A. Gordon.

Correct Their Evils Early.

Moral evil is like physical evil. There are certain diseases which, being treated in childhood, are cured by the simplest remedies—aye, even by a finger. Being left to later years, these same diseases either cause much avoidable pain or defy the skill of physicians and the most improved instruments. A fault in a child is like a twig—easily broken. If the task of breaking is left until the child be grown, when what was a twig has become a gnarled trunk, the effort will be expended in vain.—Rabbi J. Leonard Levy.

Experiences of God.

We shall do well to turn often to the things which we know. We have had experiences of God, of His pardon, His love, His helpfulness. Let us hold fast to these facts of experience, and not allow ourselves to be troubled overmuch by that which we are not able to explain.—Baptist Standard.

In the Range of the Sun.

Fog in one's spiritual life need be no more lasting than that in nature. Keep in range of the great sun of love, and it will burn it up and bring clear sky again.—American Friend.

The Poetry of Age.

Time may set his fingers there,
Fix the smiles that curve about
Her winsome mouth and touch her hair,
Put the curves of youth to rout;
But the "something" God put there,
That which drew me to her first—
Not the imps of pain and care
Can kill the look that God put there.

I am fifty-eight years old. For several years I had had indigestion and liver complaint and was very much troubled with constipation. I employed different physicians and tried different medicines, but only received temporary relief. I had to give up my business on account of my poor health, and just attend to the work on my small lot, and that was more than I felt able to do. Early in the Summer I saw an advertisement of Ripans Tabules in the Bucks County Intelligencer. I did not have much faith in them, but finally decided to give them a trial, and purchased a box and commenced taking them. Before I had taken half of the Tabules I began to improve, and by the time I had taken all of them I was so much improved that I felt like another man. I have continued their use, and I am gaining daily in health and strength. Now I can do the work on my lot with ease, where it used to be a burden to me. I can speak only in praise of the Tabules, and would recommend them to all persons who are ailing.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They hasten pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. WHAT IS TO BECOME of the SERVANT GIRL?

A chaser of statistics has discovered that less than 10 per cent of the housekeepers of the United States employ hired help in their homes. The other happy 90 per cent do their own housework. The 10 per cent that hires, however, makes fuss enough over the servant girl question for 200 per cent. The servant girl herself on her part thinks she is ill used, the mistress on hers knows she is ill used, and there is no prospect of the two getting together—no, not till the stars fall.

Servant girls in various parts of the country are beginning to form trades unions to protect themselves from what they consider exactions of their employers. A bill of domestic servants' rights formulated by one such organization demands a regular ten hour labor day, with the privilege of seeing visitors on off nights and Sundays, of eating of the food which they cook for the family itself and of not being put on a bread and scrap meat diet; also the privilege of putting their own clothing into the family wash. They say substantially that if a girl's person is neat and wholesome enough for her to cook the family food, hold the children in her arms or wait at table the grounds on which is refused to her the right of putting her garments in the sacred washtub which has held theirs are not apparent. The case is cited in which a neat maid rises very early in order that she may take a bath every day, while it would be stretching charity to say her mistress took one once a week, yet that mistress would fairly faint if the maid's clothes went into the family washing and the girl would be discharged on the spot.

The trades unionism of women housekeepers is too new for one to say whether it will "go," although a solemn British man has given it as his opinion that where the idea of such association has thoroughly penetrated the scatter brained feminine intellect and women have once given their names and pledge to abide by a labor organization, "they have been as loyal as men." Kitchen and house girls in Chicago, in Milwaukee and in some other cities have formed more or less successful unions. There is one in Colorado Springs that is more in the nature of a woman's club than of a trades union, where the kitchen girls meet and discuss things in imitation of their mistresses.

These things the houseworkers themselves are doing to ameliorate their condition, which from their standpoint is about as bad as it can be. As for the mistress herself, there is absolutely no amelioration of her woes under the present arrangement. The philosopher who neither hires nor is hired in domestic service is the only one that can make a psychological study of the question and see that it is the system itself that is to blame. The mistresses are right; the maids are right. Are they not all of the same flesh and blood? But our system of housekeeping has been handed down from the dark ages. The only remedy is to abolish the scheme. "Oh, reform it altogether!"

Domestic happiness has not suffered, neither has the home been broken up, because people no longer make soap or candles or men's garments in their homes. Husbands and wives, parents and children, love one another just as much since in cities and towns the laundry work and breadmaking have been put out of the house. The time is coming when "home cooking" in urban localities will be a thing of the past. Co-operative kitchens and caterers will provide meals better and more cheaply than they can possibly be prepared at home. There will be left only the cleaning. There is no reason why trained bedmakers, sweepers, dusters and scrubbers should not come in from outside and do their tasks exactly as the painter and paper hanger do now. The sweepers and dusters could call every day or as often as they were wanted.

In country houses the only way is to get the best and most improved housekeeping appliances and then let women and girls do their own domestic work or get men for kitchen help. Girls simply will not stay with them under present conditions. SUSAN PEPPER.

The sweetest thing in life is the unclouded welcome of a wife.—Willis.

. . The . . Lost Continent

By Cutcliffe Hyne.

Published by Harper & Bros. Copyright, 1901, by Cutcliffe Hyne

This one approach to the Sacred Mountain was, as I have said before, vastly more difficult and dangerous in the olden days when it stood as a mere bare cleft as the high gods made it. But a chasm had been bridged here, and a shelf cut through the solid rock there, and in many places the roadway was built up on piers from distant crags below so as to make all uniform and easy. It came to my mind now that if I could destroy this path, we might gain a breathing space for further effort.

The idea seemed good, or at least no other occurred to me which would in any way relieve our desperate situation, and I looked around me for means to put it into execution. Up and down from the mountain to the plains below, I had traversed that narrow stair of a pass some thousands of times, and so in a manner of speaking knew every stone and every turn and every cut of it by heart. But I had never looked upon it with an eye to shaving off all roadway to the Sacred Mountain, and so now, even in this moment of dreadful stress, I had to traverse it no less than three times afresh before I could decide upon the best site for demolition.

But once the point was fixed, there was little delay in getting the scheme in movement. Already I had sent men to the storehouses among the priests' dwellings to fetch me rams and crows and acids and hammers, and such other material as was needed, and these stood handy behind one of the upper gates. I put on every pair of hands that could be spared to the work, no matter what was their age and feebleness; yes, if Nais could have walked so far I would have pressed her for the labor; and presently carved balustrade and wayside statue, together with the lettered wall stones and the foot-worn cobbles roared down into the gulf below, and added their din to the shrieks and yells and crashes of the fighting. Gods! but it was a hateful task, smashing down that splendid handiwork of the men of the past. But it was better that it should crash down to ruin in the abyss below than that Phorenice should profane it with her impious sandals.

At first I had feared that it would be needful to sacrifice the knot of brave men who were so valiantly detending the gate then being attacked. It is disgusting to be forced into a measure of this kind, but in hard warfare it is often needful to the carrying out of his schemes for a general to leave a part of his troops to fight to a finish, and without hope of rescue, as valiantly as they may; and all he can do for their reward is to commend them earnestly to the care of the gods. But when the work of destroying the pathway was nearly completed, I saw a chance of retrieving them.

So I gave the word for one more furious avalanche of rock to be pelted down, and while the few living were crawling out from those killed by the discharge, and while the next band of reenforcements came scrambling up over the bodies, I sent my nine remaining men away at a run up the steep stairway of the path, and then followed them myself. Each of the gates in turn we passed, shutting them after us, and breaking the bars and levers with which they were moved, and not till we were through the last did the roar of shouts from below tell that the besiegers had found the gate they bit against was deserted.

One by one we balanced our way across the narrow ledge which was left where the path had been destroyed, and one poor priest that carried a wound grew giddy and lost his balance here, and toppled down to his death in the abyss below before a hand could be stretched out to steady him. And then, when we were all over, heat was put to the rams, and they expanded with their resistless force, and tore the remaining ledges from their hold in the rock. I think a pang went through us all then when we saw for ourselves the last connecting-link cut away from between the poor remaining handful of our Sacred clan on the mountain and the rest of our great nation, who had grown so bitterly estranged to us, below.

But here at any rate was a break in the fighting. There were no further preparations we could make for our defense, and high though I knew Phorenice's genius to be, I did not see how she could very well do other than accept the check and retire. So I set a guard on the ramparts of the uppermost gate to watch all possible movements, and gave the word to the others to go and find the rest which so much they needed.

For myself, dutifully I tried to find Zaemon first, going on the errand my proper self, for there was little enough of kingly state observed on the Sacred Mountain, although the name and title had been given me. But Zaemon was not to be come at. He was engaged inside the Ark of Mysteries, with another of the three, and, being myself only one of the seven. I had not rank enough in the priesthood to break in upon their workings. And so I was free to turn where my likings would have led me first, and that was to the house which sheltered Nais.

She waked as I came in over the threshold, and her eyes filled with a welcome for me. I went across and knelt where she lay, putting my face on the pillow beside her. She was full of tender talk and sweet endearments. Gods! What an infinity of delight I had missed by not knowing my Nais earlier! But she had a will of her own through it all, and some quaint conceits which made her all the more adorable. She rallied me on the new cleanness of my chin, and on the robe which I had taken as a covering. She professed a pretty awe for my kingship, and vowed that had she known of my coming dignities she would never have dared to discover a love for me.

Phorenice, it seemed, had more rage against the Priests' clan on the mountain and more bright genius to help her to a vengeance than I had credited. Her troops stormed easily the gates we had left to them, and swarmed up till they stood where the pathway was broken down. In the fierceness of their rush the foremost were thrust over the brink by those pressing up behind before the advance could be halted, and these went screaming to a horrid death in the great gulf below. But it was no position here that a lavish spending of men could take, and presently all were drawn off, save for some half-score who stood as outpost sentries and dodged out of arrow-shot behind angles of the rock.

It seems, too, that the empress herself reconnoitered the place, using due caution and quickness, and so got for herself a full plan of its requirements without being obliged to trust the measuring of another eye. With extraordinary nimbleness she must have planned an engine such as was necessary to suit her purposes, and given orders for its making; for even with the vast force and resources at her disposal, the speed with which it was built was prodigious.

There was very little noise made to tell of what was afoot. All the wood-work and metal-work was cut and tongued and forged and fitted first by skilled craftsmen below in the plain at the foot of the cleft; and when each ponderous balk and each crosspiece and each plank was dragged up the steep pass through the conquered gates, it was ready instantly for fitting into its appointed place in the completed machine.

NEW BLOCK SIGNALS ON JERSEY CENTRRL.

System Has Been Extended From Bound Brook Through to White Haven, Pa.

DESCRIPTION OF SIGNALS.

RAILWAY AND ENGINEERING RECORD TELLS ABOUT INSTALLATION.

All Systems Were Given a Test by the New Jersey Central Officials, But They Decided For the Westinghouse Type.

The question of automatic block signals in the operation of a railroad has reached that point where the system employed must be the height of perfection, affording safety and speed. Between 1890 and 1893 the New Jersey Central installed on its four main tracks between Jersey City and Bound Brook an automatic block signal system of the Westinghouse electro-pneumatic type. The signals, 481 in all, are of the semaphore type and are operated under the normal clear method. The system worked so satisfactory that in 1900 it was decided to extend the same to White Haven, Pa., over 113 miles of double track.

The Railway and Engineering Review, in speaking of the installation of the signals, has the following to say:

"After a careful investigation of the merits of the various systems of automatic electric signals, a competitive test was conducted under the supervision of C. P. Adams, superintendent of telegraph for the C. R R of N. J., in which the signals of the respective makes were required to operate each home and distant signal once every minute (1 880 times every 24 hours), until the batteries were exhausted. In addition to this, tests were made as to the strength of the strength of the operating mechanism, motor efficiency and the counterweighting of the signals. As a result of these tests, believed to be the most exhaustive ever made in connection with a railroad signal, the contract was awarded by President C. H. Warren to the Union Switch and Signal Company, of Swissvale, Pa., on the strength of the merits of the automatic electric semaphore, and of the normal clear method of control by the polarized system of track circuits.

"The post of this signal is of iron construction throughout, mounted on a concrete foundation, with double light semaphore castings and wooden arms. The operating mechanism is housed in an iron compartment at the foot of the post. The post is of five-inch iron pipe, and all operating connections (see Railway and Engineering Review for December 4, 1897) are internally mounted to protect them from weather influences.

"The 'wireless' circuit, which is the novel feature of this installation, is a method of controlling the distant signal without the use of wire lines between the home and distant signals. The control of the distant signal is accomplished by requiring the track battery to perform a double function, in that it not only controls the home signal, in the manner peculiar to all rail-circuit systems, but, by reversing the direction in which the current is sent through the rails, it also controls the distant signal. Thus, the battery usually required for the control of the distant signal and the wire lines heretofore required are dispensed with. This method of operating signals, since its introduction by the Union Switch & Signal Company, has met with great favor and is in extensive use on the Pennsylvania, the Michigan Central, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western roads, and to a lesser extent on others.

"It has been found in automatic signaling that much of the trouble from lightning is traceable to the presence of line wires in their circuits. Furthermore, the application of line wires for signal purposes often involved the reconstruction of the telegraph line. It is believed that the wireless system offers almost complete immunity from lightning troubles, and this feature alone makes the system especially attractive to the Central Railroad of New Jersey officials.

"The block sections are about one mile in length, except at points where there is a congestion of traffic, where the sections are somewhat shorter. With home and distant signals on each post, trains can be handled with the utmost confidence. The home signal indicates the condition of the block that is about to be entered; the distant, that of the block in advance.

PAID BY SIZE OF FEET.

NOVEL AFFAIR GIVEN AT HOPE CHAPEL LAST EVENING.

'Twas Called a Stocking Social and Stockings Were Used to Hold the Offerings Made.

A novel style of entertainment, styled a stocking social, attracted a large attendance to Hope chapel last evening. It was an affair gotten up by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society and proved to be one of the most successful given by them for some time.

The stocking part of it was confined to the placing of an amount of money, in a small article of hosiery, corresponding to twice the size of one's foot. This entitled admittance, but for obvious reasons no one could be found who would tell how much it cost them to enter. It was sufficient to say that a handsome sum was cleared, which will be devoted to liquidating the debt on the new church piano.

The entertainment provided by the proper committee was complete in every detail and was greatly enjoyed by all. In detail it was as follows: Piano solo, Miss Pearl Buckman; vocal selection, "In the House of Too Much Trouble," Miss Anna Warnock; recitation, "Bear Ye One Another's Burdens," Miss Clara Weber; recitation, "Only One," Walter Weber; vocal selection, John W. Turner, accompanied by Mrs. Turner; piano duet, Miss Mary Radford and Miss Mary Arden; recitation, Miss Lucy Wright; humorous dialogue, "The Book Agent," Mrs. Andrew Stiglitz, Miss Try Mattox and Benjamin Hand; duet, Mrs. Andrew Stiglitz and Miss Snepperd, accompanied by Miss Florence Symons; recitation, "When the Chickens Come Home to Roost," Uriah Kinsey; dialogue, Miss Virginia Anderson and Miss Gertrude Geier; humorous recitations, Miss Josie Murphy. All the numbers of the programme were exceptionally good and all were well rendered.

Following its completion refreshments were served and sociability was the feature for an hour.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. Margaret Sweeney, chairman, assisted by Mrs. August Weber, Mrs. Uriah Kinsey, Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Mrs. David Bowden, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. Daniel Mowinkle, Mrs. Harry Corliss, Mrs. George Radford, Mrs. Robert Gow, Mrs. Charles Graves and Mrs. Wm. Wright.

VACATION FOR CITY NURSE.

Granted Two Weeks Leave of Absence After a Summer of Active Work.

Miss Edith Anderson, the city nurse, employed by the City Union Kings Daughters, has been granted a vacation of two weeks, which she deserves very much. During the past season Miss Anderson has been very busy and has faithfully attended to her duties. An idea of her work can be learned when it is known that in one week she made fifty-five visits. Some cases she has visited every day in connection with her other regular duties. The Union is endeavoring to secure the services of a nurse to take Miss Anderson's place while she is away.

Must Pay the Tax.

Tax Collector F. H. Smith wants the people of the city to know that they will not be exempt from poll tax if they fail to receive a tax bill. There are some cases where persons have moved and their address is not known to the collector. In this way a tax bill could not be sent to them. They are expected, however, to pay the $1 tax without further notice.

TELLS OF ANIMALS.

Ernest Seton-Thompson's Lectures Are Remarkably Entertaining.

Ernest Seton-Thompson, the animal writer who is to lecture at the Casino Tuesday afternoon and evening is undoubtedly the most celebrated animal artist and student of his time. In a very pleasant manner and informal manner he talks to children and adults concerning the habits and curious traits of wild animals. Having lived for years near their homes, where he made their lives a most careful study, there is little that can be learned concerning them that he does not know. Mr. Thompson's words are those that the smallest child can clearly comprehend. Even in his scientific and technical articles he has the faculty of writing so that there is no difficulty in getting at his meaning without taking a course in natural history. The lectures are illustrated by a series of lantern slides, many of them actual scenes in which Mr. Thompson participated.

SEYMOUR AT SOMERVILLE.

SPOKE AT A MASS MEETING HELD THERE LAST EVENING.

James E. Martine, of Plainfield, Was Also a Speaker—Meeting Held in Afternoon at Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 19—The Democratic campaign in Somerset county was formally opened by a mass meeting held at this place last evening. James M. Seymour, the gubernatorial candidate, was here and county leaders and workers were enthusiastic at the reception held as well as at the mass meeting.

Active Democrats, 500 strong, led by a band of music, escorted Mayor Seymour to the mass meeting. The hall was crowded. Former Prosecutor Eckhart Budd, of Burlington, Comptroller Johnson, of Newark, and James E. Martine, of Plainfield, made extended speeches which were well received. Messrs Budd and Johnson dwelt on the issues of the campaign, while Mr. Martine rehearsed the careers of the State candidate and the county nominees.

Mayor Seymour delivered an half hour address, and was frequently interrupted by applause. Among those in attendance from Plainfield were the members of the Democratic City Executive Committee. Committeemen Lewis R. Bird and David Carney, and Elston M. French, John H. VanWinkle and Walter Linbarger, of the borough, were also present.

The Mayor's party came over late in the afternoon from Bound Brook, where a reception and a mass meeting had been held.

Former Mayor Wm. L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, was one of the vice-presidents of the meeting. D. J. Carney was chosen secretary.

Correction of Figures.

Boardman Wright, treasurer of the Charity Organized Aid Association, has made a correction in his figures for the fiscal year, as published in yesterday's Press. He reports the receipts, including the $35 received from three churches and the $50 received from the charity dramatics, to be $444.75, and the expenses for the same period to be $560, or between $50 and $60 more than the receipts. The annual meeting last year was held in December, and the report covers a period of about ten months only.

No Cause For Action.

No cause for action, was the decision rendered by Justice Hand, yesterday in the case of the Standard Metal Bedstead Company against Wolfson, which was tried the day previous. The defendant was sued for the cost of goods purchased from a firm styled B. Brodowsky & Son, which had made an assignment still owing the bedstead company for the goods from whom they had first been bought. Wolfson exhibited receipts for the amount involved which was $75.

Complain of Roads.

CALLED IT BUTTER; ANALYZED AS OLEO.

Thos. B Mitchell, of Madison, Charged With Selling Olio Without Labelling It.

PEDDLING IT IN EAST END.

HELD BY JUSTICE MOFFET FOR A TRIAL THURSDAY.

First Arrested And Convicted For Peddling Without a License—Then Arrested on The More Serious Charge.

Thomas B. Mitchell, a young man employed by George W. Riker, of Madison, was arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with selling in this city oleomargerine, purported to be fresh print creamery butter.

Three cakes of the supposed butter which he was selling were bought by Health Inspector William Addis, Deputy Dairy Commissioner S. S. VanBuff, of Trenton, and a La Grande avenue woman, at whose home they lay in waiting. Mitchell was immediately taken into custody. Last evening he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon, on a charge of peddling without a license. For this offence he was fined $5, which he paid.

This morning he was tried by Justice Moffett for selling oleomargerine, without its being so labelled as demanded by law. Four charges were preferred against him and he was held in $100 bail on each charge to appear for trial Thursday. He will probably secure the amount during the day but until then is detained at police headquarters.

According to the statements of his captors, Mitchell has been posing as a countryman, selling butter of his own make. It has been his custom to visit this city every Friday and traverse a route built up for him by his employer, Biker. Storekeepers in the East End complained to Inspector Addis that Mitchell and his wares were not what they were represented and he decided to investigate.

September 20, Mr. Addis procured from a woman, residing on LaGrande avenue, a cake of the alleged butter which she had bought that day. It was sent to the State dairy chemists, who declared it to be oleomargerine.

The inspector and State Dairy Commissioner McGeary laid a plan to catch the seller and with that intent, went to the LaGrande avenue home, yesterday at 10 o'clock, in company with Deputy VanBuff. McGeary afterward was forced to leave. The remaining two waited until 3 o'clock when Mitchell appeared at the back door. The householder purchased a cake, as she always did on Fridays.

Before the peddler turned away Inspector Addis stepped out and inquired of him what he was selling.

"Creamery butter," said Mitchell, "and only twenty-five cents a print."

Addis purchased a print and then VanBuff appeared and a similar proceeding was gone through with.

This was all the evidence the men required and Mitchell was then placed under arrest. The three cakes purchased have already been analyzed and declared to be oleomargerine.

The penalty for each sale of oleomargerine is $100.

TRIED TO ARRANGE A BOUT.

ASPIRANTS FOR PRIZE RING HONORS FINALLY GOT TOGETHER.

But Stories About What Happened Are Very Conflicting — Three Arraigned in Court.

Coming to this city with a reputation as a pugilist, James Smith, a new arrival from Scotland, found no dearth of challenges to fight. Within one week he received word from six aspirants for prize ring honors, while the Boulevard gang, according to himself, lay in wait for him for three nights, eager to give and take points in the manly art of self defense.

Smith's fame was spread so broadcast throughout the West End, that Saturday night, in Watson's Grant avenue saloon, it is alleged, John Porter offered to bet $100 to $50 that the unknown could do stunts with any man in the city. Several attempted to get John Marra to be Smith's opponent but he modestly declined.

On leaving the saloon it is said, Marra was followed by Smith and Porter and at Second street a scrimmage followed in which all three and several others became involved. During the melee Marra was knocked down and received what an eye witness declared to be a "Lancashire" kick. It was necessary to help him to the hospital where seven stitches were taken in a gash on his chin.

All three appeared in the City Court this morning to answer a charge of fighting preferred by Patrolman Totten. The testimony given by the trio and several witnesses as the immediate cause of the row was so conflicting that City Judge Runyon laid the case over until next Saturday, when each side will have several spectators in court to back up their respective stories.

GRIGGS MAY BE HERE.

Franklin Murphy is Booked to Address Local Republicans October 31.

Arrangements are being made by the Republicans for a mass meeting to be held in this city, probably Thursday evening, October 31, in Reform Hall. The committee having the matter in charge are puzzled somewhat as to a place to hold the meeting, but it is quite likely Reform Hall will be chosen.

Franklin Murphy, candidate for Governor, will be present, as will also some of the candidates for assembly. In addition to this it is expected that Former Governor John L. Griggs will be present and speak. There was a meeting of the city committee last evening, when plans for the meeting were discussed.

FAILED TO PAY ALIMONY.

Baldwin Strauss Arrested in Brooklyn—Sent to Debtors' Prison.

Baldwin Strauss, of Grove street, was placed in the debtors' prison of the Raymond street jail in Brooklyn, Thursday afternoon, for failure to pay his divorced wife $30 a week alimony allowed in 1892. Mr. Baldwin, who is a Brooklyn lawyer, was not taken to jail until he had time to attempt to raise the amount due his former wife, which is over $500. He has taken an appeal from the order to pay alimony. The defendant has resided with his present wife and his son on Grove street in the borough and has figured as a defendant in a number of contract cases here lately.

Arranging for Reunion.

The committees in charge of the arrangements for the encampment of the Union Veterans' Union, which will be held here November 12 and 13, will meet at the home of Dr. J. F. Berg, on Sanford avenue, Thursday evening to make final arrangements for the affair.

SOMERSET COURT OPENS.

LOTS OF BUSINESS THERE READY FOR JUDGE SCHENCK.

Nearly All the Prisoners Have Pleaded Not Guilty and Will Stand Trial.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 19. — Judge Schenck, in the Somerset courts Thursday, started the criminal cases, and, as nearly all of the twenty-three people indicted pleaded not guilty, he will be kept busy for some time to come.

Assistant Prosecutor Pope at first moved the case of the State against Wm. VanNote, who is charged with stealing chickens from a neighbor in Franklin township, and had half of the jury impanelled before he discovered that his witnesses were not subpoenaed until yesterday.

The case of Mrs. Charlotte Williamson was then taken up. She is charged with assault and battery on Margaret Powers, a fifteen-year-old girl. The Williamson and Powers families are neighbors in South Bound Brook and it seems there is a field between them. Last summer while the defendant and her daughter were returning from Chimney Rock they met Maggie Powers and four of her school chums near the bridge across the canal in South Bound Brook.

The claim of the defense is that the girls were at first going in the same direction as Mrs. Williamson and her daughter, but suddenly turned around, and hand-in-hand bunked into them. The defendant was suffering from lumbago, and to defend herself, put out her hand. About this time one of the girls fell.

The State's claim is that Mrs. Williamson struck the Powers girl, who had been mocking her limp, felling her to the ground and breaking her collar bone. Nelson Y. Dungan was a counsel for the defense. The case went to the jury late last night.

METTLER ADMITS CRIME AND PLEADS GUILTY.

Finally Confessed That He Took Part in the Assault and Robbery of Mrs. Demko.

WAS READY FOR HEARING.

GOLD WATCH WAS UNEARTHED AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD WHERE HID.

Harry Mettler Made Confession to Chief Kiely Yesterday Afternoon—Told How It Was Done and Followed Their Movements.

After stoutly maintaining his plea of innocence from the time he was arrested, Harry Mettler, the young Easton lad, made a clean breast of the part he had taken in the Demko assault and robbery to Chief Kiely yesterday afternoon, just previous to the time he was to appear before Justice Nash. By so doing he saved the county from going to considerable expense, although the police officials had gathered sufficient evidence to convict. No promises were held out to him to make the confession, and it came only after he had arrived at the conclusion that there was no possible chance of escaping from paying the penalty.

In his statement Mettler told of the doings of himself and his accomplices, Charles Grether and Charles Van Schanck, alias "Long Island Black," from the day previous and after the job in this city. It was planned, he said, by the two Charlies on arriving in Easton from the northern part of this State, where they had committed several robberies. Mettler was asked to join them and consenting came to Somerville August 4. From there they went to Lincoln and spent the night in a barn.

The next day, August 5, they proceeded to the Demko house in Dunellen, about which Grether had done considerable reconnoitering while on a previous visit. The story of the assault and robbery of $176 and two gold watches has already been told.

Following the robbery they ran through a cornfield, doubled on their tracks and proceeded by way of Clinton avenue to Samptown, where the spoils were divided by Grether. Mettler received as his share, $32 and one of the watches. The latter he buried beneath a tree in a field at South Plainfield.

The trio then took a Lehigh Valley freight to Aldene with the intention of committing another robbery at Cranford but Mettler prevailed upon the others to desist when they reached the scene. They retraced their steps to Aldene, purchased tickets at the New Jersey Central depot and then went to this city, each riding in a different car. They spent all night in the Alabama Hotel, registering under assumed names and in the morning returned to Easton.

Immediately after making his statement, Mettler was taken to South Plainfield by Chief Kiely, where he pointed out the tree where the watch had been buried. A few minutes digging brought it to light, uninjured beyond the tarnishing of the gold case.

On returning to police headquarters, Justice Nash, Attorney Francis Blair, for the State, and a number of witnesses were in waiting for the appointed hearing. Among the latter were Mr. and Mrs. Demko, Glen Halliday, the Aldene ticket agent, William Liable and William Stilger, of Dunellen, and W. F. Polhemus, of Lincoln.

Seated in one corner handcuffed to Chief Hann, of Flemington, was Mettler's partner, "Blackie" who had been brought from the Hunterdon county jail, where he is being held pending trial for murderous assault. He was the cynosure of all eyes but appeared not to notice it.

On account of the confession, there was no need of the witnesses giving their testimony, and Mettler at once pleaded guilty. Bail was fixed at $2 000, and, in reply to the court as he was being led away, he jokingly said he didn't have it, but if he was in Pennsylvania he could get all the bonds he wanted. As the Grand Jury is still in session, the chances are Mettler will appear before that body Monday.

In order to complete every link in the chain of evidence, Mettler was placed in a row of men, and Mrs. Demko, who had not seen him since the day he helped bind and gag her, picked him out from the line without the least hesitation. She even declared he had his hair parted in a different way than on the day of the assault, to which Mettler declared she was right.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"The Bonnie Brier Bush" at the Theatre Republic, New York, has attracted to that playhouse in addition to the regular theatregoers many people who clearly are not frequent patrons of the drama. Literary folk, ministers and ladies of church society have been much in evidence during the first fortnight of the engagement, and their tributes of praise written and spoken to the art of Dr. Watson, the author, Mr. MacArthur, the adaptor, and Mr. Stoddart, the star, have been remarkable for sincerity and cordiality no less than for artistic expression. Mr. Stoddart has received over two hundred letters of endorsement from the clergymen of New York, and nearly as many more from the prominent educators of the city. "The Bonnie Brier Bush" is the daintiest, sweetest and most wholesome bit of stage literature that has been seen on Broadway for many a day, and the consummate art of Mr. Stoddart, Mr. Fax and Mr. Jennings has just about exhausted the adjectives of the metropolitan press critics in its praise. "The Bonnie Brier Bush" continues at the Republic for four more weeks.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.
WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Astamalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler,
Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS'. MEDICINE CO.,
Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful.

After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether.

Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., February 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.
Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit. Home address, 205 Rivington street. S. RAPHARI,

COURT'S END IS NEAR

Schley's Attorney So Announces—A Rest Taken.

EIGHT WITNESSES ARE EXAMINED.

The Battle of July 3 as Seen From the Oregon—The Admiral's Private Secretary Closely Questioned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Just before the Schley court of inquiry adjourned yesterday Attorney Rayner, counsel for Admiral Schley, informed the court that he hopes to be able to conclude the presentation of testimony for the applicant by the close of next week. He added that he thus far had not had opportunity to consult witnesses who are still to be heard. He therefore asked that an adjournment be taken until Monday. Speaking for the court, Admiral Dewey said he was most happy to grant the request. Accordingly the court adjourned until 11 o'clock Monday.

The list of witnesses examined included eight names, but the interrogation of the last of the witnesses called had not been concluded when the day came to a close. This last witness was Lieutenant B. W. Wells, Jr., who served during the war with Spain as Admiral Schley's flag lieutenant.

The other seven persons heard during the day were in the order in which they were called—Lieutenant Commander Reginald F. Nicholson, who was navigator of the Oregon; Medical Director Charles M. De Valin, a surgeon; Captain J. L. Hannum, retired engineer; Lieutenant Thomas F. Carter, Ensign W. P. Cronan, Carpenter J. H. Warford, all of whom served on the Brooklyn, and J. L. Hanley, who was chief machinist on board the Texas.

Lieutenant Commander Nicholson told the story of the battle of July 3 as he saw it from the deck of the Oregon. He said the movements of the Oregon had not been controlled by signals from the Brooklyn, and he expressed the opinion that the Oregon was nearer the Colon than the Brooklyn was. Mr. Hanley said that the port engines of the Texas had not been stopped during the battle of July 3.

From the line of the examination relating to the fight of July 3 already pursued it is evident that it is the intention of Mr. Rayner to have Lieutenant Wells give a complete history of Admiral Schley's actions during the Spanish war. When the court adjourned, he had reached the period of the battle of July 3, having gone quite minutely into other incidents of the campaign up to that time, including the receipt of dispatches from Admiral Sampson.

Ransom or Death For Miss Stone.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—"Four thousand Bulgarian and Turkish troops have been occupied in the effort to obtain Miss Stone's release," says a dispatch from Sofia to The Morning Leader. "It is believed here that her release would have been effected but for Mr. Dickinson's refusal to offer her captors more than an ordinary pour boire. Mr. Dickinson's extraordinary action is regarded as suicidal. A large sum must be paid to the brigands, as otherwise Miss Stone's life will be sacrificed. If Mr. Dickinson desires vengeance on the brigands, the women must be ransomed first."

Partition Threatens China.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 19.—Colonel Charles Denby, ex-United States minister to China, and Mrs. Denby are in the city. In an interview Colonel Denby said: "The great danger that confronts China is partition. Since the Germans took Kowchow and other nations followed her example it is a question of considerable doubt whether they will not partition China, as the nations are getting every possible advantage in the way of railroad and mining concessions, each one in the territory of which it has taken possession."

Broke Out of a New Jail.

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 19.—There has been a jail delivery at Marion, the county seat of Smyth county. A new jail, costing $6,000, had been built recently and was thought to be strong enough to hold any criminal, but three prisoners, one serving a term for felony and two others for minor offenses, escaped from it by prying an opening between the iron bars and are now at large.

British and Russians Agree.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—The British and Russian governments have come to a complete agreement regarding the Afghan situation. It is asserted in high diplomatic circles here that even should complications arise in Afghanistan in consequence of the death of Abdur Rhaman and the accession of Habib Ullah these would not lead to concurrent intervention.

New Siamese Minister En Route.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The state department is advised by Minister King, at Bangkok, that the Siamese minister to the United States left there Sept. 4 for the United States. He will stop for some time in London and expects to reach New York in the early part of November. The minister's name is Phya Akharaj Oradhara.

KILLED BY BOLOMEN

Ten More of the Ninth Infantry Dead In Samar.

THE INSURGENTS ARE ROUTED.

United States Troops Were Outnumbered Ten to One by Attacking Party—Re-enforcements Sent at Once.

MANILA, Oct. 19.—Five hundred bolomen yesterday attacked a detachment of forty-six men of the Ninth infantry at Bangajon, island of Samar.

Ten of the United States troops were killed and six wounded.

The rest of the detachment reached the scene of the battle in time to prevent further slaughter.

The enemy were routed and over a hundred of them killed.

When the news of the battle was received at Colbalogon two gunboats were at once ordered to the scene. General Smith, who commands the American forces in Manila, went to Bangajon in person.

It is believed the bolomen retired only for re-enforcements.

THE SAMAR CAMPAIGN.

General Hughes Reports on the Situation In That Island.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—This latest attack is viewed with some apprehension by the military authorities here, and there is a belief that General Hughes has underestimated the fighting strength of the insurgents. This belief is confirmed in a report made by General Hughes to General Chaffee in August, a copy of which has just been received at the war department. In this report General Hughes says:

"The progress in Samar is satisfactory in some ways and not in others. The subduing of the fighting propensities of the war faction is reduced almost to a nullity. The growth of our strength in the estimation of the people is also quite satisfactory. The fact is their love for the flesh pots and incidentally for the Americans who represent said pots is growing burdensome, as the securing of the hemp with which to pay for rice is becoming a heavy business. In nearly all our posts where the commander has exercised good judgment colonies of natives have come in and settled and concluded they would set up their lares and penates under our wing. These colonies differ in strength, but in this vicinity or between the Hibitan and the Gandara rivers about 16,000 have come in. In the interior Blanca Aurora, Taviran, Matuguinao, Oquendo, etc., have their colonies.

"The correspondence the troops have captured shows that the armed forces are deserting and breaking away from military control of the Vicol leaders.

"The unsatisfactory features are the slowness of the process of conversion, the failure to get the rifles and the slowness and the difficulty in making roads and trails. Every foot presents its peculiar obstacles, but the troops are doing all that can be justly demanded of them, and, while efforts have been made to push things faster, I am entirely satisfied with the results thus far secured.

"Our cause is growing stronger with the people in Cebu, and, while the outlaws there will have to be roughly dealt with, there is no doubt that we will find much assistance from the natives themselves in doing so. I hope to be able to go over there in person by the 1st of September and try and push matters.

"Negros and Panay continue in entire tranquillity. It is my intention to leave one battalion of the Sixth infantry and the native battalion in Negros and in Panay six companies of the Sixth infantry, four troops of the Tenth cavalry and two battalions of natives. Two companies of the Sixth infantry I expect to bring, temporarily at least, to the west coast of Cebu."

Roosevelt's Horses Named.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The three coach horses recently purchased by the president in New York have been installed at the White House stables. The president is much pleased with them. They are Kentucky bred animals. Mrs. Roosevelt named them Admiral, General and Judge. A Shetland pony has been ordered for the use of Archibald, the third son of the president, who is about seven years of age.

Fined For Working Sunday.

READING, Pa., Oct. 19.—After a hearing a local magistrate last evening fined seventy motormen and conductors of the United Traction company $4 each and costs for working last Sunday. The arrests were made at the instance of the former employees of the company, who have been on strike for several weeks. The strikers say they will bring prosecutions every Sunday the cars are in operation.

Jackson Case Too Foul to Print.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The Daily Mail announces that it will discontinue publishing reports of the Jackson case and expresses regret that the law does not empower a magistrate to exclude the public and reporters from such unsavory trials.

Three Trainmen Killed.

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., Oct. 19.—Three trainmen were crushed to death in a head on collision between an east and west bound freight train on the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee railroad at a curve five miles west of here.

VENEZUELAN FUNDS LOST.

Reported Sinking of Ship With Some of Castro's Treasure.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Oct. 19.—A fishing schooner which has just arrived here from Aruba island, northwest of Curacao, brings the story that the Arends, a Venezuelan schooner bound from La Guayra for Maricaibo, carrying a sum of money from the government destined to pay the troops on the frontier, the amount being variously estimated from $25,000 to $100,000, encountered heavy weather last Sunday night off Aruba island and foundered in deep water, the entire sum being lost. The crew, according to the story, reached the island in a boat.

The money is supposed to have been part of the sum raised in Curacao a fortnight ago from the Bank of Venezuela by President Castro. If it is actually lost, the government has sustained a very severe blow.

The sinking of the schooner was attended with certain suspicious circumstances. The weather Sunday night was calm, and the captain of the Arends resides on Aruba island. There are other minor details pointing to the possibility of collusion with outsiders to secure possession of the money.

ON A SILVER BASIS.

Quarrel Between Boston Clearing House and Banks Continues.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The quarrel between the Boston clearing house and about seventy country banks in New England over the remitting of checks at par continues to involve the subtreasury here in a great amount of labor and not a little expense.

Since the 23d of August, when the quarrel began, up to last Wednesday the subtreasury had shipped to the banks on their orders 1,635,000 standard silver dollars and $288,600 in fractional silver, an aggregate weight of 96,465 pounds or 48 tons. The country banks have remitted silver by express, and this silver is turned into the subtreasury by the clearing house. Within the time named the subtreasury has received from this source 1,522,200 standard dollars.

In the subtreasury money clerks have been so entirely occupied in counting silver that they have been compelled to allow the paper currency deposited for redemption to remain unassorted and uncounted until nearly $2,000,000 in silver certificates and by notes has accumulated, which ought all to have been sent to Washington.

Robbers Torture Their Victims.

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Oct. 19.—Six masked men entered the residence of Charles Tague, a merchant at McLuney, this county, during the night and at the point of revolvers bound and gagged the whole family. Tague was searched and his gold watch and a considerable sum of money taken. The robbers then demanded the keys to his store, but Tague refused to reveal where they were. His shoes were removed and his feet roasted with matches and hot irons until he gave up the keys. The robbers then entered the store and thoroughly looted it. Taking Tague's horse and buggy, the gang loaded in a quantity of goods and the contents of the safe and escaped.

Steel Workers to Reorganize.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 19.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America is planning a general reorganization tending to strengthen itself after the losses accruing in membership due to the settlement. The national officers have come to the conclusion that the recent strike was lost largely by reason of the fact that the men of the inferior positions in the mills were able to take up the skilled work and fill the positions of the Amalgamated men. The new policy of the association will be to take in all the mill workers and make them part and parcel of the organization, so that the interests of all will be identical.

A Threat From Japan.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 19.—Sir John Madden has received a dispatch from Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, informing him that the Japanese cabinet says that if the Australian immigration and postoffice bills are passed Japanese mail steamers will discontinue service between Japan and Australia, thus greatly affecting commerce.

Electric Power Without Wires.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Experiments were made at the residence of the inventors, Messrs. Armstrong and Orling, in Buckinghamshire, of a new system of wireless telegraphy and telephony, using earth currents instead of air currents, as in the Marconi system. Operations were successfully conducted over a distance of 500 yards.

Bank Officers Missing.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 19.—Albert G. Smith, teller, and Lewis K. Swift, bookkeeper of the Merchants' National bank, failed to report for duty yesterday morning. Inquiry showed that neither had been at his home the previous night. The directors of the bank are still in session, and a statement is expected soon.

CORBIN ON THE ARMY

Adjutant General's Annual Report Made Public.

PHILIPPINE FORCE BEING REDUCED.

Monthly Expiration of Enlistments About 2,000—Year's Fatalities In the Islands Total 3,560 Men. Several Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The annual report of Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general of the army, comprehensively reviews the work, condition and needs of the military establishment.

General Corbin submits a table to show that the army in the Philippines is to be reduced by expired enlistments at the rate of about 2,000 a month from now on until June, 1902. The question whether the regiments thus depleted in strength are to remain so or be recruited to their full roster, he says, is one requiring the very earliest consideration, for if the latter is contemplated it is already time to begin special recruiting.

The losses from all causes in the regular army and the volunteers from July 1, 1900, to June 30 last totaled 16,924 officers and men in the former and 8,191 in the latter. The casualties to the troops in the Philippines since the date of the first arrival, June 30, 1898, to June 30 last, were 115 officers and 3,378 men killed and 182 officers and 2,646 men wounded. General Corbin dwells at some length on the subject of the volunteer army in the Philippines and calls attention to the promptness and dispatch with which these regiments were brought home and mustered out.

He devotes special attention to the question of the instruction of the army. He believes that the system of training for the officers should begin with elementary technical instruction at each post and terminate in the higher training which would be provided at a war college, the speedy and complete organization of which he considers most desirable.

General Corbin's recent tour of the Philippine Islands and his brief visit to Japan and eastern China bears fruit in some interesting suggestions. General Corbin believes that the army transport service on the Pacific is costing the government considerably more than the use of commercial steamships would, for the latter would have the advantage, denied to the government, of transporting passengers, freight and mails to the orient both on outward and homeward voyages and would meet the needs for increasing American trade in the orient. He therefore suggests that congress with safety could offer inducements to United States shippers to install a line of steamers under charters that would permit them in time of necessity to serve as reserve army and navy transports.

An equally important need of the service, General Corbin says, is a domestic cable from the Pacific coast to the Philippines. The present cable communication through Europe, Asia, China and Japan, he says, for obvious reasons should be discontinued at the earliest possible date. The rates charged by the existing cable service are exorbitant, $2.38 per word being the regular tariff on messages between Washington and Manila.

He urges that more comfortable quarters for the troops in the Philippines be provided as soon as possible and that an appropriation be made for the erection of storehouses in and about Manila, where the government now pays $300,000 annually for the use of rented buildings. If these suggestions are adopted, General Corbin says, the cost of maintaining the army in the Philippines will be scarcely more than if the troops were on home stations.

He strongly recommends that congress shall authorize the retirement of not to exceed two major generals on the active and one on the retired list, with the rank of lieutenant general. He points out that the distinguished services of Major Generals Merritt, Brooke and Otis fully entitle them to this honor.

Justice has been already too long delayed, General Corbin says, in the matter of the medals for exceptional war service recommended by the late President McKinley in his message to congress in 1899 for the volunteers, regulars, sailors and marines on duty in the Philippine Islands who voluntarily remained in the service after their terms of enlistments had expired in order to serve their country in an extremity, and he urges that this matter be brought to the attention of congress with renewed emphasis.

General Corbin also cordially approves a movement to give service medals to all officers and men of the regular and volunteer troops who honorably served in the war with Spain, in the Philippines and in China.

A Gift to Harvard.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Harvard college benefits by the will of Miss Harriet N. Lowell, just probated. After the payment of $10,000 in private gifts one-half the remainder of her estate is given outright to Harvard college to be used by the medical faculty of the university. The other half goes to Lasell E. Partridge for life, and at his death it goes to the college. The estate includes much Boston real estate. Miss Lowell made her fortune in the millinery business.

A Larger Battleship For England.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The admiralty has sent instructions to Devonport to prepare for the construction of a battleship larger than any now existing. Her displacement will be 16,500 tons and her length 425 feet. She will be the first vessel of the King Edward class.

A Political Error.

In making its nominations for members of assembly, the general concensus of opinion seems to be that the Republican party of Union county made a mistake in putting the name of Frederick Miller on the ticket. The dominant party in this county has, during the years of its control here, shown considerable judgment in putting able men on its ticket as representatives to the State Legislature. Its choice for the upper house has been, of late years, particularly happy. Owing to the fact that there was no remarkable mismanagement of county affairs and the candidates selected were strong men, the Republicans have carried the county regularly year after year.

When the name of Mr. Miller was first mentioned, words of disapproval were heard all over the county. Many of the Republicans were not at all pleased with the character of the candidate. While they did not question his honesty, they believed that he was not a suitable man to place in the legislative halls of the State to make the laws. Such a position requires more than the ordinary intelligence and education. The demand for Mr. Miller's nomination on the part of his friends in Elizabeth was very strong and the rest of the party conceded to it.

Of course, the Republican workers throughout the county will support him as strongly as any other man on the ticket. There is no doubt, however, but that he will lose the votes of many of the independent Republican voters, who support that ticket under ordinary circumstances but are not so partisan that they will not vote for a better man when he happens to be on another ticket.

Mr. Miller is not a candidate who is going to attract the intelligent voters. His speech of acceptance at the county convention was a fair sample of what may be expected from him. There are many Republicans who deplore the fact that he was placed on the ticket while the Democrats have reason to be pleased thereat.

With the great crowd of several thousand people who assembled for the firemen's parade Thursday, it was really remarkable that there was so little disorder. Only four arrests were made on this side of the brook, and of that number only one was a stranger who came to attend the parade. It certainly speaks well for the visitors and for the local firemen as well.

The Plainfield firemen, who were called to Cranford to assist in extinguish the burning oil cars there, have very pleasant recollections of Wm. F. Hall, one of the Republican nominees for the Assembly. It was Mr. Hall who provided a generous supper for the firemen when the work was over and the time had come to return.

There were lots of pleasant things said about Plainfield by the visiting crowds Thursday. Those who had never seen the city before could not say too much about its beauty and admirable surroundings. The city fire department was also the cause for unstinted praise.

Many regrets were expressed Thursday over the non-appearance of the Exempt Firemen in the firemen's parade. It was the general opinion that the association as well as the silver hose carriage should have been in line.

Under the provisions of the Meeker Election Law the terms of the local Freeholders do not expire until a year from the coming election. Plainfield will not, therefore, have to make any nominations for these places.

The Democrats will hold their city convention first this year. They have promised that a complete city ticket will be chosen, and that an active fight will be made here before election day.

This is the time to agitate the question of public baths for Plainfield, so they can be completed in time to be used during the hot months of the year to come.

The joint parade committee of the North Plainfield fire companies deserves great praise for the successful manner in which it discharged its duties.

Major James M. Seymour took his turn at invading Somerset county last evening. Like the Republican candidate, he was given a cordial reception.

Football does not seem to have taken a very firm foothold in Plainfield yet.

NEW BLOCK SIGNALS ON JERSEY CENTRAL.

The block signaling will be carried through the interlocking points, where the signals will be controlled both from the tracks and the towers. Present train order signals at stations of importance will be retained; they will control the distant signals of the blocks in which they are located.

"This installation of automatic block signals on the Central Railroad of New Jersey is but one of the many improvements that have been recently inaugurated by the road, and if present plans carry, it will be second to none in the matter of modern equipment. It is expected that the block system will increase the traffic capacity of the line at least fifty per cent."

CHANGE IN SERVICES.

Evening Prayer in Afternoon Will be Changed to Evening Service.

The Church of the Holy Cross will make an important change in her services. Beginning with Sunday, the evensong service at 4:30 o'clock will be discontinued and an evening service at 7:45 o'clock will take its place. It has long been felt that such a service would meet the needs of a large number of the congregation, who can not conveniently attend any of the other services. The aim will be to make this service popular in every way. Good, hearty singing will be a prominent feature and occasionally visiting clergymen will be invited to preach.

Cataract Removed.

William L. Gavett, of Sandford avenue, underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, Thursday, for the removal of a cataract which obscured the sight of the left eye. It was performed by Dr. Ard and seems to have been successful but no definite result can be obtained until ten days have elapsed. A similar trouble has made its appearance on Mr. Gavett's right optic but so far he has been able to make his way about.

Wedded at Richmond.

The marriage of a former Plainfielder, Charles Burton Ford, and Miss Maude Winston Butler, of Richmond, Va., took place at the bride's home Wednesday afternoon. The groom is the chief draughtsman of the Trigg Shipyard Company, of Richmond. Mrs. Harriet Burton Ford, of Watchung avenue, the mother of the groom, attended the nuptial festivities.

Given Chance to Settle.

Frank Schuck appeared before City Judge Runyon last evening, charged with falling through a plate glass window in a North avenue store, while intoxicated. The matter was adjourned until Monday with the understanding that proceedings would be dropped if the damage was paid for.

Repairing Front Street.

Street Commissioner Gavett has placed a gang of men at work on East Front street, between Leland avenue and Richmond street. The depressions are being filled with two and a half inch stone and binding, over which a coating of one inch stone will be placed early next spring.

Date Changed

The date of "Jed Bassett's Singin' Skewl" at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church has been changed from Tuesday evening, October 22, until Thursday evening, November 14.

This popular resort, which is the dwelling place during the summer of a select colony from Newark, has been conducted for several years by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Malloy, and each season proves more popular than the previous one. Many of the families have returned to the city, but there are still several who are enjoying the autumn among the hills.

NEW CANAL TREATY.

It Is Said the Fortifications Clause Will Be Left Out.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Lord Pauncefote will sail for the United States on the 26th inst., before the British cabinet council has had an opportunity to review the protocols which embody in principle the proposed new Hay-Pauncefote canal treaty. It is thought here, however, that that fact will not delay sensibly the final negotiations, which will take place here between Secretary Hay and Lord Pauncefote, for it is the intention that the new treaty, like that which it will replace on the docket of the senate, shall be finally drafted and signed in the city of Washington.

It is said that when the new document is framed the "fortifications" clause will have been found to have dropped out, leaving the United States at liberty to fortify the canal, but it is distinctly stated that it is not obligated to do so, and, in fact, there is no present intention of erecting fortifications, which, it is stated, would be much more expensive than a fleet of battleships and less useful.

GOVERNOR HUNT'S PLANS.

Several Tours of Porto Rico and a Visit to Washington.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 19.—The arrival of Charles Hartzell, the newly appointed secretary of Porto Rico, is anxiously awaited. Governor Hunt intends to make several tours in the island, but will not start until after Mr. Hartzell arrives. After the tours he will visit Washington for a short conference with the officials there regarding the public needs of Porto Rico. He is especially interested in education, coffee protection, harbor dredging and matters affecting public lands.

Mr. Hunt is said to favor the creation of the office of United States surveyor general and legislation affirming titles now uncertain under various interpretations of the treaty of Paris, an uncertainty which retards the development of the sugar industry.

In the absence of the governor the secretary is required to act, and therefore the early appearance of Mr. Hartzell is essential.

Engineer Melville's Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—That there has been retrogression rather than an advance along engineering lines in the navy during the past two years is the most significant statement contained in the annual report of Admiral George Melville, engineer in chief of the navy. He says that this is not the time to entertain the suggestion frequently made that a separate engineer corps should again be created. He quotes an expression of President Roosevelt, when assistant secretary of the navy, "Every officer on a modern warship has to be a fighting engineer." The engineer in chief asks for a new building at Annapolis and an appropriation of $150,000 for experimental work.

A Government Torpedo School.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The United States torpedo school at Fort Totten, N. Y., which was formerly a part of the engineer school of application, has been detached from that institution and hereafter will be operated as an independent organization under the direction of the lieutenant general of the army. Orders just issued assign Major Arthur Murray, artillery corps, as the commandant of the torpedo school. The school will be utilized for the special instruction of officers in torpedoes, sunken mines and other submarine defenses.

Damages For Daughter's Death.

BALLSTON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—A verdict for $9,500 in favor of Bradford D. Kellogg and against the Albany and Hudson Railway company was handed down after a hearing before Justice Stover. The suit was brought for $25,000 damages for the death of Miss Maude Kellogg, the plaintiff's daughter, who was killed in a collision at Schodack, Rensselaer county, while she was a passenger on a trolley car of the defendant's road. In the accident six people were killed and seventy-five injured.

Cause of the Typhus Epidemic.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—Fifty-six new cases of typhus fever were officially reported yesterday at Gelsenkirchen. Dr. Koch, who is continuing his investigations there on behalf of the government, says he believes the epidemic due to a bursting of pipes in a house where a typhus fever patient was under treatment, this leading to an infection of the entire water system with typhus bacilli.

TRAINING THE HAND.

Show the Child How to Do Things, Don't Do Them Yourself.

"The more you do for children, the less they do for themselves!" My friend said this bitterly as she sank exhausted into a rocker. She has sacrificed her entire life for her children, and what is the result? Now that she is old, not only they do nothing for her, but they still expect her to do things for them.

Do you know that is the trouble with most mothers, especially those who have bright brains and clever fingers? They would rather do things themselves than see others bungle over them. They wait on their children, dress them and even solve their difficulties, performing all these things much more rapidly and satisfactorily than if they were left to the children themselves. But what comes of it? The children grow up helpless, with stiff, unwieldy fingers and an utter absence of what New Englanders so aptly term "faculty." "Oh, if I could only sew!" one often hears a woman say. "But I have not a bit of talent that way, and my fingers are so stiff and clumsy I can't even tie a decent bow. Dear mother was so clever. She always used to make all our dainty little things."

DEVELOPING CLEVER FINGERS.

Why are those fingers clumsy? Because they were never trained. We hear a great deal about educating the brain. What about educating the hand? Do you know what it means to have an educated hand in this busy world? All the difference between failure and success. It is one of the most valuable gifts your child can have, and it is within your power to bestow it.

THE CHAFING DISH.

Try One When Next You Entertain Your Friends.

Where the chafing dish originated no one knows. It is related that the great Napoleon himself was fond of cooking little messes for the benefit of Josephine. Men like the chafing dish because they can exploit their skill in cooking before their less clever friends. Women cling to the chafing dish because it enables them to adopt a pretty pose.

Anyway, the chafing dish is here to stay, and those of you who do not possess one had better set to work immediately to remedy the deficiency. Here are a few hints which may help you. Of course a solid silver dish is out of the question for the average purse, but a silver plated dish at $10 or a nickel plated one at $5 will do just as well. Select a dish which has a hot water pan, because in cooking certain kinds of food they will scorch if put immediately over the fire. All the handles should be of heatproof material, ebony preferred. The best grade of alcohol is the cheapest in the long end, for it gives more heat. Five tablespoonfuls will last for about half an hour, which is long enough to carry out the average chafing dish recipe. Before you begin in the presence of your friends be sure to have your condiments placed conveniently at hand. If possible, have everything measured out. Of course any number of accessories can be bought in the shape of silver spice bottles, dishes for sauces, long, beautifully worked spoons and forks, etc., but four things are absolutely necessary—you must have a flagon with a long, slender spout for the alcohol with which to fill the burner, and this should be of silver, as it is always present on the table; next a heatproof tray on which the chafing dish may be placed so that it will not injure the surface of the table, and last you should have at least one spoon and one fork with long handles. Eggs, oysters, sweetbreads and lobsters may be easily cooked on the chafing dish in a variety of appetizing ways, and such is the craze for this amateur cooking that several books have been published full of nothing but chafing dish recipes.

HELEN CLIFTON.

. . The . . Lost Continent

By Cutcliffe Hyne.

The cleft was straight where they set about their building, and there was no curve or spur of the cliff to hide their handiwork from those of the priests who watched from the ramparts above our one remaining gate. But Phorenice had a coyness lest her engine should be seen before it was completed, and so to screen it she had a vast fire built at the uppermost point where the causeway was broken off, and fed diligently with wet sedge and green wood, so that a great smoke poured out, rising like a curtain that shut out all view. And so, though the priests on the rampart above the gate picked off now and again some of those who tended the fire, they could do the besiegers no further injury, and remained up to the last quite in ignorance of their tactics.

The passage up the cleft was in shadow during the night hours, for, though all the crest of the Sacred Mountain was always lit brightly by the eternal fires which made its defense on the farther side, their glow threw no gleam down that flank where the cliff ran sheer to the plains beneath. And so it was under cover of the darkness that Phorenice brought up her engine into position for attack.

Planking had been laid down for its wheels, and the wheels themselves well greased, and it may be that she hoped to march in upon us while all slept. But there was a certain creaking and groaning of timbers and labored panting of men which gave advertisement that something was being attempted, and the alarm was spread quietly in the hope that, if a surprise had been planned, the real surprise might be turned the other way.

A messenger came to me, running, where I sat in the house at the side of my love, and she, like the soldier's wife she was made to be, kissed me and bade me go quickly and care for my honor, and bring back my wounds for her to mend.

On the rampart above the gate all was silence, save for the faint rustle of armed men, and out of the black darkness ahead, from the other side of the broken causeway, came the sounds of which the messenger had warned me.

The captain of the gate came to me and whispered: "We have made no light till the king came, not knowing the king's will in the matter. Is it wished I send some of the throwing-fire down yonder, on the chance that it does some harm, and at the same time lights up the place? Or is it willed that we wait for their surprise?"

"Send the fire," I said, "or we may find that Phorenice's brain has been one too many for us."

The captain of the gate took one of the balls in his hand, lit the fuse and hurled it. The horrid thing burst among a mass of men who were laboring with a huge engine, spattering them with its deadly fire, and lighting their garments. The plan of the engine showed itself plainly. They had built them a vast great tower, resting on wheels at its base, so that it might be pushed forward from behind, and slanting at its foot to allow for the steepness of the path and leave it always upright.

It was storied inside, with ladders joining each floor, and through slits in the side which faced us bowmen could cover an attack. From its top a great bridge reared high above it, being carried vertically till the tower was brought near enough for its use. The bridge was hinged at the third story of the tower, and fastened with ropes to its extreme top; but, once the ropes were cut, the bridge would fall, and light upon whatever came within its swing, and be held there by the spikes with which it was studded beneath.

I saw, and inwardly felt myself conquered. The cleverness of Phorenice had been too strong for my defense. No war-engine of which we had command could overset the tower. The whole of its massive timbers were hung with the wet new-stripped skins of beasts, so that even the throwing-fire could not destroy it. What puny means we had to impede those who pushed it forward would have little effect. Presently it would come to the place appointed, and the ropes would be cut, and the bridge would thunder down on the rampart above our last gate, and the stormers would pour out to their final success.

Well, life had loomed very pleasant for me these few days, with a warm and loving Nais once more in touch of my arms, but the high gods in their infinite wisdom knew best always, and I was no rebel to stay stiff-necked against their decision. But it is ever a soldier's privilege, come what may, to warm over a fight, and the most exquisitely fierce joy of all is that final fight of a man who knows that he must die, and who lusts only to make his bed of slain high enough to carry a due memory of his powers with those who afterwards come to gaze upon it. I gripped my ax, and the muscles of my arms stood out in knots at the thought of it. Would Tatho come to give me sport? I feared not. They would send only the common soldiers first to the storm, and I must be content to do my killing on those.

And Nais, what of her? I had a quiet mind there. When any spoilers came to the house where she lay, she would know that Deucalion had been taken up to the gods, and she would not be long in following him. She had her dagger. No, I had no fears of being parted long from Nais now.

CHAPTER XVII.

DESTRUCTION OF ATLANTIS.

A tottering old priest came up and touched me on the shoulder.

"Well?" I said, sharply, having small taste for interruption just now.

"News has been carried to the Three, my king, of what is threatened."

"Then they will know that I stand here now, brother, to enjoy the finest fight of all my life. When it is finished I shall go to the gods, and be there standing behind the stars to welcome them when presently they also arrive. They have my regrets that they are too old and too feeble to die and look upon a fine killing themselves."

"I have commands from them, my king, to lay upon you, which I fear you will like but slenderly. You are forbidden to find your death here in the fighting. They have further use for you yet."

I turned on the old man angrily enough. "I shall take no such order, my brother. I am not going to believe it was ever given. You must have misunderstood. If I am a man, if I am a priest, if I am a soldier, if I am a king, then it stands to my honor that no enemy should pass this gate while yet I live. And you may go back and throw that message at their teeth."

The old man smiled enviously. He, too, had been a keen soldier in his day. "I told them you would not easily believe such a message, and asked them for a sign, and they bore with me, and gave me one. I was to give you this jewel, my king."

"How came they by that? It is a bracelet from the elbow of Nais."

"They must have stripped her of it. I did not know it came from Nais. The word I was to bring you said that the owner of the jewel was inside the Ark of the Mysteries, and waited you there. The use which the Three have for you further concerns her also."

Even when I heard that, I will freely confess that my obedience was sorely tried, and I have the less shame in setting it down on these sheets, because I know that all true soldiers will feel a sympathy for my plight. Indeed, the promise of the battle was very tempting. But in the end my love for Nais prevailed, and I gave the salutation that was needful in token that I heard the order and obeyed it.

To the knot of priests who were left for the defense I turned and made my farewells. "You will have what I shall miss, my brothers," I said. "I envy you that fight. But, though I am king of Atlantis, still I am only one of the Seven, and so am servant of the Three, and must obey their order. They speak in words the will of the most high gods, and we must do as they command. You will stand behind the stars before I come, and I ask of you that you will commend me to those you meet there. It is not my own will that I shall not appear there by your side."

They heard my words with smiles, and very courteously saluted me with their weapons, and there we parted. I did not see the fight, but I know it was good, from the time which passed before Phorenice's hordes broke out on the crest of the mountain. They died hard, that last remnant of the lesser priests of Atlantis.

With a sour enough feeling I went up to the head of the pass, and then through the groves, and between the temples and colleges and houses which stood on the upper slopes of the Sacred Mountain, till I reached that boundary beyond which in milder days it was death for any but the privileged few to pass. But the time, it appeared to me, was past for conventions, and, moreover, my own temper was hot; and it is likely that I should have strode on with little scruple if I had not been interrupted. But in the temple which marked the boundary there was old Zaemon waiting; and he, with due solemnity of words, and with the whole of some ancient ritual ordained for that purpose, sought dispensation from the high gods for my trespass, and would not give me way till he was through with his ceremony.

Already Phorenice's tower and bridge were in position, for the clash and yelling of a fight told that the small handful of priests on the rampart of the last gate were bartering their lives for the highest return in dead that they could earn. They were trained fighting men all, but old and feeble, and the odds against them were too enormous to be stemmed for over long. In a very short time the place would be put to the storm and the roof of the Sacred Mountain would be at the open mercy of the invader. If there was any further thing to be done, it was well that it should be set about quickly while peace remained. It seemed to me that the moment was for prompt action, and the time for lengthy pompous ceremonial was done for good.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Year's Volume of Business Likely to Break All Records.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Unfavorable signs are rare in the business outlook. Manufacturing industries enjoy exceptional activity, and most jobbers and retailers find no occasion for complaint. Mild weather is the one influence that may be charged with retarding retail merchandise distribution, yet there is general confidence that any sales thus postponed will be made up later. The same influence is invaluable in facilitating the handling of crops, erecting buildings and other outdoor work. Although a fifth of the year is still to be heard from, including the usual interruption of elections and possible disturbance of legislation, there is ample evidence that the volume of legitimate business will largely exceed all previous records.

Fluctuations in cereals were small, with markets dull and featureless. Corn receded a little further, influenced unfavorably by the insignificant shipment from Atlantic ports, only 591,155 bushels for the week, compared with 2,799,887 last year and 4,747,258 in 1899. Wheat lost a little of the early gain, although declining prices a year ago make the difference smaller than it has been at any time this crop year.

Liabilities of failures during two weeks of October were $4,475,268, of which $1,360,648 were in manufacturing and $1,648,882 in trading. Failures for the week numbered 229 in the United States against 209 last year and 31 in Canada against 26 last year.

FIVE WORKMEN KILLED.

Fatal Cavein of Rock in the New York Subway.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Without warning a mass of rock some fifty feet long and weighing many tons broke from the roof of the Rapid Transit tunnel in the excavation at Eleventh avenue and One Hundred and Sixty-second street yesterday. In the tunnel at the time directly beneath where the mass of rock had rested before it became loosened were twenty workmen. Five men were killed and several injured.

The cause of the falling of the rock lies in the fact that the strata through which that part of the tunnel penetrates are slanted in position and that between them are layers of disintegrated rock and wet sand. This fact has made the danger of accident caused by one layer of rock slipping over another and thus down into the tunnel opening a constant one.

It has been necessary continually to keep a close watch on the sides of the tunnel to see that slices of rock were not loosening and ready to slide into the tunnel, and just after a blast this danger has naturally been greatly increased.

The mass of rock that had fallen was from the roof of the tunnel, which at this point is over a hundred feet below the surface and through solid rock.

Pat Crowe Has Traveled Far.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 19.—John J. Crowe, who conducted a saloon in Council Bluffs, says that his brother, Pat Crowe, will not surrender until he shall be convinced that his bond will be placed at $500. "If such a pledge is made, he may be in Omaha within a week," declares the brother. "Pat has been all over the world," said John Crowe, "and while the Omaha police were looking for him I saw him in Omaha. Pat has been in Council Bluffs within the last three months and has been in Omaha also. Since then he has been in Canada, but he did not like it there, and he is now within easy reach of Omaha."

Brutal House Breakers.

DUBOIS, Pa., Oct. 19.—Two masked men entered the home of Mrs. Catherine Reeds, who resides alone on her farm, between this place and Brockwayville, at night and abused her in a terrible manner in an effort to make her disclose the whereabouts of her money. The woman withstood the inhuman treatment of the fiends for three hours and then became insensible. The robbers then ransacked the house from top to bottom, smashing pictures, breaking furniture and tearing up carpets. They secured $50 in money and took Mrs. Reeds' bank and check books.

Sank In Lake Michigan.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Oct. 19.—The Barry line steamer State of Michigan sank yesterday about four miles northwest of White Lake harbor, where she now lies in sixty feet of water. All the officers and crew reached shore in safety, aided by the White Lake life saving crew. Captain Barry said the accident was caused by the breaking of a piston rod of the engine, which drove a hole through the bottom of the steamer. Through this the water poured with such force that nothing could be done to stop it.

Brewster's Forge Commemorated.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Quassaick chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution unveiled in the town of New Windsor a tablet marking the site of the forge of Deacon Samuel Brewster. At this forge were made parts of the chains which were thrown across the Hudson river during the Revolution to prevent the passage of British ships of war. Rev. John Marshall Chew was the orator of the day.

Steamship Ashore.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.—A dispatch from Sydney, C. B., says the British steamship Manchester Skipper is ashore on Petrie's ledge, at the entrance to that harbor. The vessel was bound from a European port for Montreal and carried 200 passengers.

NOT A GOOD RECORD.

Philadelphia Detectives Give Information Concerning "Big Socks"

In response to a query, Chief Kiely yesterday received considerable information from the Philadelphia chief of detectives in regard to Frank Harrison, alias "James Wilson," alias "Big Socks," who is soon to appear before the Union county Grand Jury on a charge of shooting at Sergeant Frederickson, near the Eight Row last fall.

Harrison was arrested in Philadelphia last year early in the spring and served eight months for vagrancy. He also has an unenviable record with the Quaker City police.

The man was arrested in this city as a Demko suspect, but afterward was charged by Sergeant Frederickson with being the man who shot at him while searching for burglars who had terrorized Dunellen merchants.

NOT AFTER CUSTOMERS.

Hackmen Told the Judge That They Were Only Saluting Firemen.

In the city court this morning, Milton Miller and Thomas Burns, pleaded not guilty to violating the hack ordinance, while William Callahan, a third defendant, pleaded non vult. All three men were arrested by Patrolman McCarthy Thursday morning, for soliciting passengers away from their horses' heads. The men claimed they were saluting a fire company and could produce witnesses to that effect. They were given until next Saturday morning to do so.

INDUSTRIAL WORKS EXHIBIT.

FIRST OF A SERIES AT THE PLAINFIELD PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Many Volumes on Subject of Carpentry and Valuable Exhibit of Woods.

The first of a series of industrial exhibitions in the scientific department of the Public Library was given Saturday afternoon and yesterday at the library. It comprised works on carpentry and every department of that trade, and aside from the very valuable works thus far secured for this department, the fact remains that probably nowhere in this State is such an opportunity offered those who can avail themselves of it.

All books are acknowledged authorities on the subject written, one book alone devoted to stair-building, costing $12, and so far as known it is the best book on the subject. Then there are words on construction, specifications, joining, kinds of wood to be used, etc., all of which are of incalculable value to mechanics interested in this trade. These books can be taken from the library.

In connection with this first exhibit there was also a showing of the many kinds of wood used in construction. All of these are American wood. One specimen was taken from a tree over a hundred years old. One can get an excellent idea of the beautiful wood grown in this country. There is also on file the Scietific American, for builders, which is very popular among people for whom it is issued.

Miss Adams, the librarian, is very much pleased with the success of the first exhibition. She has not yet decided upon the next exhibition which will be held the third Saturday and Sunday in November.

TALKED OF THE YOUNG MEN.

REV. DR. YERKES PREACHED SERMON ON THE Y. M. C. A.

Drew Lessons From The Lives Of Lincoln And McKinley—What a Young Man Should Be.

A special sermon to young men was preached at the First Baptist church yesterday morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes. The discourse was in the interest of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Yerkes took his text from the second chapter of Kings I: 2. He spoke concerning King David and King Solomon, and then told what a young man should be. He said that a young man is measured by his character, and that he should speak the truth in his heart. He referred to Lincoln as a man who would not swerve to the right nor left, but who would do right at all cost. He considered it far better to rule the spirit than to take a city.

Dr. Yerkes urged young men to be strong and show themselves to be men. He referred to the late President McKinley as a man worthy of example. He was true, noble and none could say that he did not possess the qualities that make a true man. He would not turn aside from the path of duty to satisfy personal or narrow interests. The interests of the people were his interests. In conclusion, Dr. Yerkes said that Christ is the true example to fellow, but men sometimes possess much of Christ, and thus are worthy examples.

At the close of the sermon, Dr. Yerkes read a number of statistics showing what the Y. M. C. A. has done during the past year, the number of meetings held, the number of men securing employment through the association, which was thirteen, and of the work accomplished in every department of the association.

HORSES RAN AWAY WITH BRIDAL COACH.

Strenuous Beginning for the Matrimonial Career of Mr. and Mrs. Georgio Sabino.

BOMBARDED WITH CONFETTI

HORSES BECAME FRIGHTENED AT IT AND RAN AWAY.

Andrew Love, Jr., Who Was Driving Was Thrown Down and Run Over — Patrolman Higgins Caught the Runaways.

A feature not generally included in the aftermath of a wedding, started Mr. and Mrs. Georgio Sabino on their career of wedded bliss yesterday noon in a most realistic fashion. The newly-made benedict had an excellent opportunity offered him to show his gallantry before the eyes of his bride of a few minutes, by stopping a runaway team of horses which was drawing the bridal coach, but he preferred to remain by her side and let Patrolman Higgins carry off the honors.

For some weeks past, Georgio, who resides in the Bohemian quarters of Paradise Alley, and Marie Perreto, the daughter of a neighbor, have been basking in the sunshine of each other's smiles and glances. They also became attached to each other to such an extent that Marie, when asked, agreed to change her name by becoming the bride of her dark admirer.

The happy event was scheduled to take place in St. Mary's church yesterday noon, and at that time the nuptial knot was tied hard and fast by Rev. Father Smyth. Several scores of smiling friends of the couple were in attendance, all of whom were prepared to show their approval of the match by bringing several pounds of confetti, candy wrapped in tissue paper, to be thrown at them as they left the church. This corresponds to the American custom of throwing rice.

The friends meant all well enough when they bombarded the bride and groom with lumps of confectionery, bought in the West End minus a guarantee as to its age, but they forgot to take in consideration that Plainfield horses are not versed in the etiquette of Italian weddings. This is what caused the most exciting episode West Enders have witnessed in several months.

Georgio and Rosa had entered the coach, which was in waiting to convey them to their new home, and the door was about to be closed on them by Andrew Love, Jr., who had descended from the driver's seat for the purpose, when an extra heavy fusilade of the candy lumps smote the off horse of the team which caused both to jump and run away.

Love, who had the reins wrapped around one hand, clung to them and made every effort to bring the animals to a stop, but without avail. He called to Georgio for assistance, but the unheroic bridegroom declared he was safe where he was and was going to stay there. At the corner of Liberty and Front streets Love was taken off his feet and thrown to the ground, two of the coach wheels passing over his hip.

The frightened animals sped on, with Georgio and Rosa clinging to each other. At the corner of Front street the course of the equipage was brought to a sudden halt by the pole of the coach coming in contact with an obstructing tree. One horse went down and there was an excellent opportunity to catch both, but Georgio still had business inside.

The remaining animal then dragged its mate to the opposite side of the street, and was still smarting from the effects of the candy bombardment, when Patrolman Maurice Higgins appeared on the scene, and the excitement was over.

Mr and Mrs. Sabino then alighted and modestly received the congratulations of their anxious friends who came up on the run. Love was taken home, and beyond a few bruises was found to be all right. The bridal party gathered together and proceeded to Sabino's home on the Alley de Paradiso, where the wedding reception was held without any features as strenuous as that which marked the beginning of the return trip.

FOUGHT WITH SHEARS IN POOL OF BLOOD.

Frank Margentino and His Wife Both Badly Cut in Fracas This Noon.

MARGENTINO LOCKED UP.

HIS WIFE CLAIMS HE WAS THE AGGRESSOR—TRIED TO STAB HER.

Quarrel Started Over Proposed Hair Cut For Their Son, To Which Wife Objected—Said He Was Intoxicated.

While attempting to wrest a new pair of scissors from her husband with which she claims he intended to make a murderous assault upon her, this noon, Mrs. Frank Margentino, wife of the Park avenue fruit dealer, was severely gashed about the arms and left shoulder.

The man, who was half crazed from drink, inflicted a deep gash in his own right temple which severed an artery. When Patrolman Higgins arrived on the scene, both the man and wife were on the floor in a pool of blood, fighting savagely. Both were taken to police headquarters and Dr. Long was summoned.

Margentino was soaked with blood and was very weak. The wound was stitched together after which he was locked up. Mrs. Margentino was able to go home after her cuts were dressed.

According to the woman the trouble started over Margentino's attempt to cut the hair of his young son. He was intoxicated and his wife objected. He continued in spite of her remonstrances until he cut a piece from the boy's left ear and then she took the scissors from him. He seized them a short time later when her back was turned and sprang at her, she says, with the intention of stabbing her.

Mrs. Margentino is the stronger of the two, and this is probably all that saved her, as the affair took place in the rear end of the store, and it was some time before the policemen appeared. She seized the half crazed man and threw him to the floor, where she held him until Higgin's arrival.

THROWN FROM CAR.

Motorman William Dowling Had Skull Fractured Near Garwood Saturday Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, October 21. — William Dowling, aged twenty-six, a motorman on the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company's main line, was thrown from a car near Garwood, Saturday night and sustained very serious injuries. He is now in Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Elizabeth, with slight chances for recovery.

Dowling had been sick, and was on his way to the company's office to report off duty. He was standing on the rear of the car, and, as the latter was rounding a curve, the gate against which Dowling was leaning swung open, throwing him with considerable force to the ground.

Dowling was picked up and taken to Dr. Sinclair's house, where an examination showed contusion of the brain and a fractured skull. The man was temporarily treated, after which he was taken to Elizabeth. Dowling is a single man and has not been on the trolley line very long.

MANY LOCAL GOLFERS OUT ON THE LINKS

Large Attendance at Both of the Local Golf Clubs Saturday Afternoon.

HILLSIDE BEAT BRUNSWICK.

CHANGE IN STANDING FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP AT PARK CLUB

H. D. Hibbard Won First Honors at Park—Jose A. Machado Was Honor Man at Hillside—Semi-Finals Played for Fisk Cup.

The brisk weather of Saturday brought out the local golfers in force Saturday, and both of the local courses were crowded all the afternoon. There were the usual competitions at the two clubs, several important changes taking place in the race for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club. The semi-finals for the Fisk cup was a special event at Hillside. The finals will be played next Saturday.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

The largest attendance of the year, save on a holiday, marked Saturday at the Park Golf Club. The closeness of the race for the President's cup, which is now drawing to a close, was partly responsible, but there were also many who took no part in the competition. The course was crowded all the afternoon, and an unusual number of the fair sex was to be seen on the green.

There was a change among the leaders for the President's cup, as a result of the day's competition. H. D. Hibbard came to the front, and now leads Senator C. A. Reed by a single point. George T. Rogers and Arthur H. Serrell also became very active factors in the contest. The day's honors went to H. D. Hibbard, G. T. Rogers, and C. W. McCutchen, in that order. Hibbard made a 93, his record for the course. Serrell was next, with a 102. Most of the other players appeared off their usual game. Of the score who entered the scores turned in of 95 or better were as follows:

	G.	H.	N.
H. D. Hibbard	93	10	83
George T. Rogers	110	25	85

HILLSIDE TENNIS AND GOLF CLUB.

Besides the weekly play for the Mellick and Golf Committee cups, there was the regular play for the Fisk handicap cup, on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, Saturday. There was a large number of players on the course, but few handed in their scores.

Miss May Holly was the only contestant for the Mellick cup, and she won the three points with a net score of 102. She now has a total of eight points and places her in fourth position. Her score was as follows:

ENDORSED MOVEMENT FOR EARLY CLOSING.

Rev. G. W. Gardner Preached the Third of Series of Sermons to Retail Clerks.

BELIEVED IT A GOOD THING.

STRONG WORDS REGARDING LOCAL LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Said Saloon Keepers Opposed Early Closing—Thought Time Gained By Early Closing Could Be Used to Advantage By All.

The third of the series of addresses by the ministers of this city and the borough on the subject of early closing of the retail stores was delivered by Rev. G. W. Gardner, pastor of Grace M. E. church, last evening. A dozen or more members of the Retail Clerks' Association were present to listen to the views of the minister on the matter, which is agitating a number of people in this vicinity at the present time.

The position taken by the minister can be best summed up in his own expression, when he said "I am glad to give my endorsement and sympathetic support to this movement," meaning the effort being made to keep the local store closed in the evening. "The Church," said he, "should lend its aid in promoting any movement which tends to develope the physical and mental part of man, as well as it does his spiritual welfare. From the wording of the communication, which the association has made to me, I believe that the aim of the clerks is for their betterment. Believing that the movement would be as successful here as in other towns, I feel safe in saying that the ultimate effect would be for the benefit of both the employer and employe. It gives to both a greater number of hours in which to improve the social ties as well as the mental equipment."

Touching on the phase of the question presented in the assertion that early closing has decreased the local sales of liquor in the evening hours, the speaker declared that the saloon element is opposed to early closing, because it is from the ranks of young men and boys that the saloon-keepers hope "to recruit more privates in the already marching down to drunkards' graves and to hell." "Fewer," said he, "would be tempted to visit these plague spots and spend their hard earnings for that which debases man and places him on the level of the brute."

"The plan to compel clerks to be on duty six out of every seven evenings prevents them from obtaining mental improvement by attending lectures and instructive discussions and it deters them from attending to their spiritual welfare, inasmuch as they are unable to be at the regular weekly prayer meetings and other religious services. 'For these and other reasons,' he declared in conclusion, 'the church should give its hearty support to the early closing movement and it is to be hoped that the custom may be so well established that none will dare deviate from it."

DRANK FOR FIRST TIME.

After Remaining Sober Seventy-one Years, Geo Sweeney Broke The Record.

For the first time in his seventy-one years of life, George Sweeney lingered over the festive cup that cheers Saturday night and became intoxicated. He finished a sleep, began on East Front street, in the city jail.

This morning City Judge Runyon thought Sweeney had conducted himself pretty well through his three score and ten plus one and let him go with the admonition to make it at least half as long again before he appeared in court a second time.

A GROOM FROM WEST WON BOROUGH BRIDE

Quiet Marriage of Miss Clara Steiner And Charles H. French, Saturday.

WEDDED AT BRIDE'S HOME.

CEREMONY WAS FOLLOWED BY A SHORT INFORMAL RECEPTION.

Pretty Floral Decorations—Ceremony Took Place at 5 o'Clock Saturday Afternoon—Couple Will Reside in The West.

Miss Clara Steiner, daughter of Mrs. Mary Steiner, of Somerset street, and Charles H. French, of St. Paul, Minn., were quietly married at the home of the bride at 5 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. Rev. George Whitney, of First place, an uncle of the groom, officiated. Only the relatives and the intimate friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony.

The pretty little home was tastefully adorned with potted plants and flowers. In the parlor, where the nuptial service was performed, the floral effect was green and white. Palms, ferns and white roses composed the decorations. The rear parlor was adorned with pink and white flowers and the dining room was decorated with red roses.

The bow window in the front parlor was banked with palms and ferns and it was here that the marriage ceremony took place, while bridal music, by P. Ludwig Conde and an accompanist, was being played. Elston M. French, a cousin of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was unattended. She was given away by her brother, Charles Steiner. As soon as the service was concluded the young couple received the congratulations of the assembled guests.

A wedding supper was served and after a short reception held by Mr. and Mrs. French, they departed for their honeymoon, taking an evening train for Buffalo. At the conclusion of their bridal trip, the young couple will start immediately for St. Paul, Minnesota, where the groom is engaged in business.

The gifts received by the bride were especially numerous. Among them were designs in cut-glass, silver, Haviland china, bric-a-brac and furniture. The Elizabeth Water Supply Company remembered her with a case of silverware, and the president of the company, Frank Bergen, presented a handsome silver bon-bon dish with hammered gold trimming. Governor Voorhees sent a picture of himself in a gilt frame. The King's Daughters of Grace M. E. church gave the bride a large framed picture also.

The groom is a son of Theodore F. French, of East Front street, and until a few years ago resided in this city. Since going west he has been quite successful in business.

DIDN'T WANT POLICE.

Galbraith's Expressed Opinion of Their Intrusion Led to a Fine in City Court.

Believing that every man's house is his castle, John Galbraith, of West Fourth street, became offended Saturday night when Patrolman Vanderweg and Roundsman Mattox entered his home to learn the cause of a row going on inside. The officials had all sorts of epithets hurled at them for the intrusion and were ordered out with the parting remark that they were no good and were never around when they were wanted.

Mrs. Galbraith called downstairs that her husband was annoying her and the police thought they were needed after all and took Galbraith into custody. This morning City Judge Runyon fined him $5 for his outspoken opinion of the police.

Successful Cake Sale.

A very successful cake and fancy work sale was held last week at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Gates, on First place. It was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church for the purpose of securing funds with which to furnish the kitchen at the church. A number of young folks assisted at the affair and a goodly sum was realized.

Stepped on Fender.

A horse belonging to S. C. Baker, of West Fifth street, stepped on the fender to car No. 2, Motorman John Vroom, at Park avenue and Fourth street Saturday noon. The horse was thrown but no damage was done.

A CLEVER LECTURE.

None Should Miss Hearing Ernest Seton-Thompson's Interesting Talk on Animals Tomorrow.

None should fail to attend the lectures of Ernest Seton-Thompson, the famous animal writer at the Casino, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

During the past season Mr. Seton-Thompson has traveled and lectured twenty-six weeks, averaging ten lectures a week; in all, two hundred and sixty lectures, covering about twenty-six thousand miles travel in thirty-two states, including Utah, California, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, Monitoba and Ontario. During that time he has addressed over 60,000 children and 50,000 grown-ups. Everywhere crowded houses welcome him. Invariably the matinee lectures have the largest attendance, mostly children.

All of Mr. Seton-Thompson's writings and drawings descriptive of the personality of wild animals are enchanced many fold by his inimitable description of them from his own lips. It is seldom that an author-artist is gifted with the ability to entertain upon the lecture platform, but Ernest Seton-Thompson is as clever with his voice as with his pen and pencil.

The first lecture for teachers, women and children will be given at 4 o'clock. All seats are reserved for both afternoon and evening. Tickets can be secured at Armstrong's.

ON TO BOUND BROOK SOON.

PRINCETON TROLLEY COMPANY PROPOSES TO PUSH FORWARD.

Plan to Connect With Bound Brook by the Way of Rocky Hill in the Near Future.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Oct. 21.—The outskirts of Princeton have been reached in the construction of the Lawrenceville, Princeton and Trenton Trolley Company. As soon as the Princeton Council grants permission to the company the tracks will be laid through the town.

It is not thought that there will be serious opposition to the trolley people going through the place, but in the event of any obstacles being placed in their way, private property will be purchased in order to accomplish the plan.

As soon as the entrance into Princeton is effected the company will immediately push work on the track that will complete the connection between Philadelphia and New York. The road will be built to Bound Brook by way of Rocky Hill.

To avoid crossing the Pennsylvania tracks, Kingston will be avoided. Five of the cars purchased are in Trenton; so, as soon the track is laid into Princeton, the road will begin to operate. If nothing happens, the cars will be running in time for the November football games.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Edward R. Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Finch, of Park avenue, is a candidate on the fusion ticket for the Assembly in New York, and a few days ago the Mail and Express took occasion to say many pleasant things about him and his running mate, Charles P. Howland, both of whom happen to be graduates of Yale. Both belong to old New York families, both are lawyers and both have offices in Wall street. The Mail and Express says that in addition to these points of resemblance, both are clean-cut, capable young fellows who are much in earnest in the fight against Tammany. In speaking of Mr. Finch, the paper still further remarks: "Mr. Finch's family has lived in New York for seven generations. His grandmother, who is still living at the age of 75, was born on the Bowery, when that street was a fashionable residence thoroughfare. * * * Mr Finch has written and spoken much on municipal matters in previous campaigns, and worked in the Fifth Assembly district for the last six years. He is a member of the law firm of Tappan & Finch in Wall street. He belongs to the Bar Association, the Sons of the American Revolution and the Yale Club. From Yale he has the degree of A. B., and from Columbia that of LL. B." Mr. Finch resided in this city formerly and he has a host of friends who will wish him success.

NAVAL CONSTRUCTION.

Admiral Bowles Asks For Larger Force and More Room.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The annual report of Admiral Bowles, chief of the bureau of construction and repair, calls attention to the slow progress in the construction of the ships now building for the navy made during the past year owing to the strikes and delays in the delivery of armor and steel forgings. The construction bureau, he says, has made considerable progress toward the standardization of ship fittings, which, he says, will reduce the original cost of ships of the navy and decrease the expense of their maintenance.

Admiral Bowles strongly recommends that the floating drydock at Havana, recently purchased from the Spanish government, be sent to the site of the new naval station at Olongapo, Philippine Islands, as soon as the repairs on it are completed. It is essential, he says, for the efficiency of the navy on the Asiatic station both from a strategical and economic standpoint that the government shall be in possession of a drydock in the Phillipines at the earliest possible moment. He says that the dock just purchased can be placed in condition for the use of vessels up to 10,000 tons displacement within the limit of the sum appropriated by congress for its acquirement.

Admiral Bowles earnestly commends an increase in the naval constructors, who are now limited by law to forty. This number, he says, is entirely inadequate to the present needs of the service, and he urges that the limit of the corps be increased by congress to sixty. He says that the efficiency of the new yard plants throughout the country is largely limited by the insufficient number of drydocks and modern buildings for the equipment of the yards.

Admiral Bowles says that the construction bureau has been taxed to its utmost capacity by the work of designing new vessels and supervision of vessels now building and that these conditions have been aggravated by a lack of space in the navy department buildings available for the technical and clerical staff of the bureau.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Oct. 21.—George Gray has been arrested as principal and George Eaton as an accomplice in the shooting and robbery of P. T. Colgan, paymaster of the Virginia Coal and Coke company, last Thursday at Middlesboro. Colgan was robbed while on his way to the furnaces from the Manufacturers' bank. Eaton made a partial confession, implicating three other men and a woman. It is said the woman has fled into Harlan county with the money. Eaton and Gray were placed in jail at Pineville.

Dragged to Death by a Colt.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 21.—John Touhey, a lad adopted from the Catholic protectory in New York city by James Touhey, a farmer living near here, was killed in an odd manner. He was sent to a field to bring in a colt. Instead of leading it by the halter he tied the rope around his own body. The colt ran away, dragging the boy over a field and a stone wall. Being missed by the family, search was made and the lad's crushed body found still tied to the colt.

Telegraphers Elect New President.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21.—The Order of Railroad Telegraphers declined to re-elect M. M. Dolphin president. He has been grand secretary and treasurer for the past five years, during which time he has also been editor of The Railroad Telegrapher, the official organ of the order. Mr. Perham was elected.

The marquis was entertained at dinner at the legation.

YALE BICENTENNIAL

Notable Celebration Begun at New Haven.

EXERCISES IN BATTLE CHAPEL.

Graduates In Large Numbers Return to Their Alma Mater to Share In the Felicities of the Occasion.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21.—Yale university began yesterday the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Yale college. The exercises were simple and yet imposing. It was fitting that the bicentennial of the great institution of learning should be ushered in with ceremonies essentially religious, and this was done with a programme strikingly simple, typical of the sturdy Puritan days of the old collegiate school from whence sprung the Yale of today. The services were performed in accord with the devout and reverent traditions of the good old New England days when the little handful of clergymen gathered together and with prayerful supplications asked divine blessing upon the institution which they had conceived and brought forth. And so yesterday were gathered in the city's churches unwonted congregations, while thanksgivings and prayers were lifted for Yale, its past and its future. The grand old hymns were sung, and all united in them. Powerful sermons were uttered. In formal address the university's relations to Christian theology and missions were presented, and with great organ the charm of music afforded the day's climax.

The principal streets had become archways of blue, adorned at intervals with pictures of President Roosevelt, who on Wednesday is to be Yale's guest and who on that day will become a son of Yale, when the university's honorary degree is conferred upon him. Each of the Yale buildings bore the university seal of great proportions, done in blue and gold.

All were festooned with blue and evergreen, while colored lanterns of varied hues added to a real enchantment.

From the simple school of 1701 Yale finds herself a tremendous plant, developed through the years from a one building institution down through her "brick row" to a campus, thence to a second campus and now to a third and even stretching out in her departmental buildings to territory as great again. Returning graduates of the older classes were amazed at the transformation. All was new and impressively great.

Within Battle chapel, where the bicentennial was inaugurated, the services were participated in by an assemblage as imposing as the exercises were simple.

On the rostrum sat President Arthur Twining Hadley. At his right was Rev. Joseph Twichell, D. D., of Hartford, the preacher of the bicentennial sermon. To his left was Thomas G. Bennett of the Yale corporation. Next to Dr. Twichell sat former President Timothy Dwight. On one end was Hon. Henry Howland of New York, on the other Rev. Charles Ray Palmer, both fellows of the university corporation. All wore the gowns of their offices. Below in the choir stalls sat a picked choir of students. The body of the chapel was occupied in the center aisle by distinguished delegates and guests, an assemblage the like of which has probably never before gathered in the country. These men of letters and science wore academic gowns with hoods of many colors.

The seats of the side aisles were filled with Yale graduates, while the three galleries were reserved for ladies. The service began at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. Joseph Hopkins Twichell of Hartford, the senior fellow of the corporation, preached the sermon.

Farewell to Canada.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 21.—The royal party has spent its last day in Canada. At 11 o'clock today they left the Ophir for St. John's, N. F. It has been announced that if any foggy weather comes up after the departure of the Ophir from Halifax the royal party will cancel their engagement at St. John's, N. F. The original programme at St. John's has already been greatly curtailed owing to the pressure of the duke's engagements in England.

Aged Librarian Dead.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 21.—Edward Capen, the first librarian of the Boston Public library, is dead on the eightieth anniversary of his birth. The death summons was unexpected. Mr. Capen was for twenty-two and a half years at the head of the Boston Public library, coming to the Haverhill library in 1874. He was born in Dorchester and traced his ancestry from the Dorchester settlement in 1630. He was an 1842 Harvard man.

Flimsy Excuse For Family Quarrel.

BUFFALO, Oct. 21.—Gustave Beck, fifty-two years old, quarreled with his wife because she had not hung curtains on the kitchen windows. He became violent and attacked the woman. She succeeded in breaking away from him. Beck then drank nearly two ounces of carbolic acid, dying in great agony.

Coughed Up a Lizard.

VALLEY FIELD, Que., Oct. 21.—Mrs. P. Gaudin, who had been suffering with stomach trouble for three years, was attacked by a severe coughing spasm and coughed up a lizard five inches long. The lizard is still alive.

A FIGHT IMMINENT.

Little Change In Colombia. Venezuela Disturbance.

CASTRO REPRESSING INSURRECTION.

Insurgents Are Numerous, but Lack Arms and Ammunition—Venezuela Has Defaulted Quarterly Payment of United States Claims.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Oct. 21.—The military situation on the Tachira frontier apparently remains unchanged, although the scouting and restless activities of General Uribe-Uribe and his followers may result in an engagement with the Colombian troops of more or less importance any day.

Nor is there any change on the Guajira peninsula.

In various parts of Venezuela guerrilla parties of nationalists continue more or less armed activity, and minor uprisings are frequently reported. President Castro is vigorously repressing insurrection wherever he can, but repression, instead of discouraging the nationalists, seems to stimulate them to fresh operations. They are not lacking in numbers, their principal want being arms and ammunition.

The sum of $8,000 became due this month to the United States from Venezuela on account of mixed American claims, and it has not been paid. The claims arose out of damages sustained during the revolution of 1892. They were adjudicated between Venezuela and the United States, and the former agreed to pay $32,000 per year in quarterly payments, with annual interest on the sinking fund, the payments to be divided pro rata among the American claimants.

This is the first instance where Venezuela has defaulted on a quarterly payment.

Christian Science Did Not Save.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Lucius C. Burt, a prominent shirt manufacturer and Christian Scientist of this city, is dead at his home here after three weeks' sickness. During all that time he was treated entirely by C. Edward Smith, a healer and head of the Christian Science church here, and no physician attended him. Mr. Smith said that Mr. Burt had hemorrhages, but he refused to the last to have a physician called, clinging consistently to his faith in Christian Science. Mr. Burt was one of the foremost members of the cult in this city, having resigned from the official board of the Baptist church to adopt the new faith four years ago.

A New Electric Railway.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—It is learned that the survey recently made for a railroad line between Minnesota City, Minn., and St. Paul and Minneapolis and which has caused much speculation in railroad circles in the northwest is not in the interest of either the Chicago Great Western or the Chicago and Northwestern, as has been generally believed. The survey, it is stated, was for an electric line to connect Minnesota City with the Twin Cities, touching many Minnesota towns which are without railroad communication with either St. Paul or Minneapolis.

American Missionary Meeting.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The fifty-fifth annual meeting of the American Missionary association will begin tomorrow in the First Congregational church at Oak Park. The president of the association, Rev. F. A. Noble, D. D., late of Chicago, now of Boston, will not attend the meeting owing to impaired health. He has declined re-election, and a new president will be elected at the business meeting Thursday morning. The Rev. Washington Gladden, one of the vice presidents of the association, will preside in the absence of Dr. Noble.

Explosion In a Machine Shop.

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 21.—D. P. Pattin of the firm of Pattin Bros. & Co. was burned to death here in a fire that destroyed the machine shop of the firm. He entered the building to investigate an escape of gas which attracted his notice by its odor. A terrible explosion followed, which shook the entire city. The body was recovered after it had been burned beyond recognition. The property loss was more than $20,000; insurance, $12,000.

Professor Goldwin Smith Better.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The physicians who are attending Professor Goldwin Smith announce that their patient has almost recovered from his severe attack of bronchitis and that if nothing unforeseen happens they will be able to start him toward his home in Toronto tonight. A stop will be made at Buffalo, where they will allow Professor Smith to rest for a few days before proceeding farther.

Bishop Potter In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York arrived here early yesterday on his way east from the triennial Episcopal convention at San Francisco. He preached at Grace church at the morning service to an immense congregation. He left at night for New Haven, Conn., to be present at the bicentennial celebration at Yale.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 21.—The Merchant mill, the last of the departments of the Illinois Steel company to resume since the settlement of the steel strike, started up today, employing about 200 men.

BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE.

Fiendish Attempt to Kill Superintendent of a Wilkesbarre Mine.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 21.—A dastardly attempt to blow up the house of Reese Morgan, superintendent of the Murray mine, and kill himself and family was made last night. Mr. Morgan's home is on Grant street, one of the resident thoroughfares of this city. He attended services with his family at a nearby church early in the evening, returning leisurely with a neighbor shortly after 9 o'clock.

He had just opened the gate to go into the house when a terrific explosion occurred which nearly knocked him off his feet. At first he did not know what had happened, but when he was able to collect himself he saw that a portion of his dwelling had been wrecked. A further investigation showed that the whole rear portion of the house had been torn away by the explosion. The police were notified and hurried to the scene. They could obtain no clew as to the parties who committed the deed, and Mr. Morgan could throw no light on the matter. He says he did not know he had an enemy in the world.

The general supposition is that some mine employee who formerly worked for Mr. Morgan and who imagined he had a grievance is at the bottom of the plot. The police think several men were engaged in it. They watched for the return of Mr. Morgan from church, and just about the time they thought he would enter the house they exploded the dynamite.

THE PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS.

Delegates at City of Mexico—Opening Meeting Today.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 21.—The pan-American delegates passed Sunday out of doors in the bright Mexican sunshine and in taking in the sights of the city.

The delegates visited the quarters of the general secretaries of the conference this morning, inscribing their names and addresses. In the afternoon they held an informal meeting to make preliminary arrangements, but will not meet for a formal inaugural session until 4 p. m. tomorrow, when Minister of Foreign Relations Ignacio Mariscal will preside, delivering an address of welcome. He will then ask the delegates to name an acting chairman to preside at the meetings, in which the delegates will discuss rules and regulations.

Tomorrow night all the delegates and their families will be entertained at the presidential apartments at the national palace to witness fireworks and illuminations and to listen to a serenade by the military bands. Two rooms have been set apart in the palace and handsomely furnished for the use of the bureau of American republics.

Cape Colony In Rebellion.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—"Mr. Kruger has received a report from Mr. Schalkburger that the greater part of Cape Colony is in open rebellion," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Brussels, "and that the Boers have armed 15,000 Afrikanders within the last three months." A dispatch from Pretoria says that a force of Canadian scouts surprised a Boer laager near Balmoral. The Boers fled after a short fight. The Canadians had two men killed and an officer and two men wounded.

Bank Officers Still Missing.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 21.—There is nothing new in the Merchants' bank affair, and Smith and Swift, the missing teller and bookkeeper, are not located, at least not to public knowledge. The bank authorities will have nothing more to say until the financial situation is definitely established. Accountants have been at work on the bank's books since Friday night, and President A. G. Pollard, who was present, refused to make any statement.

Fire Destroyed Valuable Collection.

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 21.—The furnishings in the New Hampshire room of the New England states' building at Buffalo, which structure was burned Saturday night, belonged to General William E. Spalding of this city and intrinsically were worth $10,000. General Spalding, however, cannot replace them, as they were antiques and of historical association, gathered from all parts of the state and loaned to the state.

Secretary Root's Health Improved.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Secretary of War Root came down from William C. Whitney's preserve in the Adirondacks and spent Sunday in Clinton with his son, a student at Hamilton college, and his brother, Professor Orin Root of the college faculty. Secretary Root is evidently much improved in health and spirits. He will bear the antlers of a fine buck to Washington as a trophy of his outing.

Chilean Ship Departs.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—The Chilean corvette General Baquedono, which for a week had been at anchor in the Delaware river, got under way and proceeded down the river, bound for Havana and Santiago, Cuba. Commander Gonzales stated as the vessel was being got under way that he was delighted with his visit to the United States.

British Take Another Island.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—"The British cruiser Pylades reports," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Sydney, N. S. W., "that she has annexed Ocean island, west of the Gilbert islands. The island, which has hitherto been a British protectorate, is rich in phosphates."

Noted Southerner Dead.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 21.—General James A. Walker, ex-member of congress from the Ninth district and a brigadier general in the Confederate army, who at one time commanded Stonewall Jackson's old brigade, is dead at his home in Wytheville, Va.

FRENCH LABOR TROUBLES.

Workmen at Monceaux-les-Mines Threaten a Strike.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—Two meetings of the delegates of the Miners' federation were held yesterday at St. Etienne without any decision being reached upon the question of the threatened strike. Another meeting will be held today.

Meanwhile the papers are devoting columns to the situation and generally taking a gloomy view.

Dispatches from Monceaux-les-Mines say that, while the place is outwardly quiet, the feeling is such that a very slight incident would be likely to lead to an outbreak of violence among the 8,000 miners in the locality. These are divided into two factions—the "reds," who favor a strike, and the "yellows," who are opposed to such a step.

The prefect, who has forbidden the sale of arms throughout the department, yesterday seized two cases of muskets at St. Etienne that were on their way to Monceaux-les-Mines. It is asserted that both factions are already supplied with guns and revolvers, which they have concealed at their homes. One of the leaders of the "reds" declares that they not only have altered Gras muskets, but also Lebel rifles, ammunition and bayonets.

The chief element of danger is the possible action of some 12,000 men whom the mining company refused to re-engage after the last strike and who have been unemployed since.

Six hundred gendarmes are patrolling Monceaux-les-Mines. The manager of the company does not leave his office except in a carriage and under the escort of mounted gendarmes armed with revolvers and sabers.

The leaders of the "reds" insist that a strike is inevitable, but many who are in a position to form a sober opinion believe that a strike will be averted or at all events confined to certain localities.

Cuban Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A comparative statement of the commerce of the island of Cuba for the ten months ended April 30, 1901 and 1900, has been prepared in the division of insular affairs of the war department. It shows that the total value of merchandise imported during the ten months ended April 30, 1901, was $54,412,262 against $59,925,839 for the same period of 1900. The total value of merchandise exported during the ten months ended April, 1901, was $49,987,117 against $35,404,421 for the same period of 1900, a decrease of 9.2 per cent in the value of imports and an increase of 41.2 per cent in value of exports. Gold and silver were imported during the ten months ended April, 1901, to the value of $774,602; same period of 1900, $5,105,287; exported during the ten months, $992,836, and for the same period of 1900, $8,299,553.

Lake Steamer Crippled.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 21.—The passenger steamer City of Cleveland ran on a rock yesterday morning during a heavy fog just east of Ballard's reef and stove a large hole in her bottom amidship. The water rushed in with great force, and the steamer gradually filled until she rested on the bottom with, however, her main deck still above water. The shock was so slight that none of the forty passengers, who were asleep in their berths, were awakened, and there was no alarm. Many of them did not know of the accident until they were aroused to get aboard the steamer Newsboy and proceeded to Detroit, where they were landed about 10 o'clock.

Stone Abductors Elude Pursuit.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 21.—The United States legation in Constantinople is still without definite news from either the Rev. Dr. H. C. Haskell or the Rev. J. W. Baird of the Congregational mission at Samakov, Bulgaria, who have been endeavoring to get into touch with the abductors of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary, and Mme. Tsilka, her companion, with a view of arranging as to the ransom demanded by the brigands. Mr. Baird, who was at Djumabala, has returned to Samakov, indicating his failure to get into touch with the brigands from the Turkish side. All efforts will now be concentrated on the Bulgarian side.

New Hammer Throwing Record.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—John Flanagan, the champion hammer thrower, in his efforts for championship honors at the track and field games of the Greater New York Irish Athletic association made a new world's record in throwing the fifty-six pound weight a distance of 36 feet 9½ inches. The best previous record was 35 feet 10 inches, held by J. S. Mitchell. By winning this event Flanagan now holds all heavy weight athletic records, with one exception, and that is throwing the fifty-six pound weight for height, a task at which Jim Mitchell seems to be capable of beating any other aspirant to championship honors.

Called on Mrs. McKinley.

CANTON, O., Oct. 21.—Surgeon General Sternberg of Washington left last night for Columbus, where he goes on official business. He was a guest at the McKinley home Sunday. It is given out that he stopped here merely as an old friend of the McKinleys to make a social call on Mrs. McKinley. There was no change in her condition that called for the professional attendance of Surgeon General Sternberg.

Lamp Company Assigns.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 21.—The Trenton Lamp company has made an assignment to Hugh H. Hamill of the Trenton Trust and Safe Deposit company. The assets are estimated at $137,000 and the liabilities at $247,059. The estate of Samuel K. Wilson is the principal creditor, having claims aggregating $247,059.

MASSACRE AVERTED

Insurgent Plot to Trap United States Troops Frustrated.

THE LEADERS ARE UNDER ARREST.

Re-enforcements Being Hurried to Samar, and the Troops There Expect Hard Fighting—Americans Accused of Double Dealing.

MANILA, Oct. 21.—Owing to the vigilance of Lieutenant Thomas M. Bains, Jr., of the Ninth United States infantry another slaughter of American troops by insurgents has been averted. It seems that Lieutenant Bains discovered a prisoner re-entering a cell at Calbiga, island of Samar, where several were confined through a hole that had been let in the wall. An investigation showed a plan to fill the jail with bolomen and to call the guard, which would be necessary to get the door open, and then to attack the garrison. It also developed that the instigators were a priest and the presidente, both of whom have been arrested, together with several other prominent persons.

Other attempts have been discovered, but fortunately frustrated, at Pambujan and other points in Samar. Several persons have been arrested in connection with these.

Re-enforcements are being rushed to Samar. Three hundred and thirty marines under Lieutenant Colonel Mancil C. Goodrell have gone there on board the United States cruiser New York, and two battalions of the Twelfth infantry will start immediately for the same destination.

United States officers from other provinces that were supposed to be pacified have recently arrived in Manila, and they say that the news of American disasters spreads like wildfire among the natives, who scarcely attempt to conceal their delight.

The Manila constabulary discovered a large quantity of steel wagon springs which were being shipped to various districts. Investigation showed that these were to be used in manufacturing bolos.

The troops in Samar anticipate hard fighting. Brigadier General Jacob H. Smith, who is in command, has visited most of the ports and instructed the commanders that the insurrection must be hammered out and General Lukban, the insurgent leader, captured. Already the movement of troops has begun.

General Lacuna, who surrendered last May, has complained to General Chaffee that the terms upon which he and his force surrendered have not been respected by the Americans. He exhibited a document signed by himself and General Frederick Funston in which he and his force are granted immunity in respect of all acts committed contrary to the laws of war.

Since this document was executed several of Lacuna's officers and men have been tried, condemned and sentenced to death for killing American prisoners. General Funston says that when it was signed he gave Lacuna orally to understand that the killing of American prisoners was excepted. Lacuna admits that something was said on this subject, but says no thorough understanding was reached, and he considers the written agreement binding.

Killed In Samar.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 21.—First Sergeant William F. Gormley of Utica and Private George Teachout of Sauquoit, near here, were members of Company E, Ninth infantry, killed in the engagement with bolomen on the Candara river, island of Samar, in the Philippines, on Oct. 16. Corporal Clarence M. Matthews of Waterville, who is a member of Company H, Ninth regiment, in the Philippines, nearly met with a horrible death through the diabolical ingenuity of the Filipinos. He was doing scouting duty at the head of a small command and fell into a Filipino spear pit, which is a hole twelve or fifteen feet deep, with a number of sharp pointed stakes about two feet long sticking up straight from the bottom. Matthews struck on his side and was horribly wounded. He is now in a hospital. The death trap that Matthews fell into is near the scene of the recent massacre of many of the Ninth regiment.

Body of Missing Chaplain Found.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 21.—The body of the Rev. Henry Black, for some time chaplain of the British second class cruiser Charybdis, who mysteriously disappeared from St. John's last Wednesday, was found near St. John's, shot through the head. In the right hand of the dead man was a revolver. He had evidently committed suicide in consequence of dementia, attributed, as already cabled, to the excitement growing out of the arrangements for the forthcoming visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York.

Preparing For the Capitalists.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 21.—Mr. E. C. B. Hambley, who is superintendent of the Whitney Reduction works at Gold Hill, N. C., is having a frame house built for the accommodation of eighty capitalists, mainly from Pittsburg and New York, who will be his guests at a house party to begin Nov. 2 and lasting ten days. In addition to gold mining operations the company will develop the water power at the falls of the Yadkin river.

Boys Killed by Train.

BUFFALO, Oct. 21.—Two boys, John Sondberg, thirteen years old, and Joseph Stack, six years old, were instantly killed on the Lehigh Valley tracks near Smith street. While the boys were playing on the railroad tracks a yard engine ran them down. The bodies were badly mangled.

The Rules of The Road.

It is really remarkable that, with all the good roads for which this section is famed, the people should be so woefully ignorant of the rules of the road. Ever since the horse has been used as a means of locomotion, there have been certain regulations which have governed the meeting and passing of equipages on the highway. Without such rules, the confusion that would follow would be dangerous to the life of both man and beast. These unwritten laws possess the same force today that they did centuries ago and should be observed just as carefully.

There a number of people in Plainfield, however, who seem to forget that it is required of them to keep to the road, and, when passing from the rear, to pass on the left hand side. There is nothing complicated in those rules, and yet the safety of the community demands that they should be obeyed.

Among the chief violators of these rules are the wheelmen, who dodge in and out, without regard for anything or anybody. Another class which also offends is that composed of owners of horses who have had little or no experience in horsemanship. They openly violate the rules of the road, drive in reckless fashion, and otherwise endanger the lives of those who happen to be on the road at the same time.

Because there are certain wheelmen who fail to meet the requirements demanded by common courtesy is no reason for the average driver to consider the wheelman has no rights on the road. The cyclist should be considered the same as any other vehicle and treated as such. The same care should be exercised in passing him either from the front or behind.

If some of the drivers of the city and borough will only remember these things in the future they will greatly relieve the minds of those who are acquainted with the rules of the road and find their path a difficult one owing to the non-observance of them by others.

The appointment of W. W. Wentz, Jr., of this city to the position of general superintendent of the New Jersey Central Railroad, is a promotion in name rather than in work. Mr. Olhausen, who has held that position for many years, has been of late unable to attend to his duties on account of ill health and his duties have therefore devolved on Mr. Wentz. Mr. Wentz is in close touch with the men at the head of that railroad who consider him a very valuable man. Plainfield is fortunate in being able to number him among its citizens. A strong evidence of Mr. Wentz's good judgment may be seen in the fact that he selected Plainfield as his place of residence when he first accepted a position with the Jersey Central.

The local Democracy will hold its city convention this evening and nominate candidates for city judge, school trustee and three councilmen-at-large. The fact that the city usually goes strongly Republican makes it rather difficult sometimes for the Democrats to get men who are willing to be put up only to be knocked down. A Citizen's ticket has been tried several times and with partial success. The Democratic leaders prefer, however, to retain their party identity. They have promised a complete city ticket this year while there is little or no likelihood that there will be any independent or Citizen's nomination.

As to the cumulative effect of persistent newspaper advertising the common experience is described by Charles M. Snyder in the Philadelphia Record, who says: "I have had considerable experience in exploiting proprietary articles, and have remarked that the slow process is suddenly and agreeably interrupted by an unexpected turn to the right; and after that all is easy." That is to say, it will take a little time for an advertiser to make an impression, but when it shall have been made the returns will be constant.

Chief Kiely has accomplished a difficult task in securing a confession from Harry Mettler, who admits that he was one of the gang who assaulted and robbed Mrs. Demko. From the little evidence secured at first the Chief was able to run down the criminals and now has the written confession of one of those men which will serve to save the county the expense of a trial.

It is many years since both of the gubernatorial candidates in New Jersey have pursued such an active personal canvass of the State. The result is that thousands more people have had an opportunity to see and judge for themselves as to the men who stand at the head of the two chief tickets in the field.

Plainfield has been particularly fortunate in hearing many of the celebrities of the world speak in this city. Of all the writers at the present day there are few better known than Ernest Seton-Thompson. Plainfield is fortunate in having another opportunity to hear him.

For once the enemies of Tammany Hall are presenting a solid front to that political organization. If ever the defeat of the New York Democratic machine is to be accomplished, it certainly looks as if this was the time.

What is troubling the local Republicans at present is the lack of a suitable place in which to hold the coming mass meeting. The need of a theatre in this city is again made very apparent.

COLLIDED WITH POLE.

Exciting Runaway in Which Miss Lotta Lowe, of Park Avenue, Was Injured.

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning the depot wagon of William E. Lowe, of Park avenue, to which was hitched a fine team of horses, crashed into an iron telegraph pole at the corner of West Second street and Park avenue, damaging the vehicle badly. Miss Lotta Lowe, William Lowe's daughter, who was the sole occupant of the wagon, escaped with slight injuries.

The vehicle had just passed Front street and was heading for Mr. Lowe's residence on Park avenue, when the coachman gave a sudden pull on the lines to prevent the animals prancing. One of the reins snapped and the horses becoming frightened tore down the street at a mad pace. The wagon swung against the pole at Second street which checked its progress, affording Miss Lowe a chance to escape. The animals were caught further down the street. The coachman was powerless to prevent the smash up.

The injury received by Miss Lowe was an ugly bruise on her forehead, the sudden stopping of the vehicle causing her to be thrown forward striking the front of the vehicle.

During the course of his remarks he offered kind words of consolation and sympathy to the bereaved family and sorrowing friends gathered to pay their last sad respects to the one they had loved in life for her sterling worth as a woman and a Christian. MANY LOCAL GOLFERS OUT ON THE LINKS.

owner-hip of the cup will be decided.

The competition for the Golf Committee cup attracted a small number of players, only eight handing in their scores. Jose A. Machado won first honors with a net score of 79. Second honors were awarded George A. Chapman, who played for the first in a long time. Third honors were divided between Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards and Robert Abbott, each making an 84 net.

The scores are as follows:

	G.	H.	N.
Jose A. Machado	97	18	79
George A. Chapman	98	18	80
Dr. W. R Richards	98	14	84
Robert Abbott	89	5	84
Morris J. Dumont	89	4	85
Walter Peterson	97	12	85
J. P. Murray	102	15	87
E. J. Patterson	110	18	92

It will be noticed by the scores that Morris J. Dumont has returned to the links, despite his announcement that he had retired for good. No doubt the attraction was more than he could stand and he was unable to resist the temptation. In spite of the fact that he has played but little, he put up a good score, finishing even with Mr. Peterson.

As the leaders in the competition did not play for the Golf Committee cup on Saturday the relative positions are not changed. Both Mr. Machado and Mr. Chapman scored their first win for the trophy, while Robt. Abbott only received a half point, which gives him a total of five. He is now tie with G. T. VanBoskerck.

The standing for the Golf Committee cup is as follows:

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team went to New Brunswick Saturday afternoon and won further honors by defeating the home team by the score of 10 to 6. The match was an interesting one throughout, but the Hillside team was too strong for its opponents. There were only two members of the home team who succeeded in scoring, while all but two of the visiting team scored.

The scores are as follows:

Hillside.		New Brunswick.
W. Wadsworth	1	T. Smith	0
Reeve Stockton	0	N. N Williamson	4

LEAL'S BEATEN.

Morristown Academy Eleven Won by Score of 30 to 0 at Morristown.

The Leal's School eleven was defeated by the football aggregation of the Morristown Academy, on the latter's gridiron, Saturday afternoon. The Leal's boys made a stubborn battle against the onslaught of the Morristown's guards, but the superior strength of the latter team told and the game ended 30 to 0 in favor of the Academy team.

The first half ended with a score of 18 points made by the Morristown eleven and when the teams re-appeared on the gridiron a much closer fight was put up, Morristown only being able to make 12 points during the entire half.

The line up of the Leal's team was as follows: Right end, M. Perkins; right tackle, Whiteside; right guard, Biglow; centre, Minford; left guard, Martin; left tackle, C. Perkins; left end, Hall; quarter back, William Schoonmaker; right half back, Abbott; left half back; Ralph B. Schoonmaker; full back, Donald A. McGee. Willis West, of this city, acted as referee.

—The first session of the class in English will meet at the Y. M. C. A. building tonight.

THE NEW POLICEMAN

Neatly Tricked by Young Rascals He Intended to Capture.

Carriage Used as Hiding Place Almost Proves His Undoing—Is Driven Into the Country and Has to Pay His Fare Back Again.

A Milwaukee man was recently appointed to the police force of a city up in the state, and being from the "city" was anxious to show his brother patrolmen how to do things in real metropolitan style.

It chanced that the new officer was detailed to a beat on which was located the opera house, and he was given special instructions to watch the crowd of small boys, who for weeks had been a source of great annoyance to the manager of the theater.

On the evening when a particular attraction was billed at the playhouse, says the Milwaukee Sentinel, the policeman noticed the boys as usual hanging about the front doors and creating no small disturbance. Now as a matter of fact boys in the small towns have a way of dodging police officers even as they do in the cities, and the new policeman, realizing this, thought that he would work a plan which would be the means of making him a much-talked-of sleuth at the central station.

A number of hacks and carriages were standing at the theater entrance, and the new policeman, after, as he thought, eluding the gaze of the youngsters, crossed in the shadow of the street and ensconced himself on the cushion seats of a hack, ready in an instant to run out and grab the youthful offenders. But he did not know the kind of youngsters he had to deal with. More than one pair of eyes watched him cross the street, and it was not long before a boy's voice told the driver of the hack, who was taking a drink in a near-by saloon, that the policeman was snooping in the vehicle.

A YELL TO STOP.

There was a moment's discussion and then a plan of revenge was decided on. The hackman walked noiselessly around the dark side of the carriage, and before the officer knew what was being done the horses were whipped and going at a mad rate of speed down the street.

There was a yell from inside to stop, but the driver never heard. Around corners and over crossings at a pace that made the policeman's hair stand up with fright the horses dashed as he clung frantically to the seat to keep from having his head bumped against the top of the hack.

The ride lasted for 15 minutes, and when the horses were finally allowed to settle into a walk and stop the distance back to the policeman's beat was reckoned by the hack driver at about four miles. Of course there was an argument, possibly some language that would not bear repeating, but through it all the hack driver maintained an air of calm indifference until, in a last effort to contain himself from laughing, he made the proposition that the policeman pay his fare back to town.

It was insult to injury in the officer's eyes, but notwithstanding he remembered that the chief was at the theater and if he was not seen upon the beat when the play was out questions would be asked. Accordingly, with much loud talk, a $2 bill was produced, and the driver with professional politeness opened the carriage door for his passenger to enter on the return trip.

When the hack finally did come in sight of the opera house there was a scattering of small boys, but it was not done quick enough for the new officer to escape hearing the delighted peals of laughter as the last tattered coat and cap whisked around the corner.

Find Diamond in City Dump.

A diamond earring, valued at $250, and lost by Miss Lizzie McDonald, was recovered later in a pile of garbage at the city dump at the foot of Ninety-fifth street, Chicago. Miss McDonald is a relative of Dr. Larkin, and was visiting at his home when she lost the earring. She did not discover the loss until the house had been thoroughly cleaned. When a search was made the pendant could not be found. The garbage had been carried away and the members of the family did not know who had removed it. Through Ward Inspector Walsh the identity of the garbage man was learned. He took Dr. Larkin to the place where he had dumped the load of garbage, and, after a search of half an hour, the earring was found.

Three years ago a leading physician prescribed Ripans Tabules for a professional man living in Brooklyn, and the latter recently said in answer to an inquiry: "Since that time my health has been just about perfect. I never weighed more nor felt better than I do now. There have been times during the past three years when, after eating mince pie or highly seasoned food, there would come about a condition in the stomach that was not altogether pleasant, but by promptly swallowing a Tabule that unpleasant condition was at once removed. I have taken no other medicine, with the occasional exception of quinine and whisky when attacked by severe cold, and my present healthy condition can be ascribed to two things only—Providence or Ripans Tabules—most likely to both. I believe that Ripans Tabules will afford relief to any one suffering from any curable derangement of stomach, liver or bowels."

WANTED:—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

The New Woman

By ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER

I have been on my travels again, this time to make a better acquaintance with my own great country. My wanderings took in a farm region, Cleveland during the G. A. R. reunion and the Buffalo exposition. I have met meantime all sorts and conditions of my fellow women. I saw women, young and old, in the Grand Army parade, marching side by side with the veterans. In that procession clear eyed women certainly seventy years old marched with free step alongside the veterans, oftentimes stronger and more active than they. Some of the ladies belonged to the Woman's Relief corps and were there to help take care of feeble old men, their husbands or fathers. Two years ago, I am told, there was not a woman in the G. A. R. parade. I was surprised at the number of old and middle aged women I met not only in Cleveland, but everywhere else. On railway trains and steamers, at Niagara Falls, on the Midway at the Buffalo exposition, everywhere the old woman to the young woman was as two to one. Fifty years ago these mothers and grandmothers would have been sitting in the corner in cap and spectacles knitting, shunted off the track as useless, those whose existence is merely tolerated. Today these old girls are taking in the world's sights, and nobody could have more of a "good time" than they. It is the day of the old woman. These elderly dames have reared their families and earned their outings—yes, earned a dozen times over all the outings they will ever get. Now they are on their travels, as active, as bright and eagerly learning as if they were sixteen. The world moves. Brave old girls! Success to them! May they continue traveling and learning something till they round out a century.

One of the matters that interested me at a great street parade I witnessed not long since was the performance of a pretty girl usher. She was stationed at the entrance gate of a huge block of wooden seats, hundreds of them altogether, rising tier on tier above the street. Her task was to conduct people to their places in the rows. Men saw her moving about among the tiers and bought tickets for her section just to see how she acted. In that way she drew custom. Women stared at her and rather hesitated at first to give their tickets to an usher of their own sex, but did so at once when they comprehended the situation, and the experiment was a success all round, quite as much as it is in the Paris theaters, where the ushers are uniformed women, sometimes pretty, oftener otherwise.

Painted over the Pan-American buildings are devout inscriptions to the presidents, pathfinders, statesmen, sailors, soldiers, inventors, patriots, preachers, farmers and others. I only pause because I have not room to name them all who have made this country so mighty and prosperous. I would like to add just one inscription which the devisers of the mottoes, being men, of course never thought of. It would be this, "To the women who stayed at home and reared the children and worked and worried their lives out in order that their men might go off and do great things—the women themselves in nine cases out of ten never even getting appreciation of their services, much less thanks—to these unrecognized, unnamed, forgotten ones, honor and glory to the world's end."

One of the things I have found out lately is that in the civil war the wife of an Illinois colonel of volunteers commanded her husband's regiment a week during his illness. He was helpless, the regiment had no leader at the time, and they were isolated and in peril. The gallant woman put herself at the head of the soldiers and led them in several skirmishes—actual fighting, observe.

Don't be harsh and sharp.

If you wish for anything, don't merely whine and pine hopelessly for it, saying "I wish I had this or that." Go to work and get it. Pull yourself together, direct your effort to that end, no matter how great it is, and you will reach it at last. Never slump down and whine and drift along hopelessly. You are losing power and force of character all the while you do that.

If an aspiring American woman sculptor desires to acquire her art properly, let her go at once to Paris. It is a waste of time and worse than that, for she gets started wrong to attempt to accomplish anything in this country.

* * *

A young woman looked long and earnestly at the waxen image of the pilgrim father in the Washington government museum. She eyed critically his iron helmet and equally iron face, his rusty red yarn stockings and soiled leather upper garment, his lanky hair and dingy white collar, his generally doleful air of seeing nothing in life but ashes, rottenness and disappointment, and she summed him up thus, "Well, if he looked like that I don't wonder they drove him off."

.. The .. Lost Continent

But Zaemon was minded otherwise. He led me up to the Ark of the Mysteries, and chided my impatience, and waited till I had given it my reverential kiss, and then he called aloud, and another old man came out of the opening which is in the top of the ark, and climbed painfully down by the battens which are fixed on its sides. He was a man I had never seen before, hoary, frail and emaciated, and he and Zaemon were then the only two remaining priests who had been raised to the highest degree known to our clan, and who alone had knowledge of the highest secrets and powers and mysteries.

"Look!" cried Zaemon, in his shrill old voice, and swept a trembling finger over the shattered city, and the great spread of sea and country which lay in view of us below. I followed his pointing and looked, and a chill began to crawl through me. All was plainly shown. Our Lord the Sun burned high overhead in a sky of cloudless blue, and day shimmered in his heat. All below seemed from that distance peaceful and warm and still, save only that the mountains smoked more than ordinary, and some spouted fires, and that the sea boiled with some strange disorder.

But it was the significance of the sea that troubled me most. Far out on the distant coast it surged against the rocks in enormous rolls of surf; and up the great estuary, at the head of which the city of Atlantis stands, it gushed in successive waves of enormous height which never returned. Already the lower lands on either side were blotted out beneath tumultuous waters, the harbor walls were drowned out of sight, and the flood was creeping up into the lower wards of the great city itself.

"You have seen?" asked Zaemon.

"I have seen."

"You understand?"

"In part."

"Then let me tell you all. This is the beginning, and the end will follow swiftly. The most high gods, that sit behind the stars, have a limit to even their sublime patience; and that has been passed. The city of Atlantis, the great continent that is beyond, and all that are in them are doomed to unutterable destruction. Of old it was foreseen that this great wiping-out would happen through the sins of men, and to this end the Ark of the Mysteries was built under directions of the gods. No mortal implements can so much as scratch its surface, no waves or rocks wreck it. Inside is stored on sheets of the ancient writing all that is known in the world of learning that is not shared by the common people, also there is grain in a store, and sweet water in tanks sufficient for two persons for the space of four years, together with seeds, weapons, and all such other matters as were deemed fit.

"Out of all this vast country it has been decreed by the high gods that two shall not perish. Two shall be chosen, a man and a woman, who are fit and proper persons to carry away with them the ancient learning to dispose of it as they see best, and afterwards to rear up a race who shall in time build another kingdom and do honor to our Lord the Sun and the other gods in another place. The woman is within the ark already, and seated in the place appointed for her, and though she is a daughter of mine, the burden of her choosing is with you. For the man, the choice has fallen upon yourself."

I was half numb with the shock of what was befalling. "I do not know that I care to be a survivor."

"You are not asked for your wishes," said the old man. "You are given an order from the high gods who know you to be their faithful servant."

Habit rode strong upon me. I made salutation in the required form, and said that I heard and would obey.

"Then it remains to raise you to the sublime degree of the Three, and if your learning is so small that you will not understand the keys to many of the powers, and the highest of the mysteries, when they are handed to you, that fault cannot be remedied now."

Certainly the time remaining was short enough. The fight still raged down at the gate in the pass, though it was a wonder how the handful of priests had held their ground so long. But the ocean rolled in upon the land in an ever-increasing flood, and the mountains smoked and belched forth more volleys of rock as the weight increased on their lower parts, and presently those that besieged the mountain could not fail to see the fate that threatened them. Then there would be no withholding their rush. In their mad fury and panic they would sweep all obstruction resistlessly before them, and those who stood in their path might look to themselves.

But there was no hurrying Zaemon and his fellow sage. They were without temple for the ceremony, without sacrifice or incense to decorate it. They had but the sky for a roof to make their echoes, and the gods themselves for witness. But they went through the work of raising me to their own degree, with all the grand and majestic form which has gathered dignity from the ages, and by no one sentence did they curtail it. A burning mountain burst with a bellowing roar as the incoming waters met its fires, but gravely they went on, in turn reciting their sentences. Phorenice's troops broke down the last resistance, and poured in a frenzied stream among the groves and temples, but still they quavered never in the ritual.

It had been said that this ceremony is the grandest and the most impressive of all those connected with our holy religion; and certainly I found it so; and I speak as one intimate with all the others. Even the tremendous circumstances which hemmed them in could do nothing to make these frail old men forget the deference which was due to the highest order of the Clan.

For myself, I will freely own I was less rapt. I stood there bareheaded in the heat, a man trying to concentrate himself, and yet torn the while by a thousand foreign emotions. The awful thing that was happening all around compelled some of my attention. A continent was in the very act and article of meeting with complete destruction, and if Zaemon and the other priest were strong enough to give their minds wholly up to a matter parochial to the priesthood, I was not so stoical. And, moreover, I was filled with other anxieties and thoughts concerning Nais. Yet I managed to preserve a decent show of attention to the ceremony, making all those responses which were required of me, and trying as well as might be to preserve in my mind those sentences which were the keys to power and learning, and not mere phrasings of grandeur and devotion.

But it became clear that if the ceremony of my raising did not soon arrive at its natural end, it would be cut short presently with something of suddenness. Phorenice's conquering legions swarmed out on the crest of the mountain, and now carried full knowledge of the dreadful thing that was come upon the country. They were out of all control, and ran about like men distracted; but knowing full well that the priests would have brought this terrible wreck to pass by virtue of the powers which were stored within the Ark of the Mysteries, it would be their natural impulse to pour out a final vengeance upon any of these same priests they could come across before it was too late.

It began to come to my mind that if the ceremony did not very shortly terminate, the farther part of the plan would stand very small chance of completion, and I should come by my death after all by fighting to a finish, as I had pictured to myself before. My flickering attention saw the soldiers coming always nearer in their frantic wanderings, and saw also the sea below rolling deeper and deeper in upon the land.

The fires, too, which ringed in half the mountain, spurted up to double their old height, and burned with an unceasing roar. But for all distraction these things gave to the two old priests who were raising me, we might have been in the quietness of some ancient temple, with not so much as a fly to buzz an interruption.

But at last an end came to the ceremony. "Kneel," cried Zaemon, "and make obeisance to your mother the earth, and swear by the high gods that you will never make improper use of the powers over her which this day you have been granted."

A Sailor Poet Needed.

An English literary writer says that the time is fully ripe for the advent of a sailor poet and the marine engineer poet. "Whether they write in terms of rhyme or not I care not. A virgin field awaits them, a noble inheritance, maturing for ages. They can, if they come, utterly refute the false and foolish prattle of the arm-chair philosophers, and prove triumphantly that so far from the romance and poetry of the sea being dead it has hardly yet been given any adequate expression whatever."

Belgian King's Automobile.

The king of the Belgians sports the most expensive automobile ever built. It is a palace on wheels and contains a parlor, a sleeping chamber, toilet rooms and servants' quarters. Its reservoir holds 25 gallons of gasoline. The cost of the car was $50,000.

Peking's Dog Cemetery.

A famous canine cemetery is to be seen behind the summer palace of Peking, where 1,000 dogs, the pets of the various monarchs of China, are laid to rest. Each animal has a monument erected to it, some of them being of ivory, silver and gold.

FIANCE ROBBED HER.

Kentucky Girl Displays Rare Presence of Mind.

When Her Lover Picked Up Her Jewelry and Valuables, It Nearly Broke Her Heart, But Not Her Pride.

"One of the most curious of Kentucky stories, and one that never reached the ears of the newspapers," gossiped a Louisville visitor to a New York Times reporter, the other day, "occurred some years ago in our city. A promising young man had come to the city, had done well, was of a respectable country family, and had won the love of one of the finest young women in the city.

"An only child, and motherless, she lived with her father in one of the rambling mansions in the outskirts of the city. As is the custom in many southern places, the servants lived in a small building in the rear of the large plot of land surrounding the house. Late one afternoon the father told his daughter that she had better arrange to spend the night with one of her friends, as he expected to leave the city on a business trip and would be gone over night.

"She told him that she would not be afraid to stay in the house alone. She expected to go out to the theater that evening with her fiance. When they returned she would ask him to see that all the windows were securely fastened, and she would feel perfectly secure after he had gone.

"Her father somewhat reluctantly agreed to this, and started on his journey. The girl and her fiance went out together, as they had arranged to do. It seemed a peculiarly happy evening to the young woman. They returned to the house in due time. At her request her fiance examined all the windows and doors to see that they were fastened. She bade him good night and went up to her room, asking him to extinguish the front hall light and close the front door as he left. She saw the light go out and heard the front door slam.

"Thinking all was safe, she prepared to retire. Just before getting into bed, and while standing in front of her mirror, combing hen hair at a dresser just opposite the door to the room and over which was a transom, she saw reflected from the transom the face of a man. A closer look showed that it was the man she had just left at the door.

"Being of a cool temperament and not possessed of 'nerves,' she made no sign of her observation, but calmly turned out the gas and retired. She lay awake, waiting to see what would happen. In about half an hour she was horrified to see the figure of this same individual climbing through the transom. He got into the room, walked to her dresser, took the jewels from it, including gifts he himself had made to her, ransacked the little treasure boxes she had, and then stealthily returned through the transom. With eyes half closed the young woman watched the whole performance silently.

"Her father returned home next morning and heard the story with extreme indignation. She begged him not to create any scandal about it, and as the young woman was nearly crazed with distress, he respected her wishes. It was finally agreed that she should write to the young man, telling him that she had seen it all, asking him to return her jewelry and requesting him never to let her see his face again.

"The father took this note to the young man, who promptly delivered the valuables he had stolen. The young woman's friends were told that the engagement was off, and it was not until very recently, several years after the incident, that the reason was known to anyone besides the three persons directly concerned in this tragic occurrence of this young lady's life."

Monstrosities Peculiar to America.

London, Glasgow, Manchester and many other British cities regulate transparencies, electric-flash signs, sky signs and the size of letters permissible in posters. Dover, England, requires a license for all street signs not contained within a window. France and Belgium tax street signs, and Belgium awards prizes for artistic signs. It is only in America, it seems, that we permit ourselves to be attacked on every hand by billboards and posters, says the Des Moines Leader, presumably out of sheer love for the ugliness of them.

Rich Find of Amber.

Extremely valuable deposits of amber have been discovered along the coast of the North sea, near the mouth of the River Elbe. The amber is believed to be in such enormous quantities that the government refuses to let it be worked at once for fear of ruining the existing amber works.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Donald A. McGee, the full back on the Leal's School team, needs considerable practice in goal kicking. The team lost much through his failure to size up in this respect in the game Wednesday with the Plainfield High School team.

Any football eleven in this city or vicinity, averaging 130 pounds, can arrange a game by addressing Aylin Pierson, manager of the Metuchen High School Football team Metuchen, N. J. Games with the high school teams are preferred.

For the second time Saturday afternoon the Plainfield Association Football team failed to open its season, although it had been scheduled to take place. The crack Garwood team, with which it was to contest, failed to put in an appearance. It is said another game has been arranged for the coming Saturday.

The defeat administered to the city High School eleven by the Leal's School team has somewhat dampened the ardor of the former team. There were many discouraging features in the game and Lindley Best, the coach, will have much work to encourage the boys to go ahead. The team is exceptionally light and this fact has been a material drawback. At the outset no thought was given to putting a representative team in the field, but it was hoped that the players might be able to make a fair showing and that the work would result in the school being able to place a good aggregation on the gridiron next season.

Miss Adele Miln, of Somerville, has been visiting relatives on Plainfield avenue.

—Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. Strikes at the root of the trouble and draws out the inflamation. The children's favor ite Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph.

DUG UP PIN.

More Plunder Recovered While Mettler Was Being Taken to the County Jail.

Harry Mettler, the young Easton lad, who confessed to being an assistant in the Demko assault and robbery, was taken to Elizabeth by Chief Kiely Saturday afternoon.

On the way, at the prisoner's request, a stop was made at Aldene, where he pointed out a spot beneath a tree where he had buried a gold stick pin, taken from the Demko house. The pin was dug up by the chief and was found to be in a good condition. Mettler will appear before the Grand Jury tomorrow.

Fraternal Visit.

Grand Recorder Lippincott, Grand Foreman V. W. Nash and Deputy Grand Master J. W. A. Bauersache will pay a fraternal visit this evening to Raritan Lodge, No. 6, Ancient Order of United Workmen, of New Brunswick. Tomorrow evening Grand Foreman Nash, Deputy Grand Master Edward Moster and Past Master Workman Rogers, of this city, will visit Bernards Lodge, No. 67, of Basking Ridge.

Four Score And Ten.

Although "Uncle" Isaac Brown, of Watchung avenue, celebrated the ninetieth anniversary of his birthday last Saturday, he is still hale and hearty and strange enough he has not finished cutting his teeth. He now has a tooth coming through the gums on the lower jaw. "Uncle" Isaac called at The Press office Saturday and received congratulations.

Was Only a Salute.

ALIS BEATEN AT NEWARK.

RIVERSIDE A. A. WON EXCITING CAME 16 TO 5.

Game Played at Newark Saturday Afternoon—No Scoring in the Second Half.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, October 21—The Alis A. A. football team, of Plainfield, was defeated by the Riverside A. A. eleven, of this city, in a well-fought game on Riverside Oval Saturday afternoon. The final score was 16 to 5, all the points being made in the first half.

There was a large crowd present when the kick-off was made by the Alis aggregation. The home team started in with a rush and broke through tackle and centre and then around the end, finally scoring the first touchdown by smashing through tackle again. The next two touchdowns were made by the Riverside eleven by long dashes around the ends. When the ball had been carried across the line for the third time the first goal from touchdown was kicked. This finished the scoring, so far as the home team was concerned.

Alis took a decided brace. Riverside fumbled, and as quick as a flash Cuming, the left half back of the Plainfielders, grabbed the pigskin and shot down the field. Before the home team could gather itself together the leather was landed safely behind its goal. In the second half the ball was moved alternately up and down the field until the game was called on account of darkness.

HANDLED IT ROUGHLY.

Judge Runyon Heard How Coffey Suffered From His Trifling Indiscretion.

Thomas Coffey, the young man who called at his sister's home to see a newly-arrived baby, and was thrown out by his brother-in-law, Michael Gleason, for handling it a little too roughly, appeared before City Runyon, Saturday afternoon, with a witness, to tell how it all happened.

From their testimony it seems that Coffey was hit by one sister with the family album, slapped in the face by another, and lastly thrown downstairs by the fond father. The court thought this was sufficient punishment for being too demonstrative over the infant, and suspended sentence.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM THAT THEY WILL CARRY SOMERSET COUNTY AT THE COMING ELECTION

The Situation in That County at This Day and Something About the Candidates Themselves.

A CLOSE CONTEST IS GENERALLY EXPECTED.

SENATOR REED ESTIMATES THAT REPUBLICANS WILL WIN BY 600 MAJORITY.

Prominent Democratic Leader Says His Party Will Have a Majority of 300—Short Sketches of the Candidates on Both Tickets for Sheriff and for the Assembly—All Are Good Men.

The political situation in Somerset county is becoming more interesting as the day of election approaches. The tickets nominated by the respective leading parties are exceptionally clean and it will be a battle royal from now on until election day, for every means will be used by both parties to gain recruits.

The active men in each party appear to be very sanguine. Predictions are freely made, but unfortunately many of them are grounded on a basis on a par with those of the statements of an oil-gusher prospectus. Too much dependence should not be placed in them. There are, however, some prophecies which are reliable from a party standpoint. Those based on returns from the leaders in the various voting precincts are included among these. The returns from the last election are not in all cases safe to judge by, for as is well known there are many defections from time to time.

The personalities of the candidates, the administration given by the dominant party, as well as the friendship, has much to do with the vote.

It is admitted generally that the plurality given the assembly nominees of the Republican party last year was to some extent influenced by the fact that it was presidential year. Be as it may, the Republicans won by the handsome plurality of 1,208, and it will be a task for the Democrats to overcome this figure. This time the assembly nominations are linked with the gubernatorial. This may have more or less effect on the vote. When Murphy visited the county he was given a rousing ovation, but the same condition was evident when Seymour made his appearance. In the last gubernatorial campaign, in 1898, Voorhees defeated Crane by the small margin of 347 votes. Were the same lines drawn now the victory could well be said to be very much in question. A primary question is this, what relation does the strength of Voorhees, when compared with Crane, bear to that of Murphy, when placed in comparison with Seymour.

Senator Charles A. Reed, the chairman of the Republican county committee, is inclined to take an optimistic view of the Republican outlook. Says he: "I think Somerset county will give the Republicans 600 majority. I have had canvasses made in each polling precinct, and from the reports made to me, I don't believe there will be any defection whatever from the ranks of the party."

He has gone over the situation very carefully, and from what he has learned from the leaders in each township, the prediction made by him he considers conservative. Both Hoagland and Douglass, the Republican candidates for assembly and sheriff, respectively, are, in his opinion, strong men. The run made by both the Democratic candidates when nominated before are recalled by him, and he does not appear to think that either man is any stronger to-day.

On the other side of the fence the leaders are just as sanguine. They do not make such big claims as their political enemies, however. One well informed politician places the estimate at 300 Democratic majority. The minority party counts on the personality of their candidates, Childs, for assembly, and McMurtry, for sheriff, to give them a boost. Childs has become better known throughout the county of late and his many charitable acts his friends say has endeared him to numerous voters. McMurtry, as deputy sheriff, it is claimed, has made a good record, and has a host of of friends scattered about the various townships, who can be relied on to present his claims.

There appears to be much life in the Democratic campaign and factional differences seem to be an absent quantity just at present. McMurtry is better known to the voters than Douglass, who is a new figure in county politics, and this is depended upon to some extent by the leaders.

For the benefit of those not informed in regard to the careers of the several candidates, short sketches of their lives are appended.

Henry Wyckoff Hoagland, of Rocky Hill, the Republican nominee for assembly, met with no opposition at the recent Republican county convention. He has already served one term as the representative of Somerset county, having been elected by a plurality of 1,208 over Hillpot, the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Hoagland was born at Griggstown, N. J., November 24, 1836. He is a farmer by vocation. At one time he was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade. For seven years Mr. Hoagland was clerk of Montgomery township and for three years a member of the Board of Education of the same township. The candidate is known as a man of honesty and integrity.

Thomas Douglass, of Bernards township, the Republican candidate for sheriff, like his collegue, is a farmer. He was born in 1856 at Mine Brook on the same farm, where he now resides. His land adjoins that of S. S. Voorhees, the uncle of Governor Voorhees. His ancestry is Scotch, his great-great-grandfather having migrated to this country and settled in the vicinity of what is now Thomas Douglass' home.

Mr. Douglass is not a politician but is a plain every day farmer, who is held in high esteem by his neighbors as an intelligent and thrifty man. At present he is a member of the township committee, having been elected two years ago by a large majority in that Democratic stronghold. He has discharged his duties in an able manner.

The Democratic nominee for assembly, Samuel S. Childs, of Bernards township, is a successful business man, whose name is identified with the numerous Childs' restaurants scattered throughout New York, Philadelphia, Trenton and other cities. He is a philanthropist, who has benefitted his fellow men in no small degree.

Mr. Childs was born on the farm on which he now resides at Bernards. At the age of eighteen he entered West Point Military Academy and, one year later, joined an engineering corps in New York city. Later he went into the restaurant business and from a small beginning has become known as the proprietor of the most widely known class of popular restaurants in this country. Mr. Childs built, equipped and is maintaining the public library at Basking Ridge at his own expense; has improved many highways in Somerset county with his own money; bears the cost of electric lights scattered along the long road from Bernards station to his residence, and has made liberal contributions to charitable purposes.

At the recent State convention, Mr. Childs was honored by a complimentary caucus vote for governor by the delegates from his own county. This is the second time he has been before the voters as a candidate.

In the nomination of Calvin D. McMurtry, of Bridgewater township, for sheriff, the Democrats believe they have placed before the people an extremely formidable candidate. He was born in Bernardsville, and is the son of Former Sheriff McMurtry. While his father was performing the duties of the shrievalty office, the son acted as his deputy, and discharged his duties in an efficient manner.

For a number of years Mr. McMurtry was the bookkeeper of the First National Bank, of Somerville, and later identified himself with the wholesale coal business of C. S. Hoffman, at the same place. At present he is the head bookkeeper of the Somerville Woolen Mills. Six years ago he went down as the candidate for sheriff with the rest of the Democratic ticket, but ran ahead of his colleagues on the ticket.

Mr. McMurtry is a member of the Somerville Bachelors Club and the Somerset County Country Club. He is an exempt fireman. His Democracy is of the sterling type and he has always been active in party work.

POETS OF THE LAKE SCHOOL.

CLEVERLY REVIEWED IN LECTURE BEFORE MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

C. T. Winchester, Professor of English Literature at Wesleyan, Was the Speaker.

An interesting address on "The English Lakes and their Poets" was given by C. T. Winchester, professor of English literature in Wesleyan College, before the members of the Monday Afternoon Club at their meeting, yesterday afternoon. The remarks of the speaker were fraught with facts bearing on the works of the authors and poets commonly associated as members of the Lake School.

It was the idea of the professor to point out the fine qualities possessed by the writers and to show as far as possible just in what respect each excelled, as well as to outline the defects apparent in the make-up of their works.

He first referred to Robert Southey, the poet and miscellaneous writer, and dwelt upon the peculiar faculty of expression which distinguishes his works. Next in turn he spoke on Samuel Taylor Coleridge, the metaphysician, and drew from his poems material which furnished ground for some entertaining remarks. Charles Lamb, the popular essayist, came in for a share of attention, and the wit and sallies of humor which have made this member of the Lake Poets famous, were mentioned too at some length.

Thomas DeQuincey and John Wilson, known to the literary world as Christopher North, were discussed in connection with their writings. The last part of the lecture was devoted to William Wordsworth and his beautiful poems. To express the deepest intuition of a person's nature there is no one in the English-speaking race who rises to the height of Wordsworth, in the opinion of Professor Winchester. "From his poetry some discounts are to be made, but taking all in all Wordsworth is one of the greatest poets of modern English."

MARGENTINO RELEASED.

His Wife Refused to Enter a Complaint Against Him For Stabbing Her.

Although still suffering from several ugly gashes in her arms which she says were inflicted by her husband, Mrs. Frank Margentino, of Park avenue, refused to make a complaint against the man when he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon yesterday afternoon. The police had no alternative but to release him.

In the struggle to gain possession of a pair of scissors, as told in yesterday's Press, Margentino inflicted a deep gash in his forehead which opened an artery. He lost a great deal of blood before Dr. Long arrived and, according to the latter, would have bled to death in a few minutes.

Margentino has been very morose of late and several times during intoxicated spells, it is said, has threatened his wife with bodily injury. On two occasions she spent the night at police headquarters, but she fears to have him sent to jail, dreading his behavior toward her when he is released.

The King's Foreign Mission Circle of Warren chapel gave an entertainment in the chapel, last evening, to further the interests of foreign missions. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor, took charge of the programme and, after reading a selection from the Scripture and offering prayer, announced the various numbers.

The first number was a vocal solo by Miss Cornelia Miller, after which a recitation was given by Miss Pauline Denton. Then followed a piano and mandolin duet by Miss Saidee Mae Howell and Dalziel Schoonmaker; also, a recitation by Miss Evalina Dubois Benton. This part of the programme was concluded with a vocal solo, "The Holy City," by Miss Anna Boss, accompanied by Miss Stella Boss.

Several letters from foreign missionaries were read. The first was from Miss M. E. Manchester, who was killed in China soon after the letter was written. This was read by F. H. Andrews. The next letter was from Charles H. Good, who is in Africa. This was read by Dalziel Schoonmaker. The third letter from Dr. Mary Becker, of Turkey, was read by Miss Bennett. The next letter was from India and was written by Bishop Thurber. Miss Harriet Squires read it. The last letter was written by Miss Emma Horton concerning the mountain whites of Kentucky. After Mr. Schoonmaker read the letter from Africa, he stated that in a very few months he expected to go to Africa as a missionary and he asked all present for their prayers.

Following the reading of the letters there was a piano solo by Miss Howell, recitations by Miss Pauline Denton, a vocal solo by Miss Cornelia Miller, flute solos by Elmer Wheeler and selections by an orchestra composed of Chauncey P. COMPLETE CITY TICKET NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

City Convention Was Held Last Evening When the Nominations Were Made.

SOME SPEECHES FOLLOWED.

W. L. HETFIELD, JR., NAMED PROVISIONALLY FOR CITY JUDGE.

J. P. Homan, Isaac M. Field and A. H. Atterbury Nominated as Councilmen-at-Large—Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor for School Trustee.

This is the ticket which the Democracy of Plainfield presents for the consideration and action of the voters of this municipality:

For City Judge,
Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.
For Councilmen-at-Large,
James P. Homan,
A. H. Atterbury,
Isaac M. Field.
For School Trustee,
Rev. Dr. Joseph P. Taylor.

The nominations were made at the Democratic city convention attended by a large representation of the leading party workers and held in Justice Moffett's office on West Second street, last evening. No dissention marked the proceedings and the delegates all appeared to be in a jubiliant frame of mind.

One fact should be stated at the outset and that is that the nomination of Walter Hetfield, Jr., for the office of city judge, was made with the understanding that he would be given the opportunity to withdraw in favor of a candidate agreeable to the committee selected to fill possible vacancies. Possibly the most interesting part of the proceedings was a speech delivered by Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., candidate of the First ward Democrats for the office of councilman. Mr. Hetfield made a stirring address in which he severely arraigned the councilmanic body.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock when the meeting was called to order by Michael Flynn, chairman of the city committee, and in a few moments John H. Hillman was chosen chairman. He proceeded with dispatch, as soon as a secretary was selected in the person of Edward C. Searing. E. D. Moffett, James Kane and Andrew Nolan were named by the chair as a committee on credentials and they reported that there were no contests, Isaac M. Field, A. H. Atterbury and James P. Homan, each in turn, were nominated for the positions of councilmen-at-large, and in short order they were elected candidates.

The nomination for city judge was passed temporarily and the convention took up the matter of naming a suitable candidate for school trustee. The name of Rev. Dr. Joseph P. Taylor was presented to the convention and it met with the hearty approval of the delegates. Dr. Taylor was chosen.

At this juncture one of the candidates for assembly, Charles L. Moffett, of this city, was introduced. In a brief address he thanked the Democrats present for the honor which the party in Union county had conferred upon him and pledged himself to work for the success of the entire Democratic ticket.

The city judgeship nomination was then considered. Chairman Hillman explained that no name could be placed on the ticket for this office unless a temporary nomination was made at this meeting. With the understanding that he is at liberty to withdraw in favor of a candidate selected by the committee on vacancies, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr. received the nomination.

Isaac M. Field then arose and thanked the assemblage for the nomination of council at large, which he had received. He promised to hold himself in readiness to do whatever lay in his power for the success of the cause. The acceptance of A. H. Atterbury of a similar nomination was made known by Michael Flynn, who had received a communication from the nominee.

It was then that Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., the First ward nominee of the minority party for the office of councilman, took the floor. He recounted how, when but fourteen years of age, he had lent his services as clerk at the elections when there was but one polling place in the city. He declared that he had always stood ready to be sacrificed for the good of his party. He continued:

"I stand ready now to be sacrificed if the people of my ward think me unworthy. I, like other Plainfield Democrats, have suffered defeat so often that I am used to it. When in the

DON'T WAIT.

Take Advantage of Plainfield Citizen's Experience Before It's Too Lat.

When the back begins to ache
Don't wait 'till backache becomes chronic,
'Till serious kidney troubles develop.
Profit by a Plainfield citizen's experience.

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson avenue, says: "I had backache and a sort of dull pain across my loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and tried to rise I had a sharp pain in my kidneys. Walking any distance or standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be constantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

NEW HEIR TO THRONE.

Empress Dowager of China Said to Contemplate Appointment.

PEKING, Oct. 22.—A new heir to the throne will be appointed when the dowager empress meets Prince Ching and several of the viceroys at Kaifeng, capital of the province of Honan, where there will be a general discussion of the affairs of the empire.

This news is believed to be authentic, as it was received from high Chinese officials. The present heir has proved to be dissipated and uncontrollable. Moreover, his father's status as a banished prince makes his succession contrary to Chinese traditions.

The candidate of the empress is said to be Peitze, a nephew of Prince Tuan, who is intellectually weak. He participated in the Boxer aggressions, personally leading an attack on the French cathedral. The reform faction disapproves of the selection and suggests that the powers oppose it if the empress wishes to carry it out.

Prince Ching starts about Nov. 1 from here to act as grand marshal of the court on its journey from Kaifeng.

The heir to the throne is Pu Chun, son of Prince Tuan. He was born in 1884. In 1885 Prince Tuan, who had become one of the most powerful of the advisers of the dowager empress, obtained the honor of having his son named by the emperor, and a short time afterward Pu Chun was selected as heir apparent.

Koester Appointed by Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The president has appointed George E. Koester collector of internal revenue for the district of South Carolina to succeed W. L. Webster, deceased. The appointment was announced shortly before the departure of the president for New Haven. With the appointment the following statement was issued: "Mr. Koester is a prominent gold Democrat and has been recommended for the position by a large number of influential business men and representative citizens not only of South Carolina, but of North Carolina and elsewhere." The appointment of Mr. Koester terminates a controversy which began upon Mr. Roosevelt's accession to the presidency.

All Well at Tutuila.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The navy department has received a report from Lieutenant Commander E. J. Dorn, who has been in charge of the naval station at Tutuila, Samoa, during the absence of Captain Tilley, upon the condition of affairs on the island. Commander Dorn made a trip aboard the Abarenda to the island of Manuu'a in September. The chiefs and leading men of Manuu'a, says Commander Dorn, extended to himself and his officers a very cordial reception. Friendly feeling among the natives of this island for the United States is reported apparent. The health of the ship's company is excellent, it is stated, and the affairs of the station are progressing favorably.

City Gets Miser's Savings.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—By the death of Mrs. Elmira Bellerjeau at Trenton asylum this morning the city of Trenton, under an old law, fell heir to an estate of cash amounting to $20,000. The woman died without heirs, and her estate escheats to the place of residence for the benefit of the poor in the municipality. Joseph E. Bellerjeau, the woman's husband, died about a dozen years ago. For years he was watchman of one of the Delaware river bridges, and when he died $40,000 cash was found sewed up in his trousers.

Street Duel In Waco, Tex.

WACO, Tex., Oct. 22.—A street duel with revolvers was enacted in Austin street, the main thoroughfare of the city, yesterday afternoon between former Sheriff Harris and his son on one side and Dr. Lovelace and his son on the other. As a result both of the Harrises are dead, and Lovelace and his son are under arrest, charged with the killing. The trouble is supposed to have originated from domestic difficulties.

Glass Factory Differences Settled.

ELWOOD, Ind., Oct. 22.—The differences between the employees and proprietors of the Macbeth-Evans lamp chimney factory in this city have been settled, and the plant has resumed in all departments. It is understood that the demands of the strikers were complied with to the extent that an allowance will be made on defective work.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED

Thieves Get Away With $75,000 In Stamps at Chicago.

GAINED ENTRANCE THROUGH TUNNEL

Work Which Must Have Required Weeks Completed Without Leaving Any Clew or Exciting Previous Suspicion.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Robbery of the Chicago postoffice by almost exactly the same method as was used in the recent gold robbery at San Francisco has just been discovered, and the loss to the government is estimated at $75,000. A secret tunnel was found under the temporary postoffice building at Michigan avenue and Washington street. Through it the robbers gained access to the vaults, and stamps aggregating about the amount mentioned were stolen.

The robbers gained an entrance to the place from which they worked under the postoffice by breaking open a little door in the board wall which surrounds the foundations of the building. The postoffice, being a temporary structure, is on poles, and there is a space of three feet between the floor of the building and the ground. After getting through the trapdoor they crawled forty feet to a two foot brick wall that separated an addition from the main structure. This they broke through.

They then crawled nearly 300 feet under the main floor of the postoffice to a point directly under the brick foundations of the various vaults. By mistake they chose the south vault to operate on, containing the wholesale supply of stamps. If they had taken the next to the north, they might have got $600,000 in cash and stamps.

First breaking through the two foot brick foundation, they bored a section out of the thin pine floor and began operations on the bottom of the vault. This was one-quarter inch steel. In it they bored ninety-seven holes, none of them through until the whole job was ready. Then a few moments' work with the drill and a hammer broke a section nineteen inches square out of the floor of the vault and access was easy.

They took from the vault booty enough to load a good sized wagon. In the vehicle they drove away, and beyond Michigan avenue no trace of them can be found.

Entrance to the vault and the extraction of the stamps probably took place during Sunday, when there was the least occasion for opening the doors of any time during the week.

Opportunities for undisturbed tunneling into the temporary postoffice are good in the locality of the lake front. At night there are few persons in the vicinity east of the building, and work of that kind could be carried on in the darkness with little chance of discovery. It seems probable that the work took weeks to complete.

Pat Crowe Writes Again.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 22.—Pat Crowe has written another letter to Chief of Police Donahue. This latest communication from the alleged kidnaper was mailed here and states that the much wanted Pat is secluded within twenty-five miles of this city. The writer insists that unless he shall be given assurance from the court that his bond will not exceed $500 he will not give himself up. The communication evidently was written by the same man that wrote a letter to the chief a week ago. A brother of Pat Crowe and a sister both identified the writing as that of the man who has so long evaded the police and detective forces of the country.

No News From Miss Stone.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 22.—The officials of the United States legation are still without news from the missionaries who are seeking to make an arrangement with the abductors of Miss Ellen M. Stone and her companion, Mme. K. S. Tsilka. It is regarded as probable that the missionaries will use the nearest telegraph only when the terms of the ransom are settled, directing where and how the cash shall be sent.

Possible Oil Combine.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 22.—Former Governor James S. Hogg and James W. Swayne are in New York city. The object of their visit is to interest capital in the formation of a big combination of all the independent oil producers of the Beaumont field who have the means of handling the oil as individual concerns. The capitalization of these independent companies approximates $100,000,000.

Suicide at Wife's Suggestion.

VIENNA, Oct. 22.—The failure of the Boden Credit bank at Oedenburg, Hungary, led to a singular suicide. Manager Schladerer, whose extensive defalcations caused the failure, made a confession to his wife, who handed him a pistol and advised him to kill himself, which he did. His wife will be arrested as an accessory to the act.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The monthly statement of the collections of internal revenue issued by the commissioner of internal revenue shows that the total receipts for September were $21,604,447, a decrease as compared with September, 1900, of $1,849,366.

THE CASH RETURNED

Merchants' National Bank of Lowell, Mass., Resumes.

ABSCONDING OFFICERS OUT OF SIGHT

Return of Stolen Securities Made Through an Attorney—Prosecution of Officials Not Considered Probable.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 22.—The financial troubles which had caused great suspense to the officers of the Merchants' National bank for three days owing to the disappearance of its teller, Albert G. Smith, and its bookkeeper, Lewis H. Swift, practically has been smoothed out.

The bank's loss, it is understood, is made up of two items—first, the stealings of the two men during the past two years, as shown now by the books, and, secondly, that part of the cash included in the loot retained by Smith and Swift as the price of their bargain to return the securities. The securities returned to the Merchants' National bank by Smith and Swift were valued at $800,000.

These "valuable securities," as described by one director, were returned in carpetbags and represented bonds, notes and other negotiable papers and big bunches of money, all supposed to have been taken from the bank vault just prior to the time the men disappeared on Thursday night.

The interest for the moment centers in the pursuit of Smith and Swift, and last night it was understood that United States officers had found near this city the men's hiding place. An immediate arrest was expected without regard to the probable inaction of the bank directors. From the fact that the lawyers who negotiated what appears to have been an agreement at settlement were in Boston yesterday, and with them was Amasa Pratt, it is generally believed the men were in Boston until this morning and that they are now some distance away. Smith had corresponded with Montreal parties, and it is thought he has gone there.

The loot from the bank vault was returned in carpetbags delivered at the bank very early yesterday morning after the bank directors had been in conference at a hotel with Lawyers John C. Burke of this city and Charles W. Bartlett of Boston, representing the men.

What the agreement was by which the bank got back the greater part of the plunder will not be stated, but the happiness of all the bank's officers, expressed without reserve, indicates the seriousness of the situation prior to the agreement. Lawyer Burke when asked if his clients would be in danger of prosecution said:

"I know nothing which would indicate that the young men will be prosecuted."

Several of the directors have stated that they do not expect Smith or Swift to return here.

English Actors Royally Received.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The American tour of Sir Henry Irving, Ellen Terry and the members of the London Lyceum Theater company was inaugurated at the Knickerbocker theater last night. The theater was filled to the foyer, society being liberally represented, and the distinguished English actor and his players were given an affectionate greeting. A revival of "King Charles I.," in which Sir Henry first won American favor, was selected as the opening production, and it was sumptuously staged and splendidly acted. The costumes were copied from the famous pictures by Vandyke, and the scene in which Charles surrenders to Cromwell was an exact reproduction of Vandyke's conception of it.

Suspected Dynamiter Arrested.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 22.—Alexander Dongowski has been arrested charged with being one of the men who placed dynamite under the house of Mine Superintendent Reese Morgan last night and wrecked it. The prisoner was formerly an employee of the Murray mine, where Mr. Morgan is superintendent. Last week he was discharged and is said to have made threats that he would get even with somebody. The police are after two other men who are said to have been implicated in the deed.

Prisoners Escape.

MATTEAWAN, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Two prisoners, both serving long sentences, escaped from the State Asylum For Criminal Insane at Matteawan. By using small pieces of steel taken from their shoes the two men managed to saw through the bars of a cell window and then climb down a leader to the ground. They are still at large, but the asylum officers believe they will capture them.

A Possible Shipbuilding Plant.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 22.—Sir Christopher Furness of London, his private secretary and a party of Montreal men are in the city to investigate the inducements presented by the Soo as a site for a great steel shipbuilding plant.

Wisconsin Bank Robbed.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 22.—The bank at Dane Station, near here, was robbed by a trio of safecrackers who took money and notes in the vault. No trace of them has been found. The amount taken is not stated.

Kitchener Wants More Men.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Daily Express learns that Lord Kitchener has wired an urgent demand to the war office for more trained mounted men.

THE SCHLEY INQUIRY.

Flag Lieutenant Wells All Day on the Stand.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Lieutenant B. W. Wells, Jr., who was the flag lieutenant of Admiral Schley while the latter was in command of the flying squadron, occupied practically the entire time of the Schley court of inquiry yesterday.

On his direct examination he continued his narrative of the Cuban campaign. Lieutenant Wells was under cross examination for about two and a half hours, largely at the hands of Mr. Hanna, whose questions were directed mainly to the dispatches received and sent by Admiral (then Commodore) Schley. While this line of investigation was being exploited Mr. Rayner, speaking for Admiral Schley, said that the admiral was willing to admit that he had received the "Dear Schley" letter on the Dupont, which arrived at Cienfuegos on May 22, but he added that no duplicate of this dispatch had ever been received by Admiral Schley. He said also that the admiral admitted the receipt of two copies of No. 8, Admiral Sampson's dispatch saying that the Spanish fleet was probably at Santiago and telling Commodore Schley "if satisfied that it (the Spanish fleet) is not at Cienfuegos to proceed with all dispatch to Santiago," one of these being received by the Hawk May 23 and the other by the Marblehead May 24.

Lieutenant Wells was still on the stand when the court adjourned and will continue his testimony today.

Preparing For the Electrocution.

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Warden Meade of Auburn prison spent several hours in conference with Superintendent of State Prisons Cornelius V. Collins, arranging the details for carrying out the sentence of death imposed on Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley. They went carefully over the 1,200 requests which have been received for invitations to the electrocution. There will be but twenty-six witnesses admitted, the law limiting the number. The prison physician will be assisted in the conduct of the autopsy by Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, former president of the state commission in lunacy and one of the greatest experts on insanity in the country. There will also be a number of other physicians in attendance when the final mandate of the law is carried out. Superintendent of State Prisons Collins is silent as to whom he will invite, but it is learned that the sheriff of Erie county, within whose jurisdiction the crime was committed, will receive an invitation.

Indians Overstep Their Bounds.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Governor Orman of Colorado telegraphed the secretary of the interior as follows: "Bands of about 300 Indians are in Colorado from the White Rocks (Utah) agency, destroying game in direct violation of the laws of the state. Immediate provision must be made by you to remove them; otherwise there will be serious trouble. I am satisfied that the government agent at White Rocks is not using proper efforts to keep them at the agency." The agent referred to, Mr. Myton of the White Rocks agency, already is in Colorado investigating the reports that his Indians were trespassing on Colorado lands, but has not reported the result of his investigation to the department.

The Great Northern's Purchase.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 22.—The annual report of the Great Northern Railroad company was given out late yesterday. Regarding the purchase of the Burlington system the following information is given: The Great Northern and the Northern Pacific have purchased jointly 96.75 per cent of the stock of the Burlington, the par value of which is $107,577,200. In payment for this stock they have issued joint collateral stock to the amount of $215,154,400. Additional bonds up to a total of $222,400,000 may be issued for the purchase of more stock. The authorized stock of the roads is $125,000,000.

Governor Durbin and Kentucky Case

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 22.—It is not likely that Governor Durbin will announce his decision in the matter of the last requisition of Governor Beckham of Kentucky for the extradition of Messrs. Taylor and Finley until after the trial of Caleb Powers, which now is in progress at Georgetown, Ky. It is generally understood about the statehouse that the governor consented only out of courtesy to the Kentuckians who presented the requisition to investigate carefully the records and that already he had read enough to convince him that he should not honor the requisition.

The President In Connecticut.

FARMINGTON, Conn., Oct. 22.—President Roosevelt arrived here last night. The president is accompanied by Commander Cowles, his brother-in-law, at whose summer residence he is stopping; Secretary Cortelyou, Dr. Rixey and Mr. Barnes, one of Mr. Cortelyou's assistants. Tomorrow the president will go to Yale college, where the degree of LL.D. is to be conferred upon him. He will return to Washington on Thursday.

To Investigate State Institutions.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 22.—Governor Sayers has signed a resolution passed at the recent session of the legislature providing for a legislative investigation of every state institution in the state to ascertain whether everything is being managed economically and correctly. The committee will go to work at once and will report to the next legislature.

ANXIETY AT PANAMA.

COLON, Colombia, Oct. 22.—The anxious and prolonged uncertainty regarding the date upon which the insurgents will probably attack the city of Panama still exists, resulting in a wearisome tension productive of disastrous results to the commerce of the isthmus. Merchants and tradesmen of every description are complaining of the unexampled dullness of trade.

The United States battleship Iowa, the British sloop of war Icarus and the French second class cruiser Protet at Panama and the United States gunboat Machias and the French cruiser Suchet at Colon continue to await the development of events.

Friday a large number of insurgents were seen at Empire, an important railway station near Panama, but they disappeared upon the approach of government troops. Sunday another body of insurgents was seen at Fanfar, less than half a mile from the Laboca wharf, on the outskirts of Panama. Fanfar is where the insurgents posted their artillery when they shelled Laboca in last year's battle.

SEEKING ANNEXATION.

Business Men In Cuba Signing a Petition to That Effect.

HAVANA, Oct. 22.—A petition asking that Cuba be annexed to the United States is being circulated among Cuban business men, and every effort is being centered upon annexation, as business men generally, it is alleged, believe that the reciprocity movement will amount to nothing.

A meeting has been arranged for tomorrow at which, although held under the guise of reciprocity, it is said, the first gun in the campaign for annexation will be fired by Cuba's orators, Senores Desvernine and Lanuza and the Marquis de Montoro.

Two men convicted of murder will be executed by the garrote next Wednesday. These will be the first executions since the occupation of the island by the United States.

The "American Danger."

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The Bund der Industriellen held a general meeting here at which was discussed the "American danger" and the new German tariff. The general secretary of the bund, Dr. Wendlandt, described the "American danger" as extremely grave and said that Germany's manufacturers were fully conscious of this danger. He quoted figures showing the extraordinary growth of exports from the United States to Germany and the decline in the movement of goods in the opposite direction and complained that the average of duties imposed by the United States is 50 per cent while that of Germany is only 10 per cent. A further hardship, he said, is the requiring of a declaration of invoices before a consul, thus giving Americans possession of business secrets of the German manufacturers. He asserted that the United States government maintained detectives in Germany for the purpose of discovering trade secrets and undervaluations and cited the case of a factory in Saxony which had been ruined thereby.

The Charleston Exposition.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 22.—The following announcement is given out for the purpose of correcting many misrepresentations which have been made by unauthorized persons in regard to the condition of the work on the exposition at Charleston: The work is further advanced at this period than the work upon any previous exposition held in this country, and there is no reason why the exposition should not be completed in time for the opening day. The board of directors of the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian exposition beg to announce to the people of the United States that the exposition will open on Monday, Dec. 2, 1901, with a preliminary religious service at the exposition grounds on Sunday, Dec. 1. The principal oration at the opening ceremony will be delivered by Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York.

Pennsylvania's Heavyweight Dead.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 22.—J. Daniel Reinhard, probably the heaviest man in Pennsylvania, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Bath, near here, aged seventy years. Mr. Reinhard weighed 493 pounds last Saturday. He was a stonecutter and for half a century was director of the Northampton County Choir association and organist of the Bath Union church. He was the father of seventeen children, eleven of whom are living. Eight of his sons are marble cutters, and all of them are of remarkable physique, none weighing less than 300 pounds.

The Lawton Prize Winner Dead.

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 22.—James D. Wood, who drew the capital prize in the Lawton land district at the El Reno lottery last August and settled on a claim valued at nearly $50,000, is dead of typhoid fever after a brief illness. Before his death all the contests against his quarter section claim, adjoining the town of Lawton, had been disposed of by the interior department, and his widow will come into undisputed possession of the property.

Roebling Machinists Strike.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The machinists employed at Trenton, N. J., by the John A. Roebling Sons' company have declared a strike. They claim that the firm has ordered them back to sixty hours' work a week after last spring granting the union's demands for a short week.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The navy department has been informed of the departure of Rear Admiral Remey aboard his flagship, the Brooklyn, from Chemulpo, Korea, for Vladivostok, Russia.

YALE CELEBRATING.

The Second Day of the Bicentenary.

A GREAT PARADE AT NIGHT.

The Largest Crowd Ever In New Haven Thronged the Gayly Illuminated Streets—President Hadley's Formal Welcome.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 22.—The Yale bicentennial celebration is well under way. A good share of the formal addresses on the work of the college during the past two centuries in various departments of learning, the welcome of the guests and their responses and the torchlight procession in the evening were the features yesterday.

The formal reception of guests and delegates began at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the Art school, when President Hadley greeted the guests of the university and representatives of the alumni. This lasted about an hour.

At 8 o'clock in the evening the students and graduates met on the campus for the torchlight parade. A gorgeous illumination of the campus termed a "blazing sun" took place a few minutes before the parade started at 9 o'clock.

Nearly 25,000 persons had come during the day from different parts of the state and from New York to witness the torchlight procession. It was one of the largest crowds ever gathered here.

Thousands of orange colored Japanese lanterns with incandescent lights and chemical urns placed at various stations on the campus and numerous electrical devices made a scene long to be remembered.

The line of march over which the procession passed was about two miles long. It began on the campus and extended down College, Chapel and Church streets, where it was reviewed by the governor, mayor, President Hadley, members of the state legislature and city government. It next proceeded up Elm and York and down Crown streets. It turned up Orange to Trumbull, to Whitney avenue, to Sachem street, down Hillhouse avenue to Grove and College streets and back through the Phelps memorial gateway to the center of the campus. Nearly 10,000 persons were in line, including 2,000 undergraduates and as many alumni, the Second regiment, C. N. G.; thirty bands and many of the invited guests.

Yale Regatta.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—The annual fall regatta of Yale university was held at Lake Whitney yesterday afternoon. The events afforded the closest races ever seen on the course. There were three races over a course five-sixths of a mile in length. The first event was between a gentlemen eight, juniors and sophomores. All three crews got off simultaneously, and for the entire distance there was no clear water between the three boats. Th sophomores and juniors were on even terms ten yards from the finish line, but the former had just a trifle more steam and shot across the line only two feet ahead of the juniors. The gentlemen eight was only about half a length behind. The time was 4m. 20s. The second event was between the academic and scientific school freshman crews, and this race up to the last hundred yards was as close as its predecessor. From this point on, however, the academic eight gradually pulled away and finished a good length ahead. The time was 4m. 33s. The final race was between the winners of the two preceding events and was won by the sophomores.

Sentenced to Be Hung.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 22.—John Young and Charles Brown, recently convicted of the murder of Washington Hunter, an aged farmer of Riverside, were sentenced to be hanged Dec. 3. Mr. Hunter, who was seventy-five years old and wealthy, was attacked in his home on the night of Jan. 29 by Young, Brown, Charles Miller and Otto Kellar, the motive being robbery. He was beaten into insensibility and died four days later.

German Papers Consolidate.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—The Daily Anzeiger and the Daily Zeitung, both evening German papers, have been purchased by Colonel Max Burgheim and merged into the Daily Abend Press, the afternoon edition of Der Freie Presse. Consequently there will be only one German afternoon paper here in place of three. There are still three morning German dailies in this city, Burgheim being president of Der Freie Presse company.

LITTLE VALLEY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Fred Sharpe, town clerk of Dayton, who has been missing since Friday night, was found dead at the bottom of an Erie railroad trestle a few rods below Dayton. The supposition is that he fell through the trestle. He leaves a wife and six children.

The City Ticket.

According to their promise the local Democrats have nominated a complete city ticket. The city convention was held last evening, when the candidates for city judge, three members of the Common Council and a member of the Board of Education were selected. Every place was filled and the Democrats are ready to wage an active campaign for the control of the city government.

There are few men in Plainfield who have achieved the general popularity which has come to City Judge William N. Runyon and so it is an uphill fight for the man who is chosen to run against him for the place of city magistrate. The Democrats realize that fact and they have been looking for some time for a fit man to line up against the present judge. At the convention the name of Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was put in nomination. It is understood, however, that Mr. Hetfield will withdraw if the committee on vacancies can find an older and stronger man for the place.

The three men nominated for the places in the Common Council are all well-known citizens. One of their number, J. P. Homan, has already had some experience in the Council. A. H. Atterbury and Isaac M. Field are successful business men. Nothing can be said against the integrity and honesty of these three men. There can be no doubt that, if elected, they will look after the city's business to the best of their ability.

It is no new thing to have a member of the local clergy on the Plainfield Board of Education. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards is already a member of that body. The choice of the Democrats is Rev. J. P. Taylor, a long resident of this city who is too well known here to need any introduction.

These are the men who will be placed on the Democratic ticket. While the Republicans have not yet formally made their choice, it is generally understood who they will name. Among all the candidates, there is not one in the event of whose election any citizen need worry over the interests of the city not being protected. As far as the city election goes, it is merely a question as to whether or not the present policy shall be continued. If the Republicans are returned to power, a continuation of the present methods may be counted on as a certainty.

It will be the turn of the Republicans this evening to nominate their city ticket. There appears to be but little chance of a fight. According to general report, the leaders have settled upon City Judge William N. Runyon as their candidate for re-election to that place. The three candidates mentioned for councilmen-at-large are James F. Buckle, of the First ward, Daniel Ginna, of the Second ward, and Clarence L. Murphy, of the Fourth ward. There is also a member of the Board of Education to be named.

Comparatively few people realize what a really valuable collection of volumes is contained in the Plainfield Public Library. This is particularly true since the Babcock Scientific department was added. The recent exhibit gave those interested in carpentry some idea of what interesting material of a technical and practical nature they could find there.

When the summer was over and rise in business activity attendant on the approach of autumn appeared, it was rumored that a break was likely in the ranks of the early closers. The merchants, if such was ever their intention, thought better of it, and the movement still retains most of its original force.

This is the first time for several years that Plainfield has been represented on the Democratic ticket in Union county. Charles L. Moffett, who is now running for the Assembly on that ticket, is confident that he is going to secure quite a vote in Plainfield from his friends, irrespective of party.

Both political parties are using the Meeker Election law as an issue in the coming campaign. The verdict of public opinion on that question may play a prominent part in the present election.

The local Y. M. C. A. is offering more advantages this year to its members than ever before. It is an excellent thing for the young men of Plainfield.

COMPLETE CITY TICKET NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

Council everything I did there I ratify now and would do it over again. I claim to have the best element of my ward with me and I will fight again, though the conditions be as they were two years ago, when my defeat cost the Republicans $2,000 and all the help the Mayor of North Plainfield could give, as well as the aid received by them from the water company. They don't want me there, because they don't control Walter Hetfield's vote."

Continuing Mr. Hetfield declared that many of the present Councilmen were tools of the party leaders and could be whipped into line on any party measure. When he voted on a question he declared that he was able to give his reasons for the vote. If elected he promised that his efforts would be for the interests of the whole people irrespective of politics.

Mr. Casey, the nominee for Council from the Fourth ward, also made a few remarks. After the appointment of a committee on vacancies, which consists of H. W. Marshall, James Kane, Hezekiah Hand and Walter Hetfield, the convention adjourned.

First of Star Course.

The attention of Press readers is called to the advertisement of the Y. M. C. A. in another column announcing the opening of their Star Course of six entertainments, the first of which will be given Monday evening. J. Williams Macy, humorist and buffo basso, with Miss Anna Park, of the Park Sisters, cornetist, will furnish the programme of the evening.

Quail in a Dooryard.

The unusual sight of a flock of quail in a dooryard was witnessed by J. A. Smith at his home on Central avenue, Sunday. There were about twenty in the covey and all showed a familiarity seldom seen in these birds. It is presumed they alighted in the yard for a brief rest before completing a journey to the woods in this vicinity.

Traded Properties.

Henry Wrage, the well-known contractor and carpenter of Flemington, has traded a country property at Croton for building lots in this city on Ninth street between Grant and Hobart avenues. He expects to build on them within the near future.

Placed Under Quarantine.

The home of Charles Glaentzer, of New street, has been placed under quarantine, owing to the illness of his daughter, Edith, with diphtheria. The case is a light one, however, and no serious results are anticipated.

The Great Council, Degree of Pocohontas, will meet this morning in annual session at the Taylor Opera House, Trenton. Twelve past chiefs from Iona Council, of this city, will attend the convention.

WEDDED AT BRIDE'S HOME.

MISS FRANCES E. DOTY AND ANGUS ALLEN ARE MARRIED.

Ceremony Was Performed at Residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Doty By Rev. J. W. Richardson.

A very quiet but pretty home wedding took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Doty, of East Front street, when their daughter, Miss Frances Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Angus Allen, of this city. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the young couple were in attendance.

Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, which had been very prettily decorated with wild flowers, autumn leaves and palms. Miss Doty was attired in a gown of white organdie and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. She was attended by her sister, Miss Grace Doty, who was similarly attired. The groom had no attendant.

Following the ceremony a collation was served to the guests after which Mr. and Mrs. Allen left for their wedding trip. It will last about a month and will extend as far as San Francisco. They have not decided where they will reside on their return, but it will be either this city or New York. Mr. Allen is connected with the New Jersey Central.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE.

Star Route Contractors Are Fighting Its Extension with Vigor, But in Vain.

The rivalry that is developing in the postal department between the star service and the rural free delivery service is promising to strengthen the rural service rather than help the other. The rural free delivery experiment, costing this year something like $3,500,000, may be expanded next year to cost $7,000,000. One of the effects of the introduction of the rural free delivery is to dispense to some extent with the star service.

The star service is in charge of the contract division of the second assistant postmaster general's office. The rural free delivery is directed by A. W. Machen, the superintendent of free delivery. Clerks in the star service regard with alarm the absorption of old star routes by the rural service, and some of the contractors who have advantageous contracts are endeavoring to head off rural free delivery by undertaking a volunteer delivery in boxes along routes where rural free delivery is desired.

COL. A. W. MACHEN.
(Superintendent of the Rural Free Delivery Service.)

But star route contractors can only deliver mail matter. They cannot collect, as can the rural free delivery carriers, nor can they sell stamps, take and pay money orders, and become what the rural carriers are, traveling post offices, bringing all the facilities to the very gates of farmhouses many miles away from a post office.

The rural service is to be expensive, but Mr. Machen suggests that, as its establishment will wipe out many small offices, and so save rent and clerk hire, that it is promoting correspondence, and so increasing the revenue, he does not think that it can be denounced as an extravagance. It is not expected that the star service will be at once dispensed with, as there are many routes over which it would not be justifiable to establish rural free delivery for a very sparse population. The star service costs about $5,500,000 a year.

AFTER VEST'S SEAT.

Many Missouri Statesmen Are Anxious to Be Elected to the United States Senate.

The fight for United States senator in Missouri promises to develop some surprises and the successor of Senator George Graham Vest may not be one of the men so prominently mentioned for the honor at the present time. As a matter of fact, the chances are that a dark horse will carry away the honor. According to current newspaper reports Gov. Dockery has built up a machine in the state that his friends are confidently relying upon to land him in the coveted honor. But ex-Gov. William Joel Stone has fixed his rural fences in such a stable manner that Dockery, ex-Gov. Stephens or ex-Gov. Francis cannot shatter them, and this, more than any one other cause just at present, is giving the other candidates a great deal of concern.

JUDGE O. M. SPENCER.
(Dark Horse Candidate for the Missouri Senatorship.)

A correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle writes from St. Joseph that a scheme has just been started in northern Missouri to secure as a dark horse a man who is known to be the intimate friend of each candidate. It has been taken up by democratic leaders in St. Louis and Kansas City who are anxious to be identified with the success of the winner. This dark horse is Judge O. M. Spencer, of St. Joseph, who for several years has been the general solicitor for the Burlington railway lines in Missouri. Judge Spencer is urged to permit the use of his name for the exalted post, but he has steadily declined to be considered as a candidate, saying that for financial reasons he cannot afford to get into the race. His friends and admirers are persistent, and the tip has just been passed around that he will accept the honor if properly tendered him, although he declines to make a campaign for it.

Indigestion MADE HER A Burden to Herself.

FOOD DISTRESSED HER AWFULLY.

Thousands of housewives, the country over, are using Ripans Tabules and find them particularly adapted to their needs. "For five years I suffered from indigestion," says one from Philadelphia, Pa. "I was a burden to myself and hardly able to attend to my little housework. I had no appetite, but what little I did eat distressed me awfully. I was weak, nervous and cross, and everything annoyed me. I began taking and they have made a hearty woman of me. I now do my work with pleasure."

WANTED:—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Now at druggists. RIPANS on the tongue, accept no substitute. THE FALL OF THE CHAPERON

Miss Vere de Vere and Her Niece Talk It Over.

"Dear me!" ejaculated old Miss Vere de Vere in horror stricken tones. "I can't imagine what the modern girl is coming to. Why, last night at the Van Allstyne's rosebud dance there were only four married women in the whole affair. Most of the girls came alone, too, in their carriages without even a maid to accompany them. Then I saw Bessie Ashurst actually alone at a matinee the other day. Just fancy it! When I was young, no girl in our set ever dreamed of such a thing. And what's this I hear? Helen Clavering taking dinner last night at a restaurant with Jack Goodfellow! What would her dear mother say if she were alive? This comes from going in for earning her living and boarding in a suit of two rooms with another girl. Such Bohemianism"—

Miss Vere de Vere's thoroughly modern young niece interrupted her with fire in her eye: "I suppose it's Bohemianism that the Claverings have lost their money and that Helen has to support herself and that she is an orphan and has no money to waste on hiring an old harpy to live with her and persecute her to death under the pretense of making her respectable. I suppose it's Bohemianism for her to want a little fun after a hard day's work at her desk. I suppose it's Bohemianism for her ever to wish to meet a nice man and get married, like other girls. I suppose she ought to give up all hope of the future and sit down alone in her little hall bedroom nights and refuse to see Jack Goodfellow again just because she can't get some old dragon to plant herself in the corner of the room and see that she preserves the proprieties. What nice girl wants to throw them to the winds anyway? And, as for the others who want to do unconventional things, why, they'll do them anyway, chaperon or no chaperon.

"I tell you what," pursued the young lady, who by this time was becoming warmed to her subject, "this chaperon business is pretty well played out. Nowadays the fat, elderly mother of a family has a chance to rest after dinner instead of being dragged out to balls and parties, where she sits half asleep in a corner, forgotten and tired to death. Her daughter can drive to an entertainment and join a group of friends there or else depend upon her hostess to chaperon her, for, thank goodness, chaperonage on this side of the water is merely nominal. It's the spirit of prevention of cruelty to parents which has caused the passing away of the elderly chaperon. As for the young ones—those who can stand the wear and tear—don't talk to me about them! They are the worst frauds on the face of the earth. They take it for granted that the word chaperon covers a multitude of sins. They do nothing but flirt and sit in dark corners, and the only time they pay any attention to us girls is when we are spoiling their fun. For these reasons and many others with each year the chaperon is growing beautifully less. The different lives women are leading demand different conditions from those which governed our mothers. The right sort of a girl without losing a particle of her charm is becoming as wise and prudent as she is good, and the world is finding it out and admiring her for it."

But old Miss Vere de Vere never answered a word. She was too shocked.

OYSTER RECIPES

Roast Oysters.—Remove the upper shells. Lay the oysters in a pan and place in a hot oven. Cook until the edges curl. Melt some butter seasoned with salt and pepper, add one or two teaspoonfuls of thick cream or catchup and put a little on each oyster.

Oysters a la Bechamel.—Take thirty-five oysters, one-half a pint of cream, two ounces of butter, one tablespoonful of flour and salt and pepper to taste. Boil the oysters about two minutes in their own liquor. Drain and chop fine. Put the butter in a porcelain saucepan and when melted add the flour. Stir until smooth, then add the cream. When it boils, add the oysters and half a dozen chopped mushrooms.

When I had done that, he bade me rise as a fully installed and duly initiated member of the three. "You will have no opportunity to practice the workings of this degree with either of us, my brother," said he, "for presently our other brother and I go to stand before the gods to deliver to them an account of our trust, and of how we have carried it out. But what items you remember here and there may turn of use to you hereafter. And now we two give you our farewells, and promise to commend you highly to the gods when soon we meet them in their place behind the stars. Climb now into the ark, and be ready to shut the door which guards it, if there is any attempt by these raging people to invade that also. Remember, my brother, it is the gods' direct will that you and the woman Nais go from this place living and sound, and you are expressly forbidden to accept challenge or provocation to fight on any pretext whatever. But as long as may be done in safety, you may look out upon Atlantis in her death-throes. It is very fitting that one of the only two who are sent hence alive should carry the full tale of what has befallen."

I went to the top of the Ark of Mysteries then, climbing there by the battens which are fastened to the sides, and then descended by the stair which is inside and found Nais in a little chamber waiting for me.

"I was bidden stay here by Zaemon," she said, "who forced me to this place by threats and also by promises that my lord would follow. He is very ungentle, that father of mine, but I think he has a kindness for us both, and anyway he is my father and I cannot help loving him. Is there no chance to save him from what is going to happen?"

"He will not come into this ark, for I asked him. It has been ordained from the ancient time when first the ark was built that when the day for its purpose came, one woman and one man should be its only tenants, and they are here already. Zaemon's will in the matter is not to be twisted by you or by me. He has a message to be delivered to the gods, and (if I know him at all) he grudges every minute that is lost in carrying it to them."

I left her then, and went out again up the stair, and stood once more on the roof of the ark. On the mountain top men still ran about distracted, but gradually they were coming to where the ark rested on the highest point. For the moment, however, I passed them lightly. The drowning of the great continent that had been spread out below filled the eye. Ocean roared in upon it with still more furious waves. The plains and the level lands were foaming lakes. The great city of Atlantis had vanished eternally. The mountains alone kept their heads above the flood, and spewed out rocks and steam and boiling stone, or burst when the waters reached them, and created great whirlpools of surging sea and twisted trees and bubbling mud.

In the space of a few breaths every living creature that dwelt in the lower grounds had been smothered by the waters, save for a few who huddled in a pair of galleys that were driven oarless inward, over what had once been black forest and hunting land for the beasts. And even as I watched, these also were swallowed up by the horrid turmoil of sea, and nothing but the sea beasts, and those of the greater lizards which can live in such outrageous waters, could have survived even that stage of the destruction. Indeed, none but those men who had now found standing ground on the upper slopes of the Sacred Mountain survived, and it was plain that their span was short, for the great mass of the continent sank bodily deeper and more deep every minute before our aching eyes beneath the boiling inrush of the seas.

But though the great mass of the soldiery were dazed and maddened at the prospect of the overwhelming which threatened them, there were some with a strength of mind too valiant to give any outward show of discomposure. Presently a compact little body of people came from out the houses and the temples and headed directly across the open ground towards the ark. On the outside marched Phorenice's personal guards with their weapons new bloodied. They had been forced to fight a way through their own fellow soldiers. The poor demented creatures had thought it was every one for himself now, till these guards (by their mistress' order) proved to them that Phorenice still came first.

And in the middle of them, borne in a litter of gold and ivory by her grotesque European slaves, rode the empress, still calm, still lovely, and seemingly divided in her sentiments between contempt and amusement. Her two children lay in the litter at her feet. On her right hand marched Tatho gorgeously appareled, and with a beard curled and plaited into a thousand ringlets. On the other side, plying her industry with unruffled deference, walked Yiga, once again fan-girl, and so still second lady in this dwindling kingdom.

The party of them halted half a score of paces from the ark by Phorenice's order. "Do not go nearer to those unclean old men. They carry a rank odor with them, and for the moment we are short of essences to sweeten the air of their neighborhood." She lifted her eyebrows and looked up at me. "Truly a quiet little gathering of old acquaintances. Why, there is Deucalion, that once I took the flavor of and threw aside when he cloyed me."

"I have Nais here," I said, "and presently we two will be all that are left alive of this nation."

"Nais is quite welcome to my leavings," she laughed. "I will look down upon your country cooings when presently I go back to the place behind the stars from which I came. You are a very rustic person, Deucalion. They tell me, too, that three or four of these foul-smelling old men up here have named you king. Did you swell with much dignity? Or did you remember that there was a pretty empress left that would still be empress so long as there was an Atlantis to govern? Come, sir, find your tongue. By my faces! you must have hungered for me very madly these years we have been parted, if new-grown ruggedness of feature is an evidence."

"Have your gibe. I do not gibe back at a woman who presently will die."

"Bah! Deucalion, you live behind the times. Have they not told you that I know the great secret and am indeed a goddess now? My arts can make life run on eternally."

"Then the waters presently will test them hard," I said, but there the talk was taken into other lips. Zaemon went forward to the front of the litter with the symbol of our Lord the Sun glowing in his hand, and burst into a flow of cursing. It was hard for me to hear his words. The roar of the waters which poured up over the land, and beat in vast waves against the Sacred Mountain itself, grew nearer and more loud. But the old man had his say.

Phorenice gave orders to her guards for his killing; yes, tried even to rise from the litter and do the work herself; but Zaemon held the symbol to his front, and its power in that supreme moment mastered all the arts that could be brought against it. The majesty of the most high gods was vindicated, and that splendid empress knew it and lay back sullenly among the cushions of her litter a beaten woman.

Ants Have Brains.

Modern science reenforces the ancient estimate of the superior sagacity of the ant. At the zoological conference last month at Berlin Prof. Morel, of Switzerland, who has made that insect his study, reported that the ant has all the five senses, with the exception of hearing, and that he possesses reasoning powers as well as memory. There is one item to be entered on the other side. The ant is an indomitable fighter, and individual ants are inclined to prolong hostilities after a general war is over.—Boston Journal.

Nothing Left for Them.

"John," she said, shaking him, "burglars have been in the house."

He was awake in an instant.

"Did they take anything?" he asked, anxiously.

"No," she answered. "I judge by the indications that they wanted nothing but cash."

"Oh," he returned, with a sigh of relief. "And of course there was none?"

"Not a cent," she replied. "Isn't it lucky, John, that I went shopping yesterday?"—Chicago Post.

Dealing in Futures.

"I hope," said the young man who was spending a few days at the seashore, "that our engagement will not prove a mere summer subterfuge."

"I hope your hope comes out," rejoined the fair maid at his side, "but one can never tell what effect frost will have on such things." — Chicago Daily News.

THREE WIDOWS OF KANSAS.

Only One Confesses She Wants a Model Husband, the Others Equivocate.

A short time ago Mrs. Lydia Peach, of Alton, Kan., published the following notice in the Empire, the local newspaper:

"Mr. Editor—Please print this letter to quiet the storm raised by some half-idiot who has been telling that I was going to be married, and by several smart Alecks who have made it their business to ask my boys about it. I will say that the talk is all bosh. I want it understood that when I want a husband I won't ask the community to select one for me. I consider myself fully capable of deciding that question to suit myself."

Mrs. A. Connelly, an Effingham widow, annoyed by the village talk, that she was bent on a second marriage venture, caused this notice to be published in the New Leaf, her county paper: "When I get ready to be married I will tell the noseys all about it, but in the meantime they had better keep out of it, as it is none of their business."

Mrs. Emily Frier, a widow living at Russell, Kan., wanted a husband, and, according to her advertisement, this kind of a husband: "The man I want cannot drink intoxicating liquor, nor chew tobacco. I don't want a humped-over old man ready to tumble into the grave. I am quite a small widow, and I want quite a small man. I want him to love me, and call me honey, and I want him to make a living. I don't want to have to take in washing."

PIANO OF MUSICAL STONES.

Extraordinary Instrument on Display at the Brest Exposition.

Honore Baudre, an aged amateur scientist, has placed on show at the international exposition at Brest what he calls a geological piano, the most curious instrument perhaps in the whole world, reports a London exchange. M. Baudre says it took him 33 years to construct it and even now he claims there is a slight defect which he hopes to remedy before his death. That there are musical stones is not a new thing, but an instrument composed of stones collected during more than three decades of patient research in France and Canada is a phenomenal achievement.

M. Baudre found most of his musical stones in Auvergne and every one of them represents either a petrified fish or some prehistoric instrument. He relates that his greatest difficulty consisted in finding the low C of his octave. For more than ten years he searched for it, when last fall he came across it in Canada. He says none can appreciate the joy he felt at its discovery. Those who have heard M. Baudre play on his geological piano say the music is much purer and sweeter than that of any other instrument and it needs no piano tuner to put it in order.

M. Baudre has received flattering offers to bring his piano to America, but he claims to be too old to undertake the journey, and as for selling it, he would not part with it for all the money in the world.

MUSIC HAS STRANGE CHARMS.

Diplomacy of Clever Collector Brings Forth the Needful from Delinquents.

"It requires tact and diplomacy to collect little outstanding accounts these days, especially when dealing with city employes," said a Manayunk business man the other day, according to the Philadelphia Record. "It's no use making a bluff or pleading poverty when dealing with policemen. Their hearts are like adamant. You must go gently—kind of size them up, as it were. Strike them about pay day before their wives get at the wallet; for, of course, if their better halves get it first you are left, and the poor copper has hardly enough left to buy his tobacco until the next month.

"You see, I have an advantage because I am a sort of musician. When the officer gets his money he will return to the sitting-room of the station, take an account of stock and confer with the other fellows about how to make the pile reach out until the next pay day.

"I enter the room with a cheery 'Good morning, gentlemen,' inquire into their various healths, talk quietly of the weather, and then sit down at the organ and sing that beautiful song, 'Then You'll Remember Me.' By-and-by they pony up and I hurry off to the next station and play the same old tune."

The Shark as a Swimmer.

For long-distance swimming the shark may be said to hold the record, as he can outstrip the swiftest ships apparently without effort, swimming and playing around them and ever on the lookout for prey. Any human being falling overboard in shark-frequented waters has very little chance of escape, so rapid is the action of the shark, the monster of the deep. The dolphin, another fast-swimming fish—a near relative of the whale—is credited with a speed of considerably over 20 miles an hour. For short distances the salmon can outstrip every other fish, accomplishing its 25 miles an hour with ease. The Spanish mackerel is one of the fastest of food fishes and cuts the water like a yacht. Predatory fish are generally the fastest swimmers.

Marriage Days in Italy.

In Italy, Sundays are usually preferred for marriages when the principals have never been married before. Widows, however, respect an old custom by marrying on Saturdays.

TWO-COLOR PRESS WORKING.

LATEST PRODUCTION OF ALUMINUM PRESS COMPANY IS TRIED.

Successful Operation Under Eye of Inventor North and Superintendent Leary.

The two-color press, the latest invention of the Aluminum Press Company, is now in a state of perfection and the first completed press is being run this week. The press is a marvel of beauty and shows perfectly the revolution in the art of printing.

The press is the invention of T. M. North, who, for twenty years, was associated with Hoe, of New York. Mr. North believes that his latest invention is as near to a perfect two-color press as it is possible to make. Every part is automatic and it works with clock-like precision.

This week a large job is being printed for a well-known New York house. It is being printed in six colors, and with the two color press there is a great deal of saving in time. Edward Parker, the expert instructor for the company, is in charge of the job, while Mr. North and Superintendent Leary are keeping a watchful eye on the press noting its marvelous work. There are many demands for this press, but it will not be sold at present, as the company is anxious to keep it for demonstration. In a short time work will be started building the two-color presses for the market.

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE.

Floyd T. Woodhull Will Accept Republican Nomination if Tendered Him.

Floyd T. Woodhull, of the firm of Woodhull & Martin, has consented to allow his name to be placed in nomination for the office of school commissioner on the Republican ticket. Mr. Woodhull at first stoutly refused to run, but there has been such a persistent effort on the part of the best people in the city for his candidacy that he has consented to accept the nomination.

Little Tot Wandered Away.

Elizabeth Higgins, aged three years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Higgins, of Liberty street, strayed away from her home yesterday and for nearly two hours could not be found. Mr. Higgins notified her husband, who was working in another part of the city, and he started on his wheel in search of the child. She was eventually found on Seventh street in company with some other children. She was having a good time and did not appear the least bit worried at being so far away from home.

Paid All The Bills.

The joint parade committee of the North Plainfield fire department met last evening, and paid all bills contracted during the recent festivities of the department.

Sentence Suspended.

Sentence was suspended in the case against Arthur McDonald, charged with drunkenness. The hearing took place before Recorder Doud last evening.

—Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. Strikes at the root of the trouble and draws out the inflamation. The children's favor ite Cough Cure. L. W. Randolph.

Fell From Trolley Car.

In attempting to alight from an Arlington avenue trolley car at the corner of Fourth street, Sunday, before it stopped, Mrs. Edward Bowman, of West Second street, was thrown to the ground. She struck her face against a curbstone, bruising it painfully. She was able to walk home with the assistance of a friend.

QUIETLY WEDDED IN CHURCH.

MARRIAGE OF MISS LILLIAN A QUINN AND WM. A. FOLEY.

Took Place at St. Mary's Church Yesterday Afternoon—Will Reside in Paterson.

A wedding, to which only the relatives and intimate friends were the bidden guests, was solemnized yesterday afternoon in St. Mary's church, when Miss Lillian A Quinn, of Westport, N. Y., but has resided for some time with her sister, Mrs. Frank McInerney, of Liberty street, was made the wife of William A. Foley, of Paterson. Rev. Father Smyth performed the ceremony.

Miss Quinn was very prettily attired in a gown of crepe de chine and was attended by Miss Elizabeth O'Keeffe, of this city, who acted as bridemaid. The best man was Frank McInerney, also of this city.

On completion of the ceremony, the invited guests repaired to Mr. McInerney's home where a reception was held and later a collation served. The house was decorated in a tasteful way, with pink and white predominating

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Foley left for a wedding trip, the destination of which will be the Pan-American Exposition. On returning they will take up their residence in a finely furnished home at Paterson, where Mr. Foley is a well-known contractor.

The bride has made her home in this city at intervals for several years and in that time has become very popular with a large circle of acquaintances. She was made the recipient of a large number of handsome presents, including a check of generous proportions from her father, Henry Quinn, of Westport.

FERRYBOAT BURNED.

Jersey Central's Elizabeth Destroyed by Fire in North River Early This Morning.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, October 22.—The fine ferryboat Elizabeth, on the New Jersey Central line was destroyed by fire this morning at 8 o'clock while making its regular trip between New York and Communipaw. The boat has been on the Liberty street line but this morning it was being used on the Whitehall street route.

When the ferryboat had passed midstream, fire was discovered near the crank-pin of the walking-beam. It spread rapidly, eating its way through the deck. The dock was reached in short order, and all the passengers put ashore. Quickly the boat was towed to midstream. Finally, it was beached on the Communipaw flats after a battle had been made against the flames. It is a total wreck.

The Elizabeth is one of the oldest boats on the line. Last year she was practically rebuilt at a cost of $65,000. Many accidents have occurred on her and she was considered a noodoo.

FIRE IN EMPTY HOUSE.

Brisk Little Conflagration at Westfield Last Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 22—A two-story, unoccupied frame house, on Central avenue, belonging to J. N. Wilcox, was completely destroyed by fire, which broke out at 8:30 last evening. The loss is estimated at $500.

The Westfield fire department reached the scene of the conflagration early, but was unable to do anything as it was outside the hydrant limits and there was no available water supply. The origin of the fire is a mystery as the last inmates of the house moved out several weeks ago.

NO BOARD MEETING.

This Time the Absence of the Secretary Deferred the Meeting.

It was decided to meet again Monday evening when several reports will be read, one of which will be in regard to the South Plainfield extension. This matter is progressing favorably, the only right of way consent now to be obtained being that of the trustees of the First Baptist cemetery.

NO MASS MEETING.

Local Democrats Decide to Simply Hold a Reception For Mayor Seymour Tomorrow.

The Democratic mass-meeting arrange to be held here tomorrow evening has been postponed. Unsatisfactory arrangements made by the Democratic State committee led to this action on the part of the city committee. The time of Mayor Seymour's stay as set by the former committee is deemed to be too short, and hence the meeting will take place at a later date.

The gubernatorial candidate will be here, however, and will hold a reception at the Hotel Kensington from 5 until 7 o'clock tomorrow evening. Chas les Sulzer, candidate for assembly, will also be here.

SHORT SKETCHES OF ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES.

Brief Summing Up of the Present Situation in Union County.

WHAT CLAIMS ARE MADE.

BOTH SIDES EXPECT TO ELECT ALL THREE ASSEMBLYMEN.

County Ticket in Union This Fall Will be of Minor Importance As Only Three Assemblymen and a Coroner are to be Elected.

The county ticket will not play a particularly important part in the campaign in Union county this fall.

CHARLES L. MOFFETT.

Chief interest will naturally be centred in the gubernatorial contest. On the county ticket, there are only three assemblymen and a coroner to be elected.

The Republicans are quite confident of electing the entire ticket as usual. They admit, however, that the majorities may be somewhat reduced. The feeling against Frederick Miller is appreciated and a particularly strong effort will be made to offset the knifing he is sure to receive.

The Democrats, on the contrary, declare that the show of electing their candidates for the Assembly was never brighter. They expect Moffett will run well in Plainfield and Sulzer will be particularly strong.

Brief sketches of the three men chosen by each party will be of interest to every voter who has not a personal acquaintance with the men.

Although this is the first time that William Newcorn has been a candidate on the Republican ticket, he is well-known to the political public. For a long time, he has been a member of the city and county committees from the Fourth ward and, for the last two campaigns, secretary of the city committee. Three years ago, his name was mentioned at the city convention as candidate for city judge. The year after, he was a rival of Chas. S. Foote for Assembly honors at the county convention. Mr. Newcorn is a lawyer with quite a wide practice. He started in business here, was elected justice of the peace and spent his spare hours studying law. He then passed the bar examinations with honor and was admitted to practice. He is prominent in State circles of the I.O.R.M. and the A.O.U.W.

Miss Edith Louise Pruden and A. Russell Bond Were Wedded Last Evening.

A PRETTY HOUSE WEDDING.

TOOK PLACE AT HOME OF A. V. SEARING, OF WESTERVELT AVENUE.

Interior and Piazza Were Charmingly Decorated—Members of the Bridal Party—Will Reside at Netherwood.

A very pretty wedding of last evening was that of Miss Edith Louise Pruden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Pruden, of 148 East Second street, and Alexander Russell Bond, son of Rev. and Mrs. Louis Bond, of Bulgaria, which took place at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus V. Searing, Jr., 144 Westervelt avenue, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends from this city, New York, Easton, Newark, Summit and other places.

The decorations at the home were very attractive. In the parlor the colors, green and white, prevailed. There was a profusion of greenhouse smilax, palms and roses. The smilax encircled the room and centered in a corner where there was a bower of smilax. Suspended from the ceiling in this corner were three incandescent lights, a unique and pleasing idea. It was beneath this bower that the ceremony was performed. The dining room was tastefully decorated with palms and oriental trimmings.

The side piazza was enclosed with canvas for the occasion. An additional feature of the piazza decoration was the arrangement of branches of autumn leaves. It was brilliantly illuminated with electric lights. The decorations in the hallway were especially admired. The stairway was completely covered with clubhouse clematis, palms, chrysanthemums and pampas grass.

As the Bridal Chorus from "Lochengrin" was being played on the piano by Herbert Harold, the bridal party descended the stairs and entered the parlor. Miss Jessie Edgar Prunden, sister of the bride, was the maid of-honor, and preceded the bride. The latter was accompanied by her father, who gave her away in marriage. The maid-of-honor was gowned in light green crepe cloth over green taffeta, trimmed with Russian lace and ribbon. She carried pink roses. The bride's gown was white Liberty silk, over white taffeta, with a shirred yoke of mouseline de soie. The gown was trimmed with point lace and white satin ribbon. She also wore a veil caught up with a spray of orange blossoms, and she carried bride roses.

The groom was attended by Edwin Dyke, of East Orange, who was best man. The whole party were met in the parlor by Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who performed the ceremony, and Rev. P. B. Kennedy, brother in-law of the groom, of Easton, Pa., who assisted in the marriage.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bond received the hearty congratulations of the assembled guests. Then followed a wedding repast, during which everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Later in the evening the bride and groom left the city for a bridal tour, and upon their return will board until their new home on Netherwood Heights is completed.

Both the bride and groom are popular young people in a large circle of acquaintances. They are both identified with the First Presbyterian church, where they have been workers for some time past. The groom holds an excellent position with Munn & Company, of New York, being one of the valued employes in the draughting department. He has been a resident of Plainfield since he graduated from Princeton University a few years ago.

The gifts received by Mr. and Mrs. Bond are both costly and useful, comprising silverware, cut glass, Favrile glass, furniture, cutlery, linen, chinaware, three twenty dollar gold pieces, a handsome purse of money, the latter from the parents of the groom, and many other gifts.

The groom's gift to the bride was a brooch containing fourteen opals, alternated with diamonds. The bride's gift to the maid-of-honor was a pin of ivy leaves set with pearls.

After the departure of the bridal couple, which was attended with much pleasure by the guests who showered them with rice, there was a continuation of the social features.

An invitation to attend the campfire to be held in connection with the annual encampment of the New York and New Jersey division of the Union Veterans' Union, which meets in this city during the fore part of November, was accepted at the regular meeting of Winfield Scott Post last evening.

At the same meeting Col. Mason W. Tyler talked to the old soldiers on the subject of his recent western trip. He recounted the beauties and marvels of Yellowstone Park, the Yosemite Valley, California, Manitoba and Alaska. There were some visiting veterans at the meeting.

Rev. Dr. L. E. Livermore was also present and gave an interesting talk from his wide experience in traveling. Remarks were also made by Joseph N. Bogart who told of the recent convention of the National Musicians' Association held at Cleveland. This association was organized in Decatur, Ill., in 1891 and it has at present a membership of three hundred.

WEDDING GUEST KILLED WHILE RETURNING HOME.

Mrs. Isaac Van D. Bond, of Newark, Met Death While at Her Husband's Side.

STRUCK BY FAST FREIGHT.

COUPLE CAUGHT BETWEEN TRAIN AND FENCE AT STATION.

Were Expecting to Get Through Gate to East Bound Station—Mrs. Bond Tried to Get Back Again And Was Struck Down.

Just a few minutes after she had bidden her nephew a pleasant good bye on the commencement of his honeymoon, Mrs. Isaac Vanderveer Bond, of 19 Ticknor street, Newark, was struck down by a fast west bound freight train at the North Avenue station, last evening, and instantly killed.

Her husband, who was with her at the time, made a frantic effort to save her and was himself struck on the left arm. With rare presence of mind he retained his hold on the iron fence which divides the tracks and crouched in the small space between it and the cars and remained there while the long train passed by him. His wife's body lay at his feet but he dared not stoop down to see if she was dead or alive for fear of making a double tragedy.

The accident was witnessed by the engineer of the train who endeavored to prevent it. He blew the whistle frantically and applied the brakes, but the train was going at such a high rate of speed that it was sometime before it could be brought to a stop. The crew then returned and assisted Night Baggagemaster Wilson in removing the body to one of the station areaways.

Mr. Bond was threatened with collapse and was taken to Freight Agent Haynes' apartments in the station. He afterward regained his composure sufficiently to proceed to the home of his brother, Theophilus Bond, of East Front street.

In company with her husband, Mrs. Bond came to this city last evening, and was a guest at the wedding of Alexander Russell Bond to Miss Edith Louise Pruden. At the reception following none in the party wished the young couple a more prosperous future than she, and when the time came for them to commence their wedding trip, she was one of the merry crowd which gathered at the station to see them off.

The bride and groom took the 9:37 train west and it was the intention of the latter's aunt and uncle to board the 9:46 east, for Newark. Coming late in the evening they did not notice the new depot and, as they had been accustomed to do while on previous visits, waited on the platform of the old station. Their train was just looming up when they learned that they should be on the other side of the fence. Then it was too late to go through the tunnel.

According to Mr. Bond, one of the depot employes, but which one he is unable to state, said he would shortly open the gate and let them pass over. With that intention, Mr. Bond and his wife walked to the fence and had just reached the gate when they heard the shrieking whistle and saw the engine bearing down upon them.

Mr Bond seized his wife and drew her against the fence, holding tightly with one hand. The woman became terror stricken and attempted to go back. As she did so the cylinder head of the engine struck her on the right side of the head, tearing her from her husband's grasp and throwing her to the ground beside him. Mr. Bond's right arm was also hit but, although cut and painfully bruised, it was not broken. Mrs. Bond's skull was fractured and her left arm broken, otherwise she was not mangled.

Mrs. Bond was fifty-five years old and leaves two daughters by a former husband. Until their arrival the funeral arrangements will not be completed, but the service will probably take place in this city Friday. Interment will be in the Bond family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery. The remains are now at Cole's undertaking establishment.

Mr. Bond is a brother of Thephilus Bond, of East Front street, at whose home he is now staying. He is very well known in this city and many parts of the State, being a grand trustee of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Bond were not informed of the accident by telegraph and knew nothing of it until today, when they saw the account in the morning papers.

TOLD OF HIS FRIENDS IN FIELD AND FOREST.

Ernest Seton-Thompson's Lecture at the Casino Was Greatly Enjoyed.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT.

RELATED MANY WONDERFUL TALES OF THE WILD ANIMALS.

His Talk Had a Moral Underlying It All and That Was the Need of Proper Protection For the West's Wild Creatures.

For over an hour and a half last evening, Ernest Seton-Thompson, whose calling is too well known to the reading public to be mentioned, held the close attention of a large audience at the Casino, while he told, in a delightfully informal way, stories about animals. He had done the same thing in the afternoon to an assemblage which taxed the space of the hall. Both talks were pleasing combinations of his two now famous lectures, "Wild Animals I Have Known" and "Wild Animals at Home."

On each occasion the lecturer illustrated his stories with stereopticon slides which well depicted the scenes to which he desired to draw the attention of his hearers. The many tales he told were so well connected that there was a continuous thread, as it were, to his whole story. There is no denying the fact that Mr. Seton-Thompson possesses a certain manner of talking which adds much to the charm of his clever stories and has the effect of impressing them on the audience. When listening to him one feels as though the speaker was addressing his remarks to him alone. There's nothing of that stereotyped "rattling it off" manner that mars the talks of so many noted lecturers today.

There was too much of an abundance of good stories related by Mr. Seton-Thompson for one to attempt to repeat any particularly good one. He dwelt upon the habits, peculiarities and comparative degrees of intelligence possessed by various animals, with which he and others upon whom he relied had come in contact with in the west and northwest.

There was a moral underlining in his whole talk and it was simply this—the thoughtless, unnecessary and criminal killing of game in the west is gradually exterminating the magnificient specimens to be found there, and that it is high time that the government took proper steps to check this action.

Mr. Seton Thompson told stories about rabbits, "cotton tails," the moose, a mustang, eagles, skunk, ducks and various other birds and animals, and incidently explained the methods resorted to by Eastern sportsmen to snare the game in order to kil them. Everything done by the birds and animals has a meaning to Mr. Seton-Thompson. Even the tracks of the animals have a special significence which he is able to unravel. The cries and noises made by both birds and animals mean something according to him. A special feature of his discourse was the ability he demonstrated in infusing humor into the stories which were intended to be seriously taken. Taking it all and all the lecture was one of absorbing interest and served to enlighten the audience in regard to a subject with which few are acquainted, that is, the traits and instincts of game.

After the Truants.

ALMOST A CONTEST AT CITY CONVENTION.

But When Trouble Was Settled the Session Lasted Only Thirteen Minutes.

W. N. RUNYON RENOMINATED.

J. F. BUCKLE, E. E. PRAY AND C. L. MURPHY FOR COUNCILMEN.

Floyd T. Woodhull was Choice for School Trustee—Second Ward Delegation Had Two Candidates—Keely's Forces Finally Won.

For City Judge,
WILLIAM N RUNYON
For Councilmen-at-Large,
JAMES F BUCKLE,
EDWARD E PRAY,
CLARENCE L MURPHY
For School Trustee,
FLOYD T WOODHULL.

Such is the ticket of the Republicans which it required just thirteen minutes to nominate at the city convention of the G. O. P., held in the old Republican headquarters on East Front street last evening. It took three times that interval, however, to settle the troubles of the Second ward delegation which insisted on having two candidates. The candidacy of E. E. Pray for the councilmanic nomination, generaled by John E. Keely, won out in the end and the friends of Daniel Ginna did not make any attempt to have his name brought before the convention.

Until yesterday, it looked as if all was to be smooth sailing at the convention after the fashion of past years. The factional feeling in the Second ward, as a result of the last primary, was the cause of a hitch in the proceedings. Many prominent men in the ward, some of whom opposed Keely at the primary, wanted to secure the nomination for Daniel Ginna. Less than a day before the convention, Keely sprung the name of E. E. Pray.

A caucus of the Second ward delegation was held previous to the convention. While an amicable agreement was sought, the other delegates waited patiently. At last the delegation came in and the proceedings began.

It was 8:25 o'clock when Roger F. Murray, of the city committee, called the convention to order. William M. Stillman, of the Third ward, was made chairman and Frank J. Hubbard, of the same ward, secretary. At the suggestion of R. F. Murray, the other officers were appointed at the recommendation of the chairmen of the ward delegations. They were: Judge, I. P. Hill, of the First ward; inspector, J. Hervey Deane, of the Second ward; clerk, William H. Abbott, of the Fourth ward. The credentials were presented.

Nominations for the three candidates-at-large for the Common Council were first called for. Charles S. Sminck, chairman of the First ward delegation, presented the name of James F. Buckle and called attention to his past services and the good work he had done. John E. Keely, chairman from the Second ward named Edward E. Pray. Clarence L. Murphy was the choice of the Four h ward as voiced by its chairman, Harry G. Runyon. The secretary was instructed to cast a ballot for them and it was all over.

As soon as nominations for city judge were called for, Charles S. Sminck rose to his feet. In a neat speech, he presented the name of the present incumbent, William N. Runyon, paying a high compliment to that young Republican and his fairness while administering his duties as city judge during the past three years. The secretary cast a ballot for him and he was declared the nominee amid applause.

For school trustee, the Fourth ward had the only candidate, Floyd T. Woodhull. He was nominated by Harry G. Runyon, who pointed out that Mr. Woodhull had been eminently successful in business and could be counted on to look after the city's affairs properly. The secretary was then instructed to cast a ballot for him as well.

The chairman, according to instructions from the convention, appointed a committee composed of Charles S. Sminck, George P. Mellick, Robert Rushmore and Harry G. Runyon to fill any vacancies which might subsequently appear in the ticket. The convention concluded its labors at 8:42 o'clock and the delegates gathered round to talk it over.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Business at F. F. Proctor's four theatres in New York is phenomenally big, and the season gives promise of being one of the most prosperous in Manager Proctor's long managerial career. This condition of affairs is directly brought about by the excellence of his attractions and the popular style of entertainments provided. The Proctor Stock Company continues to revive the best comedies, and the vaudeville numbers presented between acts are drawn from the cream of the profession. An early revival of Joseph Arthur's celebrated comedy drama, "Blue Jeans," will be an important factor in Manager Proctor's plans for the autumn months. David Belasco's sumptuous production of John Luther Long's Japanese tragedy, "Mme. Butterfly," is now touring the circuit, and will visit the Proctor theatres in Montreal and Albany and will be an early attraction at the new Proctor theatre now nearing completion in Newark. Sandow, the celebrated strong man, is also a prevailing attraction at the Proctor theatres, and will visit all seven houses on the circuit. The Trauntonvini Sisters, European novelty dancers, will arrive soon for an extended engagement.

The Great Cinquevalli returns to Keith's Theatre, New York, next week, after an absence of two weeks. This great artist packed Keith's to the doors during his month's stay at this theatre, and he would have continued indefinitely without interruption could he have postponed the engagement that compelled his temporary departure. His popularity has extended beyond the bounds of Greater New York, so fast did the recital of his wonderful feats by those who had seen him perform, travel. Many who came to see this act were turned away nightly, owing to the crowded condition of the house. On his return Cinquevalli will present many new and startling feats. Other attractions on the bill next week are Papinta, the wonderful myriad dancer; Ritter's trained dogs; the Lilliputians; Al Leech and the Three Rosebuds in "Examination day at School;" Frank Lincoln, a real humorist; Bixford Bros., acrobats and head balancers; Edward Reynard, ventriloquist; Wilson and Leicester, singing comedy sketch; Reed and Shaw, daring ring performers and many others. Continuous performance; popular prices.

THE YALE BICENTENNIAL.

Third Day Closed With an Allegorical Entertainment.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—In a great amphitheater bedecked in blue and illumined by long strings of orange hued lanterns and Greek fire flaming and smoking skyward from poles erected about the campus the sons of Yale witnessed last night an allegorical performance by the dramatic association of the university and listened to the songs of the student chorus drilled especially for this feature of the bicentennial celebration. After an afternoon devoted to football, in which the varsity eleven showed its prowess and the veteran heroes of the gridiron matched their strength and old time skill victoriously against the college team, it was not unfitting that graduates and students should assemble within the historic campus and voice their appreciation of the festival time. They ranged themselves by classes within the amphitheater nearly 8,000 strong, every class having a distinctive transparency to mark its position, and joined with vigor in the bicentennial songs.

The amphitheater was erected in the center of the old campus facing south middle dormitory, in front of which the temporary stage for the amateur performers was built. On this open air stage the members of the university dramatic association, under the leadership of Frank Lea Short as stage director, presented a performance symbolic of successive events in the history of Yale.

Between each of the scenes there were familiar college songs by the student chorus, in which all the thousands of graduates ranged about the amphitheater heartily participated. Several bands were stationed on the campus and at intervals added to the musical demonstration of the evening.

REPORT ON ORDNANCE.

Admiral O'Neil Thinks Limit Reached In Big Guns.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Increased efficiency in our big naval guns must be looked for from the use of heavier projectiles and the production of powder possessing high ballistic qualities rather than from an increase in the weight and dimensions of the guns themselves, says Rear Admiral Charles O'Neil, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, in his annual report. The latest types of guns are so large and so heavy, he says, that it is inadvisable to make an increase in either respect, and the bureau now will confine itself to developing weightier projectiles and powder of greater energy.

Admiral O'Neil believes that the ordnance equipment of United States naval vessels is fully up to the highest standard maintained abroad for vessels of corresponding age and class and says he knows of no guns afloat or soon to be put afloat equal in energy to those manufacturing for the United States navy.

In regard to smokeless powder Admiral O'Neil says there is no doubt that the grade of this powder made today is considerably superior to that of a year ago, due to a natural process of development, not to inferiority in the powder formerly manufactured. The ordnance bureau considers the powder question in a very satisfactory state at the present time.

Admiral O'Neil believes that the subject of submarine boats is being given undue prominence.

Serials Barred From Second Class.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The postoffice department has issued notice to all postmasters announcing a second list of serial publications barred from the second class mail privileges because they do not come within the requirements of the amended regulations. Both back numbers and future issues of such publications hereafter must pay the third class rate of 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction, and the postmasters have been instructed to cancel the certification of second class entry in these cases. There are forty in all of these, many of which are well known serials. There are nineteen published in New York city, eight in Chicago, six in Boston, three in Philadelphia, two in Augusta, Me., and one each in Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Roosevelt's Action Praised.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—President Roosevelt's action in entertaining Booker T. Washington, the noted colored educator, at the White House was upheld and publicly approved by the American Missionary society, which opened its fifty-fifth annual meeting yesterday at the First Congregational church at Oak Park. The matter had been a common topic of conversation among the delegates to the convention throughout the day, the society's prominence in the education of the negro making the matter of unusual interest. Additional importance was lent to the affair from the fact that Booker T. Washington is a protege of the association.

Two Killed by the Cars.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Thomas O'Rourke of Kingston, N. Y., and George Johnston of Harlem, members of a bridge repairing gang on the West Shore railroad, were killed on an iron bridge over Quassaick creek south of Newburg. The men were struck by the passenger train which left this place at 4:05. They were working with their backs to the train, and a passing freight train prevented them hearing the passenger train.

Judge Reagan Very Ill.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 23.—Private telegrams received from Palestine, Tex., state that Judge J. B. Reagan, chairman of the Texas state railway commission and the only survivor of the Confederate cabinet of Jefferson Davis, is dangerously ill at his home in Palestine. Judge Reagan is eighty-five years of age.

LUZON IS DISTURBED

An Attempt to Concentrate Rebel Bands.

MORE TROOPS ARE SENT TO SAMAR.

General Chaffee Does Not Expect an Extensive Engagement—The Island of Leyte Is Also Stirred Up.

MANILA, Oct. 23.—General uneasiness prevails in central Luzon. The garrisons report that several bands of rebels, numbering twenty-five or fifty, are endeavoring to concentrate at one point. This, it is believed, is the result of General Malvar's efforts at recruiting.

Notices which were recently posted on the doors of the churches in Batangas province urge that an organization be completed in January. There is a periodical scare over this in Manila, which is fomented by the sensational papers. The editors of these journals demand that additional troops be sent to Batangas at once, as there are now only 1,200 men there under Colonel McKibbin, in addition to the metropolitan police. The native police, which can hardly be counted on, are not taken into account.

The transport Sumner sailed for the island of Samar today with a battalion of the Twelfth and Twenty-second infantry.

Governor Taft is confined at the palace with an attack of bowel troubles. He has been ordered by his physicians to remain absolutely quiet for a week.

The Philippine commission has prepared libel laws which are necessarily most stringent. The newspapers propose to fight these laws through their lawyers. The chief objection is to the unusual powers which are conferred on the judges owing to the nonexistence of jury trials.

General Chaffee does not expect to hear of any extensive engagement in the island of Samar. He believes the operations there will not result in an open fight. It is hard to find armed Filipinos, but every man without occupation will be compelled to go into a town.

It is reported that all the rifles captured by the Filipinos at Balangiga are now in the island of Leyte, where many bolomen are known to have gone from the island of Samar. In fact, Leyte is as disturbed as Samar.

The object of the re-enforcements of American troops now being pushed forward is to increase all the garrisons to thirty-eight men. Some of them have until recently numbered only eight. The re-enforcements will also allow the detailing of a working force to operate in the field, hunting for insurgents.

No More White Army Tents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The army is now in possession of a khaki cloth for uniforms which is proof against sun, washing and perspiration, so far as color goes, according to a statement in the annual report of Acting Quartermaster General Kimball. But the cotton khaki dyed shirts have not proved a success, and some shirts are being made for trial of woolen materials. For tropical use the army blanket is now being made much lighter than the old standard. The white tents have gone for all time, and khaki dyed tentage is the rule in the army now. No more tents will be purchased. Last year $1,475,729 was spent for horses, mules and wagons, and there were shipped to the Philippines and China 4,881 cavalry horses, 4,337 horses for mounted infantry, 252 artillery horses, 3,518 draft mules and 765 pack mules.

A Mammoth Paper Company.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 23.—The White Mountain Paper company, a $25,000,000 corporation, is being formed by western Massachusetts parties and will soon be incorporated under New Jersey laws. William B. Plunkett of Adams is to be president of the company. The company has acquired about 625 square miles of spruce and poplar timber land in New Hampshire and Maine, south and east of Mount Washington, a tract equal in extent to one-fifth of the state of New Hampshire. Portsmouth, N. H., will be the home of the company, who will build there the largest mill in the world.

German Empress' Birthday.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Yesterday was the birthday of Empress Augusta Victoria, and flags were displayed on all public and many private buildings. There were no court festivities owing to her majesty's indisposition and to the fact that the imperial family is in mourning for the late Queen Victoria. A congratulatory address, beautifully bound and bearing 18,000 signatures, was presented by the citizens of Berlin, and many patriotic societies celebrated the anniversary.

Czolgosz Prepares For the End.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Leon Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley and who is awaiting electrocution in the prison here during the week commencing next Monday, fully realizing that his death is now a question of but a few days, has asked for spiritual consolation and yesterday afternoon received a visit from the Rev. T. Szadinski, a Polish priest of the Roman Catholic church.

Dye Died From Worry.

WABASH, Ind., Oct. 23.—Worry killed John Dye of this place. He was one of several heirs to an alleged estate of several thousand acres of coal land in Pennsylvania. Recently he received many anonymous letters stating that he would be kidnaped and held for ransom. Dye was an old man, and the letters threw him into a paroxysm of fright, which resulted in speedy decline and death.

MANY SEE PRESIDENT

Roosevelt's Day at Farmington, Conn., an Eventful One.

A "PRIVATE AFFAIR" IS SPOILED.

People From Surrounding Towns Came to Greet the President and Grasp His Hand—Close Watch Kept by Secret Service Men.

FARMINGTON, Conn., Oct. 23.—President Roosevelt's day in Farmington provided quite a suitable addition to the historic annals of this pretty and ordinarily quiet old town.

The intention of the president's sister, Mrs. Cowles, to make the occasion a private affair was considerably overcome by the anxiety of the people to see the president and to grasp his hand. Throughout the morning there was no particular demonstration, but the middle of the afternoon the turnout of the townspeople, added to the influx of several hundred from Hartford and adjoining townships, enlarged the throng to proportions much beyond that to which Farmington is accustomed.

The absence of a publicly announced programme gave an element of uncertainty to the day. Everybody on the street was inquiring when and where they could see the president, but the mass of people went away satisfied, for the president made three quite characteristic dashes through portions of the town. In the last of these he rode out in an open carriage through the heart of the big crowds assembled on the principal street corners just at the conclusion of the ceremony of planting a McKinley memorial oak.

The president's day was filled with enjoyable rides, walks and receptions. It concluded in the evening at a dinner given at the home of Commander and Mrs. Cowles, the president's sister. Among the guests at the dinner were the president and his daughter, Miss Alice Roosevelt; Secretary Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Barnes, United States Senators Joseph R. Hawley and Orville H. Platt and their wives and Governor George P. McLean.

Between his two rides the president and a few friends took a long tramp to Pinnacle mountain, President Roosevelt and daughter leading the jaunt.

An interesting incident of the morning drive was the greeting by 150 school children, attired in white, waving flags at the president as he rode by.

The afternoon was chiefly devoted to receptions—first to the young women of the Porter school and second to the guests invited by Mrs. Cowles to meet her brother. The two Connecticut senators and their ladies assisted in receiving.

One of the features of the day was the planting of the McKinley oak on the public green, opposite the picturesque and historic Elm Tree inn. President Roosevelt declined to take part in this on the ground that it would not be in good taste to do so on this occasion after having declined other similar invitations. Governor McLean and Mayor Harbison of Hartford were the principal speakers at the exercises.

The town was well policed by deputy sheriffs and constables, the customary warning having been sent out in advance by the chief of police at Washington.

The secret service men followed the president's party so far as possible, but were unable to always keep track of the rather rapid changes, and on the tramp to the mountain the president was unprotected in that respect, a fact, however, which was entirely satisfactory to himself.

The president left Farmington at 8:10 this morning for New Haven.

A Big Strawboard Trust.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 23.—Strawboard manufacturers of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana at a meeting here have taken steps toward the formation of a national combination. The senior member of Dean & Shibley of New York, Providence and Boston was present at the conference. The scheme, as adopted and indorsed, provides for a combination of large proportions similar in many respects to the Standard Oil company. There are three classes of box board manufacturers, the strawboard men, the wood pulp men and the chip or news men. It is proposed to form a combination of all these industries with head offices in New York and a capital stock of $22,000,000.

To Pay Manchester's Debts.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—According to The Daily Express, at a family conference held at 45 Portland square yesterday, which was attended by Eugene Zimmerman, it was arranged that he should pay £5,000 and Consuelo, duchess of Manchester, £2,000 to liquidate the Duke of Manchester's debts. It was also announced that the present tenant of Kimbolton castle, the principal country seat of the Duke of Manchester, had consented to determine the tenantcy in order to gratify the wish of the young duchess that her accouchement might occur there. A family party traveled to Kimbolton castle last night.

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 23.—A special to The Star-Journal brings news of excitement over a gold discovery at Buela, thirty miles west of this city. Five hundred claims have been located in the past twenty-four hours. A ledge of free milling gold returns nearly $2,000 a ton.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—No will was left by the late John S. Pillsbury, former governor of Minnesota. He was content to let the laws of Minnesota determine the final disposition of his estate. He said so in as many words. His estate is estimated to be worth $5,000,000.

PANIC IN A THEATER

Cry of Fire Starts a Stampede at Louisville.

MANY INJURED IN THE MAD RUSH

A Slight Flame Caused by the Blowing Out of a Fuse on the Polyscope Created the Trouble. Little Damage by Fire.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.—Hundreds of people attempted to rush out of the Temple theater because the cry of fire was raised when a little flam was seen about the polyscope machine

In the scramble scores of people were knocked down and thirteen injured, three seriously. Of the latter one may die. A number of other persons were bruised or cut, but their injuries were slight.

The place was crowded at the time, but it was emptied in a few moments.

It was about 3:30 o'clock, just after the first act of "Tennessee's Pardner." The polyscope pictures, which are shown between the acts, had just started. The machine was not working well, and the audience became restless from the delay and the hissing and sputtering of the machine. The operator tried to manipulate it and then threw the light on the screen, when suddenly there was a sputtering and hissing, a white flash, and then a lurid tongue of fire leaped out and crawled around the woodwork surrounding the machine, while the smell of fire was detected.

In a moment the audience was panic stricken, and some one cried "Fire!" The theater was packed, principally with women and children. With one impulse the audience arose and began a mad scramble for the stairway. Screaming and struggling, they fought their way toward the front stairway. Many occupants of the gallery leaped over the railing into the struggling mass of humanity below.

The great crush occurred where the stairs come down from the gallery. Here the two crowds met and were packed into a space not large enough for half of them, and all were trying with a desperation born of fear to reach the street.

The weaker were soon knocked down and trampled under foot. Those who realized the state of affairs were trying their best to check the rush, but the crowd went on pellmell through the doors and literally rolled down the long flight of stairs.

There was no damage from fire. It is said the cause of the flames was the blowing out of a fuse on the polyscope.

Exposition's Final Day.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The board of directors of the Pan-American exposition has adopted the following: "Resolved, That Saturday, Nov. 2, at midnight be fixed as the time of the final closing of the exposition." At midnight of Nov. 2 the lights of the electric tower and other lights used in the grand illumination will be finally turned off and the exposition closed. Arrangements are being made for a Western New York and Exhibitors' day. The date will be announced later. The reduced rate of 15 cents for the admission of public and parochial school children of Buffalo has been extended to all children outside of Buffalo, providing in the case of the latter that they will be admitted at the reduced rate when fifteen or more of them come in charge of a teacher, the teacher to be entitled to free admission.

The Bremen In Port.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Much changed in appearance and practically a new vessel, the steamer Bremen of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, one of the vessels almost destroyed in the great fire at Hoboken in June, 1900, arrived in port last night, carrying almost 1,200 passengers from Bremen and Southampton. After the Bremen had been temporarily repaired here in New York she went to Philadelphia, from which port she took the second largest cargo of coal that ever left that port to Bremen. After discharging her coal at Bremen she proceeded to Stettin, where, in the hands of the Vulcan Shipbuilding company, she has been completely rebuilt, being lengthened twenty-five feet.

Comptroller Coler Upheld.

ALBANY, Oct. 23.—The court of appeals today decided that William W. Cantwell and Robert M. Moore, counsel for Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy of New York when on trial for the murder of Dolly Reynolds, cannot recover for personal expense incurred in conducting the trial. They were assigned by Justice Fursman to defend Kennedy and presented a bill of $500 against New York county for professional services and $950 for personal expenses. Among the items of expense was $250 for the services of a handwriting expert. Justice Fursman allowed both bills, but Comptroller Coler refused to pay the one for personal expenses, claiming that he had no right to pay it.

Twelve Hours Sealed Up.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Six men who had been sealed up in a submarine boat ready for launching at Barrow-in-Furness for twelve hours were released last evening. They suffered no ill effects from their confinement, the vitiated air being absorbed by the apparatus for that purpose and fresh air having been supplied from the compressors.

The City Election.

These are the men, with one exception, who will come before the voters of Plainfield, Tuesday, November 5, as the choice of the two great political parties for the control of the municipal machinery:

REPUBLICAN. DEMOCRATIC.
For City Judge,
WM. H. RUNYON. W. L. HETFIELD, JR.
For Board of Education,
FLOYD Y. WOODHULL. REV. DR. J. P. TAYLOR
For Councilmen-at-Large,
JAMES F. BUCKLE, J. P. HOMAN,
EDWARD E. PRAY, A. H. ATTERBURY,
C. L. MURPHY, ISAAC M. FIELD,
For Ward Councilmen,
First Ward,
WILLIAM GLOAK, WALTER L. HETFIELD
Second Ward,
JAN VANDERWERDEN, LEWIS G. TIMPSON
Third Ward,
LESLIE M. DANIEL,
Fourth Ward,
ROBERT L. LEE, JOHN F CASEY

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was nominated by the Democrats for city judge so that the place might still be filled and another name substituted.

Both parties have taken considerable care in the selection of their candidates. The result is that two exceptionally strong tickets are presented for the consideration of the voters of Plainfield. While all may not agree with the political ideas of these men, there is no one who can justly criticize their integrity and honesty of purpose.

As far as the city campaign is concerned this fall, it is simply a question of the policy of the city affairs. As seven out of the eleven members of the Common Council are elected this year, it is possible to make a complete change in the political complexion of that governing body. It is there that the chief fight will be made.

For three years, practically the same council has been in power and the same policy has been pursued. Plans, outlined at the beginning of its career, have been carefully followed through. Each year, the work of the council has come up before the voters of the city and the story of the ballots has shown definite approval. This year, the Republicans will pursue the same course and ask for votes on the ground that the present administration of city affairs is satisfactory to the people at large.

The Democratic claim will be that their candidates, if elected, can administer the city affairs on a more economical basis than they are conducted at present. Another argument, which promises to figure more or less in the city campaign, will be that the Republican party is under the control of so called "bosses." There are certain men in Plainfield who figure prominently in the counsels of their political party. As to the extent of their influence, Republicans and Democrats fail to agree.

There has been a very pointed object lesson over in Middlesex county for bicyclists who are in the habit of riding along at night with firearms in their hands. A man was shot and seriously injured near New Market by a colored man on a bicycle. The negro was arrested and pleaded guilty. The wounds did not prove fatal and the victim expressed the belief that it was an accident. So the court has suspended sentence on the colored man. It should, however, be a lesson to everyone who has ever been in the habit of carrying firearms on a wheel at night. The negro had a fortunate escape from heavy punishment and a repetition of such an experience might not result so well.

The Daily Press has made arrangements for the publication of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story, "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which will begin tomorrow. While this remarkable production has long been on the market in book form, this is the first time that it has been printed in any of the periodicals. It is an old story but well worth the reading. Those who have never happened to read it before will find one of the best of the stories that Mr. Stevenson ever wrote. It is such a peculiar production that those who did read it when it was first published will still find it worthy of a second reading.

Although Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., has been nominated for city judge by the Democrats, he has not, and never did have, the slightest intention of running for the office. He allowed his name to be used only so that the law might be complied with and the Democrats given an opportunity to fill the place at their leisure. If they cannot find a candidate, then the place on the ticket will be left vacant.

"The proper place for advertisements is in the newspapers" is the motto of "Scapa," or the Society for Checking the Abuses of Public Advertising, in England, quotes the Philadelphia Record. The idea of the organization is to abolish offensive billboards and the like. It has a membership of 1,500, including many public men, and it is supported by at least a dozen societies.

It really seems a pity that the Plainfield Board of Trade should have such troublesome times in getting out a quorum. There is a regular guard of workers who attend those meetings but they are not enough to form a quorum. Surely the people of Plainfield ought to take enough interest in the city's welfare to turn out for such a meeting at least once a month.

There have been many strangers in Plainfield this fall and they have all united in singing the praises of this beautiful city. Never has an autumn found the city so fine looking. The delightful weather of the past month has done much to make this season one of the most attractive for years.

While William Newcorn has long been prominent in local politics, this is the first time he has ever come before the voters of the city as a candidate. He has always supported every Republican candidate without question. Now it will be an opportunity for the return of the same courtesy.

No one can blame the local Democrats for being considerably disappointed at the action of the State committee in laying plans for Mayor Seymour's visit here. Rather than have a mass meeting at nearly midnight they gave up the plan altogether.

There were many pleasant words of commendation for the excellent and impartial review of the political situation in Somerset county as published in yesterday's Daily Press. It promises to be quite a contest in that little county.

Plainfield has a large and influential representation at the bi-centennial at Yale University this week. That famous old institution has many sons in Plainfield who are prominent in all walks of life here.

If Councilman James F. Buckle is re-elected to the Common Council next month it will be his third term in the Council. He says that will end his active career in city politics.

The Monday Afternoon Club is giving its members an unusually fine series of lectures this winter.

TEA TABLE TALK

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A tablet to the memory of Rev. Dr. James Ormsbee Murray was unveiled at the Brick Presbyterian church, Thirty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Henry VanDyke, of Princeton, who succeeded Dr. Murray, formally presented the tablet on behalf of the committee. Dr. Murray was pastor of the Brick church from 1865 to 1875. Later, he was a professor and dean at Princeton. He was the father of Dr. W. H. Murray and James P. Murray, of this city. He died two years ago.

SHORT SKETCHES OF ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES.

has taken a lively interest in local affairs. He has always been a staunch Republican. He is a successful business man and has lately had some time and money to devote to politics.

It is for services to his party that the claim of Frederick Miller, of Elizabeth, is based. He is a mechanic of German descent. He was elected to the Elizabeth Common Council from a ward usually Democratic. He afterwards went to the Board of Freeholders. He is accounted a man of remarkable popularity in the "port" district.

Charles Leonard Moffett, the Plainfielder on the Democratic assembly ticket, is a well known lawyer in this city, where he was born September 24, 1865. He is of Scotch descent and some of his ancestors fought in the War for Independence.

Mr. Moffett attended the Plainfield public schools and afterwards entered Rutgers' Preparatory School. He commenced the study of the law under Hon. John Ulrich and subsequently Nelson Runyon was his preceptor. He is a member of the Presbyterian church and is active in the affairs of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., of this city. While not an active politician, he has always been a staunch Democrat.

Charles A. Sulzer, of Elizabeth, one of the Democratic nominees, was born February 24, 1879. His early training was received in the Elizabeth public schools and the Pingry School, of the same city. He was successful in various scholastic and athletic competitions and won prizes in debating.

At the outbreak of hostilities with Spain Mr. Sulzer enlisted in the Fourth New Jersey Volunteer Regiment and was promoted to be a sergeant in due time. He was a charter member of the Elizabeth Democratic Club and at present is the president of the organization. He is also vice-president of the New Jersey Democratic Club and is secretary of the Union county Democratic committee. No one has ever questioned his honor, integrity or ability.

George H. Vanderveer, the third of the trio of Democratic candidates for Assembly, is a Rahway man and is engaged in business in that city. He is an aggressive Democrat, who has rendered much aid in his party councils. Alert, gifted with fluent speech and gentlemanly in conduct, he is counted upon as a good man for the office he seeks.

WORK ON SEWER BEDS.

Councilmen Have Notified Contractors That One Tier Must Be Finished by November 15.

A number of the city Councilmen and Consulting Engineer Osgood met at the city disposal beds a few days ago to consider the progress of the work. It was decided to notify the contractors that the southwest tier of beds must be finished by November 15. The centre wall and main supply pipe must be finished ready for use.

The delay in completing the alterations has been due to the slow delivery of slag. The Councilmen's order will require the contractors to fill the beds by carting around on the outside instead of running teams on the beds as at present.

FOR LOCAL SERVICE.

Unexpected Order Putting Big Trolley Cars on Dunellen Line.

An order issued by the general superintendent has resulted in the placing of the large winter cars of the Elizabeth-Plainfield line on the Netherwood-Dunellen line. While the change is appreciated by the patrons of the latter line, the chances are that the accommodation will be short lived as the order will undoubtedly be rescinded in short order. None of the local officials know why the change was made.

Purchased Coudert Estate.

President McCoy, of the Raritan Copper Refining Company, who is the head of the Perth Amboy and Metuchen Street Railway Company, has purchased the handsome estate of Frederick Coudert, at Metuchen, and will make it his home. ANIMATED PICTURES.

Together With Von Boyle, the Humorist, Furnished Entertainment for Many

The well-known humorist, VonBoyle, entertained a large audience at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening with his mirth and provoking monologues and clever impersonations. The audience was convulsed with laughter the greater part of the time and thoroughly enjoyed the unique programme.

In addition to VonBoyle there were animated pictures, reproducing thrilling and comical scenes in a realistic manner. The pictures were very clear and gave entire satisfaction. The proceeds from the affair will be devoted to church purposes.

Photographed Bridal Party.

After the marriage of Miss Edith Louise Pruden to Alexander Russell Bond, last evening, Augustus V. Searing, Jr., took an excellent flash-light picture of the bride and groom. Another flash-light picture was then taken of all the guests including Mrs. Isaac Bond, whose tragic death occurred a few hours later at the North Avenue station.

MANY WITNESSES FOR SCHLEY.

The Brooklyn's Log Explained—A Newspaper Man's Testimony.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. — The Schley court of inquiry opened yesterday with Lieutenant B. W. Wells, Jr., who was Commodore Schley's flag lieutenant during the Spanish war, still on the stand, but he was soon displaced to allow Yeoman Albert V. Mason, who had written the Brooklyn's log for the period covering the Santiago campaign, to testify. Mr. Mason explained the erasures in the log entry referring to the Brooklyn's turn on the day of the battle off Santiago.

He was followed by Mr. George E. Graham, who, as an Associated Press correspondent, was with Commodore Schley during the entire campaign.

Mr. Graham's testimony covered all the principal events of the campaign and discussed especially the bombardment of the Spanish ship Colon on May 31 and the battle off Santiago on July 3. Mr. Graham testified to hearing a conversation between Commodore Schley and Captain Sigsbee when the latter came aboard the flagship Brooklyn off Santiago May 26. He said that he had distinctly heard Captain Sigsbee tell the commodore that the Spanish fleet was not inside the harbor at Santiago.

Mr. Graham also stated that Admiral Schley had told him that the object of the bombardment of May 31 was to develop the Spanish land batteries, and he said that the range was fixed at 7,000 or 7,500 yards in order to draw their fire.

The witnesses for the afternoon were Dennis J. Cronin, who was Admiral Schley's orderly, who also testified along the same lines as Mr. Graham and to the conversation with Captain Sigsbee; Lieutenant Commander William R. Rush, who said he thought the Viscaya had planned to ram the Brooklyn; Lieutenant Edward Simpson, who gave a very graphic picture of the battle of July 3, and Lieutenant Edward T. Fitzgerald, an assistant engineer, who was on duty in the fireroom on July 3 and who testified that an order had been given early in the action to stand by for a ram.

Plans For Shamrock III.

GLASGOW, Oct. 23.—Sir Thomas Lipton, while desiring to avoid monopolising the British side of the America's cup contests, has already taken a step toward a third contest for the trophy. Captain Robert Wringe, who returned here from New York on the Anchor line steamer City of Rome Monday, went to Fairlie and had a long conference with W. Fife, Jr., as to whether he would undertake designing the Shamrock III. for a series of races in 1902. It is understood that Mr. Fife was opposed to rushing out a challenger for 1902. He considered the time too short to do his best work, but was willing to design a challenger to race in the autumn of 1903. No absolute arrangements can be made until Sir Thomas Lipton arrives, but there is little doubt that a challenge will be sent.

A Fast Transcontinental Train.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 23.—A new coast to coast limited is to be run from New York to San Francisco by the New York Central, Lake Shore, Northwestern and Harriman lines west of Omaha, beginning Nov. 3. The train will be a fast one and will have a close Boston connection at New York. It will leave New York at 8:45 in the morning, arriving in Chicago at 7:50 the following morning. The new service will be two nights from New York and Boston to Denver, three nights to Salt Lake City and four nights to San Francisco.

Russia and Japan Friendly.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—"On the authority of Count Lamsdorff I am able to declare," says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, "that the relations between Russia and Japan are quite amicable and that the rumors of a likelihood of war are quite unfounded. Certainly the Korean question will not cause a rupture, because Russia and Japan recently arrived at an agreement which makes Korea a sort of buffer state, both agreeing to respect her territorial integrity."

General Buller Relieved.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Sir Redvers Buller has been relieved of the command of the First army corps in consequence of the speech he made Oct. 10 after the luncheon given in his honor by the King's Royal rifles dealing with his famous dispatch to General White at Ladysmith. He has been placed on half pay, and General French has been appointed to succeed him.

PARK AVE. AND RAILROAD

A Philadelphia, Pa., blacksmith makes the following interesting statement regarding how he was cured of hives and constipation by Ripans Tabules: "For six or eight years I suffered from hives, more so in hot weather than cold. Being a blacksmith I was in front of a hot fire all day and when the hives would break out I would almost go wild, and have had to stop work time and again. I used all kinds of washes and remedies taken inwardly, doctors tried every way to cure me, but it was money wasted and I suffered with constipation along with hives. One hot day last summer I was at work and the hives were at work too, and the itching became so intense I had to stop work. The foreman asked what was the matter and I told him the hives were setting me crazy and my head was splitting and I could hardly see. He said: 'Try Ripans Tabules. I take them and feel better every day.' I went to a drug store and asked for them. The druggist asked me what was the matter and I told him and he said: 'I have something that will cure you without taking Ripans Tabules.' I said never mind, give me a box of Ripans Tabules. I got them and started to take one Tabule after each meal and the effect on the bowels was something wonderful. They started to work and in a few days I felt like another man and in less than a month I was able to work every day, and the hives left me and I have not been troubled with them since. I take a Ripans Tabule whenever I feel heavy after eating and they fix me up in short order. I keep a box of ten in my pocket at all times and recommend them to my friends. I hope this testimonial will be of some benefit to those who suffer from constipation."

Fashion Novelties

One scarcely realizes how ornamental buttons may be until one sees a garment having them as sole trimming. The tailors seem to realize this better than any one else. Some of the wool shirt waists are also studded with tiny buttons, as are a few of the prettiest silk waists, and the buttons are really beautiful and might in some cases be described as works of art. One coat which was made to match a skirt of pebble cheviot had three buttons at the left side, and each one was cut with as many facets as though it was a diamond. They were of steel and black enamel. Buttons are so many and so widely different that it is scarcely necessary to speak of them in detail. Suffice it to say they are of all kinds, and all are fashionable. The smoked pearl and the mohair covered ones are probably the best liked, especially for coats and for setting on skirts in addition to braid. The illustration shows a costume in which buttons are utilized as ornaments. The waist is laid in small tucks and edged with braid in two colors, and there is a vest which is set with two rows of buttons. The vest is of ribbed silk, cream white, while the dress is of a soft fawn. The buttons are of mohair in exactly the same shade as the dress. The belt is cream and has buttons set on all the way around.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

As the French writers told us a year ago, we are certain to have many of the styles of the second empire, and, though the garments are somewhat different, they are still in the same lackadaisical form and general tone of the styles in vogue when Eugenie ruled in the realm of fashion. We have the flounced skirt and the bell sleeve with the long shoulders and the same long coats, graceless and ugly in form at best.

The low style of dressing the hair is another feather which shows how the wind blows, as in one of the new fashions for dressing the lovely tresses of a young lady the manner of so doing is exactly like the pictures of Eugenie. The hair is parted in the middle and brought up at the sides over rolls, and the rest is turned around in a rich twist which hangs low at the back of the neck. In some cases there is a wreath of roses without foliage, and in others a rose is placed right above the forehead in the curve left by the two side rolls of hair. It is a picturesque style and very becoming to the young. There are many other ways of dressing the hair low on the back of the neck, and with many of these ribbon is twined along the twists. But the strictly Eugenie style is prettiest and has perhaps had a slight degree of favor from the pretty picture Miss Barrymore makes in "Captain Jinks." She wears the old style gowns, and thus we can see how they look before we attempt them.

Among the new goods for late fall and winter gowns and suits there is a stuff which has no distinct name, but it has a weave like whipcord, and down far beneath the black surface one finds the tiniest specks of red. The red does not show at first, but as soon as one finds it out it is the one prominent thing thereafter. This is also duplicated in green, blue and yellow, and all are handsome and make effective gowns.

TRIMMED WITH BUTTONS.

The tufted woods with the specks of color on a black ground are especially nice for ordinary wear.

Eudoras, cheviots, camel's hairs, cashmeres, prunellas, soliels and all the line of cravenette coverts are among the best values of the season's output. The fine French and Bradford English broadcloths are better considered than silks. They make up into really sumptuous suits and "wear forever."

The shapeless ragians are quite a fad with many young women, and the long rain cloaks are so stylish that they do not care if they do look like frights so long as those coats are so well considered. But it is the long mantles, the pelisses, the Newmarkets and Empire coats that are so truly splendid. Many of these are made of velvet or the finest silk and ornamented with everything to make them beautiful. Chiffon in a hundred different ways is wrought into trimming for them, and this is set side by side with fur of the finest quality. Everything rich and lovely is sought for in all the parts of earth to make the winter garments fine.

.. The .. Lost Continent

By Cutcliffe Hyne.

Published by Harper & Bros. Copyright 1901, by Cutcliffe Hyne.

Only one person in that rigid knot of people found power to leave the rest, and that was Ylga. She came out to the side of the ark, and leaned up and cried me a farewell through the gathering roar of the flood.

"I would I might save you and take you with us," I said.

"As for that," she said, with a gesture, "I would not come if you asked me. I am not a woman that will take anything less than all. But I shall meet what comes presently with the memory that you will have me always somewhere in your recollection. I know somewhat of men, even men of your stamp, Deucalion, and you will never forget that you came very near to loving me once."

I think, too, she said something further, concerning Nais, but the bellowing rush of the waters drowned all other words. A great mist made from the steam sent up by the swamped burning mountains stopped all accurate view, though the blaze from the fires lit it like gold. But I had a last sight of a horde of soldiery rushing up the slopes of the mountain, with a scum of surge billowing at their heels and licking many of them back in its clutch. And then my eye fell on old Zaemon waving to me with the symbol to shut down the door in the roof of the ark.

I obeyed his last command, and went down the stair and closed all ingress behind me. There were bolts placed ready, and I shot these into their sockets, and there were Nais and I alone, and cut off from all the rest of our world that remained.

I went to the place where she lay, and put my arms tightly around her. Without, we heard men beating desperately on the ark with their weapons, and some who even climbed by the battens to the top and wrenched to try and move the door from its fastenings. The end was coming very near to them now, and the great crowd of them were mad with terror.

I would have given much to have known how Phorenice fared in that final tumult, and how she faced it. I could see her, with her lovely face and her wondrous eyes, and her ruddy hair curling about her neck, and by all the gods! I thought more of her at that last moment than of the poor land she had conquered and misgoverned and brought to this horrid destruction. There is no denying the fascination which Phorenice carried with her.

But the end did not dally long with its coming. There was a little surge that lifted the ark a hand's breadth or so in its cradle, and set it back again with a jar and a quiver. The blows from axes and weapons ceased on its lower part, but redoubled into frenzied batterings on its rounded roof. There were some screams and cries also which came to us but dully through the thickness of its ponderous sheathing, though likely enough they were sent forth at the full pitch of human lungs outside. And then another surge came, roaring and thundering, which picked up the great vessel as though it had been a feather, and spun it giddily; and after that we touched earth or rock no more.

We tossed about on the crest and troughs of delirious seas, a sport for the greedy gods of the ocean. The lamp had fallen, and we crouched there in darkness, dully weighed with the burden of knowledge that we alone were saved out of what was yesterday a mighty nation.

CHAPTER XVIII.

ON THE BOSOM OF THE DEEP.

The ark was rudderless, oarless and machineless, and could travel only where the high gods chose. The inside was dark, and full of an ancient smell, and crowded with groanings and noise. I could not find the firebox to relight the fallen lamp, and so we had to endure blindly what was dealt out to us. The waves tossed us in merciless sport, and I clung on by the side of Nais, holding her to the bed. We did not speak much, but there was full companionship in our bereavement and our silence.

When Atlantis sank to form new ocean-bed, she left great whirlpools and spoutings from her drowned fires as a fleeting legacy to the gods of the sea. And then, I think (though in the black belly of the ark we could not see these things), a vast hurricane of wind must have come on next so as to leave no piece of the desolation incomplete. For seven nights and seven days did this dreadful turmoil continue, as counted for us afterwards by the reckoner of hours which hung within the ark, and then the howling of the wind departed, and only the roll of a long still swell remained. It was regular and it was oily, as I could tell by the difference of the motion, and then for the first time I dared to go up the stair and open and found the gate they bit against was deserted.

The sweet salt air came gushing down to freshen the foulness within, and as the ark rode dryly over the seas, I went below and brought up Nais to gain refreshment from the curing rays of our Lord the Sun. Duly the pair of us adored him, and gave thanks for his great mercy in coming to light another day, and then we laid ourselves down where we were to doze, and take that easy rest which we so urgently needed.

Yet, though I was tired beyond words, for long enough sleep would not visit me. Wearily I stared out over the oily sun-lit waters. No blur of land met the eye. The ring of ocean was unbroken on every side, and overhead the vault of heaven remained unchanged. The bosom of the deep was littered with the poor wreckage of Atlantis, to remind one, if there had been a need, that what had come about was fact, and not some horrid dream. Trees, squared timber, a smashed and upturned boat of hides, and here and there the rounded corpse of a man or beast shouldered over the swells, and kept convoy with our ark as she drifted on in charge of the gods and the current.

But sleep came to me at last, and I dropped off into unconsciousness, holding the hand of Nais in mine, and when next I woke I found her open-eyed also and watching me tenderly. We were finely rested, both of us, and rest and strength bring one complacency. We were more ready now to accept the station which the high gods had made for us without repining, and so we went below again into the belly of the ark to eat and drink and maintain strength for the new life which lay before us.

A wonderful vessel was this ark, now we were able to see it at leisure and intimately. Although for the first time now in all its centuries of life it swam upon the waters, it showed no leak or sun-crack. Inside, even its floor was bone-dry. That it was built from some wood, one could see by the grainings, but nowhere could one find suture or joint. The living timbers had been put in place and then grown together by an art which we have lost to-day, but which the ancients knew with much perfection; and afterwards some treatment, which is also a secret of those forgotten builders, had made the wood as hard as metal and impervious to all attacks of the weather.

In the gloomy cave of its belly were stored many matters. At one end, in great tanks on either side of a central alley, was a prodigious store of grain. Sweet water was in other tanks at the other end. In another place were drugs, and simples, and essences of the life of beasts; all these things being for use while the ark roamed under the guidance of the gods on the bosom of the deep. On all the walls of the ark, and on all the partitions of the tanks and the other wood-work, there were carved in the rude art of bygone times representations of all the beasts which lived in Atlantis; and on these I looked with a hunter's interest, as some of them were strange to me, and had died out with the men who had perpetuated them in these sculptures. There was a good store of weapons, and the tools for handicrafts.

Now for many weeks our life endured in this ark as the gods drove it about here and there across the face of the waters. We had no government over direction; we could not by so much as a hair's-breadth a day increase her speed. The high gods that had chosen the two of us to be the only ones saved out of all Atlantis, had sole control of our fate, and into their hands we cheerfully resigned our future direction.

Of that land which we reached in due time, and where we made our abiding-place, and where our children were born, I shall tell of in its place; but since this chronicle has proceeded so far in an exact order of the events as they came to pass, it is necessary first to narrate how we came by the sheets on which it is written.

In a great coffer, in the center of the ark's floor, the whole of the mysteries learned during the study of ages were set down in accurate writing. I read through some of them during the days which passed, and the awfulness of the powers over which they gave control appalled me. I had seen some of these powers let loose in Atlantis, and was a witness of her destruction. But here were powers far higher than those; here was the great secret of life and death which Phorenice also had found, and for which she had been destroyed; and there were other things also of which I cannot even bring my style to scribe.

The thought of being custodian of these writings was more than I could endure, and the more the matter rested in my mind, the more intolerable became the burden. And at last I took hot irons, and with them seared the wax on the sheets till every letter of the old writings was obliterated. If I did wrong, the high gods in their infinite justice will give me punishment; if it is well that these great secrets should endure on earth, they in their infinite power will dictate them afresh to some fitting scribes; but I destroyed them there as the ark swayed with us over the waves; and later, when we came to land, I rewrote upon the sheets the matters which led to great Atlantis being dragged to her death-throes.

Nais, that I love so tenderly—

[Translator's Note.—The remaining sheets are too broken to be legible.]

SHOT BY TURKS.

Party of Five, Probably American Missionaries, Killed on Frontier.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The Morning Leader publishes the following communication, dated Saturday, Oct. 19, from Sofia:

"On the frontier near Grossbelova yesterday five fugitives from Baniska, Macedonia, among them a brother of Mme. Tsilka, Miss Stone's companion, were shot dead by Turkish frontier guards while endeavoring to cross into Bulgarian territory.

"United States Consul General Dickinson, believing that they were members of the American Mission church, has demanded an official inquiry.

"Great brutality exists in the districts between Baniska and the frontier. Turkish officials have arrested over 100 residents of Bulgarian nationality and subjected them to torture in order to wring from them information as to Miss Stone's whereabouts. Several of them died under torture.

"The Bulgarian authorities, likewise worried over the affair, are continually arresting fugitives from Macedonia, and this causes bad blood."

Another Searching Party to Be Sent.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 23.—Should no news be received during the next forty-eight hours from the missionaries who are seeking the captors of Miss Ellen M. Stone and her companion, Mme. K. S. Tsilka, more missionaries will be sent to assist in locating the brigand band. It is understood that the missionaries have been waiting at places in the vicinity of where the brigands are supposed to be, expecting to receive a communication from them. It is proposed now that a search party shall be organized to penetrate to the brigands' retreat.

Rumors Regarding Miss Stone.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—"It is reported from Sofia," says the Vienna correspondent of The Daily Mail, "that United States Consul General Dickinson has received intelligence from shepherds that Miss Stone was seen at Jakobuda, on Turkish territory, about two hours' journey from the Bulgarian frontier."

At Rest In Arlington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The remains of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota arrived here yesterday and were interred quietly at the Arlington National cemetery in a lot specially assigned for the purpose by the acting secretary of war. Mrs. Davis accompanied the remains from St. Paul, where they had been kept in a vault of the Oakland cemetery. The funeral party was met at the Baltimore and Ohio station by Sergeant at Arms Ransdell and representatives of the quartermaster's department, who superintended the removal of the casket to Arlington. Senator Davis was a first lieutenant in the volunteer army during the civil war, and it was that fact that gave him the right of burial in a national cemetery.

Trying to Settle Strike.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 23.—The board of trade committee which is endeavoring to end the street car strike had a three hours' conference with the strikers' executive board with a view of ascertaining how far they will go in the matter of compromise. The strikers will give an answer at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and at 3 o'clock the board of trade committee will wait on General Manager Silliman to find out what the company will do toward bringing about a settlement. The strike has entered on its fourth week, and as the cars on most of the lines are carrying very few passengers the merchants of the city are demanding that the strike shall be ended.

Steel Works on a Strike.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Trouble has broken out afresh at the Illinois Steel works in South Chicago. The crane men, who handle the molten metal ladles, have gone on strike, alleging that the company demands that they do machinists' work on repairs. A number of machinists also quit work. The trouble at the steel works is of long standing. The crane men who struck are the only employees in the plant who favored the Amalgamated association and President Shaffer at the time of the great steel strike.

John Redmond's Mission.

CORK, Oct. 23.—John Redmond, M. P., arrived here on his way to the United States. He was received by an immense crowd, and numerous addresses were presented to him. In the course of a general reply Mr. Redmond reasserted that he was not going beyond the Atlantic on a begging mission, but rather to appeal to Irish-Americans to take "their proper place in fighting the battles of the old country."

St. Louis Wants a New Charter.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—A special election was held here for the purpose of voting on amendments to the city charter. This charter was made thirty years ago, and the city has entirely outgrown its provisions. In round numbers the vote cast was 58,000 out of a total registration of 117,000. The result was 48,000 in favor of the amendments and 10,000 against.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

The finals for the Fisk handicap cup and the weekly competitions for the Mellick and Golf Committee cups will be the attractions Saturday on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. The following week there will be the preliminary round for the Chapman cup.

Work has been started in laying out four tennis courts at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds. They will be located near the clubhouse. Since there has been a revival of interest in tennis and many members of the club who do not play golf, have expressed a desire for tennis, it is quite likely that there will be a strong rivalry between the devotees of the two games.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The pupils of the North Plainfield High School are endeavoring to organize a football team.

The Columbia Field Football team, of Jersey City, and the Alis eleven will buck up against each other on Hope common Saturday afternoon.

The Leal's School eleven plays the football team from MacKenzie Academy, of Dobb's Ferry, on the Hope chapel gridiron this afternoon.

The Plainfield High School football team has disbanded for the season. The reason assigned is lack of interest taken on the part of the players. Light and raw material has hadicapped the team and has discouraged the members of the eleven.

The two football teams of St. Mary's choir boys desire to arrange games with elevens averaging from seventy to ninety pounds. The dates which are open include Saturday, October 26, morning; Thursday, October 31, afternoon; Saturday, November 2, morning, and Tuesday, November 5, afternoon. Communications should be addressed to William Owens, captain, Lee place, or to Henry A. Hillman, secretary, West Seventh street.

LONG RUN.

Occupants of Carriage Thrown Out in Glenside Park—Horse Captured on Park Avenue.

A horse belonging to Charles Daley, of Manning avenue, and driven by his sisters, the Misses Daley, ran away at 6 o'clock, last evening, as they were descending the steep hill at Glenside Park. The wagon, a light runabout, swerved at the foot of the hill and both the occupants were thrown out, but not injured.

The frightened animal ran through Scotch Plains to Fanwood, thence along South avenue to this city. It turned into Park avenue, still running furiously and with the remains of the vehicle dangling at its heels.

At the corner of Second street, it was captured by Roundsman Mattox and a young colored man. It was taken to Cole's livery where Mr. Daley found it later in the evening. Beyond a few slight cuts, the animal was uninjured and none the worse for its long run.

SEYMOUR MAY COME.

State Committee Will Try to Have Him Here at 5 o'Clock For an Informal Reception.

The Democratic State committee has promised to make an effort to have James M. Seymour, the gubernatorial candidate, in this city this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Should he come, Mayor Seymour will hold a reception at the Hotel Kensington from 5 until 7 o'clock, leaving at the latter hour to address a mass meeting at Elizabeth.

It is the intention of the Democrats of this city and the borough to hold a mass meeting in Washington Hall Friday evening, November 1, at which time it is hoped to have the gubernatorial nominee present. At any rate the candidates on the Union county ticket will attend and addresses will be made by campaign orators assigned by the State committee.

KICKING AT TAXES.

Seventy Appeared Before City Commissioners of Appeal Yesterday Afternoon.

Seventy tax payers, dissatisfied with the rating given their property by the local assessors, appeared before the commissioners of appeal at their sitting yesterday afternoon and asked for a reduction. Of this number many were for trifling amounts and the request was generally granted after it had been carefully considered.

Some were for large sums and these were referred to be looked at later when the claims can be examined and the property inspected. It was after 6 o'clock last evening before the last complaint was heard.

The members comprising the board are J. B. Coward, W. W. Coriell and A. H. Atterbury. The full board of assessors was also present.

LEGAL FIGHT OVER RIGHT TO HARVEST.

Verdict of No Cause for Action in Case of McGann Against Fuchman.

WAS TRIED AT SOMERVILLE.

SUIT WAS OVER A HAY CROP THE OWNERSHIP IN QUESTION.

Originally Tried Before Justice Smalley in North Plainfield—F. J. Blatz for McGann and S. S. Swackhamer for Fuchman.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 23.—After the jury in the case of William Anderson, of Bound Brook, indicted for criminal assault on his fifteen-year old daughter, had brought in a verdict of guilty yesterday, the case of Thomas McGann, of Plainfield, against Peter Fuchman, of Warren township, was taken up by Judge Schenck.

The suit was in tort to recover $200 as damages for taking hay that the plaintiff claimed he had purchased of Mary A. Lee, of Plainfield, on a farm of the latter's in Warren township. McGann claimed he had purchased all the hay on this farm and that the defendant had gone on there and gathered a large quantity without right or title.

Mr. Fuchman, the defendant, claimed he had a right to cut the hay because he was in possession of the premises and had paid for the use of the farm. He said he had paid for the hay that he cut, and harvested it himself. If Mr. McGann had bought all the hay on the property he had bought it after he himself had possession.

The trial caused a great deal of excitement and the old Court House was perfectly filled with interested spectators. Murphy & Blatz, of Plainfield, were counsel for McGann and Samuel S. Swackhamer, of the same city, appeared for Fuchman.

Over twenty witnesses were sworn and testified. Mr. Blatz made a plea of about a quarter hour's duration and Mr. Swackhamer took about half an hour for his discussion of the subject. He caused much laughter during his argument when he said the plaintiff had testified that he had paid $25 for all the hay on that farm—90 acres of hay-producing land, yielding about a ton per acre. "Why, gentlemen of the jury," he said, "the plaintiff according to that would be getting about $1,000 worth of hay for $25, and I advise you jurors to go into that business too if you would get rich quick. It beats any of these so-called get-rich schemes I ever heard of."

Judge Schenck had a hard task to keep the spectators quiet when Mr. Swackhamer sat down.

The jury, after a few moments' deliberation, decided "no cause for action." This throws the costs in both courts on the plaintiff, who gets nothing. The case was tried before by Justice Smalley, when McGann was given $20 damages. Fuchman appealed, with today's satisfactory result to him.

Lawyer Blatz says he will now sue the owner of the farm, as his client must have satisfaction for his damages.

SOMERVILLE WEDDING.

Miss Anna McClaren and Clarence Durvea Were Married There This Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 23.—At the home of Mrs. Hugh McClaren, 27 Davenport street, this afternoon at 5 o'clock, her daughter, Miss Anna H. and Clarence Duryea, of Bound Brook, were married by Rev. Dr. J. B. Bryan, assisted by Rev. Abram Duryea, of Cherry Hill, a cousin of the groom. The ceremony took place in the parlor, which was trimmed with cut flowers and palms.

The bridemaid was Miss Beesie Richards, of Jersey City, a cousin of the bride, and the best man was J. Amer Bowman, of Elizabeth. Miss McClaren's gown was of white silk organdie. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridemaid's gown was of white organdie trimmed with lace and she carried pink roses.

A collation was served after the ceremony and the couple left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. On returning they will reside in Somerville. There were a large number of guests present, including many from Plainfid.

WHO OWNS HORSE?

Question of Disputed Ownership Which Will Come Before Justice Moffett.

Justice Moffett will make an effort this afternoon to find which of two claimants owns a horse, valued respectively at $12 and $20, and whether or no Absalon Dunn is guilty of stealing the thoroughbred. The animal originally belonged to Mrs. Elizabeth Conway, of West Seventh street, but N. K. Barnes says he has a receipt for for $20 which he gave for it, while Miss Rose Murphy declares she can furnish proof that the equine was made her property for $12.

Dunn got into the controversy by taking the horse from the barn of James Bell, on Lee place, and placing it in another. Miss Murphy says she stabled the animal at Bell's, and as Dunn had no authority from her to take it, he is technically guilty of horse stealing. Instead of adopting western methods in dealing with such an offense, she chose the more civilized way of bringing him before the justice, who attempted to straighten out the tangle at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

PLAINFIELD BRIDES IN THREE NUPTIAL EVENTS.

One Church Wedding While Others Were Charming Events at the Home.

WERE LARGELY ATTENDED.

AUTUMNAL FOLIAGE AND FLOWERS USED IN THE DECORATIONS.

Miss Mabel Bonnell Wedded to M. S. Crane—Miss Margaret Harold Joined in Wedlock to Clifford Braider—The Almer-Zuber Nuptial.

Among the events of yesterday to be chronicled were three weddings that took place here. In each instance a Plainfield young woman figured as the bride. With one exception the grooms are from out of town.

The nuptials of Miss Mabel Bonnell, of East Fifth street, and Marcus Spencer Crane, of Caldwell, N. J., was an afternoon affair which took place at the bride's home. The marriage of Miss Margaret Harold, of Plainfield avenue, and Clifford Arthur Braider, of Manning avenue, was solemnized at the bride's home in the evening. The only church wedding was that of Miss Margaret Almer, of Greenbrook road, to Emil Zuber, of Elizabeth. It was performed in the German Reformed church.

HAROLD-BRAIDER.

A quiet, but charming home wedding of the autumnal season took place last evening at the home of Miss Ella Serrell, 122 Plainfield avenue, when her cousin, Miss Margaret Walker Harold, was united in marriage to Clifford Arthur Braider, of 39 Manning avenue. There were fifty guests present from New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Easton, Pa., Blue Point, L. I., and Plainfield, to witness the happy event, which was pleasing in every detail, yet void of any pretension.

The home was tastefully decorated in simple manner. In the hallway and parlor there was a pleasing effect through the use of clematis and honeysuckle, the vines encircling the room and covering the stairway. In the library, where the ceremony was performed, there was an attractive arrangement of palms, white chrysanthemums, ferns and cosmos, which completely filled a bow window. It was in this window that the bridal party stood while the words, making the bride and groom one, were spoken.

The bridal couple were unattended by bridemaids or best man, but two nieces of the bride, the Misses Martha and Elizabeth Harold, of Philadelphia, waited on her, and they took a pretty part in the ceremony by making an aisle of white satin ribbon through which the couple walked to the place of marriage. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Dr. Buchanan, pastor of the Baptist church at Pemberton, N. J. It was Dr. Buchanan who married the parents of the groom many years ago, and it was the wish of the couple that he should officiate last evening.

Miss Lottie Conger, of North Plainfield, presided at the piano, and as she played the Bridal March from Lohengrin, the bridal couple entered the library. The bride wore a handsome gown of castor color cloth, trimmed with white lace, blue and black silk. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The nieces attending were each gowned in white and carried flowers.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Braider were the recipients of congratulations and good wishes from all present. Supper was then served and during the early part of the evening the couple left the city to enjoy a honeymoon trip. When they return they will go to housekeeping in the Jackson building, 112 Madison avenue, where a suite of rooms all furnished await their occupancy. A great many gifts of value and use were received by the couple as evidence of the high esteem in which they are held.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Braider are active church workers at the First Baptist church and the East Third Street chapel. At the latter place Mr. Braider is assistant superintendent of the Sunday-school. He is also organist at the First Presbyterian church. He is engaged in business with the National Enameling and Stamping Company, at 78 Beekman street, New York. Mrs. Braider has been a resident of this city for a number of years, and both she and her husband are popular in a

COLORED REPUBLICANS MET.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED FOR THE COLORED LEAGUE.

Rev. J. W Mitchell Declared That The Republican Party Was The Only One For The Colored Voter.

The Southern League, of this city, held a largely attended meeting at its rooms on East Front street, last evening. James Connett presided, and the first business done was to confirm the report of the committee on nomination. The officers chosen include: President, James Connett; vice president, Arthur Venable; secretary, Charles C. Irby; assistant secretary, Samuel Field; speaker, Rev. J. W. Mitchell.

An address was made by Rev. Mr. Mitchell. During the course of his remarks the speaker declared the home of the colored people is within the fold of the Republican party. "All that we have and all that we are is due to the Republicans," he declared. "All that we hope to receive must come from them. The Democratic party never stood for equal rights in race or creed. It has not intellectually kept pace with the age, hence its narrow mindness"

Speeches were also made by the newly elected officers of the organization. 'Unity of Effort and Loyalty to Principle" will be the topic which Rev. Mr. Mitchell will discuss at the next meeting of the club, which will be held next Wednesday evening.

NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED.

False Rumor That Linden Bridgeman of The City High School is Dying as Result of Football.

A unfounded report has gained circulation to the effect that Linden Bridgeman, of the Plainfield High School, is dying from the effects of a injury received in the recent football game between his team and that of the Leal School.

The fact is that Mr. Bridgeman did receive a slight cut on the head, and is confined to his home, but the story that his injury is serious is utterly false. A telegraphic dispatch of the untrue story may be found on another page.

To Wed at Bethany, Conn.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Ralph S. Tolles, son of Councilman and Mrs. R. I. Tolles, of Westervelt avenue, to Miss Daisy E. Woodward, of Bethany, Conn. The wedding will be celebrated at Christ church, Bethany, November 5. Mr. Tolles has been a resident of Trenton for some time past.

An Unfounded Rumor.

A persistent rumor, which spread about the streets today, declared that another fatality had occurred on the tracks of the New Jersey Central early this morning at Liberty street. It was said a well known West End man was the victim Inquiry revealed the fact that the rumor was untrue.

For the benefit of those who could not go, the Woman's Exchange has arranged to have the Pan-American and the famous Midway brought to the Casino this afternoon and evening from 4 until 10 o'clock The great show and the barkers in unique costume will vie with one another in telling the wonders of their various booths

CANDIDATES WHO HEAD THE STATE TICKETS.

Something About The Gubernatorial Choice of Two Great Parties.

CAMPAIGN IS CLEAN ONE.

BOTH MEN ARE ABOVE REPROACH AND THERE IS NO MUD SLINGING.

Republicans Are Confident of Carrying The State While Democrats Expect to Win—Active Campaign Work in Progress.

Never in recent years has so active a canvas been conducted by rival candidates for the governorship. Both parties have adopted the plan of bringing the nominees in contact with the voters. In each instance, the State committee has mapped out a tour of the counties and it is being followed to the letter.

Both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Seymour are visiting the principal towns in the State in an effort to convince the voters that he is entitled to their sufferage. Neither is known as a fluent talker, but they seem to be able to make a good impression by their short talks wherever they go. When the day of election rolls around, they will have visited every county of the twenty-one in the State.

The campaign arguments are based on the administration of State affairs The Republican party announces that it stands upon the record made since it has been in control of the State, and it claims that the State was never more prosperous or cleaner governed. The Democrats, on the other hand, declare that the administration of the Republicans has been carried out on an extravagant scale and that desired political ends have shaped the policies of the dominant party.

The nominees themselves are both upright and able men, fully capable of discharging the duties which would devolve upon them in the gubernatorial office. They are both residents of Newark, Essex county, and both are manufacturers by occupation. There appears to be no stain on the character of either Mr. Murphy or Mr. Seymour. They are honest, hard working business men and their positions in the world are solely due to their own efforts. A pleasant feature of the campaign is that thus far at least it has been singularly free from what is termed "mud slinging." The campaign has been aggressive, but at the same time personalities have not marred the addresses made by the stump orators.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties seem to be very fortunate in having able and eloquent men to present the issues to the voters, and they are flying about the State, heither and thither, endeavoring to influence the people. The Republican State committee believes that this State can be counted upon as one belonging to the Republican party, and from all appearances there does not seem to be much fear on their part of losing control of State affairs.

They believe that the Republican tidal wave which set in a few years ago has landed them as the dominant party for some time to come. The Democrats declare that the State is really Democratic and that all that is needed to bring it back from the Republicans is a good hard and aggressive campaign. They count upon large majorities in the counties which have stayed in the Democratic column and hope to win back some counties that they have lost in the last few years.

Franklin Murphy, the gubernatorial candidate of the Republican party, is the president of the Murphy Varnish Company, of Newark, where he resides. He was born January 3, 1846, in Jersey City, and spent the first ten years of his life there. When but sixteen years of age he enlisted in a volunteer regiment and served through the Rebellion.

Mr. Murphy was elected a member of the Newark Common Council in 1883, and while still an alderman three years later was elected a member of the Assembly. He was for six years a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Reform School for Boys, and last year, upon the appointment of the late President, served as United States Commissioner to the Paris Exposition.

In 1892 Mr. Murphy was elected chairman of the Republican State committee and has conducted the campaigns of John Kean, John W. Griggs and Foster M. Voorhees, and he is now managing his own campaign. He was a delegate to the Republican National convention, at St. Louis, in 1896, and again at Philadelphia, in Local Republicans Will Have Their Big Rally Here October 31—The Probable Speakers.

Franklin Murphy, the candidate for governor, will be present, dividing his time between this city and Elizabeth. The candidates for Assembly will also be present and have something to say. It is almost an assured fact that Former Governor John L. Griggs will be at the meeting and speak. He is no stranger in Plainfield, and those who have heard him on former occasions will no doubt be anxious to hear him again. He is an eloquent speaker.

Mr. Murphy is also an impressive speaker and he will no doubt have something to say of interest to all. Of the candidates for Assembly, Wm. Newcorn is an excellent talker, and what he will have to say will undoubtedly be interesting. There will be good music at the meeting and many other features that tend to attract voters.

SEYMOUR AT ELIZABETH.

PAID A VISIT TO UNION COUNTY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Made a Tour on Special Trolley Cars But Didn't Come to Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 24.—Mayor James M. Seymour, the Democratic candidate for governor, continued his campaign in Union county, yesterday. It was his intention to confine his efforts to an address at Elizabeth last evening, but his advisers ruled otherwise.

Yesterday morning, while the candidate was on his way home to Newark from Cumberland county, he was stopped at Rahway, where a contingent and a brass band met him, saluting him with "Hail to the Chief." This brought forth a speech from the candidate. From 11 to 12 o'clock a reception was held at Rahway, after which the party proceeded to this city, where a crowd was in waiting to receive it.

Upon the arrival of the party special trolley cars were secured and a tour of the county was made. The cars, three in number, were decorated with pictures of Seymour and flags. They were all filled with county enthusiasts, who cheered all along the route. At Cranford, Roselle, Westfield and Garwood stops were made and at each place the party was greeted with crowds who gave the candidate a cordial reception.

During the afternoon the party returned to Elizabethport where it assembled at the gates of the Singer Sewing Machine Works, where five thousand men greeted Mayor Seymour and gave him round after round of cheers. After this meeting the party went to the rooms of the Young Men's T. A. B. Society in Elizabethport and another reception was held. Then the party went to the Berkley Hotel at Elizabeth.

After dinner a mass meeting was held in Jacobs' Opera House. It is estimated that fully 2,000 people were present. Benjamin H Campbell, of the State Board of Education, presided.

Mayor Seymour made an address in which he discussed the labor question and told of his position in relation to it. He said that he was not opposed to corporations when properly restricted. After this meeting Mr. Seymour returned to Newark, where he was the guest of the Joel Parker Association, which was celebrating with a dinner, attended by three hundred Essex Democrats, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the foundation of the organization.

'TWAS COSTLY WARNING FOR SELLING OLEO.

Thos. B. Mitchell, of Madison, Fined $137 for Selling Oleomargarine Not Labeled.

ONLY ONE CASE PRESSED.

AS IT WAS FIRST OFFENCE THE OTHER ONES WERE QUASHED.

Justice Moffett Made Charge at Request of Attorney for Oleo Company, While Prosecution Agreed to It—No Trial Was Held.

After a brief summing up on the part of counsel for the prosecution and defense, Justice Moffett concurred with the request of both lawyers this morning and fined Thos. B. Mitchell, of Madison, $137 for selling oleomargarine without the label demanded by law. The matter was taken in hand by the manufacturers of the oleomargarine and it is they who will pay the amount, as is their custom in such cases.

Mitchell was originally charged with four offences, one on September 18, when he sold a pound of the oleo to Mrs. Anna Hansen, of La Grande avenue, and three on October 20 when a second pound was sold to the same woman and one each to Health Inspector Addis and State Deputy S. S. Vandruff. The two Hansen complaints were merged into one and those of Addis and Vandruff were prepared likewise, but each charge was made distinct. In accordance with the law this would entail a fine of $160 for each offense or $400 in all.

In addressing the court, William H. Speer, Jr., of Jersey City, counsel for the oleo company, stated that the object of the State in providing a heavy penalty for the sale of the oleo unlabelled was to deter the seller from committing a second offense and to warn others who might be inclined to do so. As all the charges had been made against Mitchell, he argued, at the same time and he had had no previous warning, he thought it was only just that the court should quash both the Hansen charges and make those of Addis and Vandruff a single case.

In that event the fine would be $100, plus the cost of prosecuting, which amounted to $37. This, Mr. Speer said, would be a sufficient warning, as in addition the defendent had been detained by the police for twenty-four hours, which, in itself, is heavy punishment for one who never before underwent the experience.

Former Judge William A. Coddington, for the prosecution, followed Mr. Speer and said that after a conference with the parties concerned, he had agreed with the opposing counsel and thought the $137 fine would be sufficient in upholding the law. Justice Moffett accepted the plea and imposed the amount. There were a number of witnesses in court but none of them were examined.

WON FRESH LAURELS.

James E. Martine Made Brilliant Speech at Democratic Banquet at Newark.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Oct. 24.—James E. Martine, the silver tongued "Farmer Orator" of Plainfield, made a brilliant speech at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Joel Parker Association, in this city last evening. Gathered about the banqueting table were all the leading Democrats of New Jersey, including the gubernatorial candidate.

Mr. Martine's subject was "Our Country; Its Prosperity Dependeth Upon Jeffersonian Principles of Government." He was frequently interrupted by cheers, and at the conclusion of his address he received a prolonged ovation.

Among the other speakers were State Chairman W. B. Gourley, Col. E. L. Price, Mayor James M Seymour and Hons. W. C Heppenheimer, B. M. Harvey and Eckard P. Budd.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"Arizona," Augustus Thomas' best play has entered upon the ninth week of its remarkable run at the Academy of Music with prosperity still the keynote of its daily story. No attraction which has ever been exploited upon the great stage of Mr. Gilmore's capacious theatre has equaled "Arizona" in point of success. The Academy is twice as big as any other New York playhouse, excepting the Metropolitan Opera House, and an audience that would fill an ordinary theatre would be lost in its big auditorium. "Arizona" audiences, however, continue to require the utmost capacity of the Academy at nearly every performance. The spectacular effect introduced with the forty mounted cavalrymen and the crowds of cowboys and vaqueros appeal strenuously to the fancy of the downtown theatregoers who make of Lieut. Denton twice the hero that Mr. Thomas originally made him, and who damn the villainous Captain Hodgman nightly with earnest fervor. "Arizona" continues at the Academy for three more weeks.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

Hillier & Company Has Inaugurated an Active Campaign in Plainfield.

Along the line of making improvements in their Plainfield service, Hillier & Company, the well-known launderers, dyers and cleaners, of West Front street, have added to their equipment in this city one of the handsomest wagons that has been seen on the city streets.

As announced in a recent issue of The Press, this firm has sent to Plainfield to take charge of its laundry department, W. A. Vilas, who has been connected with it in the capacity of manager of laundry routes for ten years.

Although well-known to Plainfield people, it may be interesting to state that this firm is one of the oldest firms doing dyeing and cleaning in the country.

Originally established in the early forties by Thomas Hillier, father of the present head of the firm, it has been carried on through three generations. Some eight years ago the laundry department was added to the business, when today its plant is one of the best equipped in the State.

When the back begins to ache
Don't wait 'till backache becomes chronic,
'Till serious kidney troubles develop.
Profit by a Plainfield citizen's experience.

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson avenue, says: "I had backache and a sort of dull pain across my loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and tried to rise I had a sharp pain in my kidneys. Walking any distance or standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be constantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

READY FOR BUSINESS.

Secretary Root Returns — War Department Rushed With Work.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Secretary Root has resumed his official duties at the war department after an absence of several weeks.

His office in the war department was thronged with visitors throughout the day. The secretary was in exceedingly good health and spirits and, judging from appearances, is prepared to meet the heavy responsibilities devolving upon him.

There is an enormous amount of work awaiting Secretary Root's immediate consideration. This includes several important questions in connection with the military situation in the Philippines, the withdrawal of troops from Cuba and the establishment of the Cuban republic, the establishment of the proposed war college, the establishment of permanent camp grounds for the instruction of troops of the regular army and national guard and the preparation of his annual report to congress. One of the questions requiring his earliest attention relates to the army in the Philippines.

By the expiration of enlistments within the next few months the army in the Philippines will be reduced by about 10,000 men. The officials of the war department are making preparations to meet this difficulty by the transfer of troops from the United States. Final action in that regard awaits only the approval of the secretary of war. Troops and transports are ready to start for the Philippines as soon as he gives the word.

A Settlement Seems Impossible.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 24.—The board of trade committee appointed to effect, if possible, a settlement of the street car strike report that after lengthy interviews with the company officials and the strikers the committee is convinced that they are at this time irreconcilable. The men demanded that they be taken back in a body under a contract for a flat rate of 20 cents an hour. The company officials declared the company has contracts with the men it has brought here to take the strikers' places and, even though disposed to grant the strikers' demands, could not do so on that account. The officials added that they would not grant the demands if they could. Another serious outbreak occurred this afternoon on the south side.

Havana Paving and Sewering Bids.

HAVANA, Oct. 24.—Bids for the Havana sewering and paving contract have been opened. They were as follows: The Pan-American Construction company, represented by Michael J. Dady and C. A. Palma, $11,485,896.06; the McArthur company of New Jersey, $11,480,964.41; the Havana Construction company, represented by John D. McClennan, $11,214,506.46; S. P. McGivney and R. T. Rockeby of Jersey City, N. J., $10,393,015.99. The municipal council has taken the bids under consideration. As yet no provision has been made to pay for sewer construction, and it is doubtful whether the contract will be awarded.

Cherokee Indians Begin Suit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The Cherokee Indian Nation, through its principal chief, Thomas M. Buffington, and treasurer, J. M. La Hay, also J. R. McIntosh and Henry C. Meigs, Cherokee citizens, all claiming to represent 35,000 Cherokee Indians, has instituted equity proceedings against Secretary Hitchcock and other officials to enjoin them from granting leases of Cherokee lands for mining purposes. The court issued a rule against Secretary Hitchcock to show cause by Oct. 31 why the injunction should not be granted.

Miners' Strike Nipped In the Bud.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—"It has transpired," says a special dispatch from Paris, "that the French government warned each member of the miners' committee, which adjourned Tuesday at St. Etienne without making public the result of its deliberations, that in ordering a strike under present conditions he would render himself liable to a sentence of death for inciting to civil war and that the government would prosecute if necessary. This action, it is believed, caused the committee to temporize."

World's Pacing Record Broken.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Another world's record (made in a race) was broken at Billing's park, when Audubon Boy paced half a mile in 1:00¼. This was accomplished in the first race, a 2:20 class pacing event, under what is known as the "Memphis plan."

SCHLEY TO BE CALLED

The Admiral May Go on the Stand Today.

END OF THE TRIAL DRAWS NEAR.

Eight Witnesses For the Defense Examined Yesterday — Boatswain Hill Praises His Commander and Is Applauded.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Admiral Schley is expected to take the witness stand in the naval court of inquiry which is investigating his conduct in the Spanish war some time during today. This announcement is justified by the progress made in the examination of witnesses called to testify in the admiral's behalf. Eight witnesses were heard yesterday, and there are only three more names on the list preceding the name of the admiral himself. Of these three only Captain Clark of the Oregon is expected to testify at any length. The admiral will be the last of the witnesses to be heard in support of his side of the controversy. It is now considered probable that he will be on the stand for two or three days.

It is not yet possible to say whether any witnesses will be called in rebuttal by the court, but it seems probable that a few persons may be summoned for this purpose. The testimony yesterday led Judge Advocate Lemly and Mr. Hanna to decide upon the calling of at least one rebutting witness, if he can be found. This is Mr. Sylvester Scovel, whose testimony is desired in connection with the incident of the meeting of the press boat Somers M. Smith by the scoutboat St. Paul while the latter was off Santiago in May, 1898. The first of yesterday's new witnesses, Mr. James Hare, photographer on the press boat, stated that Captain Sigsbee of the St. Paul had told the correspondents aboard the Smith on May 26 or 27 that Cervera's fleet was not inside the harbor at Santiago. Mr. Scovel was among the correspondents on the Smith, and if he can be found he will be asked to come to Washington and give his testimony on this incident. It is also probable that an effort will be made to rebut other portions of the testimony given in Admiral Schley's behalf, including Lieutenant Sears' denial of a conversation concerning Admiral Schley which the lieutenant is alleged to have taken part in on board the Massachusetts on May 31.

Other witnesses in addition to Mr. Hare who testified were Chief Boatswain William L. Hill, Gunner F. T. Applegate and Major Paul St. C. Murphy of the marines, all of whom were aboard the Brooklyn during the Cuban campaign; Lieutenant Commander Harlow, who, as executive officer of the Vixen, made notes of the battle of July 3, and three officers of the Oregon, Lieutenant A. A. Ackerman, Lieutenant E. W. Eberle and Lieutenant R. C. Johnstone.

While Boatswain Hill was giving his testimony, which was very complimentary to Admiral Schley, there were two outbursts of applause. These were promptly suppressed by Admiral Dewey.

American Competition Serious.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Daily Mail today publishes an interview with Charles Bletterman Elliott, general manager of the Cape government railways, on the result of his recent visit to the United States. "American industrial competition is serious," says Mr. Elliott, "as it has only just begun. Splendid new machinery and new methods are everywhere in preparation, and work will be undertaken on such a scale as to make successful competition difficult. My strong advice to the heads of British firms is to visit the United States and see for themselves. What greatly surprised me was the extent of the use of automatic machinery, nothing like which is to be seen in England."

John Redmond's Movements.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 24.—Mr. Redmond and the members of his party were met on their arrival at the railway station here by various local bodies and were then escorted to the town hall by 3,000 people, with torches. Replying to a number of addresses, Mr. Redmond implored the people to "join our national organization and continue agitation during the winter on such aggressive lines as will compel the British government to grant remedial measures."

Pike Statue Unveiled.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The heroic bronze statue of General Albert Pike, for many years the grand commander of the Ancient and Accepted Order of Scottish Rite Masons for the southern jurisdiction, was unveiled yesterday. General Pike died in 1891. The statue stands at the corner of Third and D streets northwest. The exercises were conducted by the grand lodge of the District, with Grand Master Harry Standiford in charge.

Death on a Race Track.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A chapter of accidents marred the racing at Morris Park yesterday. Alexander Olsen, one of the jockeys, received injuries which resulted in his death a few hours later, two horses were killed outright, another was so badly hurt it had to be shot, and three other jockeys had narrow escapes.

ROOSEVELT HONORED

Yale Confers Degree of LL. D. Upon the President.

THREESCORE ON HONORARY LIST.

Final Official Function of the Bicentenary Celebration — A Reception at Which Handshaking Custom Was Dispensed With.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 24.—The celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Yale college culminated yesterday in "commemoration exercises" held in the Hyperion theater. The officers of the university, together with the bicentennial guests, including President Roosevelt, who arrived in New Haven this morning from Farmington, walked in procession from the Phelps gateway of the campus to the theater. The most notable feature of the exercises was the conferring by the university of honorary degrees upon threescore distinguished men, including several who rank among the foremost of American writers, presidents of many American colleges, men high in the national government, church dignitaries and the president of the United States.

In most of the cases the degree conferred was that of doctor of laws. The degree of doctor of literature was conferred upon several well known writers.

President Roosevelt did not attend the early afternoon exercises of the celebration. After the ceremonies of conferring the degrees were completed he was driven to the home of W. W. Farnam, on Prospect hill. The crowds almost blocked the streets as the party with its escort passed, and many hundreds swarmed along after the carriage and obtained the coveted glimpse and bow of the president.

The Farnam residence is located on a broad rise of ground, and high hedges and fences surround the estate. Policemen and detectives stood guard at the gates and about the house, and none of the curious was admitted.

The final official function of the Yale bicentennial began at 5 o'clock in the evening. The affair was scheduled as a farewell reception by President and Mrs. Hadley, but the presence of the president of the United States, who assisted President and Mrs. Hadley in receiving, lent a far greater impressiveness to the occasion. Although there was no public announcement that President Roosevelt would be present, a rumor of his coming had spread among the crowd, and a big squad of policemen had some difficulty in restraining them at the entrance.

The reception was held in the great dining hall or commons owned by the university corporation. The building is one of the new bicentennial structures, and the magnificent hall was as grand a place as could be imagined for such an affair.

President Roosevelt and Dr. and Mrs. Hadley stood upon a small raised platform midway to one side of the hall. Commander and Mrs. Cowles, the president's sister, and Private Secretary Cortelyou stood to the rear of the receiving party. Close at hand were secret service officers, ushers and policemen and those in charge of the ceremonies. The purpose was to admit only those wearing badges. Those alone numbered several thousand, and a great number of the general uninvited public had managed to gain entrance.

Particularly noticeable was the extree caution not only of the body officers, but of those having the affair in charge for the adequate protection of the president.

The most unique and original feature of the reception was the fact that there was absolutely no handshaking. The suggestion to eliminate this old time custom originated with President and Mrs. Hadley and was readily adopted by the president after consultation with Secretary Cortelyou. Secretary Cortelyou was asked whether this decision was reached because of the tragedy at Buffalo. He replied that it had not been considered in that light and need not be necessarily taken as a precedent for the future. The nonhandshaking programme, however, seemed to work to the satisfaction of all concerned, and this, together with the admirable arrangements, expedited the proceedings.

Light refreshments were served at the side hall opposite the official party.

It is estimated that 5,000 persons attended the reception. At its conclusion the president returned to the Farnam residence, where dinner was served at 7:30.

The guests were the following: President Theodore Roosevelt, President Arthur Twining Hadley of Yale, Secretary of State John Hay, Joseph H. Choate, embassador to England; Andrew D. White of Cornell university; Archbishop John Ireland; Bishop Knut Hening Geselleus von Scheele of Sweden, President Charles William Eliot of Harvard, President Daniel C. Gilman of Johns Hopkins, Seth Low, President Francis L. Patton of Princeton, President Cyrus Northrup of the University of Minnesota, Associate Justice David J. Brewer, United States supreme court; Professor Fedor Fedorovic Martens of St. Petersburg, Charles Francis Adams, president of the American Historical society; Whitelaw Reid, Edmund Clarence Stedman, Henry L. Higginson of Boston, Dr. William Henry Welch of Johns Hopkins, Thomas Thacher of New York, Judge W. H. Townsend of New Haven, C. B. Alexander of Princeton, Commander W. S. Cowles, U. S. N.; George B. Cortelyou, Dr. P. M. Rixey and H. W. Farnum of New Haven.

Following the banquet a final reception, beginning at about 9 o'clock, was given at the Farnam residence to a limited number of invited guests.

At 11 o'clock the president re-entered his carriage and, again escorted by the mounted police, was driven to the station. The president's car was attached to the night Federal express through train for Washington.

PACKING PLANT BURNED.

Fire at Hammond, Ind., Causes Loss of $400,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Fire attacked the packing houses of the G. H. Hammond company at Hammond, Ind., last night and within an hour gained such headway that the destruction of the plant was feared. The Hammond fire department and the private fire fighting company of the packing company were unable to cope with the flames, and an emergency call was sent to Chicago and South Chicago.

Four engines from the Chicago department were loaded upon a special train on the Fort Wayne road and hurried over cleared tracks to the burning district. Aid was also sent from South Chicago.

The fire began at the south end of the plant in an old frame house used as the beef killing department. In an hour the car shops, oiling rooms, beef killing department and blacksmith shops were destroyed. It then seemed that the fire had burned itself out, but in a few minutes the four story brick building containing the cooling rooms, one of the company's largest buildings of the plant, was burning.

The loss is estimated at $400,000.

The packing company's plant covers fifteen acres. Eighteen hundred men are employed in the cooling department. The company has branches in South Omaha, Neb.; St. Joseph, Mo., and Kansas City, Mo.

The Erin Starts For Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin, commanded by Captain William Mathews and in charge of Pilot Conley, left her anchorage off West Twenty-sixth street yesterday bound for Southampton, England, to await orders of her owner. The only passengers were Dr. F. Reid Mackay and Captain James C. Summers. All the way down the North river and the lower bay the yacht was saluted by steamers of all classes, the Erin responding with her steamer siren. "It was a most pleasant farewell greeting," said Captain Mathews, "and the warmest we ever got."

Will Probated After Eighteen Years.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—After eighteen years the will of the late Peter Harvey, friend of Daniel Webster, has been filed here. Executors of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Harvey, his widow, found the document among her papers. By this will, which is dated June 30, 1873, the Massachusetts Historical society was to receive the Washington medals, two gold snuffboxes and the gold chain which belonged to Daniel Webster and also Mr. Harvey's manuscripts in Mr. Webster's handwriting, such as the notes of the Hayne speech and the eulogy on Adams and Jefferson.

A deputation from 600 unemployed persons has visited the burgomaster of Dantzig to urge him to begin municipal work for the relief of the unemployed. The Hamburg metal workers have petitioned the senate of Hamburg to provide employment through relief works.

WU TOO POPULAR.

Rumor From Peking That Chinese Minister Is to Be Recalled.

PEKING, Oct. 24.—There is strong opposition among conservative Chinese officials to Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister at Washington, retaining a foreign mission. Those who take this view consider that his popularity abroad is a proof that he is not sufficiently loyal to the interests of China.

It is probable that he will be recalled and given a position on the new board of foreign affairs, where his linguistic and legal attainments may be utilized under the eye of the government.

Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching continue to deal jointly with the questions currently submitted by the ministers of the powers. They still sign themselves as plenipotentiaries, although it was supposed by the foreign envoys that their duties in that capacity ended with the delivery of the indemnity bond.

They are holding the ministers of the powers to a more strict enforcement of the treaty stipulations requiring foreigners to give notice of an intention to go into the interior in order to afford opportunity for making protective arrangements. This stipulation had been largely ignored of late years, and its revival and vigorous enforcement would chiefly hamper the missionaries.

No Word From Miss Stone.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.—Cold rains are falling in the district where the brigands who abducted Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, are concealed, and a prolonged stay in the mountains is believed to be almost impossible, even for the brigands. Hence it is considered likely that they will hasten to release the captive as soon as they can secure the ransom and then disperse to their homes. No word has come from the missionaries, though W. W. Peet, treasurer of the mission here, to whom they would communicate, is still most hopeful. Mr. Peet is not expecting news until he is asked to forward the gold, which it is estimated will weigh between 300 and 400 pounds.

A Battle In Colombia.

COLON, Colombia, Oct. 24.—The Colombian government formally announces that General Pompilio Gutierres defeated on Oct. 5 near Ambalema, on the Magdalena river, west of Bogota, insurgent forces from the department of Tolima and Condinamarca, united under General Marin and General Duran, after a desperate engagement lasting three hours. According to the official announcement, the insurgents retreated after losing 100 killed, among whom was General Vicente Lombana, and several captured, together with a large supply of ammunition. The government loss exceeded fifty.

Dr. Burroughs Dead.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 24.—Dr. George Stockton Burroughs, professor of Old Testament literature in Oberlin college and from 1892 to 1899 president of Wabash college, is dead at Clifton Springs, N. Y. The funeral will take place today at Fairfield, Conn. Some time ago Dr. Burroughs fell and broke one of his arms. Shortly after recovering from this mishap his other arm was broken by a porter who was endeavoring to assist him on a train. A cancerous affection of the bone followed and for some time before his death caused him intense suffering.

A Hardware Combine.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—A plan to combine the hardware interests of the country is on foot. Minneapolis firms have been approached for the purpose of getting them into the organization. The scheme originated with a jobber in Pittsburg, assisted principally by Boston men who claim to have interested some of the largest hardware wholesalers as well as backers of financial standing. The plan is to organize a company with $100,000,000 capital, having headquarters in New York. It is understood that the proposed combine plan met little encouragement here.

Fatal Holdup In Sardinia.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—"Seven brigands held up a diligence that was proceeding to Sassari, in Sardinia, with a registered mail bag," says a dispatch from Rome to The Daily Express. "Shots were exchanged, and two carbineers who were escorting the diligence were wounded, while a lady passenger was killed. The robbers looted the diligence, but in the scuffle the postal clerk escaped with the registered letters."

Train Robbers Killed Three.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—An armed band boarded a train near Batoum, according to a dispatch from Odessa to The Daily Express, murdered three officials and looted the passengers of valuables.

A PLUCKY DEFENDER

Southern Pacific Express Messenger Repels Night Attack.

CAR SHATTERED BY DYNAMITE.

The Engineer, at Revolver's Point, Forced to Stop the Train and Enter the Express Car—Robbers Finally Give Up.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 24.—The Southern Pacific train which was held up near Eugene arrived here last night. The express car is badly shattered, but it was brought in with the train.

"The first indication I had of anything wrong," said C. F. Charles, the express messenger, "was when the train began to slow up near Walkers Station. It was 2:45 o'clock, as near as I remember. Shortly after that the train came to a standstill, and I was ordered to open the door. I refused to move. 'Open up this car or we will blow you to h—ll!' commanded one of the robbers. I made no response and was given a salute with dynamite.

"The first charge blew open one of the doors and knocked me down. My overalls were blown into shreds and my legs scratched somewhat, but otherwise I was unhurt. Further commands to open up and threats followed, but without avail. I made no reply, knowing that the object of the robbers was to locate me in the car and then try to put me out of the way either by dynamite or bullets. I changed my station to the other end of the car. A second shot blew open the door at the other end of the car.

"The third shot failed to go off, as I had removed my shoes and quietly walked over to the dynamite and detached the fuse. Two more shots exploded, each of them blowing a hole in the floor of the car. All told, four shots went off in the car, two failed to explode and one I prevented from exploding by removing the fuse.

"All efforts to compel me to open up or leave the car failing, the engineer was sent in through the opening blown into the side. I ordered him to get out and fired a shot over his head with my shotgun. The entire ceremony lasted about forty minutes. The engineer retired after I fired the shot and ordered him to leave, and I was not molested further."

Engineer Burt Lucas said:

"I first heard the command given to the fireman to throw up his hands, and as he did not at first comply I urged him to give in, at the same time throwing up my own hands as I saw the weapon in the hands of the robber leveled at me. I was commanded to turn the engine loose and not stop until I was give the command. We ran out some distance from Walker, when I was directed to slow up, and the fireman was ordered to leave the engine. We then proceeded farther.

"At the next command to stop I was compelled to uncouple the engine, run it up the track and then return with the robber to the detached train. The robber wore a long mask that completely covered his face and extended well down to his chest. He wore a sort of white apron, in the pockets of which he carried sticks of dynamite. A Winchester rifle was strapped over his back, while in each hand he carried a big revolver. These revolvers were strapped to his wrists.

"The robber gave me a cigar, commanded me to light it and keep on puffing, as he desired to use it in touching off the dynamite.

"Upon reaching the express car the robber commanded the messenger to open up. No response came to his demand. I was then compelled to shoot off the dynamite, and as this had no effect upon the express messenger the robber forced me to crawl into the car through one of the holes blown in the door. As I did so I shouted to the express messenger not to shoot. I was directed by the express messenger to get out. A shot accompanied the command. I did as directed and then told the robber there was no use to try further, as the express messenger was heavily armed and well able to resist a forcible entry of his car. At the same time I called his attention to the fact that a freight train was soon due and that he had better get through.

"I was then taken back to the engine and commanded to take him to a point about a mile from Eugene. He made me stop as soon as the lights of the city could be seen, and he jumped off and disappeared in the direction of the river."

Declares the War a Nuisance.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Winston Churchill, M. P., in the course of a speech at Leicester last night, which is much commented upon today, declared that the war in South Africa had become "an unmitigated nuisance." "The danger is greater today than it was two years ago," Mr. Churchill declared, "and the means of meeting the strain are being seriously reduced." He urged the government to "relieve Lord Kitchener of the heavy detailed work and prepare for a new campaign with a refreshed army and a definite plan."

Football Player Dying.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Linden Bridgeman, major of the Plainfield (N. J.) High school cadets, is believed to be dying as a result of injuries received in a football game, when a player wearing heavy soled shoes stepped on his head as Bridgeman lay prostrated on the field.

Let the Flag Wave.

The city of Plainfield owns a flagstaff and a fine one too. It also possesses a flag. During the thirty days which followed the death of President McKinley, the flag hung regularly at half-staff. Otherwise, however, it is comparatively seldom that staff and flag renew acquaintances. Such a state of affairs should not exist. The flag ought to float aloft every day unless an unusually high wind or bad storm should make it advisable to keep it down for the day.

It was not long ago that there was a dreadful howl went up from the city to the effect that there was no flag pole on which the National flag might fly daily. The pole was purchased and a flag donated by a public-spirited citizen. The pole was put there to be used so why not use it. Let the Stars and Stripes wave there from sunrise to sunset, summer and winter.

If it is only a question of a suitable flag, The Daily Press will gladly open its columns to receive subscriptions for one. Surely there will be no difficulty in getting a proper banner. If it is not because a flag is lacking, why is it that the flag does not take its place daily?

The Common Council not long ago passed a resolution to the effect that the flag be placed in position on the pole every day. Was that resolution ever repealed? It is not a very big matter, but the absence of the flag does not impress visitors very favorably. Then, too, what was the pole ever placed there for if not to be utilized. Let the Councilmen act in the matter and see that the Stars and Stripes wave over the city every day in the year.

The disagreement in the Second ward delegation at the Republican city convention Monday evening was not really over the men in question for the Councilmanic nomination. It was simply a question of who was going to name the successful man. Under other circumstances either candidate would have been perfectly satisfactory. Unless the harmony bacilli is spread through the Second ward with much care the result of this factional fight may be evident at the polls.

Charles Sulzer is one of the youngest candidates that the voters of Union county have had before them for some time. His friends declare, however, that he possesses remarkable judgment for such a young man and that his political career, though short, has taught him many things in which older men are wanting. He is possessed of considerable ability as a speaker, which is being utilized to its utmost by the Democratic managers.

At the Republican city convention Tuesday night, Charles S. Sminck was called upon to place two of the candidates in nomination. Mr. Sminck is admittedly one of the best and cleverest speakers in the local Republican ranks and his remarks on that occasion were particularly well timed. He said some very complimentary but also truthful things about the men he nominated.

The Philadelphia Record quotes a New York publisher as saying that by liberally advertising in the newspapers a book which the newspaper critics did not like he succeeded in making an enormous sale. "It is evident to me," he said, "that the people depend more on the advertising than on the reviews for information, as I advertised in the papers which did not give favorable reviews."

The distressing accident which occurred at the North Avenue station Tuesday evening and resulted in the death of Mrs. Isaac Bond, of Newark, brings rather forcibly to mind the need of making the fence separating the tracks easy to see. If painted white it could be easily seen at night and might, perhaps, prevent a repetition of Tuesday night's disaster.

It would seem as though the Democrats were missing an opportunity in failing to send their gubernatorial candidate into such a stronghold in the "enemies' county" as Plainfield. There are many people in this city who would gladly listen to anything that Mayor Seymour might have to say.

The campaign against the small boy who has been playing "hookey" from school has begun in earnest. It will be remembered that the Plainfield Board of Education passed resolutions to that effect at its last meeting, and Superintendent Maxson is now proceeding to enforce them.

Every year there is the usual batch who appear before the Commissioners of Appeal and ask for a reduction in tax assessments. Sometimes these are proper. It is seldom, however, that the taxpayer is satisfied with the size of his assessment.

That flourishing social club which has gained such success in the borough, the Park Club, will resume its activity Saturday night. This winter promises even more than the usual number of good things there.

The Alls A. A. has finally secured a gridiron for its football eleven. The old golf grounds on Plainfield avenue, known during the summer as Hope Common, is now recognized as Alls Common.

Excellent likenesses of the two gubernatorial candidates can be found on another page. They are strong looking men, both of them.

FELL AND CUT ARTERY.

Miss Marion Lockhart Severely Injured by Fall From a Stepladder Yesterday.

While cleaning windows from the outside at the home of F. E. Kinsman, of Sherman avenue, yesterday afternoon, Miss Marion Lockhart fell from a stepladder and received rather severe injuries. In falling she struck about her head, cutting an artery and rendering her unconscious.

There was no one in the immediate vicinity and it was not until some time later that she was found by Thos. Flynn, a driver for W. W. Wilson. The injured woman was removed to the house and Dr. Endicott was summoned. The cut in her head was the worst of her injuries, although she suffered numerous bruises in addition.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

Was Given By New York Ladies' Trio at Grace M. E. Church.

The New York Ladies' Trio gave a most creditable entertainment Wednesday evening in Grace M. E. church under the auspices of the Epworth League. The League has been endeavoring to raise $100 pledged to the Twenty Century Fund of the Methodist church. The church was filled with an appreciative audience and the amount realized will make up the sum required. The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations. The social and literary committees of the League were in charge.

Rewarded for Service.

At the Great Council session of the Degree of Pocohontas, held in Trenton this week, Mrs. Charles Holstein was elected Great Wenonah, the second highest office in the State Council. She was also presented with a solid silver dish by Mrs. Ralstab, of Trenton, as an evidence of high esteem for the excellent work done by her during the past year.

Mrs. Boss Buried.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Oct. 24—A number of prominent Dunellen and New Market citizens who claim to have witnessed the following incident in one of the Plainfield trolley cars are desirous of knowing whether a man can lawfully be put off from a trolley car when he is willing and able to pay his fare. October 17, the man referred to tendered in payment of fare a five dollar bill. The conductor took the money but later refused to make the required change. After some argument two other men stepped in and, claiming to be private detectives, put the man off the car, dragging him over the guard rail.

Miss Geraldine Dunham was tendered a pleasant surprise party yesterday afternoon, upon the occasion of the fifth anniversary of her birthday. The gathering was at the home of Miss Geraldine's parents, Mr and Mrs. William H. Dunham. Games and music, with a delightful luncheon, helped pass the hours away. Out-of-town guests were present from Westfield and Plainfield.

J. Newton Apgar, of the local Juniors, attended the meeting of the State Council at Trenton yesterday. Theodore Apgar, also a delegate from the local lodge, attended the State meeting of the Mortuary Benefit Association Tuesday.

The last of this week's revival meetings will be held at the Methodist church this evening. Rev. John MacMurray, of Plainfield, will preach. A large attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac J. Stites are entertaining Mrs. Joseph Manee, of Pleasant Plains, and Miss May Pearsoll, of Hugenott.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, October 24,—Miss Meta Soper, of Metuchen, is still unable to occupy her place as teacher at the local school. An ulcered throat is the present cause of her trouble, while some fears are entertained that an abscess may develop. Miss Sarah Giles is ably filling Miss Soper's position at the school.

A line of electric wires from Metuchen is now being put through South Plainfield. If the local tax payers want to light the streets and secure the advantages of electric house lighting, a concerted action would probably bring about the desired result.

CANDIDATES WHO HEAD THE STATE TICKETS.

1900 In the past he has been the president-general of the Sons of the American Revolution and for a number of years has held membership in the Society of Colonial Wars. Like his opponent, James M. Seymour, he is a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

From the time Mr. Murphy completed his scholastic education in the Newark Academy until the present, he has been industriously engaged in business, and has found little time for social matters. He takes much interest in historical subjects. Lincoln Post, G. A. R., of Newark, claims him as one of its highly respected members, and the business fraternity of the State values him as an upright and conscientious man of industry and thrift.

James E. Seymour, the Democratic candidate for governor, is a man whose position in life is due to hard work and unusual business and mechanical ability. He is now about sixty years of age and during his whole life he has been in close touch with the plain people. Having learned the trade of a mechanical engineer, he accepted a position with the Novelty Iron Works of New York, in which city he was born. Subsequently he removed to Newark and become the chief of the designing department of the Newark Machine Company.

In the early sixties Mr. Seymour constructed the machinery for the Ovedio Arsenal, in Spain, at the Sharps Company plant in Hartford, Conn. Later he designed machinery for a gun making plant. Subsequently he was the superintendent of the New Jersey Arms and Ordnance Company at Trenton. In 1865 Mr. Seymour became the senior partner in the firm of Seymour & Whitlock, the Newark machinists.

He has figured prominently in political life, having taken an active interest in the party, which has honored him with the gubernatorial nomination. From 1884 to 1887 Mr. Seymour was a member of the Newark Aqueduct Board and in 1888 he was appointed United States Commissioner to Spain, by President Cleveland. Three years later Governor Leon Abbett named him State Supervisor of Prisons. Governor Werts selected Mr. Seymour as a member of the State Board of Education in 1894, and he still retains this position.

In 1895 he was defeated for the office of mayor of Newark by 1,000 votes and, in 1895 he carried the city for the Assembly nomination but was defeated by the county vote. A year later he was chosen mayor of Newark and is now filling his third term in that office.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED.

Mystery of the Ownership of the Horse Was Finally Solved in Court.

It required the briefest kind of a trial yesterday afternoon for Justice Moffett to learn that Miss Rose Murphy never owned the horse she accused Absalon Dunn of stealing and that, in reality, the animal belonged to the defendant. Accordingly the complaint against Dunn was dismissed and Miss Murphy paid the costs of court.

Briefly told, this is the way the matter happened. Mrs. Elizabeth Conway owned the horse first. She sold it to W. T. Banks for $20. Dunn saw the animal, admired it and wished to buy it but didn't have the price, so he asked a friend named Skinner to loan it to him. Skinner was also financially embarrassed, but to be obliging he set about to get it and found Miss Murphy had twenty spare dollars which she would let out taking the much-bought horse for security.

The animal was then placed in a barn on Lee place from which it was taken by Dunn and placed in one of his own. Miss Murphy found it missing and, not knowing Dunn was in the transaction, had him arrested. It is said Dunn now has the horse.

ARRANGING TRIP.

Warren Engine Company Boys Will Participate in Elizabeth Parade and Try to Carry Off Honors.

Arrangements have been made by the Warren Engine Company to participate in the parade to be held at Elizabeth under the auspices of the volunteer fire department of that city on Thursday, October 31. The occasion will mark the last public appearance of the volunteer department of the county seat. In the future a paid fire department will be one of the features of the city government of Elizabeth.

The Warren boys will leave this city at 8 o'clock, and will make the trip by trolley. They will go in special cars and the steamer will be sent overland, being driven by one of the members of the company. It is expected that the parade will commence at 11 o'clock in the morning. Under the instruction of Captain William C. Smith, the Warren boys have made much headway in drilling, and they will make an effort to carry off the honors in this feature of parading. The company will return from Elizabeth early in the evening.

TRAMP DOG'S GRATITUDE.

Protects His Benefactress from Assault at the Hands of a Dangerous Character.

"I did not formerly believe that dogs possess an instinct by which they can read character in human beings," remarked an Indianapolis woman to a Journal reporter, "but now I am positive it is true. I had an experience last night that was equivalent to a demonstration.

"A few days ago a long, lank yellow dog, about three feet high, of decidedly unprepossessing appearance except for its benevolent face, came to our house, and finding me standing at the kitchen door, began to wag his tail earnestly and to look into my face with a gaze that contained an unspeakable appeal for something to eat. Of course I could not resist the plea of a dumb brute that was hungry. What woman can? I did not see it any more until last night when I had occasion to go up town at a rather late hour. I had hardly gone a few feet from my house before I heard the delicate patter of animal feet back of me. Looking around I saw my four-footed pensioner of a few days before, still wagging his tail, but this time looking at me with only gratitude and kindly feeling in his face. I was not particularly well pleased at being followed through the public streets by such a sorry-looking creature, but when I told the dog to go back he gently refused to obey.

"When I had accomplished the purpose of my errand and turned to retrace my steps homeward the dog was there to accompany me. Just as we were turning off the Circle into one of the principal streets a man stepped rudely into my pathway and grinned at me. Quick as a flash the dog sprang in front of me, and, curling his lips, began to growl in a most terrifying way, saying in a manner as intelligible as if he had employed human utterance: 'I guess you had better clear out of here at once.'

"The man lost little time in retreating to the dark corner from which he had come, and the rest of the way home, you may be very sure, I paid a great deal of attention to my humble protector."

EAGLE WAS A REAL FIGHTER.

Big Bird Whipped a Catamount and Required a Brave Man to Effect Its Capture.

A large American eagle, which was captured near Charleston, S. C., after it had whipped a catamount, was brought to Charleston and placed in a cage, from which it had to be moved later. The owner advertised for a brave man willing to overpower the bird without weapons.

H. J. Welch, a piano tuner, agreed to undertake the job, and a crowd surrounded the building to watch the event.

Welch first endeavored to throw a sack over the eagle's head, but this failed and the eagle showed signs of fight. The door was quickly opened and Welch rushed in. He seized the eagle by the legs, but it gave a swift lunge toward the door, passed out and dragged the would-be captor. Welch was dragged 20 feet, when the eagle turned and a desperate fight followed. The piano tuner was getting the rough end of the conflict, but bystanders interfered and the eagle was crippled and shoved into another cage. Welch was bruised and scratched, but otherwise was not inured.

Playing His Way to Buffalo.

W. A. Lipton, who says he is from Milwaukee and is playing his way to Buffalo on a wager, arrived in Chicago the other night with a violin under his arm. The wager, he says, makes it necessary that he should arrive in Buffalo within two weeks. When he left Milwaukee he had 15 cents. This sum was increased when Lipton played and sang on the streets.

"I had eaten a hearty supper and went right to bed about 7 o'clock, as my habit is since I had the palsy stroke last spring. I took a pain in the pit of my stomach. I then got up and took some mustard and water. It did me no good. I got worse. My granddaughter had gone out and so had my ward, a young lad, so I was alone and no neighbors near. I thought I was going to die alone. I prayed to the Lord not to let me die alone. I kept getting worse, and about 9 o'clock Willie came in and I told him I was dying. Then I asked him to go to the drug store and get some Ripans Tabules. I gave him five cents and bade him go quickly. He was not gone long. He had to give 10 cents for them, as the drug store didn't have the 5-cent kind. But I said, 'All right, give me one.' I soon had it down. It was there but a few minutes before I got relief. Up came the wind. I said to Willie, 'Give me another one!' You don't know how nice it felt. I fell asleep and never woke until five o'clock the next morning. My age is eighty-four last June 22, and I live in Beverly, N. J."

Ways In Which Women on Man Deserted Farms Earn Money.

Being now and always a country woman at heart, however appearances may be against me, women of the rural population interest me more than those of any other class. Farm people as compared to manufacturing and commercial people now constitute only half of the inhabitants of the United States. While our cities are growing great at the expense of the rural districts, note that it is the men who first desert the farms, leaving mothers and sisters to manage as best they can. All who have pluck and energy get away from the old country home as from a place under a deadly spell. The woman cannot till the soil themselves—at least, they generally think they cannot.

How, then, do they get a living? A few of them unfortunately slump and do not live at all, properly speaking. Whenever you see them they have a doleful tale of bad luck and physical ailments that would harrow up your soul if you minded it. They belong to the variety of country people who "glory in their infirmities" in a way that St. Paul never meant. Other women, who are braver, take sewing from city department stores and wholesale clothing houses and manage thus to support themselves and the unproductive members of their families. I have known women thus to maintain weak and shiftless husbands whom fate and their own haste to wed had saddled them with. It may be said for the husbands that they generally carry the sewing in a buckboard wagon drawn by an old horse back and forth between the railway station and the homes, thus helping.

One particular lady belonging to a once wealthy family found herself all alone with a profitless farm on her hands. The traditions of the family would not permit her to do shop sewing, and she could not have done it if she would. She struggled along awhile under her load of responsibility and accumulating debt. Then she married her farm hired man, much younger than herself, shocking the narrow neighborhood notions of fitness. But she owed him more wages than she could ever pay without either marrying him or giving up the farm to him, and marrying him was the easier way out. Since then matters have gone better, for the ex-hired person is a strong, ambitious young man, able to make even a desolated, seamy old farm return expenses.

Of recent years taking summer boarders has been a refuge in time of trouble for women in the man deserted country homes. Many of them do the shop sewing in winter and take city boarders in summer. The annual warm weather migration from city to country is increasing steadily, and in this way the country has to some extent its revenge on the city at last, for the money gained in town pursuits is for the time spent on the farm.

The woman of pluck and energy who uses her brains makes a fair profit off summer boarders. If she does as well as she can do, she always has a large vegetable and minor fruit garden which yields supplies fresh and delicious without money and without price except that of labor and the expenditure of common sense and thought. The prosperous summer boarder country home is distinguished from the decaying farmhouses about it by its weedless, mown lawn, its atmosphere of paint and whitewash and its generally smart, tidy appearance.

Occasionally a woman of good health and determination who is left stranded on a farm boldly takes her elephant by the trunk and guides it herself. She puts all her wits into her work, uses her own judgment, masters the details of her profession as well as the recalcitrant farm laborers and makes a shining success even of an abandoned farm. But such a woman would succeed anywhere. Again, a woman left upon the farm rents out her larger grainfields on shares, draws in her own tasks to a narrower circuit and makes a good living off bees, poultry and the home dairy. But many farms in the old parts of the country are so wretched that they do not even longer produce honey making flowers. In that case it is necessary to plant alfalfa or buckwheat. Buckwheat thrives everywhere, alfalfa almost everywhere. At the Buffalo exposition alfalfa white honey from South Dakota formed an attractive part of that young state's display.

But the children of these brave farm women do not stay in the country. Even the daughters at length are leaving to become teachers, trained nurses, milliners or dressmakers anywhere—anywhere off the farm.

JANE STORY.

The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

By Robert Louis Stevenson.

CHAPTER I.

Mr. Utterson, the lawyer, was a man of rugged countenance, that was never lighted by a smile; cold, scanty, and embarrassed in discourse; backward in sentiment; lean, long, dusty, dreary, and yet somehow lovable. At friendly meetings, and when the wine was to his taste, something eminently human beaconed from his eye; something indeed which never found its way into his talk, but which spoke not only in these silent symbols of the after-dinner face, but more often and loudly in the acts of his life. He was austere with himself; drank gin when he was alone, to mortify a taste for vintages; and though he enjoyed the theater, had not crossed the doors of one for 20 years. But he had an approved tolerance for others; sometimes wondering, almost with envy, at the high pressure of spirits involved in their misdeeds; and in any extremity inclined to help rather than to reprove. "I incline to Cain's heresy," he used to say, quaintly. "I let my brother go to the devil in his own way." In this character, it was frequently his fortune to be the last reputable acquaintance and the last good influence in the lives of downgoing men. And to such as these, so long as they came about his chambers, he never marked a shade of change in demeanor.

No doubt the feat was easy to Mr. Utterson, for he was undemonstrative at the best, and even his friendships seemed to be founded in a similar catholicity of good nature. It is the mark of a modest man to accept his friendly circle ready-made from the hands of opportunity; and that was the lawyer's way. His friends were those of his own blood, or those whom he had known the longest; his affections, like ivy, were the growth of time; they applied no aptness in the object. Hence, no doubt, the bond that united him to Mr. Richard Enfield, his distant kinsman, the well-known man about town. It was a nut to crack for many, what these two could see in each other, or what subject they could find in common. It was reported by those who encountered them in their Sunday walks, that they said nothing, looked singularly dull, and would hail with obvious relief the appearance of a friend. For all that, the two men put the greatest store by these excursions, counted them the chief jewel of each week, and not only set aside occasions of pleasure, but even resisted the calls of business that they might enjoy them uninterrupted.

It chanced on one of these rambles that their way led them down a by-street in a busy quarter of London. The street was small and what is called quiet, but it drove a thriving trade on the week-day. The inhabitants were all doing well, it seemed, and all emulously hoping to do better still, and laying out the surplus of their gains in coquetry; so that the shop fronts stood along that thoroughfare with an air of invitation, like rows of smiling saleswomen. Even on Sunday, when it veiled its more florid charms and lay comparatively empty of passage, the street shone out in contrast to its dingy neighborhood like a fire in a forest; and with its freshly-painted shutters, well-polished brasses, and general cleanliness and gayety of note, instantly caught and pleased the eye of the passenger.

Two doors from one corner, on the left hand going east, the line was broken by the entry of a court; and just at that point a certain sinister block of building thrust forward its gable on the street. It was two stories high; showed no window, nothing but a door on the lower story and a blind forehead of discolored wall on the upper, and bore in every feature the marks of prolonged and sordid negligence. The door, which was equipped with neither bell nor knocker, was blistered and distained. Tramps slouched into the recess and struck matches on the panels; children kept shop upon the steps, the schoolboy had tried his knife on the moldings, and for close on a generation no one had appeared to drive away these random visitors or to repair their ravages.

Mr. Enfield and the lawyer were on the other side of the by-street; but when they came abreast of the entry the former lifted up his cane and pointed.

"Did you ever remark that door?" he asked, and when his companion had replied in the affirmative, "It is connected in my mind," added he, "with a very odd story."

"Indeed?" said Mr. Utterson, with a slight change of voice, "and what was that?"

"Well, it was this way," returned Mr. Enfield: "I was coming home from some place at the end of the world, about 3 o'clock of a black winter morning, and my way lay through a part of town where there was literally nothing to see but lamps. Street after street, and all the folks asleep—street after street, all lighted up as if for a procession and all as empty as a church—till at last I got into that state of mind when a man listens and listens and begins to long for the sight of a policeman. All at once I saw two figures; one a little man who was stumping along eastward at a good walk, and the other a girl of maybe eight or ten who was running as hard as she was able down a cross street. Well, sir, the two ran into one another naturaly enough at the corner, and then came the horrible part of the thing, for the man trampled calmly over the child's body and left her screaming on the ground. It sounds nothing to hear, but it was hellish to see. It wasn't like a man; it was like some damned Juggernaut.

"I gave a view halloo, took to my heels, collared my gentleman, and brought him back to where there was already quite a group about the screaming child. He was perfectly cool and made no resistance, but gave me one look, so ugly that it brought out the sweat on me like running. The people who had turned out were the girl's own family; and pretty soon, the doctor, for whom she had been sent, put in his appearance. Well, the child was not much the worse, more frightened, according to the sawbones; and there you might have supposed would be an end to it. But there was one curious circumstance. I had taken a loathing to my gentleman at first sight. So had the ular age and color, with a strong Edinburg accent, and about as emotional as a bagpipe. Well, sir, he was like the rest of us. Every time he looked at my prisoner I saw that sawbones turn sick and white with the desire to kill him. I knew what was in his mind, just as he knew what was in mine; and killing being out of the question, we did the next best. We told the man we could and would make such a scandal out of this as should make his name stink from one end of London to the other. If he had any friends or any credit, we undertook that he should lose them. And all the time, as we were pitching it in red hot, we were keeping the women off him as best we could, for they were as wild as harpies. I never saw a circle of such hateful faces; and there was the man in the middle, with a kind of black, sneering coolness—frightened, too, I could see that—but carrying it off, sir, really like Satan. 'If you choose to make capital out of this accident,' said he, 'I am naturally helpless. No gentleman but wishes to avoid a scene,' says he. 'Name your figure.' Well, we screwed him up to a hundred pounds for the child's family. He would have clearly liked to stick out, but there was something about the lot of us that meant mischief, and at last he struck. The next thing was to get the money, and where do you think he carried us but to that place with the door?—whipped out a key, went in and presently came back with the matter of £10 in gold and a check for the balance on Coutts', drawn payable to bearer, and signed with a name that I can't mention, though it's one of the points of my story, but it was a name at least very well known and often printed. The figure was stiff, but the signature was good for more than that, if it was only genuine. I took the liberty of pointing out to my gentleman that the whole business looked apocryphal, and that a man does not, in real life, walk into a cellar door at 4 in the morning and come out of it with another man's check for close upon a hundred pounds. But he was quite easy and sneering. 'Set your mind at rest,' says he. 'I will stay with you till the banks open, and cash the check myself.' So we all set off, the doctor and the child's father, and our friend and myself, and passed the rest of the night in my chambers; and next day, when we had breakfasted, went in a body to the bank. I gave in the check myself, and said I had every reason to believe it was a forgery. Not a bit of it. The check was genuine."

A PARROT AND DOG TIME.

Paris Judge with the Wisdom of a Solomon Gets a Difficult Case On His Hands.

There were two cases in the correctional chamber at Paris of a decidedly opera bouffe character. The plaintiffs in each case were women. Plaintiff No. 1, being asked to state her case, said it all came about owing to a parrot. The bird had a vicious disposition and its mistress (the defendant) egged it on to be even worse than it was by nature. The plaintiff could not put her head out of the window without the bird shouting opprobrious epithets at her and generally libeling her character.

Before deciding this case the judge said he would hear the other, whereupon the second matron stated that what she had to complain of was her neighbor's dog. It had been taught to bark at her whenever she went out, and so maliciously clever was the animal that at the instigation of its mistress it actually threw stones at her window panes by tossing them up with its paws.

By this time the people in court were convulsed with laughter, but the judge remained serious. In commenting upon the two cases he pointed out that neither action had been correctly described as a suit for libel. Then he rendered his decision, which was worthy of a Solomon. One of the plaintiffs, he said, should have prosecuted the dog, the other should have cited the parrot. Both actions having been wrongly instituted, he should, therefore, dismiss them both.

REFUSED TO BE SPANKED.

Pretty Actress Balks at the Unique Demands of Her Manager for a Sensation.

Miss B. Agnes Lane was asked to submit to a spanking on the stage, just to liven up the first act of "Don Caesar de Bazan." Miss Lane declined to be spanked, so her engagement to play Maritana in a "Don Caesar" road company was canceled and now she has asked her lawyers to sue Edwin Rostell for the amount she invested in costumes to be used in the play. Miss Lane played minor parts last season in the Bernhardt-Coquelin company.

"I was hired as a leading woman," said Miss Lane, "and after the rehearsals were all over I was told that I was not soubrettish enough to suit some mythical person referred to by the manager as the financial backer of the company. I never could find out who the backer was. Mr. Rostell told me that he was delighted with my acting, but that the gentleman with the money was not satisfied. He wanted Don Caesar to take me across his knee and spank me. When I refused he said I would have to quit the company. The mysterious and nameless backer with money wanted to spoil that beautiful tableau at the end of the first act by having me in a short skirt stretched across a man's knee and getting spanked just for jumping up and saying: 'What's that,' when they fired the guns."

Hanged Herself in Public.

A strange story comes from China of the public suicide of a Chinese woman at Foo Chow. She resolved on the deed after the death of her husband, and informed the public of her intention. The taotai endeavored to prevent her, and on account of typhoon and floods the suicide was twice postponed, but all efforts failed to divert the woman from her purpose, and, bedecked in her finest clothes, she publicly hanged herself on a platform before which stood several hundred spectators.

Asks $3,000 for Her Kisses.

A circuit court jury at Sheboygan, Wis., awarded Mrs. Bouska, of the town of Adell, a verdict for $500 as balm. Peter Hugent was the defendant in the case. He promised Mrs. Bouska one dollar for every kiss she gave him. Failing to collect she instituted suit. She asked the court for $3,000 damages.

DESTROYED JURY'S RECORD.

JAMES N. PIDCOCK, JR., ESCAPED CHARGE WITH A FINE.

Brilliant Plea by A. A. Clark Saved Him—'Twas Unintentional Contempt of Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 24—Hon. A. A. Clark, of this place, made such a brilliant plea for his client, James N. Pidcock, Jr., of Whitehouse Station, at Flemington before Justice Gummere that he was fined only $250 for his part in the contempt of court case.

The minutes of the Grand Jury of the Hunterdon county courts that indicted Isaac Mitchell (colored) for the murder of Edward Kane at Whitehouse on April 2, 1898, were destroyed by Mr. Pidcock, and when the case came up for trial of course he was unable to produce them.

On the witness stand Pidcock said that David L. Agans, clerk of the Grand Jury, had sent the papers to him and he had looked them over and found nothing in their contents that would connect him with the shooting of Kane. One day when he was sorting the papers on his desk Pidcock said he had thrown them into the waste basket. Pidcock said Mr. Agans had told him he wanted to send the notes to him because they exonerated him. Pidcock said he did not think they were of importance.

PLAINFIELD BRIDES IN THREE NUPTIAL EVENTS.

large circle of friends and acquaintances, who wish them much success and happiness.

ALMER-ZUBER.

In the little German Reformed church edifice at 8 o'clock last evening the marriage of Miss Margaret Almer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs John Almer, of Switzerland, and Emil Zuber, of Elizabeth, took place in the presence of a concourse of friends from many places, who crowded the house of worship to the vestibule doors. Rev George Hauser, the pastor of the church, officiated, and the nuptial ceremony, which was according to the German Reformed ritual, was said in English.

The interior of the edifice was neatly adorned with palms and potted plants. In front of the pulpit was suspended a large floral bell made principally of chrysanthemums. It was beneath it that the nupdal service was performed.

Miss Almer was attended by Miss Margaret Herrmann, of Stirling, as maid-of-honor. The bride was gowned in white dotted Swiss and wore a tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Herrmann wore white lawn and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridemaids were Miss Clementine Lamy, of Elizabeth, and Miss Gussie Corman, of the borough. The groom was attended by Herman Bremmer, of the borough, as best man Edward Lamy, of Elizabeth, and George Sohlick, of this city, were the ushers.

At the conclusion of the church service, Mr. and Mrs. Zuber held a reception in Saengerbund Hall, where over 100 guests extended their congratulations. A wedding supper was served by a number of the young women, friends of the bride. The festivities continued until a late hour. P. Ludwig Conde's orchestra furnished the music for waltzing, in which the guests participated. The young couple left this morning for their bridal trip. They will reside in the future at Freehold, where the groom is in business.

Mrs. Zuber is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bohren, with whom she has resided since coming to this country.

At the nuptial event friends were present from Brooklyn, Elizabeth, Westfield and this city. The presents received by the bride consisted of a large assortment in cut glass, silverware, china, bric-a-brac and furniture.

BONNELL—CRANE.

One of the prettiest nuptial ceremonies solemnized in this city this fall took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of David Oliver Bonnell, of East Fifth street, in the presence of an assemblage of relatives and friends. The bride was his daughter, Miss Mabel Bonnell, and the bridegroom, Marcus Spencer Crane, of Caldwell, a member of the colonial family of that name which has resided in this State since before the Revolution.

Beautiful woodland flowers and the more sombre palms and plants tastefully placed about, had transformed the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, into a perfect bower. White was the ruling color and in an adjoining room pink predominated. The service used was that of the Reformed church, and a miniature altar placed in a large bow window, greatly enhanced the beauty of the scene.

Precisely at 5:30 the bridal party entered the room while the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mrs. Charles L. Lewis. It was composed of the maid-of honor, Miss Harriet Frost Williams, of East Orange; the bridemaids, Miss Edna Marie Simpson, of Buffalo, and Miss Mary Edna Stiles, of this city. Elias Herbert Bonnell, a brother of the bride, acted as best man and the ushers were Aaron Winans Burnett, of Hilton, and M. Wilford Faitoute, of Roselle.

The bride was gowned in white satin with chifton trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Williams' gown was of dotted Swiss, trimmed with lace and satin. She carried pink roses. The maids-of-honor wore white Swiss and carried pink chrysanthemums. The bride and groom met before the altar, where the words which made them man and wife were pronounced by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. Robert Street, of Roselle, an old friend of the bride's family.

The ceremony concluded, Mr. and Mrs. Crane turned to receive the congratulations of their friends after which the guests adjourned to the dining room where a bountiful collation was served. The table decorations were especially elaborate and were arranged under the supervision of Mrs. L. J. Denton, who also had charge of the parlor.

Mr. Crane presented to his bride, a beautiful diamond sunburst and to the ushers pretty scarf pins set with diamonds. The bride's gift to her attendants was ivory fans. Both bride and groom were remembered by their numerous acquaintances with an array of presents which comprised nearly every conceivable article in silver, cut glass and fancy bric-a-brac.

The young couple left last evening on a wedding trip which will last for some weeks. It will include a stop at Niagara Falls and various points of interest along the St. Lawrence river. On returning they will make their home in a handsome residence which Mr. Crane recently had erected for him at Upper Montclair.

"A DELUSION."

Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley Will Deliver Lecture on Christian Science.

A literary event of considerable interest is set for Thursday evening, November 7, when Rev. James M. Buckley, D. D., LL. D., of New York, will deliver his famous lecture on the subject "Christian Science—a Delusion." Last spring the whole State was interested in the condition of affairs at Fanwood in reference to Christian Science as related to disease and death. At that time in New York before the Nineteenth Century Club, Dr. Buckley was scheduled to debate against a noted champion of said "science." The hour arrived, but not the champion, who said it would take all night to answer such a speaker as the doctor. Dr Buckley has no equal today on the American platform, both as an orator and writer.

In Memory of King Alfred.

Arrangements have been made for the millennial celebration of King Alfred's reign, which will take place in the North Plainfield High School Monday morning. Dr. W. H. Larrabee, of Washington Park, has consented to make an address on the subject, "What Alfred Did." "Alfred's Country" will be the topic from which A. V. D. Honeyman will explain the grandeur of England, the country and its institutions.

Will Enlarge Plant.

Owing to great demand made upon the Plainfield Electric Light Company it is believed that the general equipment of the plant will have to be enlarged next spring. It was not long ago that a new three-hundred horse power engine was installed, but in a short time this will not be adequate to supply all the electricity needed. It is quite certain that another dynamo will be placed in the works within a few months.

Death of a Lad.

Albert Conrad Bachen, the eight-year old son of C. W. and Madeline Harburger Bachen, and grandson of Mrs. J. S. Harburger, of this city, died Tuesday at the home of his parents in West End avenue, New York, of diphtheria. A younger brother has been staying in this city with relatives during the time the residence was in quarantine.

Another Man in the Case.

In relating the horse stealing case before Justice Moffett yesterday, The Press stated that N. K Barnes was one of the purchasers of the animal. This was an error as Mr. Barnes was in no way interested in the case. The name should have been W. T. Banks.

CHARLES DUPEE'S CAREER AS A COLLEGE ATHLETE.

He Made An Enviable Record on Track and Football Gridiron at Yale University.

Among the familiar faces which have gathered at New Haven during this week to attend the bi-centennial ceremonies at Yale University are a number of those who have been prominent in Yale athletics in the past. Of that number, there are few better known and more popular than Charles Dupee, of Rockview avenue. Dupee graduated from the university last June. Below will be found an excellent likeness of Dupee in his running suit, published through the courtesy of the Philadelphia Press.

CHARLES DUPEE.

Charles Dupee is the eldest son of George P. Dupee, an old resident of the borough. He received his preliminary training at Mr. Leal's School. While there, he made quite a reputation as a scholastic runner, defeating the best school boys of the county in the hundred and 220 yard dashes. He also made a great record as fullback on the Plainfield A. A. football eleven.

He entered Yale in the fall of 1897. He was chosen fullback on the freshman eleven and picked at once by the New York Sun as a coming player. In the fall of 1898 he was made a substitute back on the 'varsity eleven. The next spring he was a candidate for the track team and was one of those picked to go to England in the meet with Oxford and Cambridge. He was a sprinter.

In 1899 he was made substitute fullback on the 'varsity team. While he was wanted at half he so far outdistanced the other candidates for sub full back that it was deemed advisable to save him to take the place of the regular full back rather than put him in at half. An attack of typhoid fever prevented his participation in any of the athletic events the next spring, but he recovered sufficiently to turn out for football practice in the fall and make the position of full-back, playing in one of the championship games and a number of the minor ones.

He was on the Yale track team last spring. In the 220 yard dash in the dual games with Harvard, he finished second to Hargraves of Yale. He was third in the 100 yard dash at the intercollegiate games and finished close behind Sears, of Cornell, for second in the 220 yard dash at the same meet.

Since his graduation, Dupee has refused several tempting offers to coach college football teams but will devote his time to a business career.

Elizabeth, Oct. 25—Elaborate preparations have been made for the firemen's parade to be held here Thursday, Oct. 31. The demonstration will mark the final public appearance of the local volunteer fire department, which goes out of commission December 1, to be succeeded by a regular paid department patterned after that of Plainfield, N. J.

The occasion will draw at least 2,500 firemen from various places. Among the companies to participate in the parade will be representations from Bayonne, New Brunswick, Brooklyn, Trenton, Raritan and North Plainfield, which will send Warren Engine Company. The volunteer department of this city was organized in 1837.

WENT UNDER WHEEL.

Frank Titus, of Somerset Street, Met With Accident on Ice Wagon.

Frank Titus, of 301 Somerset street, an employe of the Plainfield Ice and and Cold Storage Company, met with a painful accident yesterday noon, while delivering ice in this city.

He had just delivered a piece of ice at a house, and as he attempted to jump on the front of the wagon to drive off, his feet slipped and before he could recover himself, the wheels of the heavy wagon passed over his left foot. He suffered intense pain.

As soon as possible Titus was taken to his home and Drs. Pittis and Long were summoned. They discovered that there were no bones broken, but the foot and ankle were badly bruised. It will be several days before he will have the use of that foot.

WANTS ABSOLUTE DIVORCE.

Mrs Alice Peel Starts Action on Ground of Desertion.

Mrs. Alice Peel, of East Second street, has commenced action against her husband, William Peel, for an absolute divorce. The complainant alleges that her husband left her in destitute circumstances seven years ago and during that time has in no way contributed to her support or that of her four children. Of late she claims he has subjected her to considerable annoyance which has induced her to ask for legal separation.

FINALLY CAPTURED.

Mrs. Eliza Apgar Arrested, Found Guilty And Sent to Jail For an Old Offense.

After eluding the police for three weeks, Mrs. Eliza Apgar relaxed her vigilance, last evening, and before she could draw an easy breath a mercenary of the law named Higgins had her in custody.

Eliza showed surprising ignorance of the fact that the whole local police department has been looking for her and declared to City Judge Runyon this morning that she "had been around." She didn't specify where "around" was but Patrolman Watson declared it to be on the other side of the brook where she knew she was safe.

Eliza took part in a midnight disturbance in Stiger's alley, last September, and was the only one in the party who wasn't corralled at the time. Two of the offenders are serving long terms. For her part in the affair and the trouble she has given the police on various occasions, Eliza was sent to join them for the next sixty days. She was given the preference of paying $20 but she thought she'd better take the sojourn.

AFTER MILK DEALERS.

Borough Health Authorities After Those Who Haven't Complied With Local Ordinance.

Dereliction on the part of the borough milk dealers in not promptly forwarding to the health inspector proper reports, as made compulsory by a recent ordinance, promises to lead to action on the part of the authorities. Health Inspector Pangborn is actively engaged on a certain line of work in connection with the health laws, and it is understood that Senator Charles A. Reed has taken the matter up.

The ordinance in question provides that a statement, setting forth where the milk is obtained from and from whom it is purchased as well as the names of the customers of the milk dealer, shall be furnished the inspector whenever requested. The ordinance has not been complied with by many of the dealers. For the protection of the boroughites it is intended to rigorously enforce the ordinance. There are several cases of diphtheria at the present time, and it is intended to prevent the disease spreading.

AN ARTFUL LIAR.

Thus City Judge Runyon Characterized a Prisoner Brought Before Him.

An excellent demonstration of how far a man can stray from the truth when he wants to, was shown by Daniel Cobb, of Elizabeth, in the City Court this morning. Out of a dozen questions asked him by City Judge Runyon, before whom he appeared for begging on the streets last evening, two were afterward found to have been answered correctly. These were known by Chief Kiely, otherwise they would have been put with the rest of his fabrications.

The Chief knew that Cobb was recently released from the County Jail. Taking this into consideration, the Court suspended sentence after telling the prisoner that he was the most artful liar who had ever appeared before him.

Working to Raise Cash.

A social was held at the home of Mrs. Martha Yetman, of West Third street, last evening, under the auspices of the members of the Mt. Olive church congregation. For the purpose of raising funds for the church 100 members have arranged themselves into tribes of ten, and each tribe competes in the combined effort to collect funds. Mrs. Yetman is the chief of the tribe, which gave the social last night.

Gathered Him In.

Joseph Janjowitz, of New York, came to this city yesterday afternoon with a satchel of shoe strings which he expected to sell. He was plying his trade on Park avenue when Patrolman Saffron gathered him in. He was arraigned before City Judge Runyon last evening, but sentence was suspended on condition that he return to New York.

President Davis to Speak.

The pulpit of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be occupied Saturday morning by Rev. Boothe Colwell Davis, president of Alfred University. Dr. Davis has just been participating in the Yale Jubilee.

Endeavor Social.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel will give a sociable this evening at the residence of Rev. L. R. Howard, on Madison avenue. A cordial invitation is extended to all members to be present.

Announcement of Engagement.

The engagement is announced of Fred P. Taylor, son of Mrs. Morgan S. Taylor, of Boston, formerly of Rockview avenue, to Miss Edith Bemus, of Boston.

FAIR CLOSED.

Prizes Awarded at Last Night of the Fair at German Reformed Church.

The fair, which was held last week and several days this week at the German Reformed church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was concluded last evening when the various prizes were awarded. The contestants for the various prizes were expected to bring in certain amounts of money and in every case the sums were realized.

Miss Kittie Finger, Mrs. Utzinger and Mrs. Reilly received handsome sofa pillows. Mrs. Athilea Heinold and Miss Rosa Sutterlein each received a set of silver, while Miss Sadie Blimm and Joseph Angerbauer were presented with pictures.

In the drawings for the quilts, two were presented last evening. Adam Angerbauer and Julius Stahl were the successful ones. The other two quilts will be drawn later. It is believed that fully $100 will be realized from these contests. From other sources it is believed that $50 will be a net profit from sales.

READY FOR WINTER.

Fast Completing the New and Repair Work on the City Streets.

The new macadam work on the local streets, recently ordered by the Common Council, is rapidly nearing completion under the direction of Contractor C. M. Meeker. First, Second and Third places and Orchard place are now receiving the finishing touches and work was commenced yesterday on East Sixth street. Mr. Meeker expects to have the entire contract completed in three weeks.

Street Commissioner Gavett is also rushing repair work on the streets in order to have them in shape before cold weather arrives. A gang of men began work on West Front street, near Rock avenue, putting in drain tile, preparatory to placing two and a half inch stone. Spooner avenue has been given a much needed scraping and general overhauling and is now in condition to stand heavy travel during the winter.

The steam roller has been engaged on East Front street, near Leland avenue, rolling a coat of stone. Nothing further will be done to this section until early next spring.

SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

Complete Course Given by an Excellent Institution in Philadelphia.

There is probably no profession that is open to women that is so much in accordance with the natural refinement, taste and ability of true womanhood as that of the trained nurse. The call for trained nurses and trained companions for the sick and for invalids is constantly increasing.

The School for Nurses of the Philadelphia Nurse Supply and Medical Dispensary has a complete course which can be finished in ten weeks. It includes lectures, practical demonstrations, thorough training in emergency measures, home nursing and hospital methods.

The corporation is composed of prominent citizens of Philadelphia, including a Judge of the Philadelphia courts, physicians, eminent business men and clergymen representing all the leading religious denominations.

The work is conducted at a very nominal expense and entirely in the interest of the public and those taking the course.

Diplomas are issued to those who complete the course.

If any Press readers are especially interested in the subject they can get full information by addressing School for Nurses, Witherspoon Building, 1319 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT.

E. S. Hooley Honored in Reorganization of Evansville and Terre Haute.

In the reorganization of the Evansville and Terre Haute Railroad Company, which took place at Evansville Monday, E. S. Hooley, of Washington Park, was elected vice-president. E. R. Thomas, of New York, succeeded H. C. Barlow, of Evansville, as president. The meeting of the officials was an exciting and interesting one and resulted in the retirement of most of the old officials. In the selection of Mr. Hooley as vice-president, the company has secured a thoroughly capable and shrewd official, who is sure to protect every interest of the company.

Engagement Is Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Charlotte DeMeza, of West Second street, to Hugh H. MacMurray, of Clinton avenue. Both are well-nown. Miss DeMeza has been with Crosby & Hill since they began business in this city, and Mr. MacMurray is a brother of City Clerk James T. MacMurray.

FAREWELL TO THEIR PASTOR.

CONGREGATION OF SWEDISH LUTHERAN GIVE HIM A SURPRISE.

Dropped in at His Home and Presented Him With a Purse of Twenty-five Dollars

While Rev. Mr. Gronberg, formerly pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, was at his place of residence, 310 West Front street, last evening receiving a call from the Misses Thompson, members of the church who had called to give their pastor a farewell, thirty members of the church arrived at the home and gave Mr. Gronberg a complete surprise.

The pastor was so overcome that it was some minutes before he could say a word. He only recently resigned his position to return to Minneapolis, where will complete his studies, and his congregation was desirous of giving him a rousing farewell.

During the evening Mr. Gronberg was presented with three gold pieces, two $10 and one $5. The purse was made up by the members. Mr. Gronberg was again surprised and could scarcely find words to express his appreciation of the kindness shown.

The evening was passed in a social manner, during which there were vocal and instrumental solos by members of the congregation. At a late hour supper was served and at midnight the guests departed wishing Mr. Gronberg much success in his new field. Before the guests departed the pastor took occasion to thank each and everyone present for the kindness shown, also the people of the city and The Daily Press for assistance given when he assumed the pastorate of the church.

This morning Mr. Gronberg took the 7:59 o'clock train for New York, from which place he will leave today for Minneapolis. John Gjettiesen, a faithful member of the church, accompanied the pastor to the station to see him off.

HARVEST SUPPER.

To be Given in Parish House of Holy Cross Church Wednesday Evening.

The entertainment committee of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Holy Cross will give a "harvest supper" in the parish house Wednesday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

The decorations, which will be on a broad scale, will be very attractive and novel and in keeping with the harvest season. A stringed orchestra has been engaged and will "discourse sweet music" during the evening. A very excellent and inviting menu has been arranged but, as the proof of the pudding is in the eating, come and prove it.

Tickets may be obtained of any member of the entertainment committee. The committee in charge of the supper: Mrs. J. O. Stevens, chairman; Mrs. F. S. Brown, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. W. Montgomery Downey and Miss Davis.

JOYFUL CROWD

Danced in Camera Club Rooms Until an Early Hour This Morning.

A hundred young people from this city, New Brunswick, Elizabeth, Rahway, Woodbridge and Westfield, were in attendance at the first formal dance of the season given by the O. B. Joyful Club in the Camera Club rooms last evening. The affair was made a decided success in every particular through the efforts of the club members. Dancing was continued until an early hour this morning, the only stop being made at midnight when refreshments were served. It is the intention of the club to hold a similar dance each month during the winter.

SCALDED WITH TEA.

Little Child of Mr. and Mrs. John Lyons Met With An Accident.

While Mr. and Mrs. John Lyons, of West Third steeet, were at supper Wednesday evening, their infant child was badly burned about the face and forehead with a cup of hot tea. The child succeeded in getting near the table and, at a moment when the parents were not looking, caught hold of the cup of tea. Dr. W Kempton-Browning was called at once to bring relief to the little sufferer, whose screams were heart-rending. It is not believed that the child's injuries will prove serious.

Change in Meeting Place.

Beginning Sunday evening and continuing thereafter, the Sunday evening meetings of the Swedish Mission church, will be held in the small hall at the Y. M. C. A. building, instead of the W. C. T. U. rooms. The service Sunday will begin at 8 o'clock.

To Arrange For District Meeting.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will meet Monday evening and arrange for attending a district meeting to be held at Elizabeth early in November.

THE PAN AND MIDWAY REPRODUCED AT CASINO

Novel Entertainment Given For Benefit of Women's Exchange Last Evening.

IT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

MANY SCENES FROM THE MIDWAY WERE WELL REPRESENTED.

Various Departments Where a Great Variety of Articles were on Sale —Those Who Were in Charge of It.

Transformed into scenes typical of Venice, Germany, Japan and Mexico, the rooms at the Casino, yesterday afternoon, were filled with customers, all eager to patronize the shops of the gayly dressed women, and witness the strange and interesting sights that had been prepared. It was a reproduction of the Pan-American Exposition and its famous Midway. The novel idea was the scheme of the directors of the Women's Exchange and it was intended for the purpose of raising funds for that worthy institution.

When one entered, he was ushered into a place of splendor. Most attractive were the costumes of the "shop girls." Attired in the gorgeous dresses of the various countries they represented, they added unusual brilliancy to the surroundings. It was a gay and festive scene throughtout. Above all rang out the merry laughter of the surprised "customers" as they came face to face with these "shop girls" decked in all the colors of the rainbow. But the affair was intended to be taken seriously for money is needed for the Exchange, and this was the way it was to be raised. It took but a few steps for one to pass from the Flowery Kingdom of Japan to sunny Italy and then to retrace to the home of the Mexican and the land of the "War Lord."

While the decorations were lavish, at the same time they were in keeping with the countries which were intended to be depicted as far as could be possible. The whole affair, as has been said, was under the supervision of the directors of the Exchange. Its composition included well-known women of this city and the borough. They were Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Mrs. D. T. VanBuren, Mrs. Joseph J. Reinhart, Mrs. Frank S. Martin, Mrs. J. P. Taylor, Mrs. Edgar Hyatt, Mrs. Chas. S. Lee, Mrs. Harry Stockton, Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Mrs. William M. Stillman, Mrs. O. T. Waring, Mrs. Hugh Hastings, Mrs. Tracy Howard, Mrs. R. M. VanSickel, Mrs. D. N. Groendyke, and Miss Elizabeth Cock. To each one was assigned some special duty. Some had charge of the various rooms, others were assistants, and still others were at the door to see that no "dead heads" got in unnoticed.

At the door or rather at the "box office" was Edward M. VanBuren, while receiving the tickets were Mrs. William M. Stillman and Mrs. R. M. VanSickel. They were, needless to say, kept busy.

Passing into the ale Nurnberg room, one beheld a reception room in a German home. The flag of the Empire was conspicuous among the decorations here. With the banner of the Emperor was entwined the American emblem. Pictures of the royal family, including the Emperor Wilhelm and his Empress, the Dowager Empress, the princes and members of the nobility were to be seen to a good advantage. An old clock from Nuhreaburg was conspicuous, hanging on the wall. A large wine closet, in which reposed some rare specimens of steins, was set off at one corner, and the collection was much admired, especially, as might be supposed, by the men. Pictures in oil and plaques made up the remainder of the assortment of things to be seen. The decorations were loaned chiefly by Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, who had obtained them some time ago from friends in Germany, but some of the ornaments were loaned by Miss Shepard, Mrs. J. W. Reinhart and Mrs. Hugh Hastings.

It was in this room that the delicious cake was on sale. Coffee, doughnuts and small cakes were offered to the guests without charge, but one had to pay to taste a slice of that fine cake. The room was in charge of Mrs. J. P. Taylor. Assisting her were Mrs. R. M. Stover, Mrs. Edgar Hyatt, Miss Rosabel Schroeder, the Misses Harriet and May Shreve, Miss Gladys Kaufman and the Misses Mary and Helen Wells. All were attired in true German style.

In the Japanese tea room, everyone

LITERARY.

Success has fully established itself as the foremost magazine for inspiring young and old, with its strong sketches showing the achievement and the necessity of character. In this respect, its Thanksgiving number has several excellent articles, viz: "The Kind of Training Needed for Success in Business," by O. O. Gaines, president of the Eastman Business College; "Yankee Enterprise is Overcoming British Inertia," by Frank Hix Fayant; "The United States Soldier and His Career," by Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles; and an elaborate drawing of the Greek idea of opportunity, by Albert Levering. The number also contains three clever fiction stories, "A Number One Mascot," by Frederick Palmer; "The Inspiration of Lincoln's First Thanksgiving Proclamation," by Hezekiah Butterworth; and "The Valedictory of 'Farmer' Warren," by Robert Mackay. Ernest H. Crosby contributes a valuable paper on "The Pirate Flag in Business."

The Thanksgiving number of The Ladies' Home Journal is replete with good fiction and interesting and novel features. It opens appropriately with an article which tells "Where the President's Turkey Comes From." Then there are delightful stories by Hezekiah Butterworth and Sara Spencer Porter, and a new love story called "Christine," by Frederick M. Smith. Cleveland Moffett has an interesting story about Ira D. Sankey, the great evangelist, and Edith King Swain recounts the famous ascents she has made in various parts of the world. Will Bradley's original designs for a house begin with the breakfast-room, and Wilson Eyre, Jr., presents plans for a country-house and a garden. Mr. Bok gives much good advice to young married couples in his editorial. Another most timely feature is "Why Should a Young Man Support the Church?" by Rev. Francis E. Clark. Many home-made Christmas gifts are shown, and the first of "The Journal's Amusing Puzzles" appear. The regular departments are exceptionally good and the illustrations superb. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Myers, of East Seventh street, left this week for Montreal, Canada, where they will remain for some time. Mr. Myers is in charge of the American Bank Note Company's interests at that place.

One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly I put on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining fast and will soon be able to work. Before he used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck. L. W. Randolph.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Last Monday evening signalized the opening of "Fiorodora" at the New York Theatre and an audience of really remarkable proportions witnessed the initial presentation of the famous musical comedy. The company has been increased to 200 people, and among the other improvements that were made for the change from the Casino, is an entirely new scenic production, which was built especially to fit the big stage of the New York. "Fiorodora" has thus far upset all of the old established theatrical traditions, and in moving into the New York Theatre, a still greater field for its success is opened up, the seating capacity being almost double that of the Casino, and the theatre is in every respect superior to that where the play has just ended a run of 382 performances.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Astamalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler,
Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS'. MEDICINE CO.,
Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful.
Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., February 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.
Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit. Home address, 285 Rivington street.
